HEAD-QUARTERS ARMY OF OCCUPATION,
Agua Nueva, Mexico, March 6, 1847.
Z. TAYLOR,
Major-General U. S. Army commanding.

W. W. S. Bliss, A. A. G.

Note.—The above was based upon reports sent in soon after the battle. The following Return by Inspector-General Sylvester Churchill, being carefully compared with the Muster Rolls of February 28th, 1847, is considered correct in every particular, owing to the difference of date, and the time that had elapsed in which to detect any errors that might inadvertently have crept into the original reports.

REPORT OF THE KILLED, WOUNDED, AND MISSING, IN THE BATTLE OF BUENA VISTA,

February 22d and 23d, 1847, by Detachments, Regiments, &c., as shown mostly by the Muster Rolls of February 28, 1847.*

BUENA VISTA, MEXICO.
April, 1847.

S. CHURCHILL,
Inspector-General.

* This report shows the number to be eighty less than was exhibited in that of the Assistant Adjutant-General, made a day or two after the battle, the excess in which may be accounted for by the confusion in camp at the time, and its embracing the slightly wounded, many of whom, and of those reported "missing," were "present for duty" at the subsequent muster.

F.

Major Mansfield, of the Corps of Engineers, wrote from Agua Nueva, March 1st, a letter, from which the following extracts are made :

“ Nothing could exceed the gallant bearing of our horse and dragoons, nor the bravery and good conduct of the volunteers, as a body. Not a regular infantry soldier was in this fight.

“ If I had had but one single full regiment of regulars in reserve, we could have charged their battery on our extreme left, and taken 4000 or 5000 prisoners. As it was, we could only hold our own against such odds.

“ It was a beautiful battle, — not a mistake made the whole day ; but every man perfectly exhausted at night. Our loss about 264 killed, and 450 wounded ; the enemy's loss about 2500 in killed and wounded, and 4000 missing.”
