TERMINAL INDEX

FOR USE WITH

McNEILL'S CODE.

The mutilation of a cipher word takes place, for the most part, either with respect to its initial or terminal syllable. Inasmuch as the cipher words are arranged in Parts I. and II. of McNeill's Code in an absolutely alphabetical order, provided the TER-MINATION only of the word is affected, very little inconvenience is experienced, but if the COMMENCEMENT of the word is incorrectly transmitted much valuable time may be lost before the precise cipher word is located. To meet this difficulty, and assist in quickly determining the possible alternatives of any mutilated word, the Terminal Index has been compiled. In it all the cipher words of like TERMINATION are grouped together, permitting of speedy reference to them in the Code itself and rapid determination of the word originally sent.

PIERON'S CODE CONDENSER

50 0/0 Economy without changing codes.

This Condenser can be adapted to all telegraphic codes that are numbered. It enables one to realize an economy of 50% on all cables. The use of it is most simple and it offers, besides, a check system permitting the user to rectify errors of transmission.

We cannot recommend this Condenser too highly to merchants who have to correspond with distant countries.—Examples.

The four following words taken out of the A B C Code 5th edition: Certifichi, Umbrao, Silabear, Drilboren, can be cabled in two words, as follows, by the Piéron's Code Condenser, Carudlotef, Lafidsifig.

On the receipt of these two words the receiver possessing Piéron's Code Condenser will read in his A B C Code the four sentences corresponding to the words Certifichi, Umbrao, Silabear, Drilboren and this without changing anything in his code.

The four following words taken from Lieber's Code Aeravissem, Aercorum, Bastonerai, Dekenwever can be translated: Bilerbilig, Gupalrazei.

The two following words: Aeravissem, Umbrao, the first of which is taken from Lieber's Code and the second from the A B C Code can be transmitted without any confusion possible by the single word Bileroltef.

In conclusion, Piéron's Code Condenser enables one to transmit in one word two words extracted from a cyphered code or even from two different codes.

PREFACE.

In the present volume the Author has endeavoured to include the technical terms and sentences required by the Mining, Metallurgical and Civil Engineer, by the Mine Director, and by those connected with the direction or management of Mining and Smelting Companies. Particular attention has also been paid to the financial part of mining, needs of Financiers generally, negotiations for effecting the sale or purchase of mineral and other properties, as well as to the requirements of Stock Exchange transactions. Legal, Banking and General Phrases are also largely included.

The Code is alphabetically arranged, with but one exception, viz.:—
"Sundry Weights and Measures" on pages 774-775.

On pages 373—376, under the word "Mineral," will be found a list of the more commonly occurring Minerals; and on pages 533—535, under the word "Rock," will be found a similar list of Rocks.

Both "Minerals" and "Rocks" are arranged alphabetically.

The Cipher Words have been carefully selected with a view of eliminating such as may be identical in their telegraphic signals, or otherwise liable to error in transmission. On the next and following pages will be found General Suggestions as to the use of the Code, also for securing accuracy in messages received, for the prevention of errors in transmission, and for deciphering mutilated words when such occur.

The First Part contains over forty-four thousand Mining, Legal and General Phrases; while the Second Part includes Numerals, Measurements. Weights and Currencies.

A Schedule embracing the phrases required when surveying or reporting upon a mineral property is also added.

Any suggestions will be most cordially received.

BEDFORD McNEILL.
