Illustrated Edition. Crown 8vo. Cloth extra. $2.50

Regular Edition. Crown 8vo. Cloth. $1.75

Cheap Edition. 16mo. Cloth. 50 cents

A new edition, containing considerable matter not included in the original issue, and illustrated with a large number of full-page photogravure plates.

These illustrations are from photographs taken in and about the garden, and will be found to form a most interesting and valuable accompaniment to the text.

"What a captivating book it is—how merry and gentle and sunny, how whimsically wise and tender! There is real humor in these pages, and for that reason, if for no other, it deserves to live. The new chapter, describing the author's pious pilgrimage to the garden of her childhood, is inimitable in its way, and should not be missed by any admirer of this most winning Elizabeth."

—New York Tribune.

"Elizabeth is pure sunshine and without a shadow, the reflection, as it were, of a quiet existence, and never a commonplace one; for, without knowing it or suspecting it, she is an idealist. Elizabeth never tires, for has she not her husband, her little ones, and her books to talk about? These passages, as found in 'Elizabeth' in the quiet history of a woman's life, act as useful tonics or are the necessary sedatives in our somewhat fevered existence."

The Benefactress

BY THE AUTHOR OF
"ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GARDEN"

Cloth 12mo $1.50

---

"It is clever and humorous, from first page to last, founded upon a clever plot, and reveals again her knowledge of the people among whom she has gone to dwell. . . . 'The Benefactress' is capital reading; bright, humorous, full of life and action, and with many a shrewd observation on life and man scattered through its pages."—Mail and Express.

"Delightfully fresh and crisp, and as delightfully easy, polished, perspicacious . . . a piece of genuine literature."
—New York Tribune.

"It is a novel for quiet reading and wholesome enjoyment. It has a charm of style which places it among the best of recent stories."—The Outlook.

"The romance is developed with rare grace. Each person and incident is so true, so human, that one lives rather than reads the story."—World's Work.

"Clever, ingenious, and thoroughly entertaining, and, above all, it is written in Elizabeth's inimitable style."—Book Buyer.

The Solitary Summer

BY THE AUTHOR OF
"ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GARDEN," ETC.

Illustrated Edition. Crown 8vo. Cloth extra. $2.50
Regular Edition. Crown 8vo. Cloth. $1.50

"'The Solitary Summer' affords a generous harvest of beautiful and poetic thoughts, together with some keen observations of life, all of which are expressed in a graceful and supple prose. . . . It is a privilege to have stood for a time upon the veranda steps and to have caught a glimpse of that sane refuge."—Chicago Tribune.

"Full of sunshine and fresh breezes, riotous with the bloom and fragrance of flowers, spicy with the damp cool breath of pines. . . . The quaint, whimsical fancies of a cultivated, lovable woman create a golden atmosphere through which we see her life, and we dream with her on her bench in her garden, in the fields where the yellow lupins grow, and in the mossy deeps of the pine forest. We feel we have made another friend, one who sees life with gentle, smiling eyes and from a deliciously humorous point of view."—Recreation.

"A garden of absorbing interest to its owner, a library full of books to comfort rainy days, a hamlet of German peasants, three delightful babies, and a 'man of wrath' who by no means merits the title,—these are the simple elements from which a bright woman, too cosmopolitan to be thought wholly German, as she calls herself, has evolved a charming little book."—The Nation.

"She has a depth of feeling, a sense of humor, and an impetuous and ardent manner that make her chronicles thoroughly alive. Beside this lovable book other feminine essays on nature, literature, and life seem only tame and artificial performances."

—New York Tribune.

The April Baby's Book of Tunes

WITH THE STORY OF HOW THEY CAME TO BE WRITTEN

BY THE AUTHOR OF
"ELIZABETH AND HER GERMAN GARDEN"

ILLUSTRATED BY KATE GREENAWAY

Cloth. Small 4to. $1.50, net

A running commentary in the quaintly humorous style characteristic of the writer, describes the teaching of a dozen or more popular nursery songs to the author's three little maids, the April, May, and June Baby respectively. The music for each is given, and charming illustrations in color complete an unusually attractive holiday book.

Full of the sayings of three of the most delightfully amusing and original children in the book world—the June Baby who loudly sings "The King of Love My Shepherd is," swinging her kitten around by its tail to emphasize the rhythm,—the loving little May Baby who says, "Directly you comes home, the fun begins," sitting very close to her mother,—and the quaint April Baby, concerning whom there are fears that she may turn out a genius and thus disgrace her parents, Elizabeth and "The Man of Wrath."

Readers of the charming companion volumes whose authorship has been the subject of so much recent discussion will delight in this little sequel, which will make a most appropriate gift during the coming season to many a mother of little ones who has had at some time to meet the problem of how the babies can be saved from corners when there are no lessons, and storms have forbidden exercise for them and their nurses, too. Its pictures of a German nursery and the delicious discussions of these toddlers over the various songs are extremely bright and entertaining, and most aptly supplemented by Kate Greenaway's quaint and daintily colored illustrations, of which there are sixteen, besides decorative designs, chapter headings, etc.
