

MAGNET HANDBOOKS.

Price 25 cents each.

THE AMERICAN BOOK OF GEN-TEEL BEHAVIOR.—A complete handbook of modern etiquette for ladies and gentlemen. A perusal of this book will enable every one to rub off the rough husks of ill-breeding and neglected education, and substitute for them gentlemanly ease and graceful ladylike deportment (as the case may be), so that their presence will be sought for,
and they will learn the art of being not only thoroughly at home in all societies, but will have the rarer gift of making everybody around them feel easy, contented, and happy. This work is fully up to the requirements of the times; it describes the etiquette of our very best society.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE, and Sure Guide to Rapid Wealth.
The secrets of the different trades are fully detailed, and the choicest recipes and formulas are given for the making of different kinds of liquors, including the new method of making cider without apples. It is arranged for the use of liquor-dealers, druggists, manufacturers, farmers, medical men, the household, confectioners, hunters, trappers, perfumers, artists, &c. Many of the recipes have been advertised and sold at sums ranging from 25 cents to $500; and there are many new and highly valuable recipes never before published.

PARLOR PASTIMES; or, Whole
Art of Amusing.—A new work, by Prof.
JAYSON, on magic, conjuring, legerdemain, and prestidigitation. It is a complete expose of the Wizard's Art. No trick or illusion of importance is left unnoticed; and the instructions and explanations are so simple and exhaustive that a child could perform the tricks. A study of this interesting work would make any one thoroughly expert in amusing either a public or private audience.

THE HORSE-OWNER'S GUIDE; and Complete Horse-doctor.—The best work on the horse ever published. It should be in the hands of every one who owns, works, or cares for a horse. It is a book that is needed,— simple, concise, comprehensive, reliable, and practical,—giving the fullest and best information on all matters that relate to this useful animal.

THE TAXIDERMIST'S GUIDE.—A complete instructor in the art of collecting, preparing, mounting, and preserving all kinds of animals, birds, fishes, reptiles, and insects. Adapted for the use of amateurs, travelers, and practical workers. A number of the best recipes are given, as used by the best taxidermists, for articles used in the preservation and the setting up of animals.
Illustrated.

THE AMERICAN BUSINESS-MAN, & Book-keeper's Practical Guide.
A complete guide to all kinds and forms of commercial and mercantile transactions, including a dictionary of all the terms and technicalities used in commerce and in business houses. Correct legal forms are given of bills, deeds, notes, drafts, cheques, agreements, receipts, contracts and other instruments of writing constantly necessary to all.

GILBERT'S BOOK OF PANTO-MIME, Acting, Charades, Parlor
Theatricals, and Tableaux. It also contains fifty Tableaux Vivants, or Animated Pictures. Persons who have never seen any of these things acted can easily arrange and perform them.
For church fairs, school exhibitions, and parlor entertainments, they are just the thing, being easily produced and giving excellent opportunities for both young and old to participate.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH.

READY-MADE AUTOGRAPH-ALBUM VERSES.—A expressive of almost every human feeling and sentiment, such as Love,
Friendship, Respect, Admiration, Good Wishes, &c., including a great number of acrostics for proper names, all entirely original. Here all may find something to write at once eloquent and appropriate, to suit every phase of feeling, sentiment, or humor.

HOW TO WRITE A LETTER.—A
complete letter-writer for ladies and gentlemen.
It tells how to write a letter upon any subject out of the writer's "own head." It also contains the "Art of Rapid Writing" by the abbreviation of longhand, and a "Dictionary of Abbreviations."
This book contains all the points and features that are in other letter-writers, with very much that is new, original, and very important, and which can not be found in any other book.

HOW TO WRITE SHORTHAND, without a teacher.—A practical elementary guide to Stenographic Writing and Reporting.
A boy of twelve can by this method learn in a week what it would take an adult a year to learn by any other method.

COMMON COMPLAINTS, AND
HOW TO CURE THEM.—By M. LAFAY-ETTE BYRN, M.D. As a book of ready remedies for the ordinary ills of life, this book should be in the hands of every person who is liable to an accident or subject to a disease. It tells what to do and how to do it in the plainest possible manner.

THE PRACTICAL MAGICIAN and Ventriloquist's Guide.—By a series of systematic lessons the learner is conducted through the whole field of magic, conjuring, and legerdemain. There are also given complete instructions for acquiring the art of ventriloquism.
The instructions are so very simple and practical that no one can fail to acquire this amusing art, and become a proficient ventriloquist and polyph-onist. Illustrated.

TRICKS AND DIVERSIONS WITH CARDS.—An entirely new work, containing all the tricks and deceptions with cards ever invented, including the latest tricks of the most celebrated conjurers, magicians, and prestidigitators, popularly explained, simplified, and adapted for home amusements and social entertainments. To lovers of the marvelous and ingenious this book will be a perpetual source of delight. Handsomely illustrated.

THE HUNTER'S AND TRAPPER'S COMPLETE GUIDE.—A practical manual of instruction in the art of hunting, trapping, and fishing. The instructions will enable any one to become thoroughly expert in the sports and pastimes of the river, field, or forest. Illustrated.

OFFENBACH'S DANCING WITH-OUT A MASTER.—All the popular dances are given, and the whole illustrated by numerous cuts and diagrams, making the art so simple that the most ignorant can become expert in it.

PERSONAL BEAUTY; or, the Whole
Art of Attaining Bodily Vigor, Physical Development, Beauty of Feature, and Symmetry of Form.
With the Science of Dressing with Taste, Elegance, and Economy. Illustrated.

THE AMATEUR PAINTER.—A manual of instructions in the arts of painting, varnishing, and gilding, with plain rules for the practice of every department of house and sign painting.

Address HURST & CO., 122 Nassau Street, New York.

MAGNET HANDBOOKS.

PRICE TWENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH.

BOOK OF USEFUL RECEIPTS, and Manufacturers' Guide.—By Professor Johnson.—For conciseness, reliability, and cheapness, this work is superior to any published. Not only does it contain a vast number of reliable and practical recipes and processes relating to the fine arts, trades, and general manufactures, but it gives full and explicit instructions for acquiring and successfully practicing numerous arts and professions, such as Electrotyping and Electroplating, making and working an Electric Telegraph, Monochromatic and Crayon Painting, Vitreumaine, and many others of equal value and importance.

A SCIENTIFIC TREATISE ON Stammering and Stuttering, and its cure.—I have here this difficult subject treated so intelligently and plainly that any person interested can read and learn the causes of the peculiar and distressing impediments in his speech. It thoroughly explains the different causes that produce stammering, and then proceeds to make plain the means of cure, so that any person with a determination to succeed, by following the instructions given, can cure himself of this most unhappy affliction, and at no expense but the cost of the book.

THE REAL SECRET ART and Philosophy of Wooing, Winning, and Wedding.—Showing how maidens may become happy wives, and bachelors become happy husbands, in a brief space of time and by easy methods. Also containing complete directions for declaring intentions, accepting vows, and retaining affections, both before and after marriage.

CHOICE VERSES FOR VALENTINES, Albums, and Wedding Celebrations.—Containing original and selected verses applicable to wedding, tin, silver, gold, and diamond wedding anniversaries, bouquet and birthday presentations, autograph-album verses and acrostics, and a variety of verses and poems adapted to social anniversaries and rejoicings.

THE AMERICAN REFERENCE-BOOK.—A manual of facts, containing a chronological history of the United States; the public lands; everything about the constitution, debts, revenues, productions, wealth, population, railroads, exemption, interest, insolvent and assignment statutes of the United States, &c.

KEY TO COMPOSITION; or, How to Write a Book.—A complete guide to authorship, and practical instructor in all kinds of literary labor. As an aid and instructor to those who desire to follow literary pursuits permanently for profit, or to those who write for recreation and leisure, this book is indispensable.

GYMNASTICS WITHOUT A TEACHER.—This book plainly explains to you how to go about learning all the popular branches of gymnastics. Every man and boy ought to learn the different exercises described in this book, if he wishes to live a healthy life, and preserve a sound and vigorous body, a sharp eye, and supple limbs.

FORTUNE-TELLING MADE EASY or, the Dreamer's Sure Guide.—This book will tell you about your destiny, your prospective marriage, your business prospects, your love-affairs. The book is a perfect oracle of fate.

FRENCH IN A FORTNIGHT, without a master.—A royal road to a knowledge of the Parisian tongue, in fifteen easy lessons on accent, grammar, and pronunciation.

INCIDENTS OF AMERICAN CAMP LIFE.—A collection of tragic, pathetic, and humorous events, which actually occurred during the late civil war.

OUR KNOWLEDGE-BOX; or, old stories and new discoveries.

THE YOUNG WIFE'S OWN COOK-BOOK.—This very valuable manual teaches plainly how to buy, dress, cook, serve, and care for every kind of food, both in a game and vegetable. Also, how to preserve fruits and vegetables, and how to make pastry.

THE FAMILY CYCLOPEDIA.—A complete and practical domestic manual for all classes. This valuable and comprehensive work is needed in every house.

THE ART OF SELF-DEFENSE or, BOXING WITHOUT A MASTER.—With forty large illustrations, showing all the different positions, blows, stops, and guards. By NED DONALD, Professor of Boxing to the London Athletic Club.

THE ART OF BEAUTIFYING AND Preserving the Hair; or, How to Make the Hair Grow.—The only exhaustive scientific work on the hair published.

HAWTHORNE'S COMIC AND TRAGIC DIALOGUES.—Including many of the most affecting, amusing, and spirited dialogues ever written.—affording opportunities for the display of every different quality of action, voice, and delivery.—suitable for schools, academies, anniversaries, and parlor presentations.

HAWTHORNE'S JUVENILE SPEAKER AND READER.—Prepared expressly and carefully for the use of young children. Containing a large number of pieces, some simple enough to please infants, while all are sure to delight and improve children of every age.

HAWTHORNE'S TRAGIC RECITER.—Containing the very best pieces ever written expressive of Love, Hate, Fear, Rage, Revenge, Jealousy, and the other most melting, stirring, and startling passions of the human heart.

HAWTHORNE'S COMIC RECITER.—Filled with the liveliest, jolliest, laughter-provoking stories, lectures, and other humorous pieces.

Hawthorne's Book of Ready-made Speeches on all subjects that can occur, whether on serious, sentimental, or humorous occasions. Including speeches and replies at dinners, receptions, festivals, political meetings, military reviews, firemen's gatherings, and indeed wherever and whenever any party, large or small, is gathered to dine, to mourn, to congratulate, or to rejoice. Appended to which are forms of all kinds of resolutions, &c., with a great number of sentiments and toasts.

Theatricals at Home; or, Plays for the Parlor. Plainly teaching how to dress, make up, study, and perform at private theatrical parties. To which are added how to arrange and display tableaux vivants, shadow pantomimes, drawing-room magic, acting charades, comical drums, enigmas, &c., with explanatory engravings.

Snip, Snap, Snorum, and nearly one hundred other parlor games, such as juvenile card-games, games of forfeits, games of action, games with pen and pencil. Excluding many new and all the old favorite amusements calculated to make home happy and set the youngsters screaming wild with innocent delight.

The Art of Canning, Pickling, and smoking the various kinds of Meat, Fish, and Game.—Also, how to preserve and keep fresh and full of flavor, trusts, berries, and vegetables. To which is added complete directions for making candies and choice confections.

Fishing with Hook and Line.—This book gives plain and full directions for catching all the different kinds of fish found in American waters; the proper season for fishing for them, and the bait, tackle, &c., to be used.

Honest Abe's Jokes.—A collection of authentic jokes and squibs of Abraham Lincoln.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC MADE EASY.

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC
SELF-INSTRUCTORS.

Music Without a Teacher.

Each of the following Books for teaching Instrumental Music is perfect in every way and from them anyone with a taste for "Concord of Sweet Sounds" can become an accomplished Musician in a short time, on any of the instruments enumerated.

Piano Without a Teacher.

Full instruction is given not only as to the keys, but everything is explained as to the fingering, position, use of pedals, etc. Price 25 cents.

CABINET ORGAN WITHOUT A TEACHER.

The playing of this Household Instrument is made quite easy. A little daily application with this book will enable anyone to play with correctness and ease. Price 25 cents.

Violin Without a Teacher.

Every rule that could be learned from an Ole Bull, or Paganini can be gained from these pages. The management of the fingers to produce every note, slide and shake is clearly explained. Price 25 cents.

German Accordeon Without a Teacher.

All the sweet melodies of this Instrument can be easily rendered by an application of the plain rules so well laid down in this book. Price 25 cents.

Banjo Without a Teacher.

This lively Instrument can be learnt just as well from the plain rules of this book, as from the lips of a master. Every point and little trick of the famous players are explained. Price 25 cents.

Cornet Without a Teacher.

By close attention to these rules one can become as great a proficient as an Arbuckler or a Levy. All about the keys and the valves, tonguing and double tonguing, etc., are clearly explained. Price 25 cents.

So plain, practical and perfect are the lessons given, that the acquiring of the art of playing any of the above Instruments is quite simple and easy.

Heart Songs and Home Tunes

Contains COMPLETE MUSIC OF NEARLY 100 PIECES, by such composers as Abt, Glover, Sloan, Gatty and Balfe. Including a vast range of Songs, Rounds, Duets and Choruses, arranged for the Piano and Organ. Price 25 cents.

Copies of the above books, sent by mail post-paid to any address on receipt of price.

Address HURST & CO. 122 Nassau St. N. Y.

LIBRARY
—OF—
POPULAR FICTION

COMPRISING THE
Recognized Masterpieces of the Great Novelists of the World.

IN TWO VOLUMES.

VOLUME ONE CONTAINS:

THE ARABIAN NIGHT'S ENTERTAINMENT, consisting of one thousand and one stories, told by the Sultanness of the Indies, to divert the Sultan from the execution of a bloody vow he had made to marry a lady every day, and have her put to death next morning, to avenge himself for the disloyalty of his first Sultanness. Containing a familiar account of the customs, manners, and religion of the Eastern Nations, the Tartars, Persians, Indians, Etc. Embellished with numerous engravings.

THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF ROBINSON CRUSOE. By DANIEL DE FOE.

AFTER DARK IN BOSTON. A Working Girl's Faith and Fate. By J. O. KALER.

LILIAN DALZELL. By the author of "Unclaimed."

THE CHILDREN OF THE ABBEY. A Tale. By REGINA MARIA ROCHE.

VOLUME TWO CONTAINS:

THE ROMANCE OF THE FOREST. Interspersed with some pieces of poetry. By Mrs. RADCLIFFE, Authoress of "A Sicilian Romance," Etc., Etc.

GRIF; or WORTH VERSUS WEALTH. An Australian Story. By B. L. FARJEON.

THE RIVAL ADVENTURERS; or, THE MYSTERIES OF THE MINES. A Romance of California. By FREDERICK GERSTAECKER, Author of "The Pirates of the Mississippi," "The Regulators of Arkansas," Etc.

A TERRIBLE TEMPTATION. A story of to-day. By CHARLES READE. Author of "Foul Play," "Griffith Gaunt," "Put Yourself in His Place," Etc.

THE WANDERING HEIRESS. A Romance. By Mrs. M. E. BRADDON.

HIGH AND LOW; or, THE PAINS AND PLEASURES OF A LIFE. By F. H. KEPPEL, Author of "Contrast; or, the Oak and the Bramble."

The above choice works are illustrated with numerous well executed engravings, and well bound in two large 8vo. volumes, containing about 1,500 pages. Price per Set, $3.

Address, HURST & CO., Publishers, 122 Nassau St., N. Y.

WORKS OF
SIR EDWARD LYTTON BULWER

(Lord Lytton.)

It is almost superfluous to say a word in praise of the prince of novelists. He holds an undivided sceptre over the mind of every intelligent reader. For skillful plots, fine discrimination of character, and powerful delineation of passion, he has no equal. Time flies, and in his course sweeps down the budding as well as the matured fruits of other authors—but his keen scythe leaves the productions of Bulwer as fresh and lovely as when he first gladdened the eyes of his readers with their manifold excellences.

RIENZI. This glorious Republican treads amid the broken pillars of the antique forum, and rouses his fallen countrymen. In this great book Bulwer admirably blends the old heroic souls of the ancient Roman with the picturesque, and perhaps more loveable, personages of early Italy.

PELHAM; or, THE ADVENTURES OF a GENTLEMAN. Bulwer gives us an insight into the fashionable phase of London Society, and makes us acquainted with the real "higher classes."

PAUL CLIFFORD. It takes nothing from the interest of this great story to know that many of its incidents are true to life. It shows that vice in its most captivating form but leads to destruction.

EUGENE ARAM. Stripped of all embellishment, this is the most woful tale that ever was truly told; but, told as Bulwer has narrated it, it would bring tears from any eyes, "how'ever unused to the melting mood."

THE DISOWNED. No story was ever more full of striking incidents, or of more deeply cut characters. Truly a great novel; a novel, indeed, that has no superior among books of its class.

FALKLAND. Full of the tenderness of Petrarch and the ardor of Abelard. Unlike any other work by him, it is still full of genius. It is out of the fulness of the heart that the mouth pours forth its eloquence. In same volume:

PILGRIMS OF THE RHINE. Every reviewer has eulogized this charming volume. Those who intend travelling on the blue stream that mirrors Bingen on its bosom should read this book.

LAST DAYS OF POMPEII. It required the highest genius to fitly describe the terrible overwhelming of this city. The blind girl, Nidia, has furnished themes for playwrights, painters and sculptors.

THE STUDENT. The thoughtful devotee of science is most poetically depicted. The interesting scholar, with his face "sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought," is a noble character.

DEVEREUX. Even Bulwer cannot hope to surpass this story. It seems perfection in every particular. We can recall the name of no modern book that has taken such a firm hold on popularity.

Ten Vols. bound in One Large 8vo. Cloth, gilt. PRICE, $1.50.

Sent by mail to any address, post-paid.

Address, HURST & CO., Publishers, 122 Nassau St., N. Y.

MARRYAT'S NOVELS.

47 Vols. in Three. Svo, Cloth. Illustrated.

NEWTON FOSTER. Gives a clearer idea of a seaman's existence than a voyage around the Horn. Neither terrible nor merry adventures are omitted. Indeed one passes from the cabin to the fo'castle as in real life.

MIDSHIPMAN EASY. This writer never wrote a dull book. Marryat was every inch a sailor—knew a sailor's every foible, every whim, and has painted them to the life.

PETER SIMPLE. About the best sea story in the language. Thousands have laughed till the tears came, at the locker full of fun that the Captain opens for all—powder-monkey or middy alike.

PACHA OF MANY TALES. The many tales will be found equal to one another, and all excellent, and never tedious in length. Yet are they never, "like the cur's continuation," cut off too close to the ears.

THE PIRATE AND THE THREE CUTTERS. All kinds of visions arise before the reader's eyes—frowning men, clambering aboard contested craft; shots exchanged; cutlasses clashing—in short, a fierce encounter with the crew of the ship assailed.

THE KING'S OWN. Here we have unalloyed enjoyment—the sea breeze, the exciting episodes, the novel, interesting sights, scenes and persons, without the discomforts attending them. Most admirably has the author blended lights and shades in this great romance.

JAPHET IN SEARCH OF A FATHER. No writer has risen worthy to wield Marryat's unrivalled pen. No reader ever regrets having started out with Japhet in his long, long, laborious search.

SNARLETON, THE DOG FIEND. "Snarleyow" will have been found guilty of making Daniel Lamberts of the human race. The person who has not yet perused this book has "a high old time" in store for him.

JACOB FAITHFUL. Marryat knew every strand in a sailor's life, and there has never been one so able in portraying. Blow high or blow low, the Captain is "always on deck."

FRANK MILDMAY. Perhaps in no other work does Marryat better evince his wonderful power than he does in "Frank Mildmay." Whether "running under bare poles" or "carrying every stitch of canvas," none can beat the "Cap."

PERCIVAL KEENE. This writer knew every craft that ever floated, with no less thorough knowledge of every wish, hope, fear that ever pulsed in a true heart. This has made Marryat the best nautical novelist that ever lived.

PHANTOM SHIP. If anybody knows more about "Wizard Skiffs," and "Flying Dutchmen" than Marryat "runs off" in this book, he can take our tarpaulin and the last "chaw" of Lorillard we have in the locker.

RATLIN, THE REEFER. The happiest days of our existence were when we were "laying off" in the foretop of old "Ironsides," reading this charming book to our all-delighted messmates.

THE POACHER. In this book Marryat proves that he could write equally as well of "shore" life as of a "life on the ocean wave." The adventures of Joseph Rushbrook are very affecting.

POOR JACK. The life history of this little sea-side waif is one of the most truthful narratives of the troubles and trials of a sailor-boy's cruise that has ever been entered in the log-book of life.

MASTERMAN READY; OR, THE WRECK OF THE PACIFIC. A book of wrecks, and coral isles, and orange groves, of dusky maids in the ocean billows, and of half-wild runaway sailor boys.

VALERIE. Evidently written by Marryat to show that he was equally at home on the land as on the sea. Powerful and tender scenes dramatically portrayed and contrasted.

Complete in Three Large Svo. Volumes, finely illustrated and bound in best English cloth. PRICE, $5.00.

Address, HURST & CO., Publishers, 122 Nassau St., N. Y.

AMERICAN STANDARD LIBRARY.

This series includes the very cream of English literature. The books comprise the best standard works in Poetry, History, Fiction, and Biography. Each volume is made up in the popular 12mo size, and is well printed on good paper from new electrotype plates, and bound in the best English cloth, in black and gold. The volumes contain from 300 to 400 pages, and are, without doubt, the cheapest series of standard works ever presented to the public. Price One Dollar Each.

Chaucer's Poetical Works.

A very complete edition of the works of the "Father of English poetry."

Spenser's Poetical Works.

A new edition, with Glossary.

Dryden's Poetical Works.

The complete works of JOHN DRYDEN.

Byron's Poetical Works.

Lord Byron's Complete Works. Reprinted from the original edition.

Shelley's Poetical Works.

Reprinted from the early editions.

Keats's Poetical Works.

The complete works of JOHN KEATS. Reprinted from the early editions.

Hood's Poetical Works.

TOM HOOD will ever remain a favorite. This volume contains the whole of his poems.

Heber's Poetical Works.

A new edition of the works of this eminent Christian poet.

Owen Meredith's Poetical Works.

Complete, from the best English edition.

Jean Ingelow's Poetical Works.

A very fine edition of the works of this popular poetess.

George Eliot's Poems.

The Poems of GEORGE ELIOT. From the latest London edition.

To many persons the name of GEORGE ELIOT only recalls the powerful writer of "The Mill on the Floss," "Adam Bede," and other wonderful novels; but a perusal of these poems will convince such readers that the half had not been told them. For brilliant imagery, vividness of description, accurate characterization, and elegance and strength of poetical language, GEORGE ELIOT stands the peer of the best of her contemporaries.

Shakespeare's Complete Works.

A new and portable edition of Shakespeare's works.

Herbert's Complete Works

The works of GEORGE HERBERT in prose and verse.

The Last Days of Pompeii.

By SIR EDWARD BULWER-LYTTON, Bart.

A very neat edition of this powerful historical novel, with the author's notes, &c.

Paul and Virginia, Rasselas, Vicar of Wakefield.

Who would be without this trio of classic gems, when they can be procured, in one volume, for the small sum of sixty cents?

Dickens's Child's History of England.

The Child's History of England. By CHARLES DICKENS. A new edition for the use of Schools. Illustrated.

Ivanhoe.

By SIR WALTER SCOTT. From the last revised edition, containing the author's final corrections, notes, &c.

History of Don Quixote de la Mancha.

From the Spanish of Cervantes. Illustrated by Dora.

Tom Brown's Schooldays.

By THOMAS HUGHES. We anticipate a large sale for this celebrated work.

Grimm's Popular Tales.

A new translation by this popular German author.

Willy Reilly and his Dear Colleen Bawn.

A handsome edition of this charming story.

Vanity Fair.

By W. M. THACKERAY. By many considered the author's masterpiece.

The Swiss Family Robinson

Or, the Adventures of a Father, Mother, and Four Sons on a Desert Island. The original work, without abridgment.

The Complete Angler.

By ISAAC WALTON and CHARLES COTTON. A new illustrated edition. With Notes, by G. C. DAVIES.

David Copperfield.

By CHARLES DICKENS. Illustrated.

The Last of the Mohicans.

A Narrative of 1757. By J. FENNIMORE COOPER.

Address HURST & CO. 122 Nassau St. N. Y.

American Standard Library.

Price One Dollar Each.

Poe's Poetical Works.

The Complete Poems of Edgar Allan Poe, with memoir, his essay on "The Poetic Principle." Portrait. 400 pp. 12 mo. Here are to be found every line of the Poems, (in one volume) of the keenest intellect, the most gifted poetic inspiration, and the most exquisite and fiery diction ever bestowed upon anyone human being.

Schiller's Poetical Works.

The Complete Poems of J. C. F. Schiller. Translated by Edgar Browning, C. B. 500 pp., 12 mo. Schiller's name would alone have glorified Germania. His was the very genius of romance; and the names of Shakespeare's Hamlet and Romeo will fade from the scroll of fame as soon as Walenstein and Charles de Moor. "His Diver" will never disappear, nor his "Bell" cease to ring out its enchanting music.

Goethe's Poetical Works.

The Poetical Works of GOETHE.—Translated by Edgar Browning, C. B. This book contains the Poems of one who never penned a dull line. The brain that could evolve a Faust, a Wilhelme Meister and a Marguerite, and invest them with the semblance and energy of life, may be niched with Byron or Hugo.

Dante.

The Vision of Hell, Purgatory and Paradise. Translated into English verse by H. F. Cary, A. M. With copious Explanatory Notes and a Chronological View of the Age of Dante. 600 pp. 12 mo. This is the best English translation ever made of this marvellous creation. Miltonic in its grandeur of conception.

Moore's Poetical Works.

The Poetical Works of Thomas Moore. Complete and Unabridged. Reprinted from the original edition, with Explanatory Notes. 800 pp. large 12 mo. Every person with one note of music in his soul should own a copy of this book.

Burns' Poetical Works.

The Complete Works of Robert Burns. A New Edition. Unabridged, with Explanatory and Glossarial Notes, and a Memoir of the Author. 500 pp. 12 mo.

Pope's Poetical Works.

The Poetical Works of Alexander Pope, with Memoir. Explanatory Notes by the Author, Warburton and others. 550 pp. 12 mo. Large, clear type.

Tupper's Poetical Works.

The Complete Poetical Works of Martin Farquhar Tupper, A. M., F. R. S. Author of Proverbial Philosophy. Authorized edition. 479 pp. 12 mo. Cloth, gilt.

Rich thought and pure ideas, expressed in strong, simple and poetic sentences are the ruling characteristics of the many poems to be found in this handsome book. It is indeed, a priceless casket, full of earnest and eloquent appeals to all the best feelings of our nature.

Robinson Crusoe; His Life and Adventures.

A New, Complete and Unabridged Edition. 430 pp. 12 mo. 10 full page illustrations, by Thwaites and others. Every language written by man, it is said, has been enriched by a translation of this immortal work.

Arabian Nights' Entertainments; or, the Thousand and One Nights.

New and Complete Edition. 468 pp. 12 mo. 6 full page illustrations.

Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress.

The Pilgrim's Progress from this World to that Which is to Come. By John Bunyan. 412 pp. 12 mo. 10 full page illustrations, by J. D. Watson. Next to the Bible this is the book dear to every Christian heart. This book is not merely religious—it is religion.

Children of the Abbey.

By Regina Maria Roche. 1 vol., 12 mo., 585 pp. Cloth, gilt. This is one of the most popular of novels. It is a charming story, and one which, being once read, retains that indescribable fascination few novels own—the trait of rendering the reader willing to go over it again.

AMERICAN STANDARD LIBRARY.

Price One Dollar Each.

English Men of Letters.—

Edited by JOHN MORLEY.—A series of brief biographies by the most eminent literary men of the day.

Vol. I. contains MILTON, by Mark Pattison. CHAUCER, by Prof. A. W. W.—GAWPER. DOWDEN.—SOUTHEY, by Professor Dowden.—SPENSER, by the Dean of St. Paul's.

Vol. II. contains JOHNSON, by Leslie Stephen.—DEFOE, by William Minto.—GOLDSMITH, by William Black.—SCOTT, by H. Hutton.—THACKERAY, by Anthony Trollope.

Romola. By GEORGE ELIOT.

The writings of this wonderful woman burst upon the world like lightning from a cloudless sky. This book is as full of learning as if written by Macaulay; as full of the fiery embers of passion as if Byron's gray goosequill had flashed through its pages; while it is as heart-satisfying as a love-story as if either Bulwer or Disraeli had expended on it all their genius.

Jane Eyre. By CHARLOTTE BRONTE (CURTIS Bell).

Many books fall stillborn, others will slowly, the few peerless and priceless products of the highest genius flourish in immortal youth. This book, we need hardly say, is of the latter kind. The work has been sold by thousands, dramatized by dozens, and we do not err in saying it has been read and cried over by millions.

Brief Biographies. By SAMUEL SMILES.

This capital book contains some twenty biographies of people about whom the world is never tired of reading and hearing. His style is admirable—brilliant without being glittering, precise and accurate without being for a moment formal or dull. The subject-matter includes such eminent names as Margaret Fuller, Robert Stephenson, Dr. Arnold, Theodore Hook, Hugh Miller, Audubon, Jeffrey, Poe,—in short, leading critics, divines, poets, metaphysicians, and philanthropists.

In the Forecastle;

Or, Twenty-five Years a Sailor. By RICHARD J. CLEVELAND.

This is a very entertaining book, written in a plain, easy, yet fascinating style, by an old American "salt," who relates what he actually saw and experienced. His adventures in different seas and various countries are thrilling and intensely interesting. No one can fail to be amused and instructed by the reading of this famous sea narrative.

The Spectator.—Religious,

Moral, Humorous, Satirical, and Critical Essays, by Addison, Steele, Bloodgett, and Tickell.

No one can have any right conception of the vigor, beauty, and elegance of the English language, until he has given his days and nights to a personal and study of these matchless essays.

Hypatia. By CHARLES KINGSLEY.

There is no book to compare this one to. It is unique: it stands alone. The author depicts with a fierce energy and power, the hideous intrigues and the horrid villainies which characterized the Byzantine court; but he invests his heroine with every virtue, and she sails serene through scenes of criminality, as the moon moves on in silver luster amid the blackest clouds.

The Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World. By E. S. CREASY.

The very able author has shown good judgment in his selection of great battles, from Marathon to Waterloo. He has described with the skill of a first-class military historian the epeue which led to the way in which they were fought, and the consequent results of the important battles of Marathon, of Syracuse, of Arbela, of Metanrus, between Arminius and Varus, of Chalons, of Tours, of Hastings, of Orleans, of the Spanish Armada, of Blenheim, of Pultowa, of Saratoga, of Vainoy, and of Waterloo.

Tom Brown at Rugby. By THOMAS HUGHES.

Of all the books ever written about schoolboys' pranks, and tricks, and mischiefs, and devilries, this book beats them all. Every page is rich in the funniest of all fun. How the boys are tyrannized over by masters, and how the pig boys send the thumps and kicks round, is as droll as it is true.

Uarda. A Romance of Ancient Egypt. By GEORGE EBERS.

It has long been known that this author is the greatest living Egyptian scholar; but it is not so well known that in this grand book he has revived the mummies of the mystic land, and shown us exactly how the men and women of the Pharaohs' time lived, loved, and died.

The Sketch-book. By WASHINGTON IRVING.

Perhaps the finest pieces of original fictitious writings that this country has produced.

John Halifax, Gentleman. By Mrs. MULOCH-CRAIK.

A matchless plot, interesting and varied scenes, and characters true to life in their different manifestations, have won for "John Halifax" the reputation of being about the best of the dozen foremost novels of the age.

Knickerbocker. By WASHINGTON IRVING.

A work to be compared with anything of the kind in our language; a book of unwearied pleasantries; a book which, if it has a fault, has only that of being too pleasant, too sustained a tissue of merriment and ridicule.—Edw'd Everett.

Corinne. By Mme. DE STAEL.

A century has about passed since this book was first read with avidity in every drawing-room of Europe and America; and still any person who will continue to read pages written by one whose wit and learning could make Napoleon shrink.

The Female Spy of the Union Army. The Thrilling Adventures, Experiences, and Escapes of a Woman, a Nurse, Spy, and Scout in Hospital, Camp, and Battlefield. By EMMA E. EDMONDS. Fully Illustrated.

Confessions of an English Opium-eater; Essays on Men of Letters. By THOMAS DE QUINCEY.

The New Atlantis; Wisdom of the Ancients; and Historical Sketches. By LORD BACON.

Choice Speeches and Essays by EDMUND BURKE.

Address HURST & CO. 122 Nassau St. N. Y.

Address HURST & CO. 122 Nassau St. N. Y.

AMERICAN STANDARD LIBRARY.
Price One Dollar Each.

The Prose Writers of America. A collection of eloquent and interesting extracts from the writings of leading American authors. By GEORGE B. CHEEVER.

This book is an absolute necessity to any one who wishes to be acquainted with the excellences as well as the peculiarities of our great prose writers and orators. Here will be found specimens of some of the most exquisitely fine, grand, fiery, simple, ornate, and effective writing and oratory that the English language contains. It is full of "thoughts that breathe and words that burn." Any one that has carefully read this volume will be able to fully appreciate the God-given genius of those authors and orators who have helped to crush vice, exalt patriotism, and wreath the pure brows of virtue with amaranthine flowers.

The Poets of America. By GEORGE B. CHEEVER.

This work is one much needed. It contains all the most truly beautiful short pieces of American poetry,—the clear wheat winnowed of all chaff. There are numerous pieces which appeared in various literary papers anonymously, and which have since become famous, and which it is impossible to find except in these pages. This book is, in truth, the most complete compendium of the best poems of our best poets that has yet been made. It must be remembered, too, that the majority of articles in this book were selected by the authors, as so to speak, the choicest arrows in their quivers.

The British Female Poets. With biographical and critical notices. By GEORGE W. BETHUNE.

This work contains the finest specimens of the writings of no less than sixty of the best Female Poets of Great Britain. There are hundreds of pieces, most of them real "gems of purest ray serene." The list includes all who have written well, from Anne Boleyn to Fanny Kemble.

Biographical Sketches of Eminent People who figured during the earlier and later periods of the Present Century, including Literary, Scientific, Professional, Social, Political, and Royal Personages. By HARRIET MARTINEAU.

These sketches are not mere dry details of dates of birth, marriage, and death, but searching analysis is given of the ideas and work of each of the characters by one of the ablest women that ever lived.

Scott's Lives of Novelists and Dramatists. "Lives of Eminent Novelists and Dramatists." By Sir WALTER SCOTT. New edition, revised, with additional notes.

The Book of Authors.—A Collection of Criticisms, Mots, Personal Descriptions, &c., wholly referring to English men of letters in every age of English literature.

Hallam's and De Lolme's England. "The Constitutional History of England from the time of Edward I. to Henry VII." By HENRY HALLAM. "The Constitutional History of England," by J. L. DE LOLME.

History of the Saracens. "The Saracens: Their History, and the Rise and Fall of their Empire." By EDWARD GIBBON and SIMON OCKLEY.

Scott's Essays on Chivalry, Romance, and the Drama. By Sir WALTER SCOTT.

The Koran. Commonly called "The Alkoran of Mohammed." Translated into English from the original Arabic. With Explanatory Notes taken from the most approved commentators. To which is added a preliminary discourse by GEORGE SALE.

Representative Actors. A Collection of Criticisms, Anecdotes, Personal Descriptions, &c., referring to many celebrated British Actors, from the sixteenth to the present century. With Notes, Memoirs, and a Short Account of English Acting. By W. CLARK RUSSELL.

Munchausen. "The Travels and Surprising Adventures of Baron Munchausen."

Baron Munchausen can "take the cake" as the champion liar of the ages. He tells amusing but incredible fibs with such minute details and gravity that he might "deceive the very elect." Grave professors as well as gay scholars always have this book in a sly dark corner. If we were to tell how many million copies have been sold we would be accused of "Munchausening."

The Adventures of Gil Blas. Translated from the French of LE SAGE by SMOLLET.

Pepys's Diary. "The Diary of Samuel Pepys, Esq., F.R.S., from 1639 to 1669, with Memoir." Edited by Lord BRAYBROOKE.

Evelyn's Diary. "The Diary of John Evelyn, Esq., F.R.S., from 1641 to 1705-6, with Memoir." Edited by WILLIAM BRAY.

Half Hours with the Best Authors. Including Biographical and Critical Notices by CHARLES KNIGHT. Illustrated.

A Century of Anecdotes, from 1700 to 1800. By JOHN TIMBS, F.S.A.

Address HURST & CO. 122 Nassau St. N. Y.

