PREFACE.

THE superiority of OLLENDORFF'S METHOD of teaching languages is now so universally acknowledged, both in the United States and in Europe, that an adaptation of it to the EUPHONIC CASTILIAN, or SPANISH LANGUAGE, must be considered as a desideratum to persons wishing to learn it. Divested of the abstractedness of Grammar, it contains, however, all its elements; but it develops them so gradually, and in so simple a manner, as to render them intelligible to the most ordinary capacity. The difficulties are met singly, thoroughly analyzed, and made familiar by dint of a varied and interesting repetition,—the most effectual means to impress them on young and unlearned minds, generally averse to thought or reflection, and always prone to trust to their undisciplined memory, a power often treacherous from want of proper direction. It is, therefore, hardly possible to go through this book with any degree of application, without becoming thoroughly conversant with the colloquial, idiomatic, and classic use of the Spanish language. Consequently, persons transacting business in the countries of which the Spanish is the vernacular tongue, will find this work to be their best guide in learning to speak it with propriety.

For the benefit of persons grammatically acquainted with the English, or other languages, a Synopsis of the Spanish has been annexed as an Appendix, containing tables of the regular conjugations of the verbs, copious lists of the irregular verbs, general rules of etymology, syntax, &c., by means of which they may learn all the peculiarities of the Spanish, and make themselves perfect masters of it in a very short time, without the assistance of a teacher.

To enhance, if possible, the importance and utility of this Method, the pronunciation of the Spanish letters is explained and exemplified, in so simple, clear, and easy a manner, as to render it comprehensible to every capacity.

Consulting also the benefit of the learners, and with a view to render this work a complete course for Reading, Speaking, and Writing the Spanish language, Models of Familiar and Commercial Letters are added to it, containing directions for all the usual commercial transactions, by the aid of which, young learners, and persons who instruct themselves, may transact, in writing, any business.

It is hardly necessary to remark, that the English phrases in the Exercises are not always models worthy of imitation; but they are made use of in order to instruct the scholar how to express them properly in Spanish, and thereby to teach him its idioms.

New York, February, 1848.

EXPLANATION OF THE SIGNS USED IN THIS BOOK.

- The irregular verbs are designated by a star (*).
- The figures 1, 2, 3, placed after the verbs, denote that they are regular, and indicate the conjugations to which they respectively belong.
- The figures 1, 2, 3, placed before the verbs, denote the persons, either singular or plural.
- N. 1, N. 2, &c., are used to designate the simple tenses of the verbs.
- N. 1, p., N. 2, p., &c., designate the compound tenses of the verbs.
- Expressions which vary either in their construction or idiom from the English, are marked thus †.
- A hand (✍) denotes a particular remark.

THE SAGACIOUS STARLING.

A THIRSTY starling found a decanter of water, and attempted to drink from it; but the water scarcely touched the neck of the decanter, and the bird's bill could not reach it.

He began to peck at the outside of the vessel, in order to make a hole in it; but in vain, the glass was too hard.

He then attempted to upset the decanter. In this he succeeded no better; the vessel was too heavy.

At length the starling hit upon an idea that succeeded: he threw little pebbles into the decanter, which caused the water gradually to rise till within the reach of his bill.

Skill is better than strength: patience and reflection make many things easy which at first appear impossible.

EL ESTORNINO SAGAZ.

Un estornino sediento halló una garrafa llena de agua, é inmediatamente procuró beber; pero el agua á penas llegaba al cuello de la garrafa, y el pico del pájaro no podia alcanzarla.

Se puso luego á picar la garrafa á fin de hacer un agujerito; pero se esforzó en vano, porque el vidrio era muy grueso.

Entónces intentó voltear la garrafa para derramar el agua; pero no pudo hacerlo, porque era muy pesada.

Al fin concibió una idea, que se le logró: echó poco á poco en la garrafa una cantidad tan grande de piedrecitas, que hicieron subir gradualmente el agua á la distancia que su pico podia alcanzar, y luego apagó su sed.

Mas vale maña que fuerza: la paciencia y la reflexion hacen fáciles muchas cosas, que parecian imposibles á primera vista.

² A Spanish interrogative sentence stands between two points of interrogation; the first of which is inverted, to show when the emphasis begins.

Vos was formerly generally used among all classes of society, addressing each other individually; at present it is confined to persons of high rank, or those placed in high posts, as superiors addressing their inferiors.

Public speakers, preachers, &c., addressing the public, congregations, &c., use Vosotros; unless they be corporate bodies entitled to be styled Usias, (your Lordships,) &c.

USTED, a contraction of Vuestra Merced, (your Honor, or your Worship,) formerly used, then abridged into Vuesarced, and finally into Usted, or Usté, is the only word used in the common intercourse in polite society, in all the transactions of life; excepting the cases above explained, and when the persons spoken to are entitled to a higher mark of respect by calling them Usia, (Vuestra Señoria, V. S., your Lordship or Ladyship,) &c.

Usted, and its plural Ustedes, are common to both genders, and agree with the verb in the third person singular or plural, according to their respective number; as, You are a good boy, Usted es un buen muchacho; You are good boys, Ustedes son buenos muchachos.

Usted, and Ustedes, have been always written in abbreviation, thus: Vmd., Vmds.—Vm., Vms. At present, Usted is represented by a V., and Ustedes by VV.

The speaker by using Usted may be sure never to give offence. The omission of it is considered vulgar; for instance, Digame que hora es, (tell me what hour it is,) instead of Digame V. que hora es.

When Usted is made use of at the beginning of a phrase, to avoid its repetition the cases of the pronouns he, él, or she, ella, are employed; as, When I saw you this morning, I told you, that I would accompany you and present you to him this afternoon—Cuando yo ví á Usted esta mañana le dije, que yo le (or la) acompañaría, y le (la) presentaría á él esta tarde.

In translating ancient history, public speeches, &c., tú, vos, or vosotros must be used; because Usted is of a very modern introduction into the language.

With the view to make the scholar perfectly familiar with the use of these three modes of address, some of the exercises are translated in one and some in another; but preference is given to Usted, because it is the most necessary and usual in the colloquial polite intercourse.

AUGMENTATIVE AND DIMINUTIVE NOUNS.

Augmentative and Diminutive nouns, in Spanish, are those which by the addition of a certain termination increase or diminish the signification of their primitives.

The augmenting nouns are formed by adding on, ote, azo, or onazo, to the masculine nouns, and ona, ota, aza, or onaza to the feminine; suppressing their last letter, should it be a, e, or o; as,

A boy.	Un muchacho.	A girl.	Una muchacha.
A big boy.	Un muchachon.	A big girl.	Una muchachona.

On and ote, ona and ota, generally indicate goodness in the object; azo, aza, onazo, onaza, most commonly refer only to size.

The termination azo frequently signifies the blow, or injury caused by the object to which it is added; as,

Whip.	Látigo.
A very large whip.	Un latigazo.
A stroke with a whip.	Un latigazo.

The termination azo added to the noun to express a blow, or injury, has no change when it is formed out of a noun feminine; as,

Hand.	Mano.
A large hand.	Manaza.
A blow, or stroke with the hand.	Manazo.

The diminutive nouns are formed by adding ito, illo, uelo for the masculine, and ita, illa, uela for the feminine, to the noun, which drops its last letter if it be a, e, or o; as,

A boy.	Un muchacho.
A little boy.	Un muchachito.
A girl.	Una muchacha.
A little girl.	Una muchachita.

Ita and ita generally express love towards the object, and beauty in it; illo and illa sometimes mean pity, and sometimes contempt; uelo and uela formerly were used in the same sense as ito and ita, at present they indicate only contempt.

The greatest part of nouns ending in an, in, on, che, ge, que, re, te, ve, add cito, cillo, zuelo, or cita, cilla, zuela to the noun, which in such case does not drop the last letter; as,

Lion.	Leon.	Pretty little lion.	Leoncito.
Man.	Hombre.	Good little man.	Hombrecito.
Woman.	Mujer.	Handsome little woman.	Mujercita.

Exception. Gentleman, } Señor. Young gentleman, } Señorito, &c.
Mister, } Master, }

Nouns ending in z change it into e, and add cito, cita, &c.; as,

Cross.	Cruz.	Little cross.	Cruccecita.
Fish.	Pez.	Little fish.	Peccecito, pececillo.

Nouns ending in co or ca change this syllable into quito, quita; as,

Boat.	Barco.	Little boat.	Barquito.
Barge.	Barca.	Little barge.	Barquita.

Nouns ending in go or ga, drop the o and add uito, uita, &c.; as,

Friend.	Amigo.	Dear little friend.	Amiguito.
Friend.	Amiga.	Dear little friend.	Amiguita.

Nouns ending in io, ia, generally do not admit the termination, and express the diminutive by translating the adjective; as, The little Claudius, El pequeño Claudio, or El niño Claudio. Sometimes they drop the last two vowels and add the regular termination; as, Julia, Julita; indio, indito. When the letter n precedes the said last syllables io, ia, it is generally changed into ñ; as, Antonio, Antoñito.

SEVENTEENTH LESSON.—Leccion Décima séptima.

OF THE INFINITIVE.

There are in Spanish three conjugations, which are distinguished by the termination of the present of the infinitive, viz.:

- The first has its infinitive terminated in AR; as:—

Hablar,	to speak;
Comprar,	to buy;
Cortar,	to cut.
- The second.....in ER; as:—

Vender,	to sell;
Comer,	to eat, (to dine);
Beber,	to drink.
- The third.....in IR; as:—

Recibir,	to receive;
Dividir,	to divide;
Abrir,	to open.

Each verb we shall hereafter give will have the number of the conjugation to which it belongs marked after it. The verbs marked with an asterisk (*) are irregular.

Fear.	Miedo de.
Shame.	Vergüenza de.
Right.	Razon de.
Time.	Tiempo de.
Courage.	Valor de, (para.)
A mind, (or a wish.)	Gana, (or deseo de.)
Wrong.	No tener razon de, (or hacer mal en.)
To work.	Trabajar l.
To speak.	Hablar l.
Have you a mind to work?	¿ Tiene V. gana de trabajar?
I am ashamed to speak.	¿ Tengo vergüenza de hablar.

To cut.	Cortar l.
To cut it.	Cortarle.
To cut them.	Cortarlos.
To cut some.	Cortar alguno.

Obs. A. When a pronoun object is governed by a verb in the infinitive, it is placed after the infinitive, and joined with it, so as to form a single word.

Still.	Aun, (or Todavía.)
Have you still a mind to buy it?	¿ Tiene V. todavía deseo de comprarle?

Have you time to cut the bread?	¿ Tiene V. tiempo de rebanar el pan?
I have time to cut it.	Yo tengo tiempo de rebanarle.
Has he a mind to cut trees?	¿ Tiene él gana de cortar árboles?
He has a mind to cut some.	¿ Tiene gana de cortar algunos.

To buy.	Comprar 1.
To buy some more.	Comprar algunos mas.
To buy one.	Comprar uno.
To buy two.	Comprar dos.
To buy one more.	† Comprar otro mas.
To buy two more.	Comprar dos mas.
To break, to tear.	Romper 2.
To pick up.	Alzar del suelo 1.
To mend.	Remendar * 1.
To repair.	Reparar 1.
	Componer * 2.
To look for, to seek.	Buscar 1.

Have you a mind to buy one more horse?	¿ Tiene V. gana de comprar todavía otro caballo?
I have a mind to buy one more.	Tengo gana de comprar otro mas.
Have you a mind to buy some books?	¿ Tiene V. gana de comprar libros?
I have a mind to buy some, but I have no money.	Tengo gana de comprar algunos, pero no tengo dinero.
Are you afraid to break the glasses?	¿ Tiene V. miedo de romper los vasos?
I am afraid to break them.	Tengo miedo de romperlos.
Has he time to work?	¿ Tiene él tiempo de trabajar?
	El tiene tiempo, pero no tiene gana de trabajar.
He has time, but no mind to work.	Él tiene tiempo, pero no tiene gana.
	Él tiene tiempo, pero no tiene gana de hacerlo, (to do it.)

Obs. B. To avoid the immediate repetition of a verb in the same mood or tense, it is more elegant to suppress it, or to make use of the verb hacer in its stead, as in the example.

To be right.	Tener razon de, (or hacer bien en)
Am I right in buying horses?	¿ Tengo yo razon de comprar caballos.
To be wrong.	No tener razon de, (or hacer mal en.)
You are wrong in buying one.	<table border="0"> <tr> <td>} V. no tiene razon de comprar uno.</td> </tr> <tr> <td>† V. hace mal en comprar uno.</td> </tr> </table>	} V. no tiene razon de comprar uno.	† V. hace mal en comprar uno.
} V. no tiene razon de comprar uno.
† V. hace mal en comprar uno.

Obs. C. When the present participle governed by in, stands for the infinitive governed by of, it is rendered in Spanish by the infinitive; then, "in buying," must be translated "de comprar."

You, (Plur.) | VV., (for Ustedes.) (See Less. I.)

EXERCISES.

To burn.	Quemar 1.
To warm.	Calentar * 1.
To tear.	Desgarrar 1. Despedazar 1.
The broth.	El caldo.
My fork.	Mi tenedor.

Obs. A. Do, doth, does, and did, in questions, in negative sentences, and when energetically used, must not be translated; they, however, point out the person and tense.

TO BE—SER and ESTAR.

To be may be expressed in Spanish by Ser or Estar; but the meaning of these verbs being very different, the scholar must pay particular attention to the following rules, in order to use them properly:

Ser is used to express the qualities inherent, or essential to persons or things; the state of fixed mind; the materials of which a thing is made; the condition, employment, rank, trade, &c. of persons; the object, purpose, destination, &c. of persons or things.

Estar is employed to denote the accidental, or temporary qualities or affections of persons or things, and is followed in English by a present participle.

These rules will be more easily understood by these examples:

This man is good.	Este hombre es bueno.
This man is in good health.	Este hombre está bueno.
He was wicked during his youth.	Él fué malo en su juventud.
He was sick in his youth.	Él estuvo malo en su juventud.
Ink is black.	La tinta es negra.
This ink is whitish.	Esta tinta está blanca.
He is very tall.	Él es muy alto.
He is placed very high.	Él está muy alto.
His watch is gold.	Su reloj es de oro.
His watch is broken.	Su reloj está quebrado.
Is this wine good ?	¿ Es bueno este vino ?

To be, followed by an active participle, is translated Estar; as, They are playing. Ellos están jugando.

To be is translated Tener in the following acceptations:
To be five feet long.	Tener cinco pies de largo.
To be three feet broad, wide.	Tener tres pies de ancho.
To be seven feet deep.	Tener siete pies de profundo.
To be fifty feet in circumference.	Tener cincuenta pies de circunferencia.
To be twenty years old.	Tener veinte años.

To be afraid of.	Tener miedo de.
To be obliged to.	Tener precision de.
To be so good as to.	Tener la bondad de.
To be prudent in.	Tener prudencia.
To be right in.	Tener razon para.
To be wrong in.	No tener razon para.
To be cold.	Tener frio.
To be hot, or warm.	Tener calor.
To be hungry, thirsty, sleepy, &c.	Tener hambre, sed, sueño, &c.

Are you willing to give me some bread?	¿Quiere V. darme pan?
I am willing to give you some, (a little.)	Yo quiero darle á V. un poco.

Obs. B. We call Subject, the nominative case; Object, the direct objective case; Complement, the indirect objective case. When two pronouns, object and complement, come together, the complement is always before the object. When they are governed by a verb in the infinitive or imperative mood, they are added to it and form a single word with it; but in that case the acute accent should be written on that vowel of the infinitive upon which lies the stress of the voice. Example—

You wish to send them to me. | V. quiere enviármelos.

To have to.	Tener * 2 que.
Have you any thing to do?	¿Tiene V. algo que hacer?
I have nothing to do.	Nada tengo que hacer.

The Roman.	El Romano.
The Greek.	El Griego.
The Arab, the Arabian.	El Árabe.
The Syrian.	El Siríaco.

Are you an Englishman? ¿ Es V. Ingles?¹

Obs. A. Where the indefinite article is used in English to denote qualities, the Spaniards make use of no article.

No, Sir, I am a German.	No, señor, yo soy aleman.
He is a Frenchman.	Él es Frances.
Is he a tailor?	¿ Es (él) sastro?
No, he is a shoemaker.	No, (él) es zapatero.

The fool.	El bobo, or tonto, or necio.
The afternoon.	La tarde. (Fem.)
The morning.	La mañana. (Fem.)
The day.	El dia.

Obs. B. The indefinite article a in English is sometimes rendered by the definite article el, la, in Spanish, particularly in speaking of the parts of the body. If the nouns expressing these are in the plural, they often take the article los, las. Examples:—

¹ Are you?—¿ Es Vm.? I am,—Yo soy. For the conjugation of this verb, see Appendix; and for the difference between Estar and Ser, see Lesson XVIII, and also the Appendix.

He has a large forehead.	Tiene la frente ancha.
He has blue eyes.	Tiene ojos (or los ojos) azules.

Corregir * 3. (See the verb Pedir, in the Appendix.)

To take off.

Quitar del medio.

Quitarse—quitar 1.

To take away.

Llevarse—llevar 1.

Obs. F. Quitar and Llevar are used here as reflexive or pronominal verbs. (See Lesson XXIII.)

The exercise.

El tema. El ejercicio.

To take.

Tomar 1.

Do you take your hat off?

I take it off.

My—thy—his—your.

¿ Se quita V. el sombrero?

Me le quito.

El—los—la—las.

Obs. G. When the adjective possessive pronouns are used with a verb which in Spanish is a reflexive verb, they must be changed in Spanish into the definite article—viz., el, (mas.) la, (fem.) singular; los, (mas.) las, (fem.) plural. Examples:—

I take my gloves off.

Do you take your shoes off?

I take them off.

Does your father correct your exercises?

He corrects them.

Yo me quito los guantes.

¿ Se quita V. los zapatos?

Yo me los quito.

TWENTY-EIGHTH LESSON.—Lección Vigésima octava.

It must be remembered that an interrogative sentence, in Spanish, depends rather on emphasis, than on its grammatical construction. Hence, an inverted interrogation is placed at the beginning of such sentences, as a guide to the reader in the modulation of his voice. The pronoun subject, therefore, may or may not be expressed, in conformity with the degree of emphasis that the writer may lay on it.—The English auxiliary verbs do, does, did—am, is, are, serve only to point out the person and tense, by which the principal verb must be expressed; but they are not translated.

Do I wish?	¿Quiero?	¿Quiero yo?
Can I? Am I able?	¿Puedo?	¿Puedo yo?
Am I doing?	¿Hago?	¿Estoy haciendo?

What am I doing?	¿Que estoy haciendo?	¿Que hago?
What do I say?	¿Que digo?
Where am I going to?	¿Á donde voy?
To whom do I speak?	¿Á quien hablo?
Where do you go?	¿Á donde va V.?
Where does he go?	¿Á donde va?

It will be seen from the last two sentences, that the omission of V. in the first would lead to ambiguity.

When do is used in English with a certain emphasis to give more power to the sentence, the pronoun subject should be expressed in Spanish. Examples:—

Does he speak to you?	¿Habla él á V.?
Yes, he does speak to me.	Si, él me habla.
Do you drink cider?	¿Bebe V. sidra?
I do drink cider, but my brother drinks wine.	Yo bebo sidra, pero mi hermano bebe vino.
Cider.	Sidra, (feminine.)
Do you receive a note every day?	¿Recibe V. un billete todos los dias?
Yes, I do receive one.	Si, yo recibo uno.
To begin.	Comenzar * 1. (See Alentar , in the Appendix.)
	Empezar * 1.
	Principiar 1.
Do I begin to speak Spanish?	¿Comienzo á hablar español?
You begin to speak it.	V. comienza á hablarle.
When do you begin?	¿Cuándo empieza V.?
I begin now.	Empiezo ahora.

Before.

Do you speak before you listen?	† ¿Habla V. antes de escuchar?
I listen before I speak.	† (Yo) escucho antes de hablar.
Does he go to market before he breakfasts?	† ¿Va al mercado (á la plaza) antes de almorzar?

To breakfast.

The breakfast.	El desayuno. El almuerzo.
Does he go there before he writes?	¿† Va allá antes de escribir?
He goes there before breakfast.	Va allá antes del almuerzo.
Do you take off your pantaloons before you take off your shoes?	¿Se quita V. los pantalones antes de quitarse los zapatos?

To depart, to set out.	Marcharse 1, (reflective verb.)
	Salir * 3. Partir 3.

When do you intend to depart?

¿Cuándo piensa V. salir, (or marcharse?)

I intend to depart to-morrow.

Pienso salir mañana.

Well.

Bien, (adverb.)

Badly.

Mal, (adverb.)

Obs.—When an adverb modifies a verb, it is generally placed after the verb; when it modifies an adjective or another adverb, it is generally placed before.

Does he speak well?

¿Habla bien?

He speaks badly.

Habla mal.

Do you speak Spanish well?

¿Habla V. bien el español?

FORTIETH LESSON.—Leccion Cuadragesima.

OF THE IMPERFECT.

There are in Spanish two tenses corresponding to the English Imperfect, viz: the Imperfect, Preterito Imperfecto, No. 2; and the Preterit, Preterito Perfecto Remoto, No. 3.

The Imperfecto, No. 2, represents the action as present, or still going on at the time spoken of, and corresponds to the English was, or were, followed by the present participle. Example:—I studied my lesson when you came in; that is, I was studying, &c.: Yo estudiaba mi leccion cuando V. entró.

It also expresses habitual actions, and in this case answers to the English used to. Example:—When I was at Madrid, I went to the Prado every day; that is, I used to, &c.: Cuando yo estaba en Madrid, iba al Prado todos los dias.

The Preterito Perfecto Remoto, No. 3, expresses an action that has taken place in a time entirely past, but that may be specified by some circumstances; it corresponds to the English did, followed by an infinitive. Example:—I read your letter yesterday, (I did read:) Yo lei su carta de V. ayer. I stayed two hours in my room, (I did stay:) Yo me quedé dos horas en mi cuarto.

HOW TO TRANSLATE THE ENGLISH IMPERFECT.

In all cases in which the English Imperfect can be turned into used to, and an infinitive, or was, were, and a present participle, use No. 2 in Spanish; in all other cases, use No. 3. Example:—I wrote letters every morning, (that is, I used to write.) Here use No. 2, and say: Yo escribía cartas todos los días.—I wrote a letter when you came in, (I was writing when you did come in.) In this case use No. 2 for the first verb, and No. 3 for the second, and say: Yo escribía una carta cuando V. entró.—I was three days in Madrid. In this example we cannot say I used to be; therefore, use No. 3, and say: Yo estuve tres días en Madrid.

For the formation of these two tenses, see the table in the Appendix.

To have, (active.)	2.	Tener, (activo.)
I had.	3.	Tenia, tenías, tenía; teníamos, teníais, tenían.
To have, (auxiliary.)	2.	Haber, (auxiliar.)

FORTY-THIRD LESSON.—Lección Cuadragesima tercera.

OF PASSIVE VERBS.

Passive Verbs represent the subject as receiving or suffering from others the action expressed by the verb. In Spanish, as in English, they are conjugated by means of the auxiliary verb SE, (to be,) placed before the past participle of the active verb; and the noun or pronoun, representing the agent (the subject) in the active phrase, must be preceded by the prepositions por or de, (by.) Either of them may be used when the action of the verb refers to the mind, and por only, when otherwise. ¶ Observe that the past participle of the principal verb must agree in gender and number with the subject of the verb.

FORTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Leccion Cuadragesima cuarta.

OF REFLECTIVE VERBS.

When the action falls upon the agent, and the object refers to the same person as the subject, the verb is called reflective or pronominal. In Spanish almost all active verbs may become reflective, and used as pronominal. These verbs form their compound tenses with the auxiliary haber, (to have.) The pronoun object must be of the same person as that of the subject, and each person is conjugated with a double personal pronoun. However, the pronoun subject is almost always understood in Spanish, while in English it is the object.

I—(myself.)	(Yo) me —(a mi mismo .) ¹
Thou—(thyself.)	(Tú) te —(a ti mismo .)
He—(himself.)	(Él) se —(a sí mismo .)
She—(herself.)	(Ella) se —(a sí misma .)
It—(itself.)	(Él) se —(a sí mismo .)
	(Ella) se —(a sí misma .)
One—(one's self.)	Uno se — alguno se —(a sí mismo .)
We—(ourselves.)	(Nosotros) nos —(a nosotros mismos .)
Sing. You—(yourself.)	V. se —(vos es) a sí mismo —(a vos mismo .)
Plur. You, ye—(yourselves.)	VV. se —(vosotros os)—(a sí mismos) —(a vosotros mismos .)
Mas. They—(themselves.)	Ellos se —(a sí mismos .)
Fem. They—(themselves.)	Ellas se —(a sí mismas .)

Obs. A. It will be remarked that the pronoun object of the third person is always se, whatever its gender or number may be.

Obs. When a proposition has no definite subject, the English, in order to avoid the pronouns they, people, &c., use the verb in the passive voice, and say: I was told, instead of, They told me; He is flattered, instead of, They flatter him. This is always expressed in Spanish by the pronoun se and a verb in the third person singular, or by a verb in the third person plural without the pronoun se. (See Lesson XXVIII, Obs. A. and B.) Example:—

He is flattered, but he is not beloved.	{ (Á él) se le alaba, pero no se le ama.
I am told that he is arrived.	{ (Á él) le alaban, pero no le aman.
That.	{ Me dicen que (él) ha llegado.

FIFTY-SEVENTH LESSON.—Lección Quincuagésima séptima.

OF THE GERUND.

The Gerund (by which the English present participle is translated) is formed from the present of the infinitive mood, by suppressing the terminations ar, er, or ir, and adding in their place ando to the verbs of the first conjugation, and iendo to those of the second and third.

1. To speak,	hablar.	Speaking,	hablando.
2. To sell,	vender.	Selling,	vendiendo.
3. To receive,	recibir.	Receiving,	recibiendo.

Obs. A. Verbs ending in cer, and uir, (when the u is sounded, as in atribuir), change the i, with which the termination begins, into y; thus, yendo, instead of iendo; as—

To read,	leer.	Reading,	leyendo.
To instruct,	instruir.	Instructing,	instruyendo.

Obs. B. The English present participle may be translated into Spanish by the Gerund, when it expresses the action of the verb as continuing, and unfinished. It is then used alone, or preceded by the verb Estar, but by no means by other words; as, He corrects whilst reading, él corrige leyendo, or estando leyendo, mientras está leyendo, († mientras lee, or al leer;) but it cannot be said, él corrige mientras leyendo.

EXERCISES.

Will you dine with us to-day?—With much pleasure.—What have you for dinner?—We have good soup, some fresh and salt meat, and some milk food.—Do you like milk food?—I like it better than all other food.—Are you ready to dine?—I am ready.—Do you intend to set out soon?—I intend setting out next week.—Do you travel alone, (solo?)—No, Madam, I travel with my uncle.—Do you travel on foot or in a carriage? (Less. XLIII.)—We travel in a carriage.—Did you meet any one in your last journey (último) to Berlin?—We met many travellers.—What do you intend to spend your time in (Lesson L.) this summer?—I intend to take a short journey.—Did you walk much in your last journey?—I like much to walk, but my uncle likes to go in a carriage.—Did he not wish to walk?—He wished to walk at first, (al principio), but he wished to get into the coach (montar en el coche) after having taken a few steps, so that I did not walk much.—What have you been doing at school to-day?—We have been listening to our professor.—What did he say?—He made a long (gran) speech on the goodness of God. After saying, "Repetition is the mother of studies, and a good memory is a great benefit of God," he said, "God is the creator of heaven and earth; the fear of the Lord is the beginning of all wisdom."—What are you doing all day in this garden?—I am walking in it.—What is there in it that attracts you, (que atrae?)—The singing of the birds attracts me.—Are there any nightingales (in it)?—There are some in it, and the harmony of their singing enchants me.—Have those nightingales more power over (sobre) you than the beauties of painting, or the voice of your tender (tierna) mother, who loves you so much?—I confess the harmony of the singing of those little birds has more power over me than the most tender words of my dearest friends.

What does your niece amuse herself with (Lesson XLIV.) in her solitude?—She reads a good deal, and writes letters to her mother.—What does your uncle amuse himself with in his solitude?—He employs himself in painting and chemistry.—Does he no longer do any business?—He no longer does any, for he is too old to do it.—Why does he meddle with your business?—He does not generally meddle with other people's business, but he meddles with mine because he loves me.—Has your master made you repeat your lesson to-day?—He has made me repeat it.—Did you know it?—I knew it pretty well.—Have you also done some exercises?—I have done some, but what is that to you, (sírvase decirme que le importará V.) I beg?—I do not generally meddle with things that do not concern me, but I love you so much that I concern myself much about (que yo me intereso) what you are doing.—Does any one trouble his head about you?—No one troubles his head about me, for I am not worth the trouble, (no valgo la pena.)—Who corrects your exercises?—My master corrects them.—How does he correct them?—He corrects them in reading them, and in reading them he speaks to me.—How many things does your master do at the same time, (á la vez?)—He does four things at the same time.—How so, (como?)—He reads and corrects my exercises, speaks to me and questions me all at once.—Does your sister sing while dancing?—She sings while working, but she cannot sing while dancing.—Has your mother left?—She has not left yet.—When will she set out?—She will set out to-morrow evening.—At what o'clock?—At a quarter to seven.—Have your sisters arrived?—They have not arrived yet, but we expect them this evening.—Will they spend the evening (Note, page 243) with us?—They will spend it with us, for they have promised me to do so.—Where have you spent the morning?—I have spent it in the country.—Do you go every morning to the country?—I do not go every morning, but twice a week.—Why has your niece not called upon me?—She is very ill, and has spent the whole day in her room.

FIFTY-EIGHTH LESSON.—Lecion Quincuagésima octava.

OF THE PAST FUTURE.—No. 4, p.

The past or compound future is formed from the future of the auxiliary, and the past participle of the verb to be conjugated. Example:—

They did agree to it. Conviniéron (or han convenido) en ello.

Where is your sister gone to? ¿Á donde fué su hermana de V.?

She is gone to the church. Ella fué á la iglesia.

OF THE CONDITIONAL OR POTENTIAL SIMPLE

This tense corresponds to No. 8, the second termination of the Imperfect of the subjunctive mood. The Imperfect of the subjunctive has three terminations for each person: the first, No. 7, is ra; the second, No. 8, is ría; and the third, No. 9, is se. (See the table of the terminations of the verbs.) In phrases in which the Potential is used, there are generally two sentences, one of which is the principal, and the other the subordinate. In Spanish, the verb of the principal is in the termination marked No. 8, and the verb of the subordinate is in the terminations marked Nos. 7 or 9. Example:—If I had money, I would buy books.—Si yo tuviese (tuviera) dinero compraría libros. The sentence in italics is the principal, and although, in the above example, it is placed after the subordinate, it might be placed before. It is easy to distinguish the principal from the subordinate: the last is always preceded by a conjunction.

I would have, thou wouldst have, he or she would have.	Tendría, tendrías, tendría.	} No. 8.
We would have, you would have, they would have.	Tendríamos, tendríais, tendrían.
I could have, thou couldst have, he or she could have.	Tuviera, tuvieras, tuviera.	} No. 7.
We could have, you could have, they could have.	Tuviéramos, tuviérais, tuvieran.
I might have, thou mightst have, he might have.	Tuviese, tuvieses, tuviese.	} No. 9.
We might have, you might have, they might have.	Tuviésemos, tuviéseis, tuvieran.

Obs. If (si) is sometimes understood in English, but it must always be expressed in Spanish, and the tenses used in the subordinate must be No. 7 and No. 9. Example:—Had I money, I would buy books.—Si yo tuviera (or tuviese) dinero, compraría libros.

No. 8 of To wish .	No. 8 de Querer .
I would, thou wouldst, he would.	Querria, querrias, querria.
We would, you would, they would.	Querriamos, querriais, querrian.

If I had money, I would have a new coat.	Si yo tuviera (or tuviese) dinero, compraría una casaca nueva.
If thou couldst do this, thou wouldst do that.	Si tú pudieras (or pudieses) hacer esto, querrias hacer aquello.
If he could, he would.	Si él pudiera, (or pudiese,) querria.

EXERCISES.

What has become of your uncle?—I will tell you what has become of him.—Here is the chair upon which he often sat.—Is he dead?—He is dead.—When did he die?—He died two years ago.—I am very much afflicted (aflijido) at it.—Why do you not sit down?—If you will stay with me I will sit down; but if you go I shall go along with you.—What has become of your aunt?—I do not know what has become of her.—Will you tell me what has become of your sister?—I will tell you what has become of her.—Is she dead?—She is not dead.—What has become of her?—She is gone to Vienna.—What has become of your sisters?—I cannot tell what has become of them, for I have not seen them these two years.—Are your parents still alive?—They are dead.—How long is it since your cousin (fem.) died?—It is six months since she died.—Did the wine sell well last year?—It did not sell very well; but it will sell better next year, for there will be a great deal, and it will not be dear.—Why do you open the door?—Do you not see how it smokes here?—I see it, but you must (deber) open the window instead of opening the door.—The window does not open easily; that is the reason why I open the door.—When will you shut it?—I will shut it as soon as there is (haya) (Obs. A, Lesson LVIII.) no more smoke.—Did you often go a-fishing when you were in that country?—We often went a-fishing and a-hunting.—If you will go with us into the country you will see my father's castle.—You are very polite, Sir; but I have seen that castle already.

When did you see my father's castle?—I saw it when I was traveling last year. It is a very fine castle, and is seen far off.—How is that said?—That is not said. That cannot be comprehended.—Cannot every thing be expressed in your language?—Every thing can be expressed, but not as in yours.—Will you rise early to-morrow?—It will depend upon circumstances; if I go to bed early I shall rise early, but if I go to bed late I shall rise late.—Will you love my children?—If they are good I shall love them.—Will you dine with us to-morrow?—If you get ready (hace preparar) the food I like I shall dine with you.—Have you already read the letter which you received this morning?—I have not opened it yet.—When will you read it?—I shall read it as soon as I have (tenga) time.—Of what use is that?—It is of no use.—Why have you picked it up?—I have picked it up in order to show it you.—Can you tell me what it is?—I cannot tell you, for I do not know; but I will ask (preguntar) my brother, who will tell you.—Where did you find it?—I found it on the shore of the river, near the wood.—Did you perceive it from afar?—I had no need to perceive it from afar, for I passed by the side of the river.—Have you ever seen such a thing?—Never.—Is it useful to speak much?—It is according to circumstances; if one wishes to learn a foreign (extrangero) language it is useful to speak a great deal.—Is it as useful to write as to speak?—It is more useful to speak than to write; but in order to learn a foreign language one must do both, (lo uno y lo otro).—Is it useful to write all that one says?—That is useless.

Where did you take this book from?—I took it out of (del) the room of your friend, (fem.)—Is it right to take the books of other people?—It is not right, I know; but I wanted it, and I hope that your friend will not be displeased, for I will return it to her as soon as I have read (que le haya) it.—What is your name?—My name is William, (Guillermo).—What is your sister's name?—Her name is Eleanor, (Leonor).—Why does Charles complain of his sister?—Because she has taken his pens.—Of whom do those children complain?—Francis (Francisco) complains of Eleanor, and Eleanor of Francis.—Who is right?—They are both wrong; for Eleanor wishes to take Francis's books, and Francis Eleanor's.—To whom have you lent Cervantes' works, (las obras?)—I have lent the first volume to William and the second to Louisa, (Luisa).—How is that said in Spanish?—It is said thus.—How is that said in German?—That is not said in German.—Has the tailor brought you your new coat?—He has brought it me, but it does not fit (Lesson XLVIII.) me well.—Will he make you another?—He will make me another; for rather than wear it I will give it away, (regalar).—Will you use that horse?—I shall not use it.—Why will you not use it?—Because it does not suit me.—Will you pay for it?—I will rather pay for it than use it.—To whom do those fine books belong, (de quien son?)—They belong to William.—Who has given them to him?—His father.—Will he read them?—He will tear them rather than read them.—Who has told you that?—He has told me so himself, (el mismo).

What countrywoman is that lady, (señora?)—She is from France.—Are you from France?—No, I am from Germany.—Why do you not give your clothes to mend?—It is not worth while, for I must have new clothes.—Is the coat which you wear not a good one?—It is a half-worn coat, and is good for nothing.—Would you be sorry if your mother were to arrive to-day?—I should not be sorry for it.—Would your sister be sorry if she were rich?—She would not be sorry for it.—Are you angry with any one?—I am angry with Louisa, who went to the opera without telling me a word of it.—Where were you when she went out?—I was in my room.—I assure you that she is very sorry for it; for had she known that you were in your room, she would have called you in order to take you along with her to the opera.—Charles V., who spoke fluently several European languages, used to say, (solia decir), that we should speak (que se debia hablar) Spanish with the gods, Italian with our friend, (fem.) French with our friend, (mas.) German with soldiers, English with geese, (gansos), Hungarian (húngaro) with horses, and Bohemian (bohémio) with the devil, (el diablo).

It is you, gentlemen, who have said so, (that.) † VV., caballeros, son quienes han dicho eso, (lo han dicho.)
 We learn Spanish, my brother and I. Mi hermano y yo aprendemos el español.

Obs. B. In Spanish, when a verb has two pronouns for a subject, it agrees in the plural with the person which has the priority. Example:—V. y yo lo haremos—You and I will do it. V. y él escribirán la carta—You and he will write the letter. Tú y él leeréis—Thou and he will read it.

You and I will go into the country. † V. y yo irémos al campo.
 You and he will stay at home. † V. y él se quedarán en casa.
 You will go to the country, and I will return to town. † Vos y él os quedaréis en casa.
 A lady. V. irá al campo, y yo volveré á la ciudad.
 What were you doing when your tutor was here? Una señora.
 I was doing nothing. † Que hacia V. cuando su ayo estaba aquí?
 I said nothing. Yo no hacia nada.
 Yo no decia nada.

EXERCISES.

194.

Of what illness did your sister die?—She died of fever.—How is your brother?—My brother is no longer living. He died three months ago.—I am surprised (sorprendido) at it, for he was very well last summer when I was in the country. Of what did he die?—He died of apoplexy.—How is the mother of your friend?—She is not well; she had an attack of ague the day before yesterday, and this morning the fever has returned.—Has she an intermittent fever?—I do not know, but she often has cold fits.—What has become of the woman whom I saw at your mother's?—She died this morning of apoplexy.—Do your scholars learn their exercises by heart?—They will rather tear them than learn them by heart.—What does this man ask me for?—He asks you for the money which you owe him.—If he will repair to-morrow morning (mañana por la mañana) to my house I will pay him what I owe him.—He will rather lose his money than repair thither.—Why does the mother of our old servant shed tears? What has happened to her?—She sheds tears because the old clergyman, (eclesiástico) her friend, who was so very good to her, (que la favorecía tanto) died a few days ago.—Of what illness did he die?—He was struck with apoplexy.—Have you helped your father to write his letters?—I have helped him.—Will you help me to work when we go to town?—I will help you to work if you help me to get a livelihood.

195.

Have you inquired after the merchant who sells so cheap?—I have inquired after him, but nobody could tell me what has become of him.—Where did he live when you were here three years ago?—He lived then in Charles-street, No. 37.—How do you like (Lesson XXIV.) this wine?—I like it very well, but it is a little sour.—How does your sister like those apples, (la manzana)?—She likes them very well, but she says that they are a little too sweet.—Will you have the goodness to pass that plate to me?—With much pleasure.—Shall I pass these fishes to you?—I will thank you to (me hará V. el favor) pass them to me.—Shall I pass the bread to your sister?—You will oblige her by (V. le dará gusto) passing it to her.—How does your mother like our food?—She likes it very well, but she says that she has eaten enough.—What dost thou ask me for?—Will you be kind enough to (tenga V. la bondad) give me a little bit (un pedacito) of that mutton?—Will you pass me the bottle, if you please?—Have you not drunk enough?—Not yet, for I am still thirsty.—Shall I give you some wine?—No; I like cider better.—Why do you not eat?—I do not know what to eat.—Who knocks at the door?—It is a foreigner.—Why does he cry?—He cries because a great misfortune has happened to him.—What has happened to you?—Nothing has happened to me.—Where will you go to this evening?—I do not know where to go.—Where will your brothers go to?—I do not know where they will go to; as for me, I shall go to the theatre.—Why do you go to town?—I go thither in order to purchase some books. Will you go thither with me?—I will go with you, but I do not know what to do there.

196.

Must I sell to that man on credit?—You may (poder) sell to him, but not on credit; you must not trust him, for he will not pay you.—Has he already deceived anybody?—He has already deceived several merchants who have trusted him.—Must I trust those ladies?—You may trust them; but as to me I shall not trust them, for I have often been deceived by (por las) women, and that is the reason why I say: We must not trust everybody.—Do those merchants trust you?—They trust me, and I trust them.—Whom do those gentlemen laugh at?—They laugh at those ladies who wear red gowns (el traje) with yellow ribbons.—Why do those people laugh at us?—They laugh at us because we speak badly.—Ought we to laugh at persons who speak badly?—We ought not to laugh at them; we ought, on the contrary, to listen to them, and if they make blunders, (fallas), we ought to correct them to them.—What are you laughing at?—I am laughing at your hat: how long (cuanto hace que) have you been wearing it so large?—Since I returned from Germany.—Can you afford to buy a horse and a carriage?—I can afford it.—Can your brother afford to buy that large house?—He cannot afford it.—Will your cousin buy that horse?—He will buy it, if it pleases (*convenir) him.—Have you received my letter?—I have received it with much pleasure. I have shown it to my Spanish master, who was surprised, for there was not a single fault in it.—Have you already received Calderon's and Moratin's works?—I have received those of Moratin; as to those of Calderon, I hope to receive them next week.

197.

Is it thou, Charles, who hast soiled my book?—It is not I, it is your little sister who has soiled it.—Who has broken my fine inkstand?—It is I who have broken it.—Is it you who have spoken of me?—It is we who have spoken of you, but we have said of you nothing but good, (que no sea bueno).—Who knocks at the door?—It is I, will you open it?—What do you want, (desear?)—I come to ask you for the money which you owe me, and the books which I lent you.—If you will have the goodness to come to me to-morrow I will return both to you.—Is it your sister who is playing on the piano?—It is not she.—Who is it?—It is my cousin, (fem.)—Is it your sisters who are coming?—It is they.—Is it your neighbors (fem.) who are laughing at you?—They are not our neighbors.—Who are they?—They are the daughters of the countess whose brother has bought your house.—Are they the ladies you have spoken of to me?—They are.—Shall you learn Spanish?—My brother and I will learn it.—Shall we go to the country to-morrow?—I shall go to the country, and you will remain in town.—Shall my sister and I go to the opera?—You and she will remain at home, and your brother will go to the opera.—What did you say when your tutor was scolding you?—I said nothing because I had nothing to say, for I had not done my task, and he was in the right to scold me.—What were you doing while he was out?—I was playing on the violin, instead of doing what he had given me to do.—What has my brother told you?—He has told me that he would be the happiest man in the (del) world, if he knew the Spanish language, one of the most useful of all languages for the Americans in the present times.

Why do you associate with those people?—I associate with them because they are useful to me.—If you continue to associate with them you will get into bad scrapes, for they have many enemies.—How does your cousin conduct himself?—He does not conduct himself very well, for he is always getting into some bad scrape, (or other.)—Do you not sometimes get into bad scrapes?—It is true (verdad) that I sometimes get into them, but I always get out of them again.—Do you see those men who seem desirous of approaching us?—I do see them, but I do not fear them, (temer), for they hurt nobody.—We must go away, (retirarnos), for I do not like to mix with people whom I do not know.—I beg of you not to be afraid of them, for I perceive my uncle among them.—Do you know a good place to swim in?—I know one.—Where is it?—On that side (Lesson XXXVIII.) of the river, behind the wood, (el bosque), near the high road, (el camino real.)—When shall we go to swim?—This evening, if you like.—Will you wait for me before the city gate?—I shall wait for you there; but I beg of you not to forget it.—You know that I never forget my promises.—Where did you become acquainted with that lady?—I became acquainted with her at the house of one of my relations.—Why does your cousin ask me for (Lesson XLI.) money and books?—Because he is a fool; of me, (à mí), who am his nearest relation, (su mas cercano pariente), and his best friend, he asks nothing.—Why did you not come to dinner?—I have been hindered, but you have been able to dine without me.—Do you think that we shall not dine, if you cannot come?—How long (hasta que hora) did you wait for me?—We waited for you till a quarter past seven, and as you did not come we dined without you.—Have you drunk my health?—We have drunk yours, and that of your parents.

How does your uncle look, (que semblante?)—He looks very gay, for he is much pleased with his children.—Do his friends look as gay as he?—They, on the contrary, look sad, because they are discontented. My uncle has no money, and is always contented, and his friends, who have a good deal (of it,) are scarcely ever so.—Do you like your sister?—I like her much, and as she is very good-natured (es muy cariñosa) to (con) me I am so to her; but how do you like yours?—We love each other, because we are pleased with each other.—A certain (cierto) man liked much wine, but he found in it (él) two bad qualities. "If I put water to it," said he, "I spoil it; and if I do not put any to it, it spoils me."—Does your cousin resemble you?—He resembles me.—Do your sisters resemble each other?—They do not resemble each other; for the elder (mayor) is idle and naughty, and the younger (la menor) assiduous and good-natured towards everybody.—How is your aunt?—She is very well.—Does your mother enjoy good health?—She imagines she enjoys good health, but I believe she is mistaken, for she has had a bad cough these six months of which (de la cual) she cannot get rid.—Is that man angry with you?—I think he is angry with me because I do not go to see him: but I do not like to go to his house, for when I go to him, instead of receiving me with pleasure, he looks displeased.—You must not believe that; he is not angry with you, for he is not so bad (malo) as he looks, (parece.) He is the best man in the world; but one must know him in order to appreciate him.—There is a great difference (la diferencia) between you and him, (él;) you look pleased with all those who come to see you, and he looks cross at them.

Is it right to laugh thus at everybody?—If I laugh at your coat I do not laugh at everybody.—Does your son resemble any one?—He resembles no one.—Why do you not drink?—I do not know what to drink, for I like good wine, and yours looks like vinegar.—If you wish to have some other I shall go down (bajar) into the cellar to fetch you some.—You are too polite, Sir, I shall drink no more to-day.—Have you known my father long?—I have known him long, for I made his acquaintance when I was yet at school. We often worked for one another, and we loved each other like brothers.—I believe it, for you resemble each other.—When I had not done my exercises he did them for me, and when he had not done his I did them for him.—Why does your father send for the physician?—He is ill, and as (y como) the physician does not come he sends for him.—Ah, (Ay.) it is all over with me!—But, bless me, (Dios mio!) why do you cry thus?—I have been robbed (Obs. A, Lesson XLV.) of my gold rings, (la sortija de oro.) my best clothes, and all my money; that is the reason why I cry.—Do not make (no haga V.) so much noise, for it is we who have taken them all, in order to teach you to take better care (de cuidar mejor, Lesson L.) of your things, (cosas.) and to shut the door of your room when you go out.—Why do you look so sad?—I have experienced great misfortunes; after having lost all my money I was beaten by bad-looking men; and to my still greater ill-luck, I hear that my good uncle, whom I love so much, has been struck with apoplexy.—You must not afflict yourself (no se aflija V.) so much, for you know that we must yield to necessity.

SIXTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Lección Sexagésima cuarta.

EXERCISES.

Can you not get rid of that man? (Lesson LIII.)—I cannot get rid of him, for he will absolutely follow me.—Has he not lost his wits?—It may be, (puede ser.)—What does he ask you for?—He wishes to sell me a horse which I do not want.—Whose houses are those?—They are mine.—Do these pens belong to you?—No, they belong to my sister.—Are those the pens with which she writes so well?—They are the same.—Whose gun is this?—It is my father's.—Are these books your sister's?—They are hers.—Whose carriage is this?—It is mine.—Which is the man of whom you complain?—It is he (el que) who wears a red coat.—“What is the difference (la diferencia) between a watch and me?” inquired (preguntó) a lady of a young officer.—“My lady,” replied he, (respondió este), “a watch marks the hours, and near (cerca) you one forgets them.”—A Russian peasant who had never seen asses, (burros), seeing several in France, said, (dijo), “Lord, (Dios mío!) what large hares (la liebre) there are in this country!”—How many obligations I am under to you, my dear friend! you have saved my life! without you I had been lost.—Have those miserable men hurt you?—They have beaten and robbed me, and when you ran to my assistance they were about to (iban) strip (desnudarme) and kill me.—I am happy to have delivered you from the (de las) hands of those robbers.—How good you are!

Will you go to Mr. Tortenson's to-night?—I shall, perhaps, go.—And will your sisters go?—They will, perhaps.—Had you any pleasure yesterday at the concert?—I had no pleasure there, for there was such a multitude of people there that one could hardly get in.—I bring you a pretty present with which you will be much pleased.—What is it?—It is a silk cravat.—Where is it?—I have it in my pocket, (en mi bolsillo).—Does it please you?—It pleases me much, and I thank you for it with all my heart. I hope that you will at last accept (aceptar) something of me.—What do you intend to give me?—I will not tell you, for if I do tell you, you will have no pleasure when I give it to you.—Have you seen any one at the market?—I have seen a good many people there.—How were they dressed?—Some were dressed in blue, some in green, some in yellow, and several in red.—Who are those men?—The one who is dressed in gray is my neighbor, and the man with the black coat the physician whose son has given my neighbor a blow with a stick.—Who is the man with the green coat?—He is one of my relations.—Are there many philosophers in your country?—There are as many there as in yours.—How does this hat fit me?—It fits you very well.—How does that coat fit your brother?—It fits him admirably.—Is your brother as tall (alto) as you?—He is taller than I, but I am older (viejo) than he.—Of what size is that man?—He is five feet four inches (una pulgada) high.—How high is the house of our landlord?—It is sixty feet high.—Is your well deep?—Yes, Sir, for it is fifty feet deep.—“There are many learned men (un sabio) in Rome, are there not, (no es verdad?)” Milton asked a Roman. “Not so many as when you were there,” answered (respondió) the Roman.

203.

Is it true that your uncle has arrived?—I assure you that he has arrived.—Is it true that the king has assured you of his assistance, (de su asistencia?)—I assure you that it is true.—Is it true that the six thousand (mil; takes no s in the plural) men, whom we were expecting, have arrived?—I have heard so.—Will you dine with us?—I cannot dine with you, for I have just eaten.—Will your brother drink a glass of wine?—He cannot drink, for I assure you that he has just drunk.—Why are those men quarrelling?—They are quarrelling because they do not know what to do.—Have they succeeded in extinguishing the fire?—They have at last succeeded in it; but it is said (Obs. A, Lesson XLV.) that several houses have been burnt.—Have they not been able to save any thing?—They have not been able to save any thing; for instead of extinguishing the fire, the miserable wretches (los malvados) who had come up, set to plundering.—What has happened?—A great misfortune has happened.—Why did my friends set out without me?—They waited for you till twelve o'clock, and seeing that you did not come they set out.—What is the day before Monday called?—The day before Monday is Sunday.—Why did you not run to the assistance of your neighbor whose house has been burnt?—I was quite (enteramente) ignorant of his house being on fire, (que su casa se estaba quemando;) for had I known it I would have run to his assistance.

Well, (y bien.) does your sister make any progress?—She would make some, if she were as assiduous as you.—You flatter me.—Not at all; I assure you that I should be highly satisfied, (muy.) if all my pupils worked like you.—Why do you not go out to-day?—I would go out if it were fine weather.—Shall I have the pleasure of seeing you to-morrow?—If you wish it I will come.—Shall I still be here when you arrive, (legue?)—Will you have occasion (ocasion) to go to town this evening?—I do not know, but I would go now if I had an opportunity, (una buena ocasion.)—You would not have so much pleasure, and you would not be so happy, if you had not friends and books.—Man (el) would not experience so much misery (la miseria) in his career, (la carrera.) and he would not be so unhappy, were he not so blind, (ciego.)—You would not have that insensibility (esa insensibilidad) towards the poor, and you would not be so deaf (sordo) to their supplication, (el ruego.) if you had been yourself in misery for some time.—You would not say that if you knew me well.—Why has your sister not done her exercises?—She would have done them if she had not been prevented.—If you worked more, and spoke oftener, you would speak better.—I assure you, Sir, that I should learn better if I had more time.—I do not complain of you, but of your sister.—You would have no reason (motivo) to complain of her, had she had time to do what you gave her to do.—Do you already know what has happened?—I have not heard any thing.—The house of our neighbor has been burnt down, (quemado.)—Have they not been able to save any thing?—They were very fortunate (muy afortunados) in saving the persons that were in it; but out of the (de las) things that were there, they could save nothing.—Who has told you that?—Our neighbor himself has told it me.

Why are you without a light?—The wind blew it out when you came in.—What is the price of this cloth?—I sell it at three dollars and a half the ell, (la vara.)—I think it very dear. Has the price of cloth not fallen?—It has not fallen: the price of all goods has fallen, except that of cloth, (ménos el del paño.)—I will give you three dollars for it.—I cannot let you have (dar) it for (por) that price, for it costs me more.—Will you have the goodness to show me some pieces (la pieza) of English cloth?—With much pleasure.—Does this cloth suit you?—It does not suit me.—Why does it not suit you?—Because it is too dear; if you will lower the price, (rebajar alguna cosa.) I shall buy twenty yards of it.—Not having asked too much, I cannot take off any thing.—You learn Spanish: does your master let you translate?—He lets me read, write, and translate.—Is it useful to translate in learning a foreign language?—It is useful to translate when you (sabe) nearly know the language you are learning; but while (cuando) you do not yet know any thing it is entirely (del todo) useless.—What does your Spanish master make you do?—He makes me read a lesson; afterwards he makes me translate English exercises into Spanish on the lesson which he has made me read; and from the beginning to the end of the lesson he speaks Spanish to me, and I have to answer him in the very language (la misma lengua) which he is teaching me.—Have you already learned much in that manner?—You see that I have already learned something, for I have hardly been learning it three months, and I already understand you when you speak to me, and can answer you.—Can you read (it) as well?—I can read and write as well as speak, (it.)—Does your master also teach German?—He teaches it.—Wishing to make his acquaintance, I must beg of you (yo le suplico) to introduce me to him, (que me presente V. á él.)

206.

How many exercises do you translate a day?—If the exercises are not difficult I translate from three to four every day; and when they are so I translate but one.—How many have you already done to-day?—It is the third which I am translating; but to-morrow I hope to be able to do one more, for I shall be alone, (solo.)—Have you paid a visit to my aunt?—I went to see her two months ago, and as she looked displeased, I have not gone to her any more since that time.—How do you do to-day?—I am very unwell.—How do you like that soup?—I think it is very bad; but since I have lost my appetite (el apetito) I do not like any thing.—How much does that employment yield to your father?—It yields him more than four thousand dollars.—What news do they mention, (decir?)—They say nothing new.—What do you intend to do to-morrow?—I propose joining a hunting party.—Does your brother purpose playing (hacer) a game at billiards?—He proposes playing a game at chess.—Why do some people laugh when I speak?—Those are unpolite people; you have only to laugh also, and they will no longer laugh at you. If you did as I do (como yo) you would speak well. You must study (es menester) a little every day, and you will soon be no longer afraid to speak.—I will endeavor to follow your advice, for I have resolved (proponerse) to rise every morning at six o'clock, to study till ten o'clock, and to go to bed early.—Why does your sister complain?—I do not know; since she succeeds in every thing, and since (y que) she is happy, even happier than you and I, why does she complain?—Perhaps she complains (quejarse) because she is not thoroughly acquainted with that business.—That may be.

We had dined when it struck twelve.	Habiamos comido cuando diéron las doce.

I had read your letter when I wrote mine. | Yo habia leído la carta de V. cuando escribí la mia.

It will be perceived that this tense is used in connection with the Preterito Perfecto Remoto, (No. 3.) For the use of that tense see Lesson XL. Observe that the Preterito Imperfecto (No. 2) answers to the English used to; the Preterito Perfecto Remoto (No. 3) to did; and that the Preterito Pluscuamperfecto (No. 2, p.) corresponds to the English pluperfect.

He came (used to come) to see me every day. | El venia á verme todos los días.
They came (did come) yesterday. | Ellos viniéron ayer.
I had seen them before. | Yo los habia visto ántes.
After you had spoken you used to go out. | Despues que V. habia hablado V. salia.
After shaving I washed my face. | Despues de afeitarme me lavaba la cara.
The king had appointed an admiral when he heard of you. (did hear.) | El rey habia nombrado un almirante, cuando le hablaron de V.
After having warmed themselves they went into the garden. | Despues de haberse calentado se fueron al jardin.
As soon as the bell rung (did ring) you awoke, (did wake.) | Así que repicó (sonó) la campana V. despertó.
As soon as they called me (did call) I got up, (did get.) | Luego que me llamaron me levanté.
As soon as he was ready he came to see me. | Luego que él estuvo pronto (listo) vino á verme.
As soon as we had our money we agreed to that. | Así que tuvimos nuestro dinero convenimos en ello.
As soon as he had his horse he came to show it me. | Luego que tuvo su caballo vino á enseñármelo.
After trying several times they succeeded in doing it. | Despues de probar muchas veces lograron hacerlo.
As soon as I saw him I obtained what I wanted, (was wanting.) | Así que le ví conseguí lo que yo queria.
As soon as I spoke to him he did what I wanted. | Al momento que le hablé hizo lo que yo queria.
The business was soon over. | Pronto se acabó el asunto.

OF THE PRETERIT ANTERIOR, (No. 3, p.)

Del Preterito Perfecto Anterior, (No. 3, p.)

This tense is formed with No. 3 of haber and the past participle (p.) of the verb to be conjugated. It is used (from its name anterior) to express an action past before another which is likewise past, and is hardly ever used except after one of the conjunctions.

As soon as.	{ Luego que. Así que.
After.	{ Al momento que.
When.	Despues que.
No sooner, scarcely.	Cuando.
	Apénas.

It also expresses an action quickly done. Examples:—
As soon as I had finished my work I carried it to him. | Luego que hube acabado mi trabajo se le llevé á él.
As soon as I had dressed myself I went out. | Así que yo me hube vestido salí.
When I had dined it struck twelve. | Así que hube comido diéron las doce.
I had soon done eating. | Pronto hube acabado de comer.

No. 3 should be preferred to this tense, which is seldom used in Spanish.

EXERCISES.

What did you do when you had finished your letter?—I went to my brother, who took (llevar) me to the theatre, where I had the pleasure to find one of my friends whom I had not seen for ten years.—What didst thou do after getting up this morning?—When I had read the letter of the Polish count I went to see (*salir) the theatre of the prince which I had not seen before, (todavía).—What did your father do when he had breakfasted?—He shaved and went out.—What did your friend do after he had been a-walking?—He went to the baron, (baron).—Did the baron cut the meat after he had cut the bread?—He cut the bread after he had cut the meat.—When do you set out?—I do not set out till to-morrow; for before I leave I will once more see my good friends.—What did your children do when they had breakfasted?—They went a-walking with their dear preceptor, (preceptor).—Where did your uncle go after he had warmed himself?—He went nowhere. After he had warmed himself he undressed and went to bed.—At what o'clock did he get up?—He got up at sunrise.—Did you wake him?—I had no need to wake him, for he had got up before me.—What did your cousin do when he heard of the death (la muerte) of his best friend?—He was much afflicted, and went to bed without saying a word.—Did you shave before you breakfasted?—I shaved when I had breakfasted.—Did you go to bed when you had eaten supper?—When I had eaten supper I wrote my letters, and when I had written them I went to bed.—At what (de que) are you afflicted?—I am afflicted at that accident.—Are you afflicted at the death of your relation?—I am much afflicted at it, (de ella).—When did your relation die?—He died last month.—Of whom do you complain?—I complain of your boy.—Why do you complain of him?—Because he has killed the pretty dog which I received from one of my friends.—Of what has your uncle complained?—He has complained of what you have done.—Has he complained of the letter which I wrote to him the day before yesterday?—He has complained of it.

Why did you not stay longer in Holland?—When I was there the living was dear, and I had not money enough to stay there longer.—What sort of weather was it when you were on the way to Vienna?—It was very bad weather, for it was stormy, and snowed and rained very heavily, († á cántaros.)—Where have you been since I saw you?—We sojourned long on the sea-shore, until a ship arrived, which brought us to France.—Will you continue your narrative?—Scarcely had we arrived in France when we were taken (llevar) to the king, who received us very well, and sent us back to our country.—A peasant having seen that old men (anciano) used (servirse de) spectacles (anteojos) to read, went to an optician (óptico) and asked for a pair, (pedir.) The peasant then took a book, and having opened it, said the spectacles were not good. The optician put another pair (otro par) of the best which he could find in his shop (la tienda) upon his nose; but the peasant being still unable to read, the merchant said to him: “My friend, perhaps you cannot read at all?” “If I could, (si yo supiera leer,”) said the peasant, “I should not want your spectacles.”—Henry IV. meeting one day in his palace (el palacio) a man whom he did not know, asked him to whom he belonged: “I belong to myself,” replied this man. “My friend,” said the king, “you have a stupid master.”—Tell us (cuéntenos V.) what has happened to you lately, (el otro día.)—Very willingly, (con mucho gusto;) but on condition that you will listen to me (que VV. me escuchen) without interrupting (interrumpir) me.—We will not interrupt you; you may be (poder contar) sure of it, (con ello.)—Being lately at the theatre, I saw La Pintura parlante and La Mujer llorosa performed, (ver representar.) This latter play (la última comedia) not being very amusing to me, I went to the concert, where the music caused me a violent headache. I then left (dejar) the concert, cursing it, (maldecir.) and went straight (en derechura) to the madhouse (la casa de los locos), in order to see my cousin. On entering the hospital of my cousin I was struck with horror (estar penetrado de horror) at seeing several madmen, (el loco.) who came up to me, jumping (saltar) and howling, (aullando.)—What did you do then?—I did the same, and they set up a laugh (echar á reír) as they were withdrawing, (al retirarse.)

EXERCISES.

What is the matter with you? Why do you look so melancholy, (parecer!)—I should not look so melancholy if I had no reason to be sad. I have heard just now (Lesson L.) that one of my best friends has shot himself with a pistol, and that one of my wife's best friends has drowned herself.—Where has she drowned herself?—She has drowned herself in the river which is behind her house. Yesterday, at four o'clock in the morning, she rose without saying a word to any one, (ninguna persona), leaped out of the window which looks into the garden, and threw herself into the river, where she was drowned.—I have a great mind (mucha gana) to bathe (bañarse) to-day.—Where will you bathe?—In the river.—Are you not afraid of being drowned?—Oh, no! I can (saber) swim.—Who taught you?—Last summer I took a few lessons in the swimming-school, (escuela de nadar.)

When had you finished your task?—I had finished it when you came in.—Those who had contributed (contribuir) most to his elevation to the throne (trono) of his ancestors, were those who labored (trabajar) with the most eagerness to precipitate (precipitar) him from it, (de él.) As soon as Cæsar (César) had crossed (pasar) the Rubicon, he had no longer to deliberate, (deliberar;) he was obliged to conquer (vencer) or to die.—An emperor (emperador) who was irritated at (irritado contra) an astrologer, asked him: "Wretch, (miserable!) what death dost thou believe thou wilt die?"—"I shall die of the fever," replied the astrologer. "Thou liest," said the emperor, "thou wilt die this instant of a violent death, (muerte violenta)." As he was going to be seized, (asir), he said to the emperor, "Sire, order some one to feel (pres. subj.) my pulse, (señor, mande V. M. que se me tome el pulso), and it will be found that I have a fever." This sally (agudeza) saved his life.

Do you perceive yonder house, (aquella?)—I do perceive it: what house is it?—It is an inn, (una venta;) if you like we will go into it to drink a glass of wine, for I am very thirsty.—You are always thirsty when you see an inn.—If we enter I shall drink your health.—Rather than (Lesson LXI.) go into an inn I will not drink.—When will you pay me what you owe me?—When I have money: it is useless to ask me for some to-day, for you know very well that there is nothing to be had of him who has nothing.—When do you think you will have money?—I think I shall have some next year.—Will you do what I shall tell you?—I will do it if it is not too difficult.—Why do you laugh at me?—I do not laugh at you, but at your coat.—Does it not look like (Lesson LXIII.) yours?—It does not look like it, for mine is short (corto) and yours is too long, (largo;) mine is black and yours is green.—Why do you associate with that man?—I would not associate with him if he had not rendered me great services, (el favor.)—Do not trust him, for if you are not on your guard, he will cheat (engañar) you.—Why do you work so much?—I work in order to be one day useful to my country.—When I was yet little I once (un día) said to my father, "I do not know commerce, (el comercio), and I do not know how to sell; let me (permítame V.) play." My father answered me, smiling, (sonriéndose), "In dealing (tráficoando se aprende á) one learns to deal, and in selling, to sell." "But, my dear father," replied (replicar) I, "in playing one learns also to play." "You are right," said he to me, "but you must first learn what is necessary and useful."—Judge not, (no juzgue V.) that you may not be judged, (si no quiere que le juzguen!) Why do you perceive the mote (una paja) in your brother's eye, you who do not perceive the beam (una viga) which is in your own eye?—Would you copy your exercises if I copied mine?—I would copy them if you copied yours.—Would your sister have transcribed her letter if I had transcribed mine?—She would have transcribed it.—Would she have set out if I had set out?—I cannot tell you what she would have done if you had set out.

EXERCISES.

Have patience, my dear friend, and be not sad; for sadness alters (en nada remedia) nothing, and impatience makes bad worse, (lo malo peor.) Be not afraid of your creditors; be sure that they will do you no harm. They will wait if you cannot pay them yet.—When will you pay me what you owe me?—As soon as I have (tenga) money I will pay all that you have advanced (for) me. I have not forgotten it, for I think of it (en ello) every day. I am your debtor, (deudor.) and I shall never deny it.—What a beautiful inkstand you have there! pray lend it me.—What do you wish to do with it?—I wish to show it to my sister.—Take it, but take care of it, and do not break it.—Do not fear, (no tenga V. cuidado.)—What do you want of my brother?—I want to borrow some money of him.—Borrow (pedir) some (le) of somebody else, (á otra persona.)—If he will not lend me any I will borrow some (le) of somebody else.—You will do well.—Do not wish for (apetecer) what you cannot have, but be contented with what Providence (la Providencia) has given you, and consider (considerar) that there are many men who have not what you have.—Life being short, let us endeavor (Lesson LXV.) to make it as agreeable as possible. But let us also consider that the abuse (el abuso) of pleasure (in the plural in Spanish) makes it bitter, (amargo, fem.)—Have you done your exercises?—I could not do them, because my brother was not at home.—You must not get (dar á hacer) your exercises done by your brother, but you must do them yourself, (V. mismo)—What are you doing there?—I am reading the book which you lent me.—You are wrong in always reading it.—What am I to do?—Draw this landscape, (Lesson LXVII.) and when you have drawn it you shall decline some substantives with adjectives.

217.

What must we do in order to be happy?—Always love and practise virtue, and you will be happy both in this life and in the next.—Since (ya que) we wish to be happy, let us do good to the poor, and let us have compassion on the unfortunate; let us obey our masters, and never give them any trouble; let us comfort the unfortunate, (infortunados.) love our neighbor as ourselves, and not hate those (aborrecer) that have offended us; in short, (en una palabra.) let us always fulfil our duty, and God will take care of the rest.—My son, in order to be loved you must be laborious (laborioso) and good. Thou art accused (acusar) of having been idle and negligent in thy affairs. Thou knowest, however, that thy brother has been punished for having been naughty. Being lately (el otro día) in town, I received a letter from thy tutor, in which he strongly (fuertemente) complained of thee. Do not weep; now go into thy room, learn thy lesson, and be a good boy, (bueno), otherwise (de otro modo) thou wilt get nothing for dinner.—I shall be so good, my dear father, that you will certainly be satisfied with me.—Has the little boy kept his word, (cumplir con su palabra?)—Not quite; for after having said that, he went into his room, took his books, sat down at the table, and fell asleep.—“He is a very good boy when he sleeps,” said his father, seeing him some time after.

Good morning, Miss N.—Ah! here you are at last. I have been waiting for you with impatience.—You will pardon me, (perdonar), my dear, I could not come sooner.—Sit down, if you please.—How is your mother?—She is better to-day than she was yesterday.—I am glad of it, (mucho me alegro de ello).—Were you at the ball yesterday?—I was there.—Were you much amused, (divertirse?)—Only so-so.—At what o'clock did you return home?—At a quarter past eleven.

Have you been learning Spanish long?—No, Sir, I have only been learning it these six months.—Is it possible! you speak tolerably well (bastante bien) for so short a time, (tan corto tiempo).—You jest, (burlarse); I do not know much (of it) yet.—Indeed, you speak it well already.—I think you flatter me a little.—Not at all; you speak it properly.—In order to speak it properly one must know more (of it) than I know.—You know enough (of it) to make yourself understood.—I still make many faults.—That is nothing, († eso no le hace;) you must not be bashful; besides (ademas) you have made no faults in all you have said just now.—I am still timid, because I am afraid of being laughed at, (que se rian de mí, pres. of the subjunctive).—They would be very unpolite to laugh at you. Who would be so unpolite as to laugh at you, (que se riese de V.?) Do you not know the proverb?—What proverb?—He who wishes to speak well must begin by (por) speaking badly.—Do you understand all I am telling you?—I understand and comprehend it very well; but I cannot express myself well in Spanish, because I am not in the habit of speaking it.—That will come in (con el tiempo) time.—I wish (lo deseo) it with all my heart.

Do you sometimes see my brother?—I see him sometimes; when I met him the other day he complained of you. “If he had behaved better, and had been more economical,” said he, “he would have no debts, and I would not have been angry with him.”—I begged of him to have compassion on you, (se compadeciera de V.) telling him that you had not even money enough to buy bread.—“Tell him, when you see him,” replied he to me, “that notwithstanding his bad behavior (la conducta) towards me, I pardon (perdonar á uno) him. Tell him also,” continued he, “that one should not laugh (que no se debe reir) at those to whom one is under obligation. Have the goodness to do this, and I shall be much obliged to you,” added he in going away, (al irse.)

EXERCISES.

What o'clock is it?—It is half-past one.—You say it is half-past one, and by (por) my watch it is but half-past twelve.—It will soon strike two.—Pardon me, it has not yet struck one.—I assure you it is five and twenty minutes past one, for my watch goes very well.—Bless me! how rapidly time passes in your society!—You make me a compliment which I do not know how to answer.—Have you bought your watch in Paris?—I have not bought it, my uncle has made me a present of it.—What has that woman intrusted you with?—She has intrusted me with a secret about a count who is in great embarrassment about the (á causa) marriage of one of his daughters.—Does any one ask her in marriage?—The man who demands her in marriage is a nobleman of the neighborhood, (la vecindad).—Is he rich?—No, he is a poor devil (diablo) who has not a penny.—You say you have no friends among your schoolfellows, (el condiscipulo); but is it not your fault? You have spoken ill of them, and they have not offended you. They have done you good, and nevertheless (sin embargo) you have quarrelled with them, (Lesson LXIV.) Believe me, he who has no friends deserves (merece) to have none.

Dialogue (diálogo) between a tailor and his journeyman, (el oficial).—Charles, have you taken the clothes to the Count Narissi?—Yes, Sir, I have taken them to him.—What did he say?—He said nothing but that he had a great mind to give me a box on the ear, (bofetadas, plur.) because I had not brought them sooner.—What did you answer him?—Sir, said I, I do not understand that joke: pay me what you owe me; and if you do not do so instantly I shall take other measures. Scarcely had I said that, when he put his hand to his sword, (á su espada), and I ran away.

222.

What are you astonished at?—I am astonished to find you still in bed.—If you knew how sick I am, you would not be astonished at it. Has it already struck twelve?—Yes, Madam, it is already half-past twelve.—Is it so late? Is it possible?—That is not late, it is still early.—Does your watch go well, (bien)?—No, Miss N., it is a quarter of an hour too fast.—And mine is half an hour too slow.—Perhaps it has stopped.—In fact, you are right.—Is it wound up?—It is wound up, and yet (sin embargo) it does not go.—Do you hear? it is striking one o'clock.—Then I will regulate my watch and go home.—Pray stay a little longer!—I cannot, for we dine precisely at one o'clock, (á la una en punto).—Adieu, then, till I see you again.

223.

What is the matter with you, my dear friend? why do you look so melancholy?—Nothing ails me, (nada tengo).—Are you in any trouble, (esta V. apurado)?—I have nothing, and even less than nothing, for I have not a penny, and I owe a great deal to my creditors: am I not very unhappy?—When a man is well and has friends he is not unhappy.—Dare I ask you a favor?—What do you wish?—Have the goodness to lend me fifty dollars.—I will lend you them with all my heart, but on condition that you will renounce gambling, (abandone el juego.) and be more economical than you have hitherto been.—I see now that you are my friend, and I love you too much not to follow your advice.

John, (Juan!)—What is your pleasure, Sir?—Bring some wine.—Presently, Sir.—Henry!—Madam?—Make the fire, (encienda V. candelita.)—The maid-servant has made it already.—Bring me some paper, pens, and ink. Bring me also some sand (arenilla) or blotting-paper, (papel de estraza.) sealing-wax, (lacre.) and a light, (una vela encendida.) Go and tell (vaya V. á decir) my sister not to wait (que no me espere) for me, and be back again (volver) at twelve o'clock in order to carry my letters to the post, (correo.)—Very well, madam.

EXERCISES.

Sir, may (atreverse) I ask where the Earl of B. lives?—He lives near the castle on the other side of the river.—Could you tell me which road I must take to go thither?—You must go (seguir) (along) the shore, and you will come (llegar) to a little street on the right, which will lead you straight (en derechura) to his house. It is a fine house, you will find it easily.—I thank you, Sir.—Does Count N. live here?—Yes, Sir, walk in, (servase V. pasar á dentro), if you please.—Is the count at home? I wish to have the honor (el honor) to speak to him.—Yes, Sir, he is at home; whom shall I have the honor to announce, (anunciar?)—I am from B., and my name is (llamarse) F.

Which is the shortest (corto) way to the arsenal, (un arsenal?)—Go down this street, and when you come (llegue) to the bottom, (cabó), turn to the left, and take (pase por) the cross-way; you will then enter into a rather narrow (bastante estrecha) street, which will lead you to a great square, (la plaza), where you will see a blind alley.—Through (por) which I must pass?—No, for there is no outlet, (la salida.) You must leave it on the right, and pass under the arcade which is near it.—And then?—And then you must inquire, (further.)—I am very much obliged to you.—Do not mention it, (no hay de que.)—Are you able to translate an English letter into Spanish?—I am.—Who has taught you?—My Spanish master.

Why does your mother fret?—She frets at receiving no news from her son who is with the army.—She need not be uneasy about him, for whenever he gets into a bad scrape he knows how to get out of it again.—Last summer when we were a-hunting together (juntos) night grew upon us (se cerró la noche) at at least ten leagues (una legua) from our country-seat, (la quinta.)—Well, (pues) where did you pass the night?—I was very uneasy at first, but your brother not in the least, (no); on the contrary, he tranquillized me, so that I lost my uneasiness. We found at last a peasant's hut where we passed the night. Here I had an opportunity to see how clever your brother is. A few benches and a truss of straw (un haz de paja) served him to make a comfortable (bueno) bed; he used a bottle as a candlestick, our pouches served us as a pillow, and our cravats as nightcaps. When we awoke in the morning, we were as fresh and healthy as if we had slept on down and silk.—A candidate (un candidato) petitioned (pedir) the king of Prussia (Prusia) for an employment, (un empleo.) This prince asked him where he was born. "I was born at Berlin," answered he. "Begone!" said the monarch, (el monarca.) "all the men of Berlin (los hijos de Berlin) are good for nothing." "I beg your majesty's (la majestad) pardon," replied the candidate, "there are some good ones, and I know two." "Which are those two?" asked the king. "The first," replied the candidate, "is your majesty, and I am the second." The king could not help laughing (no pudo ménos que reir) at this answer, and granted (conceder) the request, (la súplica.)

SEVENTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Lección Septuagésima cuarta.

To lose sight of.	Perder algo de vista.
The sight.	La vista.
I wear spectacles because my sight is bad, (I have bad sight.)	Llevo anteojos porque tengo la vista mala. (See Obs. B, Less. XXVI.)
I am near-sighted.	† Tengo la vista corta.
The ship is so far off that we shall soon lose sight of it.	El buque está tan lejos que pronto le perderemos de vista.
I have lost sight of that.	He perdido eso de vista.
As it is long since I was in England, I have lost sight of your brother.	Como hace mucho tiempo desde que estuve en Inglaterra, he perdido de vista á su hermano de V.
As it is long since I have read any Spanish, I have lost sight of it.	† Como hace mucho que no he leído español, casi le he olvidado.

Ought. Should.	No. 8 of Deber. (See Less. LX.)
You ought or should do that.	V. debería hacer eso.
You ought not to speak thus to his father.	V. no debería hablar así al señor padre de él.
We ought to go there earlier.	Deberíamos ir allí mas temprano.
They should listen to what you say.	Deberian escuchar lo que V. dice.
You should pay more attention to what I say.	VV. deberían hacer mas atencion á lo que digo.
You ought to have done that.	V. debería haber hecho eso.
You should have managed the thing differently.	V. debería haber manejado la cosa de otro modo, (diferentemente.)
He should have managed the thing better than he has done.	Él podría haber hecho la cosa mejor de lo que la ha hecho.
They ought to have managed the thing as I did.	Ellos deberían haber manejado la cosa como yo lo hice.
We ought to have managed it differently from what they did.	Deberíamos haber lo hecho de otro modo que ellos.

To bid or to wish.	Desear.
I bid you a good morning.	† Muy buenos dias tenga V.
I wish you a good morning.	{ Deseo á V. felices dias.
	{ Buenos dias.
I wish you a good journey.	Le deseo á V. feliz viage.

To play a game at billiards.	Jugar una mesa (partida) de billar.
To play upon the flute.	† Tocar la flauta.
A fall.	Una caida.
To have a fall.	† Dar una caida.
A stay, a sojourn.	Residencia. Morada.
To make a stay.	† Estar de asiento. Morar. Residir.
Does your brother intend to make a long stay in the town?	† ¿Piensa su hermano de V. estar largo tiempo de asiento en la ciudad?
He does not intend to make a long stay in it.	† Él no piensa estar de asiento en ella.

To propose, (meaning to intend.)	{ Proponerse. † Pensar. Intentar.
	{ Tener intencion.
I propose going on that journey.	† Pienso hacer ese viage.
I propose (intend) joining a hunting party.	Intento juntarme á una partida de caza.

To suspect, to guess.	{ Sospechar. Presumir. Recelar.
	{ Adivinar. Suponer.
I suspect what he has done.	Yo presumo lo que ha hecho.
He does not suspect what is going to happen to him.	No sospecha lo que va á sucederle.
To think of some one, of something.	Pensar en alguno, en alguna cosa.
Of whom do you think?	¿ En quien piensa V.?
Of what do you think?	¿ En que piensa V.?

To turn upon.	{ Tratarse de algo. Volver la vista.
To be the question.	{ Se trata de.
It is questioned, it turns upon.	No se trata del placer, sino de su adelantamiento de V.
The question is not your pleasure, but your improvement.	V. juega, señor, pero no se trata de jugar, sino de estudiar.
You play, Sir, but playing is not the thing, but studying.	¿ De que se trata?
What is going on?	Se trata de saber lo que harémos para emplear el tiempo gustosamente. ®
The question is to know what we shall do to pass the time agreeably.

On purpose.	{ A propósito.
I beg your pardon, I have not done it on purpose.	{ Yo pido perdon á V., no lo he hecho á propósito.
	{ † No lo he hecho á mal hacer.

To hold one's tongue.	{ Callarse. † Callarse la boca.
	{ † No abrir la boca.

Do you hold your tongue?	¿Se calla V.?
I hold my tongue.	Yo me calló.
He holds his tongue.	Él se calla.
After speaking half an hour, he held his tongue.	Después de haber hablado por media hora, se calló.

EXERCISES.

226.

A thief having one day entered a boarding-house, stole three cloaks, (la capa.) In going away he was met by one of the boarders who had a fine faced (galoneado) cloak. Seeing so many cloaks, he asked the man where he had taken them. The thief answered boldly (con mucho sosiego) that they belonged to three gentlemen (caballeros) of the house, who had given them to be cleaned, (para que los limpiase.) "Then you must also clean mine, for it is very much in need of it," said the boarder; "but," added he, "you must return it to me at three o'clock." "I shall not fail, (faltar.) Sir," answered the thief, as he carried off (llevar) the four cloaks, with which he (que) is still to return, (todavía no han parecido.)—You are singing, (cantar.) gentlemen, but it is not a time for singing; you ought to be silent, and to listen to what you are told.—We are at a loss.—What are you at a loss about?—I am going to tell you: the question is with us how we shall pass our time agreeably.—Play a game at billiards or at chess.—We have proposed joining a hunting-party; do you go with us, (venir?)—I cannot, for I have not done my task yet; and if I neglect it, my master will scold me.—Every one according to his liking; if you like staying at home better than going a-hunting we cannot hinder you.—Does Mr. B. go with us?—Perhaps.—I should not like to go with him, for he is too great a talker, (muy hablador.) excepting that (ménos eso) he is an honest man.

What is the matter with you? You look angry.—I have reason to (motivo) be angry, for there is no means of getting money now.—Have you been to Mr. A.'s?—I have been to his house; but there is no possibility (ningún medio) of borrowing from him. I suspected that he would not lend me any, that is the reason why I did not wish to ask him; and had you not told me to do so, I should not have subjected myself (exponer) to a refusal, (á una negativa.)

I suspected that you would be thirsty, and (that) your sister (would be) hungry; that is the reason why I brought (traer) you hither. I am sorry, however, not to see your mother.—Why do you not drink your coffee?—If I were not sleepy I would drink it.—Sometimes you are sleepy, sometimes (otras) cold, sometimes warm, and sometimes something else is the matter with you, (y muchas veces otras cosas.) I believe that you think too much of the misfortune that has happened to your friend, (fem.)—If I did not think about it, who would think about it?—Of whom does your brother think?—He thinks of me, for we always think of each other (uno de otro) when we are not together, (juntos.)

The Biscayans are excellent ball-players, (jugadores.)—The two chess-players were very skilful.—Do you know any flute-player, (flautista.) or any violin-player, (violinista?)—I know a very good flute-player, but I do not know any violin-player.—For what purpose do you ask?—Because I intend to have a musical entertainment.—Do you sometimes practise (hacer) music?—Very often, for I like it much.—What instrument do you play?—I play the violin, and my sister plays the harpsichord. My brother who plays the bass (el contrabajo) accompanies (acompañar) us, and Miss Stolz sometimes applauds (aplaudir) us.—Does she not also play some (musical) instrument?—She plays the harp, (el harpa.) but she is too proud (orgullosa) to practise music with us.—A very poor town went to considerable expense (hizo gastos considerables) in feasts and illuminations (fiestas é iluminaciones) on the occasion of its prince passing through, (cuando pasó su príncipe.) The latter seemed himself astonished at it.—"It has only done," said a courtier, (cortesano.) "what it owed (to your majesty)." "That is true," replied another, "but it owes all that it has done."

SEVENTY-FIFTH LESSON.—Lección Septuagésima quinta.

Towards, { (physically.)
(morally.)

Hacia.
Con. Para con.

He comes towards me.

Viene hacia mí.

He behaved very well towards me.

Se portó muy bien conmigo.

We must always behave well towards everybody.

Siempre nos debemos portar bien para con todo el mundo.

The behavior of others is but an echo of our own. If we behave well towards them, they will also behave well towards us; but if we use them ill, we must not expect better from them.

La conducta de los otros no es mas que el eco de la nuestra. Si nos portamos bien con ellos, se portarán igualmente bien con nosotros; pero si no los tratamos bien, no debemos esperar que nos traten mejor.

To treat or to use somebody well.
To use somebody ill.
Everybody.
Others.

As you have always used me well, I will not use you ill.

He has always used me well, and I have always used him in the same manner.

To delay, (to tarry.)
Do not be long before you return.
I shall not be long before I return.

To long to or for.
I long to see my brother.
He longs to receive his money.
We long for dinner, because we are very hungry.
They long to sleep, because they are tired.

To be at one's ease.

To be comfortable.

To be uncomfortable.

I am very much at my ease upon this chair.

You are uncomfortable upon your chair.

What can that be?

We are uncomfortable in that boarding-house.

That man is well off, for he has plenty of money.

Tratar bien á uno, (alguno.)

Tratar mal á uno, (alguno.)

Todo el mundo. Todos.

Otro. Otros.

(Indefinite Pronouns, see App.)

Como V. me ha tratado siempre bien, yo no le trataré mal.

Siempre me ha tratado bien, y yo le he tratado siempre de la misma manera.

Tardar. Tardarse. Detenerse.

No tarde V. en volver.

No tardaré en volver.

Esperar con ansias.

Estar ansioso.

Desear con vehemencia.

Tener gran gana.

Tener muchas ganas de.

Estoy ansiosa de ver á mi hermano.

Desea mucho recibir su dinero.

Tenemos muchas ganas de comer, porque tenemos mucha hambre.

Tienen muchas ganas de dormir, porque estan cansados.

Estar uno con desahogo.

Estar á sus anchuras.

Estar bien.

Estar cómodamente.

† Pasarlo bien.

Estar incómodamente.

† Pasarlo mal.

† Estoy muy á mis anchuras en esta silla.

V. está incómodamente en su silla.

¿Que puede ser eso?

Estamos incómodamente en esa posada.

† Lo pasamos muy mal en esa posada.

† Ese hombre lo pasa bien, porque tiene mucho dinero.

That man is badly off, for he is poor.

To make one's self comfortable.

Make yourself comfortable.

To inconvenience one's self.

To put one's self out of the way.

Do not put yourself out of the way.

That man never inconveniences himself; he never does it for anybody.

Can you, without putting yourself to inconvenience, lend me your gun?

To make entreaties.

To beg with entreaties.

I employed every kind of entreaty to engage him to do it.

To solicit, to press, to sue, to entreat.

Here and there.

Now and then, (from time to time.)

Indifferently, (as good as bad.)

I have done my composition tolerably well.

To impart something to somebody.

Have you imparted that to your father?

I have imparted it to him.

To postpone, to put off.

Let us put that off until to-morrow.

Let us put off that lesson until another time.

† Ese hombre lo pasa mal, porque es pobre.

Hacer uno lo que le acomoda.

Estar uno cómodamente.

Póngase V. cómodamente.

† Haga V. lo que le acomode.

Incomodarse. Molestarse.

No se incomode V. No se moleste V.

Ese hombre nunca se incomoda;

nunca se molesta por nadie.

¿Puede V., sin incomodarse, prestarme su escopeta?

Solicitar. Hacer instancias.

Hacer diligencias. Instar.

Pedir encarecidamente.

Pedir con instancia.

† Me valí de toda especie de súplicas para empeñarle á que lo hiciera.

Solicitar. Instar.

Suplicar. Rogar.

Aquí y allá. Acá y allá.

Acá y acullá.

De cuando en cuando.

Tal cual. Así así.

He hecho mi composition tal cual.

Informar á alguno de alguna cosa.

Dar parte de alguna cosa á uno.

Comunicar algo á alguno.

¿Ha informado V. de eso á su padre?

¿Ha dado V. parte de eso á su padre?

Le he informado de ello.

Posponer *. Diferir *.

Difiramos eso hasta mañana.

Difiramos esa lección hasta otra vez.

In vain.

In vain I looked around, I saw neither man nor house: not the least sign of settlement.

A dwelling, habitation, settlement.

In vain I speak, for you do not listen to me.

In vain I do my best, I cannot do any thing to his liking.

You may say what you please, nobody will believe you.

It is in vain that they earn money, they will never be rich.

We search in vain, for what we have lost we cannot find.

To salute.

To wish a good morning.

I have the honor to bid you adieu.

Present my compliments to him, to her.

Remember me to him, to her.

Pray, present my compliments to your sister.

Remember me (present my compliments) to him, to her.

I shall not fail.

At your service.

En vano. Por mas que.

Por mas que volvia los ojos á todas partes, no veía ni casas, ni hombres: ni la mas mínima señal de habitacion.

Una habitacion.

En vano hablo yo, pues VV. no me escuchan.

Por mas que haga, yo no puedo hacer nada á su gusto.

Por mas que diga V. ninguno le creerá.

Por mas dinero que ganen, jamas serán ricos.

En vano buscamos, pues lo que hemos perdido no lo hallaremos.

Saludar. Para saludar.

† Darle á uno los buenos dias.

Tengo el honor de saludarle á V.

Tengo el honor de despedirme de V

Encomiéndeme V. á él, á ella.

Dígale V. muchas cosas de mi parte.

Hágame V. el favor de encomendarme á su señora hermana.

Dele V. memorias y expresiones finísimas mias.

No faltará. † Con mucho gusto.

El pasado. Lo pasado.

El futuro. Lo futuro. Lo venidero.

La pérdida de tiempo.

Gozad de todos los placeres que permite la virtud.

Gozar.

EXERCISES.

228.

Have you made your Spanish composition?—I have made it.—Was your tutor pleased with it?—He was not. In vain I do my best; I cannot do any thing to his liking.—You may say what you please, (lo que quiera.) nobody will believe you.—Can you, without putting yourself to inconvenience, lend me five hundred dollars?—As you have always used me well I will use you in the same manner, (modo.) I will lend you the money you want, but on condition that you will return it to me next week.—You may depend upon it, (poder contar.)—How has my son behaved towards you?—He has behaved well towards me, for he behaves well towards everybody. His father told him often: The behavior of others is but an echo of our own. If we behave well towards them, they will also behave well towards us; but if we use them ill, we must not expect better (mas) from them.—May I see your brothers?—You will see them to-morrow. As they have just arrived from a long journey they long for sleep, for they are very tired.—What has my sister said?—She said that she longed for dinner, because she was very hungry.—Are you comfortable at your boarding-house?—I am very comfortable there.—Have you imparted to your brother what I told you?—As he was very tired, he longed for sleep; so that I have put off imparting it to him till to-morrow.

I have the honor to wish you a good morning. How do you do?—Very well at your service.—And how are all at home?—Tolerably well, thank God, (á Dios gracias!) My sister was a little indisposed, but she is better; she told (encargar) me to give you (que le presentase) her best compliments.—I am glad (alegrarse) to hear that she is well. As for you, you are health itself, (la misma salud;) you cannot look better, (es imposible tener mejor semblante.)—I have no time to be ill: my business would not permit me. Please to sit down; here is a chair.—I will not detain you from your business; I know that a merchant's time is precious.—I have nothing pressing (urgente) to do now, my courier is already dispatched, (mi correo esta despachado.)—I shall not stay any longer. I only wished in passing to inquire about your health.—You do me much honor.—It is very fine weather to-day. If you will allow me I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again this afternoon, (al pasar por aquí.) and if you have time we will take a little turn together.—With the greatest pleasure. In that case I shall wait for you.—I will come for you about seven o'clock.—Adieu, then, till I see you again.—I have the honor to bid you adieu.

230.

The loss of time is an irreparable loss. A single minute (un solo) cannot be recovered (pagar) for all the gold in the world. It is then of the greatest importance to employ well the time, which consists only of minutes, of which we must make good use, (buen uso.) We have but the present; the past is no longer any thing, and the future is uncertain, (incierto).—A great many people ruin themselves (arruinarse) because they wish to indulge themselves too much, (quieren pasarlo bien.) If most men knew how to content themselves (contentarse) with what they have, they would be happy; but their greediness (codicia) very often makes them unhappy.—In order to be happy we must forget the past, not trouble ourselves about (acongojarse) the future, and enjoy the present.—I was very much dejected (triste) when my cousin came to me. “What is the matter with you?” he asked me. “Oh, (¡Ay de mí!) my dear cousin,” replied I, “in losing that money I have lost every thing.” “Do not fret,” said he to me, “for I have found your money.”

SEVENTY-SIXTH LESSON.—Lección Septuagésima sexta.To mean.

What do you mean?

I mean.

What does that man mean?

He means.

The rose.	La rosa.
An emblem.	Un emblema, (mas.)
Fresh verdure is salutary to our eyes.	El verdor fresco es agradable á la vista.

EXERCISES.

231.

Why have you played a trick upon that man?—Because he always finds fault with every thing he sees.—What does that mean, Sir?—That means that I do not like to deal with you, because you are too particular.—I wonder why your brother has not done (haya hecho) his task.—It was too difficult. He has sat up all night, and has not been able to do it, because it was out of his reach.—As soon as Mr. Flausen sees me he begins to speak English, in order to practise, (ejercitar), and overwhelms me with politeness, (cortesias), so that I often do not know what to answer. His brothers do the same, (lo mismo.) However, they are very good people, (gentes;) they are not only rich and amiable, but they are also generous and charitable. They love me sincerely, therefore I love them also, and consequently shall never say any thing to their disadvantage. I should love them still more, if they did not make so much ceremony; but every one has his faults, and mine is to speak too much of their ceremonies.

232.

Have the enemies surrendered?—They have not surrendered, for they did not prefer life to death. They had neither bread, nor meat, nor water, nor arms, nor money; notwithstanding they determined to die rather than surrender.—Why are you so sad?—You do not know what makes me uneasy, my dear friend, (fem.)—Tell me, (lo), for I assure you that I share your sufferings as well as your pleasures.—I am sure that you feel for me, (que V. me compadece), but I cannot tell you now what makes me uneasy. I will however tell you when an opportunity offers, (se presente.) Let us speak of something else now. What do you think of the man who spoke to us yesterday at the concert?—He is a man of much understanding, (talento), and not at all wrapt up in his own merits, (y nada presumido.) But why do you ask me that?—To speak of something.—It is said: contentment (contento) surpasses (valer mas) riches; let us then always be content. Let us share (partir) (with each other) what we have, and remain our lifetime (mientras vivamos) inseparable friends. You will always be welcome at my house, and I hope to be equally so at yours. If I saw you happy I should be equally so, and we should be more contented than the greatest princes, who are not always so. We shall be happy when we are perfectly contented with what we have; and if we do our duty as we ought, God will take care of the rest. The past being no longer any thing, let us not be uneasy about the future, and enjoy the present.

233.

Behold, ladies, (señoras), those beautiful flowers, with their colors so fresh and bright; they drink nothing but water. The white lily has the color of innocence, (inocencia;) the violet indicates gentleness, (indica la dulzura;) you may see it in Louisa's eyes. The forget-me-not has the color of heaven, our future dwelling, and the rose, the queen of flowers, is the emblem of beauty and of joy. You see all that personified (personificado) in seeing the beautiful Amelia, (Amalia.) How beautiful is the fresh verdure! It is salutary to our eyes, and has the color of hope, (de la esperanza), our most faithful friend, (fem.) who never deserts (abandonar) us, not even in death, (en el momento de la muerte.)—One word more, my dear friend.—What is your pleasure?—I forgot to tell you to present my compliments (que me encomendara) to your mother. Tell her, if you please, that I regret (sentir) not having been at home when lately she honored me with her visit.—I thank you for her, (en su nombre), I shall not fail.—Farewell then.

A one-horse wagon.	Un carro tirado por un caballo.
A four-horse carriage.	Un carruaje tirado por cuatro caballos.
Gunpowder.	Pólvora.

Obs. A. We have seen (Lesson II.) that the preposition de is put between two substantives, the latter of which expresses the substance of which the former is made; but the preposition para is sometimes made use of when the latter expresses the use of the former. In both cases the order of the two substantives is inverted in Spanish, when they make a compound in English.

To exaggerate.	Exagerar. Ponderar.
That man exaggerates all that he says and does.	Ese hombre exagera cuanto dice y hace.

Obs. B. Such compounds as the following are generally expressed by one word in Spanish:—

The oyster-woman.
The tinsman.

Ezijir. Querer.

{ Que exige V. de mí;
{ Que me quiere V.?
{ Que quiere V. de mí?
{ Yo no exijo nada de V.
{ Yo no quiero nada de V.
{ Una tetera.

La ostrera.
El hojalatero.

OBSERVATIONS ON THE PROPER NAMES OF PERSONS TAKEN FROM THE LATIN AND GREEK.

Obs. C. Proper names ending in English in a, as, or es, are the same in both languages. But it must be observed, that nouns having a double consonant, drop one of them; that nouns that have th, suppress the h; that ph is changed into f; y into i; the diphthongs æ, æ, into e; ch into qu before e or i, and into c before a, o, u; and that names beginning with S, followed by a consonant, generally add E before it. Examples:—

Caligula.	Caligula.
Dolabella.	Dolabela.
Cleopatra.	Cleopatra.
Diana.	Diana.
Julia.	Julia.

Æneas.	Enéas.
Pythagoras.	Pitágoras.
Ulysses.	Ulises.
Socrates.	Sócrates.
Philadelphia.	Filadelfia.
Acheron.	Aqueron.
Achilles.	Aquiles.
Achates.	Acátes.
Sparta.	Esparta.

Obs. D. Proper names ending in o generally add an n. Examples:—

Cicero.	Ciceron.
Plato.	Platon.
Scipio.	Escipion.

Obs. E. Proper names ending in us change that termination into o. Examples:—

Cyrus.	Ciro.
Camillus.	Camilo.
Orpheus.	Orféo.

Obs. F. Most of those ending in al or is are the same in both languages. Examples:—

Juvenal.	Juvenal.
Sesostris.	Sesóstris.

Obs. G. Those ending in English in ander, change that termination into andro. Examples:—

Alexander.	Alejandro.
Lysander.	Lisandro.

Remark. The proper names of kingdoms, provinces, and towns, ending in English in a, are the same in Spanish; and those of towns ending in burg, add frequently o. Examples:—

Arabia.	Arabia.
Asia.	Asia.
Friburg.	Friburgo.
Hamburg.	Hamburgo.

Dainties.

He is fond of dainties.

At broad daylight.
To sit down to dinner.

Golosinas. Manjares delicados.
+ El es amigo de golosinas.
+ A él le gustan mucho las golosinas.
De día claro.
Sentarse á la mesa.

EXERCISES.

234.

Has your sister been out to-day?—She has been out to buy several things.—What has she bought?—She has bought a silk gown, a velvet bonnet, and a lace veil, (un velo de encaje.)—What have you done with my silver tankard?—It is on the kitchen table (together) with the oil-bottle, the milk-pot, the pitcher, the mustard-pot, and the coffee-mill.—Do you ask for a wine-bottle?—No, I ask for a bottle of wine, and not for a wine-bottle. If you had the goodness to give me the key of the wine-cellar, (la bodega.) I would go for one.—What does that man want of me?—He exacts nothing; but he will accept what you will give him, for he is in want of every thing.—I will tell you that I am not fond of him, for his behavior raises suspicions in my mind. He exaggerates all that he says and does.—You are wrong in having such a bad opinion of him, for he has been a father to you.—I know what I say. He has cheated me on a small and on a large scale, and whenever he calls he asks me for something. In this manner he has alternately asked me for all I had: my fowling-piece, my fishing-line, my repeater, and my golden candlesticks.—Do not give yourself up so much to grief, else (si no) you will make me melt in tears, (deshacerse.)

Democritus and Heraclitus were two philosophers of a very different character: the first laughed at the follies (la locura) of men, and the other wept at them.—They were both right, for the follies of men deserve to be laughed (se debe reir) and wept at, (llorar por ellas.)

235.

Have you seen your niece?—Yes; she is a very good girl, who writes well, and speaks Spanish still better; therefore she is loved and honored by everybody.—And her brother, what is he doing?—Do not speak to me of him; he is a naughty boy, who writes always badly, and speaks Spanish still worse; he is therefore (así) loved by nobody. He is very fond of dainties, but he does not like books. Sometimes he goes to bed at broad daylight, (cuando es.) and pretends to be ill; but when we sit down to dinner he is generally better (again.) He is to study physic, (la medicina.) but he has not the slightest inclination for it, (afición.)—He is almost always talking of his dogs, which he loves passionately, (apasionadamente.) His father is extremely sorry for it. The young simpleton (el tontuelo) said lately to his sister, “I shall enlist as soon as a peace (la paz) is proclaimed, (que se publique.)”

My dear father and my dear mother dined yesterday with some friends at (el palacio) the King of Spain.—Why do you always speak English and never Spanish?—Because I am too bashful.—You are joking: is an Englishman ever bashful?—I have a keen appetite, (grande apetito:) give me something good to eat.—Have you any money?—No, Sir.—Then I have nothing to eat for you.—Will you not let me have some (no me dará V.) on credit? I pledge my honor.—That is too little.—What, (como,) Sir!

SEVENTY-EIGHTH LESSON.—Leccion Septuagésima octava.

PRESENT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

(Presente del Subjuntivo.)

N. B. For the sake of brevity, the Present of the Subjunctive is designated by N. 6. For the formation of this Tense, see Appendix.

N. 6 of To HAVE , (active.)	N. 6 de TENER , (activo *.)
That I may have.	Que tenga, tengas, tenga, tengamos, tengais, tengan.
N. 6 of To HAVE , (auxiliary.)	N. 6 de HABER , (auxiliar *.)
That I may have.	Que haya, hayas, haya, háyamos, háyais, háyan.
N. 6 of To BE .	N. 6 de SER and ESTAR .
That I may be.	Que sea, seas, sea, seamos, seais, sean. Que esté, estes, esté, estemos, esteis, esten.
N. 6 of MAY or CAN , (to be able.)	N. 6 de PODER *.
That I may be able.	Que pueda, puedas, pueda, podamos, podais, puedan.

Obs. A. May and can are not translated, when the emphasis is on the principal verb. Example:—

May you live happy.	Viva V. feliz.
I fear he may be displeased.	Temo que él se enfade.

REMARKS.

In Spanish a verb governs another verb in the infinitive, in the indicative, or in the subjunctive mood. To elucidate this subject, the following rules are laid down, in which the governing verb will be designated by the name of the LEADING VERB, and the governed verb, by that of the SUBORDINATE VERB.

RULE I.

THE SUBORDINATE VERB is in the INFINITIVE, when the action it expresses refers to, and is to be performed by, the subject (nominative) of the LEADING VERB. Example:—

Peace is the greatest good that men can wish for in this life. | La paz es el mayor bien que los hombres pueden desear en esta vida.¹

RULE II.

The SUBORDINATE VERB is in the indicative, when the LEADING VERB merely declares, or points out a fact, or action expressed by the subordinate. Example:—

I will tell them that they do not know what they say. | Yo les diré que no saben lo que dicen.

RULE III.

The SUBORDINATE VERB is in the subjunctive, when the action expressed by it is indicated as doubtful, uncertain, conditional, or contingent, by the LEADING VERB. Examples:—

Even if this should not happen, but merciful Heaven guard and preserve him safe and sound, he continues as poor as ever. | Y cuando eso no suceda, sino que el Cielo piadoso le guarde y conserve sano y vivo, podrá ser que se quede en la misma pobreza que antes estaba.¹

I doubt he will come this evening. | Dudo que él venga esta noche.
You are not sure that they will do it. | V. no está seguro de que ellos lo hagan.

What do you want me to do? | ¿Que quiere V. que yo haga?

Remark.—It must be observed, that although in the paradigms of the conjugations the English POTENTIAL, as well as the Subjunctive moods are translated into Spanish by the Subjunctive, the use of the latter depends entirely on the meaning of the leading verb; in consequence of which, a verb in the present of the infinitive mood, or in the future tense in English, requires often to be placed in the Subjunctive. Examples:—

It is necessary for you to write to them. | Es necesario que V. les escriba.
He says he will do it, whenever they shall pay him what he asks. | Él dice que lo hará, siempre que ellos le paguen lo que pide.

USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

1. WHEN THE LEADING VERB means admiration, application, approbation, command, demand, duty, doubt, fear, fondness, ignorance, intelligence, intention, permission, prohibition, satisfaction, supplication, sorrow, surprise, suspicion, expediency, wish, necessity, will, asking, advising, counselling, entreating, rejoicing, soliciting, or any act of the mind, such as thinking, believing, &c., it governs the SUBORDINATE VERB in the Subjunctive, preceded by the conjunction QUE.

2. THE SUBORDINATE VERB must also be placed in the Subjunctive, preceded by QUE, when the LEADING VERB is preceded by an interjection expressing wish or desire, or when it is an impersonal verb, indicating doubt, duty, obligation, or some contingent and future effect produced by the action of such SUBORDINATE VERB. But this is placed in the present of the infinitive mood, without the conjunction, when its subject is not expressed. Example:—

It is necessary that you should do it. { Es necesario que V. lo haga.
Es necesario hacerlo.

3. THE LEADING VERB governs the SUBORDINATE VERB in the Subjunctive, when the former is connected with the latter by a conjunction implying condition, (conditional terms or clause,) doubt, exception, such as if, unless, provided that, although, &c., when they mean also a contingent and future effect of the action expressed by the SUBORDINATE VERB.

GOVERNMENT OF THE VERBS SET DOWN AND SPECIFIED IN THE THREE PRECEDING RULES.

Any of the verbs contained and set forth in the preceding rules, being the LEADING VERB, and in the present or future tense of the indicative, or in the imperative mood, governs the SUBORDINATE VERB in the PRESENT of the SUBJUNCTIVE.

N. B. To show to the learners the relation of the tenses, and in order to make easy to them the use of the above rules, the number of each tense is here employed for the sake of brevity, instead of the name of the tense. Should they not remember them, they must consult the Appendix.

☞ N. 1 stands for the present of the indicative—N. 6 for the present of the subjunctive—p. for participle.

EXERCISES.

236.

Will you relate (contar) something to me?—What do you wish me to relate to you?—A little anecdote, if you like.—A little boy one day at table (á la mesa) asked for some meat; his father said that it was not polite to ask for any, and that he should wait until some was given to him, (que le dieran, imperf. subjunctive; see the following Lesson.) The poor boy, seeing every one eat, and that nothing was given to him, said to his father: "My dear father, give me a little salt, if you please." "What will you (tú) do with it?" asked the father. "I wish to eat it with (echarla en) the meat which you will give me," replied (replicar) the child. Everybody admired (admirar) the little boy's wit; and his father, perceiving that he had nothing, gave him meat without his asking for it, (sin que la pidiera).—Who was that little boy that asked for meat at table?—He was the son of one of my friends.—Why did he ask for some meat?—He asked for some because he had a good appetite.—Why did his father not give him some immediately?—Because he had forgotten it.—Was the little boy wrong in asking for some?—He was wrong, for he ought to have waited.—Why did he ask his father for some salt?—He asked for some salt, that his father might perceive that he had no meat, and that he might give him some.

Do you wish me to relate to you another anecdote?—You will greatly (muchísimo) oblige me.—Some one purchasing some goods of a shopkeeper, said to him: "You ask too much; you should not sell so dear to me as to another, because I am a friend." The merchant replied: "Sir, we must gain something by (con) our friends, for our enemies will never come to the shop."

237.

A young prince, seven years old, was admired by everybody for his wit, (á causa de su ingenio.) Being once in the society of an old officer, the latter observed, in speaking of the young prince, that when children discovered so much genius in their early days, they generally grew very stupid when they came to maturity.—"If that is the case," said the young prince, who had heard it, "then you (vos) must have been very remarkable for your genius when you were a child."

An Englishman, on first visiting France, met with a very young child in the streets of Calais, who spoke the French language with fluency and elegance.—"Good heaven, (Santo cielo.) is it possible?" exclaimed he, "that even children here speak the French language with purity, (pureza.)"

Let us seek (solicitar) the friendship of the good, and avoid the society of the wicked; for bad company corrupts good manners.—What sort of weather is it to-day?—It snows continually, as it snowed yesterday, and according to all appearances, will also snow to-morrow.—Let it snow; I should like it to snow (que nevava, imperf. subjunctive; see next Lesson) still more, for I am always very well when it is very cold.—And I am always very well when it is neither cold nor warm.—It is too windy to-day, and we should do better if we stayed at home.—Whatever weather it may be I must go out; for I promised to be with my sister at a quarter past eleven, and I must keep my word.

SEVENTY-NINTH LESSON.—Lección Septuagésima nona.

IMPERFECT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

(Imperfecto del Subjuntivo.)

N. B. For the formation of this tense, see the Appendix.

The Spanish verbs have three words to express the imperfect tense of the subjunctive mood, to wit: one ending in RA, one in RIA, and one in SE.
Examples:—

FIRST CONJUGATION.

To desire.	Desear.
I might, could, would, or should desire.	Yo deseara 7, desearia 8, desearse 9.

SECOND CONJUGATION.

To fear.	Temer.
I might, could, would, or should fear.	Yo temiera 7, temeria 8, temerse 9.

THIRD CONJUGATION.

To unite.	Unir.
I might, could, would, or should unite.	Yo uniera 7, uniria 8, unirse 9.

USE OF THE IMPERFECT TENSE.

The same LEADING VERBS that govern THE SUBORDINATE VERB in the present of the subjunctive mood with que, being in any of the past tenses of the indicative, govern THE SUBORDINATE VERB in the first (N. 7) or third (N. 9) imperfect tense of the subjunctive, preceded by que.

LEADING VERBS.	SUBORDINATE VERBS.	DIRECTIONS.
Indicative.	Subjunctive.
Simple tenses.	N. 2. N. 3. N. 8.	N. 7. N. 9.
Compound tenses.	N. 2. p. N. 3. p. N. 8. p.	N. 7, p. N. 3, p.
I doubted	that you would come.	Yo dudaba
I did doubt		Yo dudé

I had doubted		Yo había dudado
I would have doubted		Yo habría dudado
I doubted	that you would have come.	Yo dudaba
I did doubt		Yo dudé
I would doubt		Yo dudaría
I had doubted		Yo había dudado
I would have doubted		Yo habría dudado

When the action is to take place after a certain time.
When the action has taken place after a certain time.
que V. viniera; or que V. viniese. que V. hubiese venido; or que V. hubiese venido.

REMARK A, ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

After the following conjunctions, the verb is in the subjunctive, present, or imperfect, in conformity with the rules above explained.

That, in order that,	á fin que.	Though, although,	bien que.
to the end that,		For fear of, lest,	por temor de no,
Unless, except,	á menos que.	unless,	sea que, á menos que.
If, † should it happen,	en caso que—si.	In case, if,	en caso que si.
Before,	antes que.	Though,	aunque.

Till, until,	hasta que.	Provided that, save	con tal que.
Far from,	lejos de.	that,
Not that,	no por que.	Though, although,	aunque.
For all that, not-	no obstante eso.	Without,	sin, sin que. withstanding that,		However little,	por poco que.
Suppose that,	supuesto que.	Whether,	sea que.
If ever so little, how	por poca que.	Suppose that,	{ supuesto que.
little soever,			{ se supone.

EXAMPLES.

Will you stay here until I can go out with you?	Quiere V. estarse aquí hasta que yo pueda salir con V.?
I will go out before he comes back.	Yo saldré antes que él vuelva.
If you had what you have not, you would be rich.	Si V. tuviera lo que no tiene, V. sería rico.
I send you my book, that you may read it.	Envío a V. mi libro para que (á fin de que) V. le lea.
Unless you accompany her, she will not go out.	A menos que V. la acompañe, ella no saldrá.
Though your children are idle, they make progress.	Aunque los niños de V. sean perezosos, ellos hacen progresos.
If a man had ever so little acquaintance with another, he was bound to take a part in the dispute, and venture his person as much as if he had himself been angry.	Por poca amistad que un hombre tuviera con otro, era necesario que él se mezclara en la disputa, y que arriesgara su persona tanto como si él mismo se hubiera (hubiese) encolerizado.

Be it as it may.

Though she is little and bad-looking, she is nevertheless amiable.	Aunque ella sea chica, y tenga mala cara, no deja de ser amable.
I would not have her for a wife, though she is rich and has a great deal of wit, because she is not good-hearted.	Yo no querría tomarla por mi esposa aunque sea rica, y tenga mucho talento, porque no tiene buen corazón.
Provided you are my friend, I am content.	Con tal que V. sea mi amigo, estoy contento.
Whether you are in the right or in the wrong.	Sea que V. tenga, ó no tenga razón
Although the monkey be dressed in silk, he is still a monkey.	Aunque se vista de seda La Mona, Mona se queda.

Iriarte, Fable XXVII.

But before it comes to that issue, a knight must travel through the world.

Pero antes que se llegue á ese término es menester andar por el mundo.

D. Quijote, cap. xxi. pt. i.

But be that as it may, I will order it to be repaired in the first village, where we can find a blacksmith, in such a manner as to be unexcelled, nay, even unequalled, by that which Vulcan forged and finished for the god of war.

Pero sea lo que fuere, yo la aderezaré en el primer lugar donde haya herrero, y de suerte que no le haga ventaja, ni aun le llegue la que hizo y forjó el dios de las herrerías para el dios de las batallas.

Ditto, ditto.

I want to divide no spoils, but to beg and supplicate some friend to bring me a draught of wine, and that he will wipe me dry of this sweat.

Yo no quiero repartir despojos, sino pedir, y suplicar á algun amigo, que me dé un trago de vino, y me enjague este sudor.

Ditto, cap. liii. pt. ii.

Obs. A. Some conjunctions govern the indicative, when the sentence affirms positively that the thing in question is, has been, or will be; and the subjunctive, when the sense of the phrase indicates uncertainty, condition, stipulation, contingency, futurity, or wish. Examples:—

If.	Si.
Although.	Aunque.
But.	Si no.
So, in such a manner.	De (de tal) forma que.
So as to.	De (de tal) manera que.
So that.	De (de tal) modo que.
	De (de tal) suerte que.
Ind. You behave in such a manner, that you are loved by everybody.	Ind. V. se porta de manera que es amado de todo el mundo.
Subj. Behave in such a manner that you may be loved.	Subj. Pórtese V. de tal manera que sea amado, (se haga amar.)
If he lent them money, they also lent it to him.	Si él les prestó dinero, ellos también se le prestaron.
If he lent (should he lend) them money, they would also lend it to him.	Si él les prestara dinero, ellos también se le prestarían.
Do it so as to have him satisfied.	† Hágalo V. de modo que él quede satisfecho.
But for me, he could not have known it.	Si no fuera por mí, él no lo habría sabido.
Ind. If he had gained a suit, he also had lost a friend, and therefore he had reason to complain.	Ind. Si él había ganado el pleito, también había perdido un amigo, y así tenía razón de quejarse.

Subj. If he had gained (that is, had he gained) the suit, he would have lost a friend, and therefore he had no reason to be sorry.

Ind. Although I had been there often, I had never seen her.

Subj. Although I had been there often, (or had I been,) I never should have seen her.

Obs. B. The subjunctive is used after the conjunction que when it is elliptic or substituted for other conjunctions, such as: á fin que, (de que,) sea que, sin que, con tal que, ántes que, despues que, á ménos que, hasta que, &c.

Whether I read or write, it is always found fault with. Que yo lea, ó que escriba, siempre hallan falta.

He can say nothing without your knowing it. Él no puede decir nada, que V. no sepa.

Wait till your father comes. Aguarde V. que su padre vuelva.

M. de Turenne would never buy any thing on credit of tradesmen, (tenderos), for fear, he said, they should lose a great part of it, if he happened to be killed. All the workmen (menestral) who were employed about his house had orders to bring in their bills (una cuenta) before he set out for the campaign, and they were regularly paid.

You will never be respected unless you forsake (abandonar) the bad company you keep.—You cannot finish your work to-night, unless I help you.—I will explain to you every difficulty, that you may not be disheartened (desanimar) in your undertaking, (una empresa).—Suppose you should lose your friends, what would become of you?—In case you want my assistance, call me, I shall help you.—A wise and prudent man lives with economy when young, in order that he may enjoy the fruit of his labor when he is old.—Carry this money to Mr. N., in order that he may be able to pay his debts, (una deuda).—Will you lend me that money?—I will not lend it you unless you promise to return it to me as soon as you can.—Did the general arrive?—He arrived yesterday morning at the camp, (el campo), weary, and tired, but very seasonably; he immediately gave his orders to begin the action, though he had not yet all his troops.—Are your sisters happy?—They are not, though they are rich, because they are not contented. Although they have a good memory, that is not enough to learn any language whatever, (cualquiera que sea); they must make use of their judgment.—Behold how amiable that lady is; for all that she has no fortune, I do not love her the less.—Will you lend me your violin?—I will lend it you, provided you return it to me to-night.—Will your mother call upon me?—She will, provided you will promise to take her to the concert.—I shall not cease to importune (importunar) her, till she has forgiven me.—Give me that penknife.—I will give it you, provided you will not make a bad use of it.—Shall you go to London?—I will go, provided you accompany (acompañar) me; and I will write again to your brother, lest he should not have received my letter.

Where were you during the engagement?—I was in bed to have my wounds dressed, (curar).—Would to God (Ojalá) I had been there! I would have conquered (vencer) or perished, (morir).—We avoided an engagement for fear we should be taken, their force being superior to ours.—God forbid (no quiera el cielo, with the subjunctive) I should blame your conduct, but your business will never be done properly unless you do it yourself.—Will you set out soon?—I shall not set out till I have dined.—Why did you tell me that my father was arrived, though you knew the contrary?—You are so hasty, (violento), that however little you are contradicted (contradecir) you fly into a passion (encolerizarse) in an instant. If your father does not arrive to-day, and if you want money, I will lend you some.—I am much obliged to you.—Have you done your task?—Not quite; if I had had time, and if I had not been so uneasy about the arrival (llegada) of my father, I should have done it.—If you study and are attentive, I assure you that you will learn the Spanish language in a very short time.—He who wishes to teach an art, must know it thoroughly, (á fondo); he must give none but clear and well-digested notions (reglas) of it; he must instil (infundir) them one by one into the minds of his pupils, and above all, he must not overburden (sobrecargar) their memory with useless or unimportant rules.

My dear friend, lend me a dollar.—Here are two instead of one.—How much obliged I am to you!—I am always glad when I see you, and I find my happiness in yours.—Is this house to be sold?—Do you wish to buy it?—Why not?—Why does your sister not speak?—She would speak if she were not always so absent, (distráida).—I like pretty anecdotes; they season (sazonar) conversation, and amuse everybody. Pray relate me some.—Look, if you please, in some of the numbers of the Spectator, and you will find many.

EIGHTIETH LESSON.—*Lección Octogésima.*THE SUBJUNCTIVE, (CONTINUED.)—Continuación del Subjuntivo.However, howsoever. | *Por. Por mas.Obs. A. Por, or por mas, before a noun or an adjective, governs the subjunctive.*However good you may be.
How rich soever they may be.Por bueno que V. sea.
Por mas ricos que sean.Whatever, whatsoever.Por (n) que. Por mas (n) que.
Cualquiera. Cualesquiera, (plur.)
Todo lo que. Sea el que, (la que.)
*Sea cual fuere. Sea cual sea.Obs. B. Sea el que, &c., followed by a noun, requires de after it, and que when a verb comes after it. It always governs the subjunctive.*Whatsoever courage you may have, he has more than you.Por valor que V. tenga, él tiene mas que V.
*+ Sea cual fuere el valor de V. él tiene mas.*Whatsoever patience we may have, we will never have enough.*Por mas paciencia que tengamos, nunca tendremos bastante.*Whatsoever riches he may have, he will soon see the end of them.*Sean cuales fueren sus riquezas, pronto las verá acabadas.*Whatsoever kindness I may have for him, I never shall have as much as he merits.*Por mas afecto que yo le tenga, nunca le tendré tanto como merece.*Whatsoever faults you may make, I will take care to correct them.*Cualesquiera faltas que V. haga, yo tendré cuidado de corregirlas.*Whatever may be the happiness you enjoy, I am happier than you.*Sea cual fuere la felicidad que V. goce (vos, or vosotros goceis) yo soy mas feliz que V., (que vos, or vosotros.)*Whatsoever may be the fortune which you enjoy, you may lose it in an instant.*Por mas fortuna que tengais (V. tenga) podreis, (podrá,) perderla en un instante.*Whatsoever may be the efforts which you make, you never can succeed.*Por mas esfuerzos que V. haga, nunca podrá salir con bien.*Whatsoever may be the pains which you take, no one will be under obligation to you for them.Por mas trabajo que V. se tome, ninguno se creará obligado á V., (nadie se lo agradecerá, or creará deberle nada.)

No one,

Nadie. Ninguno.Whatever, whatsoever, (meaning all things soever.)Todo lo que. Todo cuanto.
Todas las cosas que.
*Cualquier (cualquiera) cosa que.*Whatsoever you may do for my father, he will reward you for it.
I complain of nothing whatsoever.*Todo cuanto V. haga por mi padre, su merced (él) se lo recompensará. Yo no me quejo de nada, (or de cosa ninguna, or de nada que valga la pena.)Whoever, whosoever.Quienquiera. Cualquiera.Obs. C. The indeterminate pronouns quienquiera, cualquiera, whoever, whosoever; quienquiera, or cualquiera que sea, whoever, whosoever; nadie, nobody; ninguno, ni uno solo, no one, not any; nada, nothing; require the next verb in the subjunctive.*Of whomsoever you may speak, avoid slander.*De quienquiera que V. hable, evite murmurarle.*I know nobody who is as good as you.*No conozco á nadie (á ninguno) que sea tan bueno como V.*I have seen nothing that could be blamed in his conduct.*Yo no he visto nada que pudiera tacharse en la conducta de él, (en su conducta.)Obs. D. The subjunctive is employed at the beginning of a sentence to express surprise, a desire, or an imprecation. Examples:—*May heaven ever preserve you from such a misfortune.Quiera el cielo preservar á V. (preservaros) de una tal desgracia.

Would to God!

¡Plegue á Dios! ¡Plegue al cielo!
¡Quiera Dios, (el cielo)!

Would to God it were so!

*¡Ojalá! (See Placer , in App.)
¡Pluguiera á Dios que eso fuese así!

Would to God he had done it!

*¡Pluguiera á Dios que él lo hubiese hecho!Would to God that all the great lords loved peace!¡Pluguiera á Dios que todos los grandes señores amasen la paz!Would to God we may never be more unhappy!¡Plegue al Cielo que nosotros nunca seamos mas infelices!*

May you be happy!

¡Sea V. feliz!
*¡Ojalá que V. sea feliz!Obs. E. The subjunctive is also sometimes employed at the beginning of a sentence, when for the sake of energy an ellipsis is made of the conditional conjunctions aunque, si, &c.*Though it cost me all I have, I shall know how to preserve myself from such a misfortune.*Costárame todo cuanto tengo, yo me sabría precaver de una tal desgracia.¹*¹ Instead of, Aunque (or aun cuando) me costara, &c.

Were he to do what they advise him, he would not have cause to complain. Hiciera él lo que le aconsejan, y no tendría motivo de quejarse.¹

REMARK B, ON THE USE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD.

It may be remarked, in conclusion, on the use of the subjunctive, that whenever the subordinate verb, or the second member of a sentence, is united to the leading verb, or the first member of a sentence, by one of the relative pronouns, que, quien, cual, &c., it is put in the indicative when it expresses any thing certain or positive, and in the subjunctive when it relates to any thing uncertain, doubtful, or contingent. Examples:—

Here is a book for you, which you may consult occasionally. Ind. Aquí tiene V. un libro que puede consultar á ocasiones.
 Give me a book that I may be able to consult occasionally. Subj. Deme V. un libro que yo pueda consultar † cuando se ofrezca.
 Lend me that book which you do not want. Ind. Présteme V. aquel libro de que no necesita.
 Lend me a book which you may not be in want of. Subj. Présteme V. un libro de que no necesite.
 Do not leave a place where you are comfortable, and whence you hear well. Ind. No deje V. un asiento en que V. está cómodamente, y desde el cual V. oye bien.
 Choose a place where you may be comfortable, and whence you may hear well. Subj. Escoja V. un asiento en que esté cómodamente, y desde el cual V. oiga bien.

SOME ADDITIONAL EXAMPLES ON THE SUBJUNCTIVE, TAKEN FROM THE SPANISH CLASSIC AUTHORS.

Will your worship allow me to confer a little with you? Quiere vuestra merced darme licencia que departa un poco con él? D. Quijote, cap. xxi. pt. i.

In these cross-paths, though your worship conquer, and achieve the most perilous exploits, there is nobody present to be witness of them. En estas enrucijadas aunque se venzan, y acaben las mas peligrosas aventuras, no hay quien las vea, ni sepa. Ditto, ditto.

I am calm, and will be the same, although the triumph of the Gerundios be complete. Estoy fresco, y lo estaré aunque sea completo el triunfo de los Gerundios. Ditto—Carta LXVI.

By this means, and provided that you can pronounce as well, as Heaven may grant, the name of the illustrious Shakspeare, nobody will doubt of your authority. Con esto, y como pronuncieis, como el cielo os dé á entender, el nombre del insigne Shakspeare, ninguno dudará de vuestro voto. Cadalso—Eruditos á la Violeta.

In order that ignorant persons may not confound them with the truly learned. A fin de que los ignorantes no los confundan con los verdaderos sabios. Ditto, ditto.

May Jupiter preserve you from all evil! ¡Júpiter os guarde de todo mal! Ditto, ditto.

Heaven grant you would sing, replied the little bird.

Although the critics I am speaking of, may abuse me, I will describe them in other fable.

If the statutes of knight-errantry were lost, they would be found in your worship's heart.

Don Quixote told him to relate some story; and Sancho said he would do so, if the dread of what he heard did not prevent him.

If I were permitted to speak freely as usual, I could perhaps give such reasons as would convince your worship, that you are mistaken in what you say.

Don Fernando was highly displeased that his grandfather had not appointed him for principal governor.

The neglect of appointing him, might be imputed to his youth.

EXERCISES.

240.

You must have patience, though you have no desire to have it; for I must also wait till I receive my money. Should I (en caso que) receive it to-day I will pay you all that I owe you. Do not believe that I have forgotten it; for I think of it every day. Or do you believe, perhaps, that I have already received it?—I do not believe that you have already received it; but I fear that your other creditors may already have received it.—Would to God (Ojalá que) you had what I wish you, and that I had what I wish.—Though we have not had what we wish, yet we have almost always been contented; and Messieurs B. have almost always been discontented, though they have had every thing a reasonable man (un hombre racional) can be contented with.—Do not believe, Madam, that I have had your fan, (abanico).—Who tells you that I believe it?—My brother-in-law would wish he had not had what he has had.—Wherefore?—He has always had many creditors, and no money.—I wish you would always speak French to me; and you must obey, if you wish to learn, and if you do not wish to lose your time uselessly, (inútilmente.) I would wish you were more industrious and more attentive when I speak to you. If I were not your friend, and if you were not mine, I should not speak thus to you.—Do not trust (no se fie V.) Mr. N., for he flatters you. Do you think a flatterer (un adulador) can be a friend?—You do not know him as well as I, though you see him every day.—Do not think that I am angry with him, because his father has offended me.—Oh! here he is coming, (hele aquí que viene.) you may tell him all yourself.

241.

What do you think of our king?—I say he is a great man, but I add, that though kings be ever so powerful (poderoso) they die as well as the meanest of their subjects.—Have you been pleased with my sisters?—I have; for however plain (feo) they may be, they are still very amiable; and however learned (instruido) our neighbors' daughters may be, they are still sometimes mistaken.—Is not their father rich?—However rich he may be, he may lose all in an instant.—Whoever the enemy may be whose malice (malicia) you dread, (recelar.) you ought to rely (descansar) upon your innocence; but the laws (las leyes) condemn (condenar) all criminals (criminal) whatever they may be.—Whatever your intentions (intencion) may be, you should have acted differently.—Whatever the reasons (razon) be which you may allege, they will not excuse your action, blameable in itself.—Whatever may happen to you in this world, never murmur (murmurar) against Divine Providence; for whatever we may suffer we deserve it.—Whatever I may do, you are never satisfied.—Whatever you may say, your sisters shall be punished, if they deserve it, and if they do not endeavor to amend, (enmendar).—Who has taken my gold watch?—I do not know. Do not believe that I have had it, or that Miss C. has had your silver snuff-box, for I saw both in the hands of your sister when we were playing at forfeits, (juegos de prendas).—Tomorrow I shall set out for Dover; but in a fortnight I shall be back again, (*volver) and then I shall come and see you and your family.—Where is your sister at present?—She is at Paris, and my brother is at Berlin.—That little woman is said (se dice) to be going to marry General (el general) K., your friend; is it true?—I have not heard of it.—What news is there of our great army?—It is said to be lying (estar) between the Weser (el Vésér) and the Rhine, (el Rhin).—All that the courier told me seeming (parecer) very probable, I went home immediately, wrote some letters, and departed for London.

EIGHTY-FIRST LESSON.—Lección Octogésima primera.

FUTURE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.

Remark.—This tense expresses a positive future conditional action, and is governed by the same verbs and conjunctions that govern the present of the subjunctive mood, in consequence of which it is sometimes mistaken for and used instead of that; but it is very different, and expresses the idea with more energy and precision. Therefore the rules laid down for the use of the present of the subjunctive are applicable to this tense when the sense is conditional and future. It frequently answers to the future of the indicative, or present of the potential mood in English; but most frequently to the auxiliary verb should, as may be observed by the following examples:—

I do not tell thee to live, or to die: live, if thou canst; die, if thou canst not do better.

We have resolved to do in his behalf all that shall lie in our power.

No te digo que vivas, ni que mueras; vive, si PUDIERES, y muere, si no PUDIERES mas. Quevedo.

Tenemos ya determinado que sa haga en su obsequio todo lo que ALCANZAREN nuestras fuerzas.

Solis, lib. iii. cap. xi.

Command what you please, renew to our good friend my sincere attachment, and say from me all that you please to all those who shall remember me.

Manda lo que gustares, renueva á nuestro buen amigo mi fino afecto, y á cuantos se acordaren de mí, dirás de mi parte todo lo que quisieres. Isla—Cartas.

Obs. A. The definite article is used in Spanish before substantives taken in a general sense, and in the whole extent of their signification. In such instances no article is made use of in English. Examples:—

Men are mortal.

Gold is precious.

Flour is sold at six dollars a barrel.

Beef costs six pence a pound.

The horror of vice, and the love of virtue, are the delights of the wise man.

England is a fine country.

Obs. B. The definite article is used, of late, before the names of kingdoms, provinces, and countries; not by the best writers, however, excepting when those names are accompanied by an adjective, or when the countries admit of a division. It is required to be placed before a few names by general usage. Examples:—

Spain. Spain ultramarine, of this side or of that side of the sea.

Asia. Asia major, or minor.

Havana.

Peru.

Italy is the garden of Europe.

The dog is the friend and companion of man.

Manosear. Manejar. Tratar.

Cortarse. Perdersé.

La virtud es amable.

El vicio es aborrecible.

Los hombres son mortales.

El oro es precioso.

La harina se vende á seis pesos el barril.

La carne cuesta á seis peniques la libra.

El horror del vicio, y el amor de la virtud, son las delicias del sabio.

Inglaterra es un país hermoso.

España. La España ultra mar ó citra mar.

Asia. Asia mayor, or menor.

La Habana.

El Perú.

Italia es el jardín de Europa.

El perro es el amigo y el compañero del hombre.

Obs. C. The articles are repeated before every substantive when a particular emphasis is placed on them; otherwise they may be omitted.

Thessaly produces wine, oranges, lemons, olives, and all kinds of fruits.

He ate the bread, meat, apples, and cakes; he drank the wine, beer, and cider.

Beauty, gracefulness, and wit, are valuable endowments when heightened by modesty.

Tesalia produce vino, naranjas, limones, olivas, y toda especie de frutas.

Él se comió el pan, la carne, las manzanas, y los bollos; y se bebió el vino, la cerveza, y la sidra.

La hermosura, las gracias, y el ingenio, son prendas apreciables cuando estan acompañadas de la modestia.

EXERCISE.

242.

Whither shall you go next year?—I shall go to England, for it is a fine kingdom, where I intend spending the summer on my return from France.—Whither shall you go in the winter?—I shall go to Italy, and thence (de allí) to the West Indies, (á las Antillas;) but before that I must go to Holland to take leave (despedirse) of my friends.—What country do these people inhabit, (habitar?)—They inhabit the south (mediodía, sur or sud) of Europe; their countries are called Italy, Spain, and Portugal, and they themselves are Italians, Spaniards, or Portuguese; but the people called Russians, Swedes, and Poles, inhabit the north (norte) of Europe; and the names of their countries are Russia, Sweden, and Poland, (Polonia.) France is separated (separar) from Italy by (por) the Alps, (los Alpes;) and from Spain by the Pyrenees, (los Pirineos.)—Though the Mahometans (los Mahometanos) are forbidden the use of wine, (está prohibido;) yet for all that some of them drink it.—Has your brother eaten any thing this morning?—He has eaten a great deal; though he said he had no appetite, yet for all that he ate all the meat, bread, and vegetables, (legumbres;) and drank all the wine, beer, and cider.—Are eggs (huevo) dear at present?—They are sold at a dollar a hundred.—Do you like grapes, (uvas?)—I do not only like grapes, but also plums, (ciruelas;) almonds, nuts, and all sorts of fruit.—Though modesty, candor, and an amiable disposition (condicion) are valuable endowments, yet for all that there are some ladies that are neither modest, nor candid, (cándido;) nor amiable.—The fear of death and the love of life being natural to men, they ought to shun (huir) vice, (el vicio;) and adhere to (adherirse á) virtue.

Will you drink a cup of coffee?—I thank you, I do not like coffee.—Then you will drink a glass of wine?—I have just drunk some.—Let us take a walk.—Willingly, (con mucho gusto;) but where shall we go to?—Come with me into my aunt's garden; we shall there find very agreeable society.—I believe it; but the question is (el caso es) whether this agreeable society will admit me.—You are welcome everywhere.—What ails you, my friend? How do you like that wine?—I like it very well, (muy bien;) but I have drunk enough of it.—Drink once more, (otra copita.)—No, too much is unwholesome; I know my constitution.—Do not fall. What is the matter with you?—

I do not know; but my head is giddy, (estoy aturdido;) I think I am fainting, (pienso que me desmayo.)—I think so also, for you look almost like a dead person, (un cadáver.)—What countryman are you?—I am an American.—You speak Spanish (español) so well that I took you for a Spaniard by birth.—You are jesting.—Pardon me; I do not jest at all. How long have you been in Spain, (España?)—A few days.—In earnest?—You doubt it, perhaps, because I speak Spanish; I knew it before I came to Spain.—How did you learn it so well?—I did like the prudent starling.

Tell me, why are you always on bad terms (en discordia) with your wife? and why do you engage in unprofitable trades, (meterse en negocios inútiles?) It costs so much trouble (cuesta tanto) to get (tener) a situation; and you have a good one and neglect it. Do you not think of the future?—Now allow me to speak also, (á mi turno.)—All you have just said seems reasonable; but it is not my fault, if I have lost my reputation; it is that of my wife: she has sold my finest clothes, my rings, (anillos,) and my gold watch. I am full of (cargado) debts, and I do not know what to do.—I will not excuse your wife; but I know that you have also contributed to your ruin, (la ruina.) Women are generally good when they are left so, (cuando se dejan ser tales.)

DIALOGUE.

The Master.—If I were now to ask (hacer) you such (algunas preguntas) questions as I did in the beginning of our lessons, viz. (por ejemplo:) Have you the hat which my brother has? am I hungry? has he the tree of my brother's garden? &c. What would you answer?

The Pupils.—We are obliged (estar obligado) to confess that we found these questions at first rather (algo) ridiculous; but full of confidence in your method, we answered as well as the small quantity of words and rules we then possessed allowed us. We were, in fact, (pero,) not long (to be not long, no tardar mucho) in finding out that these questions were calculated to ground us in the rules, and to exercise us in conversation, by the contradictory answers we were obliged to make. But now that we can almost keep up a conversation in the beautiful language which you teach us, we should answer: It is impossible that we should have the same hat which your brother has, for two persons cannot have one and the same thing. To the second question we should answer, that it is impossible for us to know whether you are hungry or not. As to the last, we should say: that there is more than one tree in a garden; and in asking us whether he has the tree of the garden, the phrase does not seem to us logically correct. At all events we should be ungrateful (ingrato) if we allowed such an opportunity to escape, without expressing (expresar) our liveliest gratitude to you for the trouble you have taken. In arranging (por el arreglo) those wise combinations, (combinacion), you have succeeded in grounding us almost imperceptibly (imperceptiblemente) in the rules, and exercising us in the conversation, of a language which, taught in any other way, presents to foreigners, and even to natives, almost insurmountable difficulties, (insuperables.)

EXERCISE.

Will you be my guest, (comer conmigo: † tomar la sopa conmigo: hacer penitencia conmigo?)—I thank you; a friend of mine has invited me to dinner: he has ordered (hacer preparar) my favorite dish, (un plato favorito.)—What is it?—It is a dish of milk, (lacticinio.)—As for me, I do not like milk-meat: there is nothing like (no hay nada como) a good piece of roast beef or veal.—What has become of your younger brother?—He has suffered shipwreck (naufragar) in going to America.—You must give me an account of that, (dar una relacion.)—Very willingly, (de muy buena gana.)—Being on the open sea, a great storm arose. The lightning struck the ship and set it on fire. The crew jumped into the sea to save themselves by swimming. My brother knew not what to do, having never learned to swim. He reflected in vain; he found no means to save his life. He was struck with fright when he saw that the fire was gaining on all sides. He hesitated no longer, and jumped into the sea.—Well, (pues bien,) what has become of him?—I do not know, having not heard of him yet.—

But who told you all that?—My nephew, who was there, and who saved himself.—As you are talking of your nephew, (á propósito de—) where is he at present?—He is in Italy.—Is it long since you heard of him?—I have received a letter from him to-day.—What does he write to you?—He writes to me that he is going to marry a young woman who brings him (que le trae) a hundred thousand dollars.—Is she handsome?—Handsome as an angel; she is a master-piece of nature. Her physiognomy is mild and full of expression; her eyes are the finest in the (del) world, and her mouth is charming, (y su boca muy linda.) She is neither too tall nor too short; her shape is slender; all her actions are full of grace, and her manners are engaging. Her look inspires respect and admiration. She has also a great deal of wit; she speaks several languages, dances uncommonly well, and sings delightfully. My nephew finds in her (halla en ella) but one defect, (un defecto.)—And what is that defect?—She is affected, (afectada.)—There is nothing perfect in the world.—How happy you are! you are rich, you have a good wife, pretty children, a fine house, and all you wish.—Not all, my friend.—What do you desire more?—Contentment; for you know that he only is happy who is contented.

EIGHTY-FOURTH LESSON.—Leccion Octogésima cuarta.

To read again.		Volver á leer.
To (v) again.		Volver á.

Obs. A. When again signifies that the action of the verb is to be repeated, the Spaniards use the verb volver á, in its different tenses; and the verb, the action of which is to be repeated, in the infinitive.

EXERCISES.

246.

The Emperor Charles the Fifth (Carlos Quinto) being one day out a-hunting lost his way in the forest, and having come to a house entered it to refresh himself. There were in it four men, who pretended to sleep. One of them rose, and approaching the Emperor, told him he had dreamed he should take his watch, and took it. Then another rose and said he had dreamed that his surtout (sobretudo) fitted him wonderfully, and took it. The third took his purse. At last the fourth came up, and said he hoped he would not take it ill if he searched him, and in doing it perceived around the emperor's neck a small gold chain to which a whistle was attached, which he wished to rob him of. But the emperor said: "My good friend, before depriving me (privar á uno) of this trinket, (alhaja.) I must teach you its virtue." Saying this, he whistled. His attendants, who were seeking him, hastened to the house, and were thunderstruck (quedaron pasmados) to behold his majesty in such a state. But the emperor seeing himself out of danger, (fuera de peligro.) said: "These men (aquí tenéis unos hombres que) have dreamed all that they liked. I wish in my turn also to dream." And after having mused a few seconds, he said: "I have dreamed that you all four deserve to be hanged:" which was no sooner spoken than executed before the house.

A certain king making one day his entrance into a town at two o'clock in the afternoon, (de la tarde.) the senate sent some deputies (un diputado) to compliment him. The one who was to speak (había de hablar) began thus: "Alexander the Great, the great Alexander," and stopped short, (se cortó.)—The king, who was very hungry, (tenía hambre.) said: "Ah! my friend, Alexander the Great had dined, and I am still fasting, (estar en ayunas.)" Having said this, he proceeded to (siguió su camino) the City Hall, or State House, (á la casa consistorial.) where a magnificent dinner had been prepared for him.

A good old man, being very ill, sent for his wife, who was still very young, and said to her: "My dear, you see that my last hour is approaching, and that I am compelled to leave you. If, therefore, you wish me to die in peace you must do me a favor. You are still young, and will, without doubt, marry again, (se volverá á casar;) knowing this, I request of you not to wed (no se case con) M. Louis; for I confess that I have always been very jealous of him, and am so still. I should, therefore, die in despair (desesperado) if you did not promise me that." The wife answered: "My dear husband, (alma mia.) I entreat you, let not this hinder you from dying peaceably; for I assure you that, if even I wished to wed him I could not do so, being already promised to another."

It was customary with Frederick the Great, whenever a new soldier appeared in his guards, to ask him three questions; viz.: "How old are you? How long have you been in my service? Are you satisfied with your pay and treatment?" It happened that a young soldier, born in France, who had served in his own country, desired to enlist in the Prussian service. His figure caused him to be immediately accepted; but he was totally ignorant of the German dialect; and his captain giving him notice that the king would question him in that tongue the first time he should see him, cautioned him at the same time to learn by heart the three answers that he was to make to the king. Accordingly he learned them by the next day; and as soon as he appeared in the ranks Frederick came up to interrogate him: but he happened to begin upon him by the second question, and asked him, "How long have you been in my service?" "Twenty-one years," answered the soldier. The king, struck with his youth, which plainly indicated that he had not borne a musket so long as that, said to him, much astonished, "How old are you?" "One year, an't please your majesty, (con permiso de Vuestra Majestad.)" Frederick, more astonished still, cried, "You or I must certainly be bereft of our senses." The soldier, who took this for the third question, replied firmly, (con denuedo.) "Both, an't please your majesty."

Allow me, my lady, to introduce to you Mr. G., an old friend of our family.

I am delighted to become acquainted with you.

I shall do all in my power to deserve your good opinion.

Ladies, allow me to introduce to you Mr. B., whose brother has rendered such eminent services to your cousin.

We are very happy to see you at our house.

It is the prerogative of great men to conquer envy; merit gives it birth, and merit destroys it.

Señora, permítame V. que le presente el Señor G., antiguo amigo de nuestra familia.

Tengo mucho gusto en hacer el conocimiento de V.

Yo haré cuanto esté de mi parte para merecer la buena opinion de V.

Señoras, permítame VV. que les presente el Señor B., cuyo hermano ha hecho tan importantes servicios al primo de VV.

Nos consideramos muy felices en ver á V. en nuestra casa.

Es prerogativa de los grandes hombres conquistar la envidia; el mérito la hace nacer, y el mérito la destruye.

EXERCISES.

248.

A man (cierto) had two sons, one of whom liked to sleep very late in the morning, (á pierna suelta), and the other was very industrious, (aplicado y trabajador), and always rose very early. The latter having one day gone out very early, found a purse well filled with money. He ran to his brother to inform him (á contarle) of his good luck, (la buena fortuna), and said to him: "See, Louis, what is got (ganarse) by rising early?"—"Faith, (cierto!)" answered his brother, "if the person to whom it belongs had not risen earlier than I, (he) would not have lost it."

A lazy young fellow being asked, (preguntado), what made him lie (porqué se estaba) in bed so long?—"I am busied, (estar ocupado)," says he, "in hearing counsel every morning. Industry (el trabajo) advises me to get up; sloth (la pereza) to lie still; and so they give me twenty reasons pro and con, (en pro y en contra.) It is my part (tener obligacion de) to hear what is said on both sides; and by the time the cause is over (acabarse) dinner is ready."

It was a beautiful turn given by a great lady, who, being (se cuenta un hermoso rasgo) asked where her husband was, when he lay concealed (estar escondido) for having been deeply concerned in a conspiracy, (á causa de haber tomado gran parte en una conspiracion), resolutely (resueltamente) answered, she had hid him. This confession (esta confesion) drew her before the king, who told her, nothing but her discovering where her lord was concealed could save her from the torture, (que si no descubria donde se hallaba su señor marido, nada podria librarla de la tortura.) "And will that do, (bastar?)" said the lady. "Yes," says the king, "I will give you my word for it." "Then," says she, "I have hid him in my heart, where you will find him." Which surprising answer (esta admirable respuesta) charmed her enemies.

249.

Cornelia, the illustrious (ilustre) mother of the Gracchi, (de los Gracos), after the death of her husband, who left her with twelve children, applied herself to (dedicarse á) the care of her family, with a wisdom (una discrecion) and prudence that acquired for (*adquirir) her universal esteem, (estimacion universal). Only three out of the twelve lived to years of maturity, (edad madura;) one daughter, Sempronina, whom she married to the second Scipio Africanus; and two sons, Tiberius and Caius, whom she brought up (crió) with so much care, that, though they were generally acknowledged (confesar generalmente) to have been born with the most happy dispositions, (la disposicion), it was judged that they were still more indebted (deber) to education than nature. The answer she gave (*dar) a Campanian lady (una dama de Campania) concerning them (con respecto á ellos) is very famous, (famoso—sa), and includes in it (*contener) great instruction for ladies and mothers.

That lady, who was very rich, and fond of pomp and show, (apasionado á la pompa y á la ostentacion), having displayed (mostrar) her diamonds, (el diamante), pearls, (la perla), and richest jewels, earnestly desired (suplicar con ahínco) Cornelia to let her see her jewels also. Cornelia dexterously (díestramente) turned the conversation to another subject to wait the return of her sons, who were gone to the public schools. When they returned, and entered their mother's apartment, she said to the Campanian lady, pointing to them, (mostrar;) "These are my jewels, and the only ornaments (adornos) I prize, (apreciar)." And such ornaments, (unos ornamentos), which are the strength (la fuerza) and support (el sosten) of society, add a brighter lustre (mayor lustre) to the fair (la hermosura) than all the jewels of the East, (del Oriente.)

ALERE FLAMMAM VERITATIS

As it is supposed that the Student is conversant with the ENGLISH GRAMMAR, the technical words belonging to it are made use of in the following APPENDIX, without explaining them; because they are the same in Spanish. Should the Learner be unacquainted with the Grammar of his mother tongue, he is advised to make himself first acquainted with it, in order the better to profit by this Appendix.

New York, February, 1848.

SYLLABLES.

Obs. A. Pronounce the vowels of the following table, as directed above; but be particular to sound the u as oo in coo, or u in full. Every letter must be fully pronounced, h excepted.

Obs. B. To make it easier for a young scholar to learn at sight the pronunciation of every letter, the sound of it is represented in the following table by an English syllable, in italics, under it. H, under j or g, must be strongly aspirated; th, under c or x, lisped as in thin, truth; and r harshly pronounced.

¹ Th lisped as in path, truth, theft, thin.

Obs. C. The vowels are never silent, except u in the syllables gue, gui, que, qui, the sound of which corresponds to that heard in the English words get, geese, etiquette, quint. When the u in these syllables is to be sounded it is marked with a diæresis; thus, argüir, aqueducto. But, in conformity with the present use, the words in which the u is pronounced after q are written with c; thus, cuatro, acueducto.

Obs. D. The consonants that are pronounced differently from the English are the following:—

C before a, o, u, l, r, and when it is at the end of a syllable, sounds like k in English; as canal, cólico, cura, clamor, crédito, pacto. C before e, or i, sounds lisped, like th in the English words thef, thin.

Ch sounds like the same letters in the English words chap, chess, chin, chop, choose, much.

When ch is followed by a vowel marked with a circumflex accent, it must be pronounced as k; as, Châribdis. But all the words derived from the Greek having ch, are at present written in Spanish with c before a, o, u, r, and with qu before e or i; as, arcángel, cristiano, eco, monarquía.

D must be pronounced as the same letter in English. In some parts of Spain it is pronounced as th in father; and in others, where it occurs at the end of words, as th, or as t, or is even silent; thus, ciudad, ciudath, ciudat, ciudá. This pronunciation is considered provincial, and not Castilian.

G before a, o, u, i, r, sounds as in English; as, galan, gobierno, gusto, gloria, gracia. Before e or i, it sounds like the English h aspirated; as, genio, (hen'-e-o,) gitano, (he-tan-oh.)

H is always mute, or silent, except at the beginning of words followed by ue, in which case it has a very soft and slightly nasal sound, as in hueso, (bone.) The vulgar pronounce such words as if written with g.

J has a guttural sound, harsher, however, than the aspirated h in English. Before e or i it sounds as the g does in Spanish before the same letters.

LL is sounded by placing the tip of the tongue against the lower teeth, and turning the thick part of it towards the roof of the mouth while emitting the breath with rapidity. It may be heard in the English word million; but the ll must be pronounced more quickly and strongly than in that. LL is considered in Spanish a single letter with a double character, consequently it cannot be divided; thus, ca-llar.

N has a strong nasal sound, somewhat like n in poniard. The gn in French gives the exact sound.

Q is always followed by u, and is pronounced like k. In conformity with the modern orthography, the syllables in which u is sounded before a, e, o, are written with c instead of q; thus, cuando, cuestion.

R, at the beginning of a word, after n, l, s, and in compound words, the primitive of which begin with r, has a harsh and rough sound; as, rata, enriquecer, malrotar, cariredondo. When ab and ob are not prepositions, as in abrogar, obrepcion, the r becomes liquid; as in abrojo, obrero.

R, in the middle of a word, or between two vowels, has a very smooth sound; as in morosidad, mérito.

The harsh and rough sound of r between two vowels, in the middle of simple words, is always expressed by double rr; thus, barraca, correcto, horror.

Common people frequently clip the r; saying paa instead of para.

N. B. Some Spaniards make in manuscript the letter r thus, x; as, cuexdas para amazzarle, (cuerdas para amarrarle,) cords to tie it. The scholar will do well to take notice of, but not to follow this old fashion. If the English r be not well formed, it will be mistaken for i or z.

S has always a harsh, hissing sound, like ss in English; as in desaposeñonar, (to dispossess.) There is not a word in Spanish beginning with s followed by a consonant. S is not written double, except when the pronoun se comes after the first person plural of a verb; as, dimossele, (we gave it to him.)

T must be pronounced as in the words tart, ten, tin, tone. It never undergoes the variations it does in English, in creature, nation, &c.; consequently creatura, patio, tia, &c., must be pronounced cray-ah-toor'-ah, pah'-tee-oh, tee-ah, &c. T is never written double.

N. B. As the English capital S, in manuscript, has in Spanish a different name and power, the learner is advised always to use this S. Observe, also, that this S is called by the Spaniards T, not F.

U always sounds as it does in English in the words full, pull.

V must be pronounced as in English. It is frequently used in manuscript instead of the capital U; thus, Vn día, for Un día.

X sounds like cs or ks in English; as, experiencia. When it is the last letter of a word it has a guttural sound, like that of the Spanish j, as in carcaz, (quiver;) but such words are no longer written with x, but with j; thus, reloj, (watch,) formerly relox.

Y, when alone, or after a vowel, and followed by a consonant, or at the end of a word, is a vowel, and sounds like ee in English; as, él y ella, (he and she,) convoy. Y, before a vowel in the same syllable, or between two vowels, is a consonant, and sounds like the English j, though somewhat softer. Some persons write i in estoy, soy, voy, y, muy, instead of y.

Thus—estoi, soi, voi, i, mui.

In Spanish manuscript capital Y is to be used instead of capital I; thus—

Don Ysidro Ysha informa que el coronel Don Ygnacio Yzquierdo salió ayer de Yruan con un batallon del regimiento del Ynfante.

These nouns, in printing, would be Isidro, Isla, Ignacio, Izquierdo, Iruan, Infante.

Z must be pronounced as th in the English words thank, theft, thin, thorn, path, tenth, truth.

N. B. Particular care must be taken to pronounce fully and distinctly the letters e, d, r, and s, at the end of the words.

REMARKS ON THE PRONUNCIATION.

Every well-educated person in old Spain, as well as in its former and actual possessions in America, speaks and writes correctly the Spanish or Castilian language; but as the Spanish Peninsula consists of several provinces, that once were states and kingdoms independent from each other, and (Biscay excepted) were settled and governed by various nations, there are to be observed, in the mass of the people of each of its present divisions, certain peculiarities, propensities, and even animosities, that make the inhabitants of each division appear almost a different people. Some of them have had a peculiar idiom; hence it is that the Lengua Castellana is not spoken in all its purity by every person, except in both Castiles, and particularly in the districts of Burgos, Salamanca, Toledo, &c.

The most frequent faults to be observed, and which the scholar is warned to avoid, are the following:—

B	instead of V;	as,	él bibe,	in lieu of	él vive,	he lives.
V	" B;	"	él bebió,	"	él bebió,	he drank.
S	" C;	"	seremonia,	"	ceremonia,	ceremony.
C	" S;	"	selebro,	"	celebro,	the brain.
S	" Z;	"	casa,	"	caza,	hunting.
R	" L;	"	claro,	"	claro,	clear.
Y	" LL;	"	cavayo,	"	caballo,	a horse.
LL	" Y;	"	pollo,	"	pojo,	a bench.
N	" M;	"	onbro,	"	hombro,	a shoulder.

H is used in words that have it not, and is omitted in others that have it; as, handan instead of andan, (they walk;) él iso for él hizo, (he made;) ollo for hoyo, (a hole.) J is sometimes used instead of h; as, él se huyó for él se huyó, (he ran away.) In the terminations ado and ido they generally suppress the d, both in writing and pronouncing, and say, un bestio coloráo for un vestido coloráo, (a red dress.) The first e, in the verbs of the first conjugation, that double that letter, as pasear, (to walk,) is sounded, and even written i; thus, yo me pasié tóa la tarde instead of yo me paseé toda la tarde, (I walked all the afternoon;) diendo for yendo, (going,) &c.

Vallejo, Palomares, and other Spanish authors, may be consulted on the subject.

DOUBLE LETTERS.

In simple words, e, i, c, r, are the only letters that may be written double.

E is double in the verbs of the first conjugation, when it is the last of their radical letters, and the termination begins with e; as, pasear, (to walk.) The radical letters are pase. The termination of the first person singular of the preterit is e—paseé, (I did walk.)

I is double in the superlative degree of the monosyllables ending in io; as, frio, (cold;) frísimo, (very cold.)

C is double only before e or i, and is pronounced with both syllables; as, acceder, (to accede;) accidente, (accident.)

Remark.—Almost all words ending in English in ction, and their derivatives, change the t into c, and become Spanish; as, diction, (diccion;) dictionary, (diccionario.)

R is written double in the middle of words, between two vowels, to point out its harsh sound; as, carro, (a cart;) corro, (I run,) &c., to distinguish them from caro, (dear;) coro, (choir,) &c. (See R.)

In compound words all the vowels, and also n and s, are written double, whenever any of them are the last of the component and the first of the word to be compounded; as, contraabertura, (a counter-opening;) preeminente, (pre-eminent;) amandoos, (ye loving each other;) dannos, (they give us;) dámosselos, (we give them to him.)

DIVISION OF SYLLABLES.

Vowels forming a diphthong or triphthong must not be separated; as, gra-cio-so, pre-ciaís, and not gra-ci-os-o, pre-ci-aís.

A single consonant between two vowels must be joined to the vowel after it; except x, that must be left with the preceding; as, bue-no, flo-res, me-lo-co-to-ne-ro, ex-á-men. LL, being considered a single letter, follows the same rule, which is also the case with ch; as, ca-ba-lle-ro, mu-cha-cho.

Two consonants between two vowels are divided by placing one to each syllable; as, car-ga-men-to, en-ter-ne-ci-mien-to. Except if the first of them be an f, or any of the mute letters, followed by l or r, for then both are joined to the second syllable; as, a-flic-cion, ha-blan-chin, co-bre.

When three consonants come between two vowels, the first two of them belong to the first syllable, if the second of said consonants be s, and the third to the second syllable; as, cons-ti-tu-cion, ins-pi-rar. But if the second letter be f, or any of the mute letters, followed by l or r, one belongs to the first, and the other two to the second syllable; as, con-flic-to, an-cla.

Four consonants between two vowels are equally divided; as, abs-trac-cion.

Compound words are to be divided into their component parts; as, des-or-de-nar. But should the simple word in its Latin origin begin with s, followed by a consonant, the s is to be placed with the preceding syllable; as, ins-tru-ir.

PUNCTUATION.

The notes used in Spanish for punctuation are the same as in English. A difference, however, is to be observed in the points of exclamation and interrogation, which in long sentences are placed upside down at the beginning of them, in order that the reader may calculate, and apply the proper emphasis and tone of voice; as—

{ ; Como no! respondió Sancho. ; Por ventura el que
 { ; Coh-moh noh! res-pon-decoh! San-tchoh. ; Por ven-toor-rah ell kay
 { ayer mantéron era otro que el hijo de mi padre?
 { ah-jei man-tay-ar-on er-ah oh-troh kay ell ee-hoh day me pah-dray?
 { ; Y las alforjas que hoy me faltan son de otro que de él
 { ; ee lass al-for-hass kay oh-ee may fal-tan son day oh-troh kay day ell
 { mismo? Que! ; Te faltan las alforjas, Sancho?
 { miss-moh? Kay! ; Tay faltan lass al-for-hass, San-tchoh?

DOY QUIOTE, Cap. xviii, part 1.

Translation.—How now! answered Sancho. Mayhap, then, they whom they tossed up in the blanket yesterday was not the son of my father? and did the saddle-bags that are lost to-day belong to some other person? How! Hast thou lost the saddle-bags, Sancho?

N. B. No apostrophe is used in Spanish. It is found, however, in very old books, and particularly in poetry; at present it is entirely expunged. Formerly it was also customary to suppress the e of words beginning with that letter, when they came after the preposition de, joining both words in one; thus, dél, deste, dellos, &c., instead of de él, de este, &c.

ACCENT.

The Spanish vowels have always the same unvaried sound, whether they be at the beginning, in the midst, or at the end of a word. They, in all situations, must be fully and distinctly pronounced. The only difference to be observed in them, is the time requisite in their pronunciation. This time is called accent.

An accent is that peculiar stress of the voice laid on a vowel of a syllable, in consequence of which it is more distinctly and forcibly pronounced than the other vowels of the same word. Hence the vowels are called long or short.

A vowel is termed long when it requires a peculiar stress of the voice to be laid upon it; dwelling, consequently, on it a longer time than on any other vowel of the same word; as e in the first syllable of reverence, which is distinguished from the other two e's by the time spent in pronouncing it. The latter are therefore called short, because the stress of the voice is not laid on them, they being pronounced rapidly.

The following English words will elucidate this explanation.

No. 1. An abstract, an accent, the torment, the conduct.
 No. 2. To abstract, to accent, to torment, to conduct.

The words in line No. 1 have the accent on the first syllable, and those of No. 2 on the last. Consequently it is said of the former, that they have the first syllable long, and the second short; and of the latter, that their first syllable is short, and the second long.

The little line, or mark set over a vowel, to point out that it must be pronounced long, is also called an accent. In the Spanish language the only accent used at present is that styled the acute (´). In old books there is found also the circumflex, to indicate that the ch preceding the vowel marked with it must be pronounced as c (k) before a, o, or u, and as qu before e or i; and that x is to be sounded as cs; as, archàngel, Achilles, próximo, which at present are written arcàngel, (ar-can'-hell,) Aquiles, (ah-key-less,) próximo, (prok-see-moh.)

The vowels á, é, ó, ú, when used as prepositions or conjunctions, are always accented; as, ama á tu prójimo, sabios é ignorantes, grandes ó pequeños. The accent is never placed over y. But in printing (dictionaries excepted) the capitals are seldom accented; and in manuscript are almost always unaccented.

Monosyllables of more than one signification are accented on that syllable in which the vowel is pronounced longer; as—

Tú, thou.	Tu, thy.	Sí, himself, &c.	Si, if.
Él, he.	El, the.	Dé, give you.	De, of.
Mí, me.	Mi, my.	Té, tea.	Te, thee.
Sé, I know.	Se, himself, &c.	&c.	&c.

THE USE OF THE ACCENT.

Nouns ending in a vowel have, for the most part, the penultimate, or last syllable but one, long, and consequently they do not require the mark or accent to point it out; as, publico, habito; but if the stress of the voice is to be laid on any other syllable, it must be indicated by placing the accent upon such syllable; thus, pública, public; publico, I publish; publicó, he published; hábito, a habit; habito, I inhabit; habitó, he inhabited.

WORDS FOR EXERCISE.

Animo,	calculo,	intimo,	particpe,	numero.
Capitulo,	domestico,	limité,	practico,	titulo.
Celebre,	ejercito,	cantara,	termino,	vario.

But if to a person of a verb ending in an accented vowel the case of a pronoun be added, the accent must be retained, although it fall on the penultimate; as, pagó, he paid; pagóle, he paid him.

Words ending in a consonant have, generally, the last syllable long, and do not require the mark of the accent; as, caridad, animal, capitán, favor, interés, lobreguez. But should the accent be on any other syllable it must be marked; as, órden, iris, mártir, carácter, caractères, (pl.)

Exception 1.—The plurals of nouns and adjectives, which, though they terminate in s, retain the accent they have in the singular; as, padres, amorosos, capitanes, from padre, amoroso, &c.

Exception 2.—Family names in ez or iz that generally have their penultimate syllable long; as, Fernandez, Armendariz.

Exception 3.—The persons of the verbs ending in s or n in which the penultimate is pronounced long; as, miraras, entraran. When the stress of the voice is to be laid upon any other syllable, it is accented; as, mirás, entrarán, pasáramos.

READING-LESSONS.

The learner is reminded to pronounce the vowels in the following lessons as set forth in page 402, to wit: a ah, e ay, i ee, o oh, u oo: to sound the syllables al and ad as they are sounded in the English words alcana, comical, lad; and to lisp the th, as in theft, thin, path, tenth, &c.

The English words in the third line are intended rather as a vocabulary than as a translation.

N. B. A — under a word indicates that it must not be translated.

In the Old Books,—

ā stands for an or am.ē " en or em.ī " in or im.ō stands for on or om.ū " un or um.q " que.

OTHER ABBREVIATIONS.

§ is read Párrafo, a paragraph.① " } Mil, a thousand.

J. M. J., at the beginning of writings of religious persons, means Jesus, María, José.

The Jesuits always begin and finish their letters and other writings with Jhs, which means and is read Jesus.

¹ An s is added to these abbreviations when more than one person is addressed; and then they stand for vuestras mercedes, vuesas mercedes or ustedes, in the plural. At present the word usted and its plural are expressed by a V. or VV.

ETYMOLOGY.

THERE are in Spanish nine sorts of words, or, as they are commonly called, Parts of Speech; namely, the ARTICLE, the NOUN, the PRONOUN, the VERB, the PARTICIPLE, the ADVERB, the PREPOSITION, the CONJUNCTION, and the INTERJECTION.

The meaning of a word must be first ascertained, in order to classify it. Example:—Claro, clear. Ese claro (a substantive) es muy pequeño, that skylight is very small. Un dia claro, (an adjective,) a clear day. El no habla claro, (an adverb,) he does not speak plain.

Take notice, that henceforth the numbers placed thus (1) after a word or at the end of a sentence or a paragraph, refer to the page which the learner must consult in the preceding Method.

ARTICLE.

There are two articles: the Indefinite and the Definite.

INDEFINITE ARTICLE.

Masculine Sing.	A or an.	Un, (38.)	Plur.	Some.	Unos or algunos.
Feminine "	" "	Una, (162.)	" "	" "	Unas or algunas.

DEFINITE ARTICLE.

Masculine Sing.	The.	El, (9.)	Plur.	The.	Los, (26.)
Feminine "	" "	La, (159.)	" "	" "	Las, (159.)

When the masculine definite article el comes after the preposition á (to) or de, (of, from,) the e is suppressed, and the two words are written as one; thus, al, del, instead of á el; de el. The pronoun él (he, it) is distinguished by the accent, and it is always written separately from the said prepositions; thus á él, de él.

Obs. El, los, (34,) la, las, are articles when they are before a noun, to point out how far its signification extends; but they are pronouns when él is the subject of a verb, or comes after a preposition; and la, (her, it,) los, las, (them,) are governed by a verb; as—

The bed of Don Quixote was foremost, and next to it Sancho made his El lecho de Don Quijote estaba primero, y luego junto á él hizo Sancho el suyo.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xvi. pt. i.

NOUNS.

NOUNS are either SUBSTANTIVE or ADJECTIVE.

Nouns Substantive have Persons, Numbers, Genders, and Cases.

PERSONS.

There are three persons: namely, the speaker, who is called the first person; the person spoken to, who is styled the second person; and the person or thing spoken of, which is said to be the third person: as—

Make haste, son Sancho, (second person,) and tell (second person) that Lady of the hawk, (third person,) that I, the knight of the lions, (first person,) send my respects to her exceeding beauty.

Corre, hijo Sancho, y dí á aquella señora del azor, que yo, el caballero de los leones, beso las manos á su gran fermosura.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxx. pt. ii.

The speaker seldom refers to himself by name.

When brutes, or inanimate objects, stand as speakers or persons spoken to, they are said to be personified; as—

Oh Jars of Toboso, which have recalled to my mind the dear object of my greatest sorrow!

¡ O tobososas Tinajas, que me habeis traído á la memoria la dulce prenda de mi mayor amargura!

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xviii. pt. ii.

NUMBERS.

There are two numbers, the Singular and the Plural. (Less. IX. p. 26.)

RULE 1. Nouns ending in a short vowel, that is to say, a vowel having no accent over it, form their plural by adding s to the singular; as, head, cabeza, heads, cabezas; eye, ojo, eyes, ojos.

RULE 2. Nouns terminating in a long vowel, that is to say, a vowel having an accent over it; or in any consonant, or in y, add es to the singular; as, ruby, rubi, rubies, rubies; lion, leon, lions, leones; law, ley, laws, leyes. Except papá, mamá, pié, &c. Maravéti, the smallest Spanish brass coin, has three plurals, maravedies, maravedis, maravedises. Nouns terminating in z change it into c, or retain it and add es to form the plural; as, cross, cruz, crosses, cruces, or cruzes.

RULE 3. Nouns of two syllables ending in s, being accented on the penultimate, admit of no change for the plural, and distinguish it by means of the article; thus, Monday, lunes, Mondays, los lunes :—

He had lentils on Fridays, and an addition of a pigeon on Sundays.

El tenia lentejas los viernes, y algun palomino de añadidura los domingos.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. i. pt. i.

The same is to be observed with nouns compound of a verb, and a noun plural; as, the penknife, el cortaplumas, the penknives, los cortaplumas.

There are some nouns with a plural termination without reference to any singular; as,

Alfileres ,	ladies' pinmoney.	Albricias ,	a present for good news.
Esposas ,	handcuffs.	Alicates ,	pincers.
Grillos ,	fetters.	Preces ,	prayers, &c.

Zelo, (zeal,) has no plural; Zelos, (jealousy,) has no singular.

Don and Doña, as Spanish titles for a gentleman or lady, are not used in the plural; and in conformity with the present custom they are placed only before pronomens, or baptismal names; as, Messrs. Nicholas and Leandro F. Moratin, Don Nicolas y Don Leandro Fernandez de Moratin. Mr. Capmany, el Señor Capmany, and not Don Capmany.

GENDER.

There are two genders, the masculine and the feminine.

Every he, or male animal, is of the masculine gender; as, boy, muchacho; lion, leon. Every she, or female animal, is of the feminine gender; as, girl, muchacha; lioness, leona.

The collective nouns gente, people; turba, torpa, crowd; multitud, multitude; plebe, common people; juventud, youth, vejez, old age; asamblea, assembly; ave, bird; bestia, beast, &c., require the articles, the adjectives, and the pronouns that agree with or refer to them, to be of the feminine gender; as—

The coach must belong to some travelling people.

El coche debe de ser de alguna gente pasagera.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. viii. pt. i.

Nouns signifying dignities, offices, trades, professions, &c., proper to men, are masculine; and those proper to women, feminine.

REMARK. There are some nouns of animals which custom¹ has made to express both genders, under either the masculine or feminine termination, preceded by the corresponding article. Nouns of this description are called in the grammatical language epicenos, epicene. Such are the following:—

MASCULINE.		FEMININE.
El avestruz ,	the ostrich.	La ardilla ,	the squirrel.
El buitre ,	the vulture.	La becada ,	the woodcock.
El cisne ,	the swan.	La calandria ,	the lark.
El cuervo ,	the crow.	La grulla ,	the crane.
El gilguero ,	the goldfinch.	La perdiz ,	the partridge.
El ruiseñor ,	the nightingale.	La tortuga ,	the turtle.

The rest of these nouns will be found in the dictionary.

The word macho, male, or hembra, female, with the corresponding article, is prefixed to any noun of this kind when it is necessary to distinguish the sex; as, the partridge, la perdiz—the male, or he partridge, el macho de la perdiz; the sparrow, el gorrion—the female, or she sparrow, la hembra del gorrion.

Obs. A. The pronouns he or she, and the nouns male and female, are not translated into Spanish when the gender may be distinguished by changing the termination of the noun masculine; as,

A wolf,	un lobo .	A she wolf,	una loba .
A male servant,	un criado .	A female servant,	una criada .

¹ Si volet usus, quem penes arbitrium est, et jus, et norma loquendi.—HORACE.

RULES TO FORM THE FEMININE OF COMMON NOUNS OF ANIMATE BEINGS.

RULE 1. Common substantives ending in o, and the most part of those in e, change the o or e into a to form the feminine; as,

Son,	hijo.	Daughter,	hija.
Brother,	hermano.	Sister,	hermana.
A male relative,	pariente.	A female relative,	parienta.

Except testigo, (witness,) that admits of no change, and distinguishes the gender by the article; thus, el, or la testigo.

Obs. B. The feminine nouns formed out of the substantives signifying dignity, trade, &c., mean not only the female who enjoys the dignity, or follows the same trade or profession, but most frequently the wife, and even the daughter of the person that has the dignity, or follows the trade, &c.; as,

Superiora,	a female superior.	Confitera,	confectioner.
Capitana,	a captain's wife.	Confitera.

Confitera, may signify a female confectioner, or a confectioner's wife or daughter.

RULE 2. Most of the common nouns ending in an and on, add an a for the feminine; as,

Capitan,	captain.	Capitana,	a female commander.
Patron,	patron.	Patrona,	a patroness.
Pastor,	shepherd.	Pastora,	a shepherdess.

RULE 3. National nouns, that is, nouns that express the nation or country of persons, or where the thing is produced, or comes from, whether they be substantive or adjective, if they terminate in o, change it into a; and if they end in a consonant, add an a to form the feminine; as,

Americano, Americana, American. Español, Española, Spaniard.

RULE 4. Common substantives ending in a, and most of those terminating in en or tr, admit of no change, and distinguish the gender by the articles—(Obs. D, 162;) as,

Un pensionista,	a pensioner.	El mártir,	the martyr.
Una pensionista,	“	La mártir,	the female martyr.

RULE 5. Almost all words compound of the substantives man or woman, and an adjective, distinguish their gender, in Spanish, by prefixing to them the corresponding article and omitting said substantives; as,

Un joven,	a young man.	Una joven,	a young woman.
Los Ingleses,	the Englishmen.	Las Inglesas,	the English women.

Man and woman are translated when a particular emphasis is placed on them.

Obs. C. Many of the nouns compound of said substantives, or of an adjective, are translated in Spanish by a single word, to be found in the dictionary, in the masculine gender, out of which the feminine may be formed in conformity with the foregoing rules; as,

El lechero,	the milkman.	La lechera,	the milk-woman.
Un naranjero,	an orange-man.	Una naranjera,	an orange-woman.

RULE 6. Some nouns express their gender by different terminations. (See Lesson LVI., page 246.)

RULE 7. Some nouns distinguish their gender by different words. (See Lesson LVI., page 247.)

GENDER OF NOUNS NEUTER IN ENGLISH.

The nouns that are neuter in English are masculine or feminine in Spanish, according to their signification or their termination.

BY THE SIGNIFICATION.

Arte, canal, capital, corte, dote, frente, guardia, órden, mar, &c., are masculine or feminine according to their meaning, to wit:

Arte, (art,) in the singular, may be used in either gender; in the plural, only in the feminine. Should arte be qualified by an adjective, the latter agrees with it in the feminine termination; as,

El delicado gusto de V. en el arte | Your fine taste in the rhymic art.
ritmica. | MORATIN, Comedia Nueva.

Mar, (sea,) when it is alone, may be used in either gender. When it is accompanied by the adjectives Mediterranean, White, Red, &c., it is masculine; as, el or la mar; el mar Rojo. With other adjectives it is generally feminine: la mar estaba algo mas sosegada, (CERVANTES.) However, the use is not fixed.

Orden (order) is masculine when it signifies arrangement, or refers to architecture; as,

All was in good order. | Todo estaba en buen órden.

The edifice is of the Ionic order. | El edificio es del órden Jónico.

Orden, signifying command, or a religious or military institution, is feminine; as,

I received your order. | Yo recibí la órden de V.

Two friars of the order of St. Benedict. | Dos frailes de la órden de San Benito. CERVANTES.

Dueño, (master, owner, lord, mistress, lady,) in a figurative sense, is used only in the masculine termination for both sexes; as,

From that instant I made her mistress of my heart. | Desde aquel instante la hice dueño (señora) de mi corazón.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xlv. pt. i.

MASCULINE.

FEMININE.

Canal, Erie canal, el canal Erie.

Canal, the gutter, or leader of water from the roof of a house.

Capital, a stock of funds.

Capital, the chief city of a country.

Corte, the sharp edge of a tool, a pattern for a dress, means, &c.

Corte, the court, the persons that compose it, courtship, attendance.

Dote, a gift of nature, endowment.

Dote, dowry, dower.

Frente, the front.

Frente, the forehead.

MASCULINE.	FEMININE.
Guardia , a soldier of the king's guard.	Guardia , a guard, a body of soldiers.
Márgen , the margin of a book, &c.	Márgen , the bank of a river.
Parte , a report, information.	Parte , the part of a whole.
&c., &c.	&c., &c.

Albalá, a permit, or certificate of a custom-house, (little used;) anatema, anathema; azúcar, sugar; cisma, schism; cúlis, the fine skin; emblema, emblem; puente, bridge; tribu, tribe, &c., may be used as masculine or feminine.

BY THE TERMINATION.

Obs. D. The proper names of kingdoms, provinces, cities, &c., when they stand alone, are generally of the gender of their termination; as, España está casi aislada del resto del continente Spain is almost insulated from the rest of the continent.

But when they are qualified by common nouns of different terminations, they agree with them accordingly; as,

Toledo es una antigua ciudad. Toledo is an ancient city.
Sevilla fué un reino poderoso. Seville was a powerful kingdom.

The following general rules are subject to many exceptions, of which only the most usual are pointed out.

RULE 1.—Nouns ending in a are feminine, (162.)

Except most of those derived from the Greek; as,

Antipoda , antipode.	Clima , climate, &c.
-----------------------------	-----------------------------

And also the following:—

Día , day.	Guarda-costa , custom-house cutter.
Mapa , map.	Paragua , umbrella.
Idioma , idiom.	Viva , huzza.
Poema , poem.	&c. &c.

RULE 2.—Nouns ending in d or ad are feminine. Except—

Ardid , stratagem.	Sud , south.
Césped , turf.	&c. &c.

N. B.—A great many of the words ending in English in ty, may be translated into Spanish by changing it into dad; as—

Activity, actividad .	Veracity, veracidad .
------------------------------	------------------------------

RULE 3.—Nouns ending in e, i, o, or u, are masculine. Except—

Calle , street.	Noche , night.
Carne , flesh, meat.	Tarde , afternoon.
Clase , class.	Llave , key.
Especie , species.	Leche , milk.
Suerte , chance.	Nieve , snow.
Hambre , hunger.	Nave, nao , vessel.
Costumbre , custom.	Mano , hand.
Mente , mind.	&c. &c.

RULE 4.—Nouns ending in l, n, on, r, s, or x, are masculine. Except—

Miel , honey.	Luz , light.
Col , cabbage.	Flor , flower.
Imagen , image.	Nariz , nose.
Razon , reason.	Niñez , childhood.
Voz , voice.	Vejez , old age.
Tos , cough.	Nuez , nut.
Cruz , cross.	Paz , peace.
&c. &c.	&c. &c.

RULE 5.—Nouns ending in ion are feminine. Except—

Sarampion , measles.	Turbion , shower.
Bastion , bastion.	&c. &c.

CASES.

There are three cases: the Subject, or nominative case; the Object, or the direct objective case; and the Complement, or the indirect objective case, (69.) The object is the accusative in Latin; and the complement answers to the dative, or any of the oblique cases, except the vocative, which in Spanish is a subject absolute.

When two pronouns, object and complement, come together in a sentence, the complement is always set before the object. When they are governed by a verb in the infinitive, or in the imperative mood, they are placed after it, and written so as to form one word with it; as—

He promised to send them to me. El prometió enviármelos.

In cases where the stress of the voice is on the last syllable of the verb, it is preserved on the same syllable; which, on account of changing its place, requires the mark of the accent; thus, dan, danme, dánmelos, they give them to me.

REMARK.—When the object of a transitive verb is the noun of a rational being, or a proper noun, or a thing personified, it must be preceded by the preposition á, (which in that case being an idiom,¹ is not translated into English;) but the preposition is not required in other cases.

The surgeon cured the wounded woman. El cirujano curó á la mujer herida.

The surgeon dressed the woman's wound. El cirujano vendó la herida de la mujer.

There is a God in heaven, who takes care to chastise the wicked, and to reward the righteous. Dios hay en el cielo que no se descuida de castigar al malo, y de premiar al bueno.

His impatience killed Chrysostom. Don Quixote, cap. xxii. pt. i. Su impaciencia mató á Crisóstomo.

Ditto, cap. xiv. pt. i.

¹ Idiom is the peculiar construction of a language which distinguishes it altogether from others.—Crabb.

It was known there that Signor Don Juan had taken Tunez. | Se supo en ella que el Señor Don Juan había tomado á Tunez.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxix. pt. i.

We must, in slaying giants, kill pride. | Nosotros hemos de matar en los gigantes á la soberbia.

Ditto, ditto.

ADJECTIVES.

Adjectives have persons, cases, numbers, and genders; they admit, besides, several degrees of signification.

The person and case of the adjectives are the same as those of the nouns or pronouns which they qualify; as,

Art thou come to rejoice at the cruel exploits of thy character, and behold, like another merciless Nero, the flames of his burning Rome? | ¿Vienes á ufanarte en las crueles hazañas de tu condicion, ó ver, como otro desapiadado Nero, el incendio de su abrasada Roma?

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xiv. pt. i.

NUMBERS.

The plural number of the adjectives is formed by the same rules laid down for the substantives, (26.) as,

White.		Blanco, blancos; blanca, blancas.
Crimson.		Carmesí, carmesíes.
Natural.		Natural, naturales.
Prudent.		Prudente, prudentes.
Happy.		Feliz, felices, or felizes, (78.)

GENDERS.

RULE 1. Adjectives ending in o are of the masculine gender, and change the o into a to form the feminine; as, fine, fino, fina, (161.)

RULE 2. Most of the adjectives ending in an, on, or, add an a for the feminine; as,

Haragan, haragana, idle. | Griton, gritona, clamorous.

RULE 3. Adjectives ending in any other letter are common to both genders; as,

A prudent man.		Un hombre prudente.
A prudent woman.		Una mujer prudente.
A Persian story.		Un cuento persa.
A Persian anecdote.		Una anécdota persa, (161.)

RULE 4. National adjectives ending in a consonant, add an a to form the feminine; as,

A Spaniard.		Un Español.
A Spanish lady.		Una señora española.
Spanish gold.		Oro español.
Spanish silver.		Plata española.

DEGREES OF SIGNIFICATION OR COMPARISON.

The comparative of superiority is formed by translating more, MAS, than, QUE; as,

Honor is more precious than riches. | El honor es mas precioso que las riquezas. (108-9.)

When the comparative in English is formed by the addition of the termination er, as fairer, it must be translated as if written more fair; thus,

He is richer (more rich) than his brother. | El es mas rico que su hermano.

The comparative of inferiority is formed by translating literally the adverbs less, MENOS, than, QUE; as,

Silver is less useful than iron. | La plata es ménos útil que el hierro.

It may also be expressed negatively; as,

Silver is not so useful as iron. | La plata no es tan útil como el hierro.

More — than, less — than, before a noun signifying quantity or number, are rendered by mas de, ménos de; as,

They spent more than five hundred dollars. | Ellos gastáron mas de quinientos pesos.

He gains less than what he says. | El gana ménos de lo que dice.

More than, less than, preceded by no, may be translated mas que; as, He earns no more than twelve shillings a day. | El no gana mas que doce reales al dia.

The comparative of equality is formed by translating the adverbs as or so, TAN, before the adjective, and the second adverb as, como; as,

She is as tall as a spear, and as fresh as an April morning. | Ella es tan grande como una lanza, y tan fresca como una mañana de Abril.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xiii. pt. ii.

It may also be expressed by not less — than; as,

He was from the coast of St. Lucar, not less of a thief than Cacus, and not less mischievous than a student or a page. | El era de la playa de San Lucar, no ménos ladrón que Caco, ni ménos maleante que estudiante, ó page. Ditto, cap. ii. pt. i.

COMPARATIVES WITH NOUNS AND VERBS, (108-9.)

As much, { with reference to a } tanto, (masculine,) } as, como.
So much, { substantive sing. } tantá, (feminine,) }

As many, { with reference to a } tantos, (masculine,) } as, como.
 { substantive plur. } tantas, (feminine,) }

Not so much, no tanto, (mas.) no tanta, (fem.) as, como.

Not so many, no tantos, (mas.) no tantas, (fem.) as, como.

He has as much honor, and as much instruction as his competitor; but he has neither so many years of service, nor has given so many proofs of his practical knowledge.

So as is rendered by de modo que, de suerte que, de manera que; as—
Do (you) it, so as to please him.

As much — as, as many — as, with reference to a noun, are translated by tanto or tanta — como, cuanto, or cuanta, according to the gender and number of the noun they refer to; as—

He spends as much money as he receives. | El gasta tanto dinero como, or cuanto recibe.

As for dolls, Anastasia has as many as she wants. | En cuanto á muñecas, Anastasia tiene tantas cuantas quiere.

You have here as much as you want. | Usted tiene aquí cuanto (or tanto cuanto) ha menester.

As much, or so much, with reference to a verbal adjective, is translated tan—como; as,

They are as much interested as you. | Ellos estan tan interesados como V.

When the second as, in this kind of phrases is followed by a verb in the present of the infinitive mood, it must be translated que, and the verb in the indicative mood; as,

She is so charitable as to deprive herself even of the most necessary things to give them to the poor. | Ella es tan caritativa que se priva aun de las cosas mas necesarias para darlas á los pobres.

The most—the least, (109,) with reference to verbs, must be translated only by mas or menos, omitting the article the; as,

He is the man they praise the most. | El es el hombre que ellos mas alaban.

Such is the person they oppose the least. | Tal es la persona á quien menos se oponen.

Obs. When the adjective in the comparative degree, in English, (whether it be formed through the adverbs more or less, or through the affixes r or er), is preceded by the definite article the, and the same article (the) is repeated in the second part of the sentence, before an adjective in the comparative degree; the article the is omitted in both parts, and cuanto is used instead of it in the first, and tanto in the second part of it; as,

The shorter (more short) time is, the more precious it is.
CUANTO mas breve el tiempo es, TANTO mas precioso él es.

The more, or the less, (110,) repeated in the same sentence with reference to a verb, must also be translated cuanto mas or menos, tanto mas or menos; as,

El tiene tanto honor, y tanta instruccion, como su competidor; pero él no tiene tantos años de servicio, ni ha dado tantas pruebas de sus conocimientos prácticos.

Hágalo V. de modo que él quede contento.

El gasta tanto dinero como, or cuanto recibe.

En cuanto á muñecas, Anastasia tiene tantas cuantas quiere.

Usted tiene aquí cuanto (or tanto cuanto) ha menester.

Ellos estan tan interesados como V.

Ella es tan caritativa que se priva aun de las cosas mas necesarias para darlas á los pobres.

El es el hombre que ellos mas alaban.

Tal es la persona á quien menos se oponen.

CUANTO mas breve el tiempo es, TANTO mas precioso él es.

Now there is no doubt that this exercise exceeds all others, and that it ought to be the more esteemed, because it is the more exposed to danger.

Ahora no hay que dudar sino que este ejercicio excede á todos los otros, y tanto mas se ha de tener en estima, cuanto á mas peligros está expuesto.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvii. pt. i.

The more, the less, may be also rendered by mientras mas or ménos; as,
The more he plays, the less he learns. | Mientras mas juega, ménos aprende, or tanto ménos aprende.

When the more and the least relate to a noun, cuanto and tanto change their number and gender so as to agree with it; as,

The more pride he shows, the more enemies he makes. | Cuanta mas soberbia muestra él, tantos mas enemigos se hace.

Tanto may be omitted in the second part of the sentence; as,

The more he has, the more he wants. | Cuanto mas tiene, mas quiere, or tanto mas quiere.

So or such — as, followed by a verb in the infinitive mood, is rendered by tan — que, placing the verb in the same tense as the one that precedes it in the same sentence; as,

His friend's failure was so unexpected, as to oblige him to stop his business. | La quiebra de su amigo fué tan inesperada, que le obligó á suspender sus negocios.

SUPERLATIVE.

The Superlative is absolute or relative.

The superlative absolute (110) is formed by prefixing the adverb muy (very) to the adjective; as—

Fair. | Hermoso, hermosa.

Very fair, fairest. | Muy hermoso, muy hermosa.

It is also formed by adding the termination ísimo to the adjective, which drops the last letter, if it be o or e; as—

Very fair, most fair, fairest. | Hermosísimo, hermosísima.

Merry. | Alegre.

Very merry, most merry, merriest. | Alegrísimo, alegrísima.

Useful. | Util.

Very useful, most useful. | Utilísimo, utilísima.

Adjectives terminating in { ble change ble into bil; as, amable, amabilísimo.
 { co " co " qu; " rico, riquísimo.
 { go " go " gu; " largo, larguísimo.
 { z " z " c; " feliz, felicitísimo.

The most part of the dissyllables in io, double the i; as—

Pio, pious. | Píisimo, most pious.

Adjectives in iente, drop the i; as—

Valiente, valiant. | Valentísimo, most valiant.

The adjective in the superlative degree, in English, whether formed by the terminations st or est, or by the adverbs most or least, being preceded by the article the, (which constitutes it a superlative relative,) must be translated by the definite article, and the adverbs mas or ménos, according to the gender and number of the substantive it refers to; as—

He has the finest broadcloth, but they want the least expensive. | El tiene el paño mas fino, pero ellos quieren el ménos costoso.

N. B.—The adverbs mas or ménos must always be placed immediately before the adjective; thus—

The most innocent pleasures are always the most pure. | Los placeres mas inocentes son siempre los mas puros, or los mas inocentes placeres, &c., but not los mas placeres inocentes.

An adjective in the superlative degree, in English, preceded by the definite article (the, taken substantively, must be translated by the superlative formed by the termination ísimo; as,

The Highest (or the Most High) ordered it so. | El Altísimo lo dispuso así.

An adjective in the superlative degree, preceded by the article, being used with a reference to a verb, or a sentence, must be translated by using the pronoun lo instead of the article, and placing the adjective in the comparative degree; as,

The best that he can do, is to pay immediately. | Lo mejor que puede hacer, es pagar inmediatamente.

For the irregular comparatives and superlatives, consult page 111.

NOUNS OF NUMBER.

CARDINAL NUMBERS.

One.	Uno, m. Una, f.	Eleven.	Once.
Two.	Dos.¹	Twelve.	Doce.
Three.	Tres.	Thirteen.	Trece.
Four.	Cuatro.	Fourteen.	Catorce.
Five.	Cinco.	Fifteen.	Quince.
Six.	Seis.	Sixteen.	Diez y seis.
Seven.	Siete.	Seventeen.	Diez y siete.
Eight.	Ocho.	Eighteen.	Diez y ocho.
Nine.	Nueve.	Nineteen.	Diez y nueve.
Ten.	Diez.	Twenty.	VEINTE.

¹ From dos, (two,) up to ciento, (hundred,) inclusively, the numbers are plural, and common to both genders; as—

Three men, tres hombres. | Four women, cuatro mujeres.

Twenty-one.	Veintiano.	Sixty.	SESENTA.
Twenty-two.	Veintidos.	Seventy.	SETENTA.
Twenty-three.	Veintitres.	Eighty.	OCHENTA.
Twenty-four.	Veinticuatro.	Ninety.	NOVENTA.
Twenty-five.	Veinticinco.	A or one hundred.	CIENTO.
Twenty-six.	Veintiseis.	Two hundred.	Doscientos.¹
Twenty-seven.	Veintisiete.	Three hundred.	Trescientos.
Twenty-eight.	Veintiocho.	Four hundred.	Cuatrocientos.
Twenty-nine.	Veintinueve.	Five hundred.	Quinientos.
Thirty.	TREINTA.	Six hundred.	Seiscientos.
Thirty-one.	Treinta y uno.	Seven hundred.	Setecientos.
Thirty-two, &c.	Treinta y dos.	Eight hundred.	Ochocientos.
Forty.	CUARENTA.	Nine hundred.	Novcientos.
Fifty.	CINCUENTA.	A or one thousand.	MIL.²

One thousand and one.	Mil y uno.
One thousand and eleven.	Mil y once.
One thousand one hundred and one.	Mil, ciento y uno.
One thousand five hundred.	Mil y quinientos.
Two thousand.	Dos mil.
Five hundred thousand.	Quinientos mil.
A Million.	MILLON, (cuento.)

Two numbers coming together in an inverted order in English, are translated by placing the highest in the first place; thus,

Three and thirty. | Treinta y tres.

Eleven hundred, fifteen hundred, and the like expressions, are always translated one thousand one hundred, one thousand five hundred, &c.; thus, mil y ciento, mil y quinientos, and not once cientos, &c.

The cardinal numbers are used instead of the ordinal in speaking of the days of the month, excepting the first; as,

The fourth of July. | El cuatro de Julio.

The first of May. | El primero de Mayo.

(See Obs. A, p. 46.)

The words o'clock (65, Obs. B,) are omitted in reference to the hours of the day, which are expressed by the cardinal numbers, preceded by the article las or la with reference to una, one; as,

¹ From doscientos to novecientos, inclusively, the termination os is changed into as for the feminine; as—

Three hundred miles. | Trescientas millas.

² Mil has neither gender nor number; but it may be used in the plural, speaking, as in English, in a vague sense; as—

In that railroad many thousands have been spent. | En ese Ferro-carril se han gastado muchos miles.

What time is it?	¿ Que hora es ?
It is one o'clock.	Es la una.
It is two o'clock.	Son las dos.

ORDINAL NUMBERS.

First, primero, | Second, segundo, &c. (46.)

Ordinal numbers change o into a for the feminine, and admit the same variation of numbers as the adjectives.

Obs. The adjectives uno, one, primero, first, (46,) alguno, some, ninguno, none, bueno, good, malo, bad, postrero, (little used,) last, drop the o when they are immediately followed by a substantive alone, or preceded by an adjective in the singular. Ciento, hundred, loses the last syllable before nouns of either gender. (Obs. A, p. 139.) Grande, great, generally loses the last syllable when it is not applied to size; as, el Gran Capitan, (Obs. C, p. 97.) Santo, saint, also drops the last syllable before nouns masculine in the singular, except Domingo, Tomas, &c.

The ordinal numbers are used in speaking of the chronological order of kings, &c., but the article is suppressed; as,

AUGMENTATIVE AND DIMINUTIVE NOUNS. (31-2.)

REMARK. Many of the nouns signifying relationship, as sister, hermana, as well as the baptismal, and even family names, such as Luis, Catalina, Rivero, Gonzalez, are used, in colloquial and familiar style, with the terminations ito or ita; but for the most part they are not diminutive nouns, for they have no reference to the size, beauty, age, or moral qualities of the persons. They are, properly, endearing words, that express affection, friendship, or regard. Therefore, hermanita, Luisito, Catalinita, Riverito, or Riverita, Gonzalitos, do not signify precisely little sister, but rather a beloved sister, esteemed Luis, dear Catalina, friend Gonzalez.

These names are not always regularly formed by the addition of ito or ita; they frequently have other terminations, and are even changed into other odd words.

EXAMPLES. From MARIA, (Mary or Maria,) are derived Mariquita, Mariquilla, Maruca, Maruja. From MARIA DE LA CONCEPCION, Concepcion, Concha, Conchita, Chona, Cota, Cotita. From MARIA DE JESUS, Jesusa, Jesuita, Chucha, Chuchita. From FRANCISCO, (Francis,) Francisquito, Frazco, Frazquito, Paco, Paquito, Pacorro, Pancho, Panchito, Curro, Currito, &c. FRANCISCA (Frances) changes the o of the above names into a PRONOUNS.

Pronouns are divided into personal, possessive, relative, interrogative, demonstrative, and indefinite.

The personal pronouns are, singular—I, yo, thou, tú, you, (your honor or worship,) usted, he, él, she, ella, it, él, ella, ello, or lo. Plural—we, nosotros or nosotras, you, vosotros, vosotras, or vos, you, (your honors or worships,) ustedes, they, ellos, ellas. (See table of personal pronouns, p. 70.)

Vos is used in addressing a single person, and vosotros, when speaking of or to more persons than one. The objective case of vos after a preposition, is also vos; as,

And what share of it falls to you,	Pues que parte os alcanza á vos,
Sancho?	Sancho?
	DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxi. pt. i.

The use of usted is explained in Observation A, pages 9 and 10, which the learner is desired to consult. What is said there about usted, is likewise applicable to usia, (V. S.,) your lordship, or ladyship; vuecelencia, (V. E.,) your excellency, &c.

Me, te, se, nós, os, le, los, la, las, les, are governed by verbs; and (in conformity with the present use) never placed after prepositions.

When mí, tí, sí, nosotros, nosotras, vosotros, vosotras, él, ellos, ella, ellas, are used as objects, they are to be preceded by prepositions.

When mí, tí, sí, come after the preposition con, (with,) they are converted into conmigo, contigo, consigo, and admit no change in gender or number.

Mismo (self) is sometimes added to the personal pronouns to give them a particular energy. It changes its number and gender in conformity with the rules laid down for adjectives.

We must love our neighbor as our-	Debemos amar á nuestro prójimo
selves.	como á nosotros mismos.

The objective cases of the pronouns are generally placed before the verb when it is either in the indicative or in the subjunctive mood; and after the verb, and joined to it, so as to form one single word, when the verb is in the infinitive, or in the imperative mood; except when the verb in the imperative mood is preceded by an adverb of negation; as,

Let him who terms me a fierce basi-	El que me llama fiero y basilisco,
lik, shun me as an evil being;	déjeme como cosa perjudicial y
let him who calls me ungrateful,	mala; y el que me llama ingrata,
refuse me his services.	no me sirva.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xiv. pt. i.

When two pronouns, object (the direct objective case) and complement, (indirect objective case,) come together, the complement must be placed before the object, (Obs. A, p. 69;) as,

He paid it to me.	El me le pagó.
-------------------	----------------

Should both pronouns, object and complement, be of the third person, the complement, or that which in English is governed by to, expressed or understood, must be rendered by se; as,

He will carry him to him.	El se le llevará.
He will carry her to him.	El se la llevará.
He will carry them to him.	El se los (las) llevará.
He will not carry it to him.	El no se le llevará.
Will he carry her to him?	¿ Se la llevará él?
Will he not carry them to them?	¿ No se los (las) llevará él?

In order to avoid the ambiguity arising sometimes from such phrases, the other pronoun of the same person is frequently repeated after the verb; thus, él se le llevará á él, á ella, á ellos, &c.

You, when it is translated usted, must be rendered by se; as,

He presented him to you. | El se le presentó á V.

POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS.

Possessive pronouns are conjunctive or absolute.

The possessive pronouns conjunctive are so called because they cannot be used alone, but must be accompanied by a noun. They have numbers, but admit no variation of gender. (160.)

SINGULAR.	PLURAL.	SINGULAR.	PLURAL.
My, mi,	mis.	His, {	su or de él, sus or de ellos.
Thy, tu,	tus.		su or de ella, sus or de ellas.
His, su or de él,	sus or de ellos.		su or de ellos, sus or de ellos.
Her, su or de ella,	sus or de ellas.		su or de ellas, sus or de ellas.

These pronouns agree in number with the noun that comes after them; as,

He paid his expenses. | El pagó sus gastos.
They fulfilled their promise. | Ellos cumplieron su promesa.

When you is translated usted or ustedes, your is to be rendered by su or sus, de usted or ustedes; as,

He thinks that the letter is yours. | El piensa que la carta es de V.

REMARK. The use of su and sus (your) without the addition of usted, in addressing respectable persons, is considered vulgar and impolite. No person accustomed to good society will ever say, Señor N. ¿ como está su hermana? Mr. N. how is your sister? Amigo, ¿ dígame que hora es? Friend, tell me what o'clock it is? instead of, Señor N. ¿ como está su (or la) hermana de V.? or la Señora hermana de V. Amigo, ¿ dígame V. que hora es? or servase V. decirme que hora es.

The following quotations from the celebrated modern dramatist, Moratin, who wrote in Madrid, and frequented the best society of that court, will corroborate this remark.

I do not know your mother. | Yo no conozco á su madre de usted
EL SI DE LAS NIÑAS, act ii. sc. 17

Your uncle wishes to know what all this means.

Quiere saber el tio de usted lo que hay en esto.

Ditto, act iii. sc. 10.

How do you do, good man?—I would speak more politely, answered Don Quixote, were I you; is that the language used in this country to knights errant?—you blockhead.

¿ Como va, buen hombre?—Hablara yo mas bien criado, respondió Don Quijote, si fuera que vos. ¿ Usase en esta tierra hablar de esa suerte á los caballeros andantes?—majadero.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xvii. pt. i.

The possessive pronouns absolute (244) may be used with or instead of the noun to which they refer; when used with a noun, they are placed after it, (31;) as,

Your hat cost five dollars, mine three dollars, and John's only twenty shillings; but his is better than yours, and as good as mine.

El sombrero de usted costó cinco pesos, el mio tres, (pesos,) y el de Juan solamente veinte reales; pero el suyo (de él) es mejor que el de usted, y tan bueno como el mio.

Come here, my Anastasia.

Ven acá, Anastasia mia.

Mine,	mio, mios, mia, mias.
Thine,	tuyo, tuyos, tuya, tuyas.
His, hers, its, theirs,	suyo, suyos, suya, suyas.
	el suyo, los suyos, la suya, las suyas.
	el de él, los de él; el de ella, los de ella.
	los or las de él, &c.
Our, ours,	nuestro, nuestros, nuestra, nuestras.
	vuestro, vuestros, vuestra, vuestras
	de Usted or de Ustedes.
Your, yours,	el, los, la, las de V. or de VV.
	suyo, suyos, suya, suyas; as—

I am your servant, sir. | Yo soy servidor de V. caballero.

When mine, thine, &c., stand instead of the noun they refer to, they must be preceded by the corresponding article; as,

Has the postman brought the letters? | ¿ Ha traído el cartero las cartas?
Yes, he brought thine, but not mine. | Sí, él trajo las tuyas pero no las mias.

These pronouns agree in gender and number with the substantives expressing the thing possessed; as,

These houses are his. | Estas casas son suyas, (de él.)
The gardens were hers, but now they are theirs. | Los jardines eran suyos, (de ella;) pero ellos son ahora suyos, (de ellos or ellas.)

The conjunctive pronouns are used in speaking of, and the absolute in addressing to; as,

My friends, these are my children. | Amigos míos, estos son mis hijos.

When the noun is accompanied by an adjective, either of them may be used; as,

My dear brother, farewell!

| Mi querido hermano, (querido hermano mío,) pásala bien!

Vuestro is not used in colloquial, polite style, therefore your and yours must be translated de usted or de ustedes, or suyo, suya, according to the sense of the phrase; as,

He bought his umbrella in Pearl-street, and you brought yours from London. | El compró su paraguá en la calle de la Perla, y V. trajo el suyo (el de V.) de Londres.

RELATIVE PRONOUNS. (73.)

The relative pronouns simple, are quien, que, cual, and cuyo; and the compound, quienquiera and cualesquiera.

Quien, in the plural quienes or quien, (who, which, that,) admits of no change for the gender, and is used only with reference to persons, or objects personified. (73.)

Que (who, which, what, that) has no variation of gender or number, and is used with reference both to persons and things.

Cual, in the plural cuales, (who, which, what, that,) refers to persons or things, without any change of gender; but it requires the corresponding article whenever it is necessary to distinguish it; thus, el cual, los cuales; la cual, las cuales.

Cuyo (whose, which) forms its number and gender like the adjectives in o, and agrees with the noun that comes after it.

Cualquiera, in the plural cualesquiera, (whoever, whichever, whatever,) has no change for the gender, and is common to persons and things. It generally drops the last letter when the noun following begins with a vowel, or an h.

Quienquiera (whoever, whichever) is applied to persons, or personified nouns of either gender. The Academy sets it down as invariable in number; but quienesquiera is found in classic authors.

INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS.

The relative pronouns are called interrogative when they are used in asking a question; as,

Who wrote the letter?

| ¿ Quien escribió la carta?

To whom did you write?

| ¿ A quien escribió V.?

Which of the two does he want?

| ¿ Cual de los dos quiere él?

Of what does she complain?

| ¿ De que se queja ella?

Whose image and inscription is this?

| ¿ Cuya (de quien) es esta imagen é inscripcion? Del César.

Feminine.	Esta.	Estas.	Esa.	Esas.	Aquella.	Aquellas.

Este denotes proximity; ese, some distance; and aquel, remoteness of place or time. (24.)

Esto, (this,) eso or aquello, (that,) and ello or lo, (it,) are used only in the singular, with reference to whole sentences, or to the actions expressed by the verbs, and frequently to avoid the repetition of a verb or a noun; as, Be that as it may.

He was one of those, who being no princes by birth, know not how to direct those who are princes to act as such.

| Sea lo que se fuere.

El era uno de estos que como no nacen príncipes, no aciertan á enseñar como lo han de ser, los que lo son.

Something. Somewhat.	Nada.
Nothing.	Dicen, or se dice, (143.)
One says, or it is said.	Se asegura, aseguran.
They assure.	Se cree, creen.
It is believed.

OF THE VERB.

A VERB is a word that signifies to be, to do, or to suffer; as,

I live.		Yo vivo.
He commands.		El manda.
They are commanded.		Ellos son mandados.

Verbs are divided into active transitive, active intransitive, passive, and neuter. They may be also pronominal or reflective, reciprocal, impersonal, and auxiliary. These verbs being the same as in English, mention will be made only of such as require particular explanation in regard to the Spanish language.

A pronominal or reflective verb (181) is that which has the same person or thing as subject and object; as,

He flatters himself.		El se lisonjea à si mismo.
----------------------	--	-----------------------------------

Almost all active verbs may be made pronominal.

Impersonal verbs (191) are those which are used only in the third person singular, without a subject or nominative; as,

It snows.		Nieva.
It happened.		Sucedió.
It is said.		Se dice.

Auxiliary verbs are those through the help of which the compound tenses of all other verbs, and their passive voice, are formed; such are,

To have.		Haber.
To be.		Ser, or estar, &c.

To verbs belong Numbers, Persons, Moods, Tenses, and Conjugation.

NUMBERS AND PERSONS.

Verbs have singular and plural numbers; and in each number there are three persons, which are distinguished by the different terminations corresponding to each person.

☐ The first person singular terminates in o, e, a, é, i.

Except to have, to be, to give, to go, and to know, the first person of which is, respectively, he, soy, estoy, doy, voy, sé.

The second person singular terminates in as, es.

Except the preterit indefinite of the indicative and the imperative mood.

The third person singular terminates in a, e, o, ó, or ío.

The first person plural terminates in mos.

The second person plural terminates in ais, eis, or is.

Except the 2d of the imperative that ends in ad, ed, or id.

The third person plural terminates in an, en, or on.

Obs. A. When nos (us) is placed after the first person plural of a verb, the verb generally drops the s; as,

Cuidémonos. (Cuidémosnos.) | Let us take care of ourselves.

The second person plural of the imperative drops also the d when os is placed after it; as,

Amaos (amados) sinceramente. | Love each other sincerely.

Obs. B. The vowel by which the termination of the second person singular of each tense begins, is also the first of the termination of every person of the same tense; as, estudiabas, estudiaba, estudiábamos, estudiábais, estudiaban. Except the imperative in all the conjugations, and the preterit indefinite of the first conjugation.

MOODS.

There are four moods: the Infinitive, the Indicative, the Imperative, and the Subjunctive.

Obs. C. The English potential mood is generally rendered by the subjunctive in Spanish.

TENSES.

Tense is that variation of a verb that distinguishes its time.

Tenses are simple or compound. The former consist of one word, the latter of two; the first of which is the auxiliary verb, and the second the participle past of the verb that is conjugated.

Obs. D. The verb to write, (escribir,) will be made use of, the better to elucidate the following explanations; and the numbers, 1, 2, &c., to avoid the repetition of the whole name of the tense in the rules.

The Infinitive Mood has three simple, and two compound tenses.

	SIMPLE TENSES.	COMPOUND TENSES.
PRESENT.	To write. Escribir.	To have written. Haber escrito.
GERUND.	Writing. Escribiendo.	Having written. Habiendo escrito
PARTICIPLE.	Written. Escrito.

The Indicative Mood has four simple, and four compound tenses.

	SIMPLE TENSES.
N. 1. PRESENT.	I write.	Yo escribo.
N. 2. IMPERFECT.	I wrote.	Yo escribía.
N. 3. PRETERIT INDEFINITE.	I wrote.	Yo escribí.
N. 4. FUTURE INDEFINITE.	I shall write.	Yo escribiré.

	COMPOUND TENSES.
N. 1, p. DEFINITE PERFECT or PRETERIT.	I have written.	Yo he escrito.
N. 2, p. PLUPERFECT.	I had written.	Yo había escrito.
N. 3, p. PRETERIT ANTERIOR.	As soon as I had written.	Luego que hube escrito.
N. 4, p. FUTURE DEFINITE.	I shall have written.	Yo habré escrito.

N 5. The Imperative Mood (315) has one simple tense.
 Let not mercy and truth leave thee. | No se aparten de tí la misericordia y la verdad.—Escribe mis mandamientos en las tablas de tu corazón. | Prov. iii.
 —Write my commandments in the tablets of thy heart.

The Subjunctive Mood (351) has five simple, and five compound tenses.

SIMPLE TENSES.

N. 6. PRESENT.
 Unless I write. | A menos que yo escriba.
 N. 7. IMPERFECT, First Termination.
 It was necessary that I should write. | Fué necesario que yo escribiera.
 N. 8. IMPERFECT, Second Termination.
 I would write, if I could. | Yo escribiría, si pudiera.
 N. 9. IMPERFECT, Third Termination.
 He would not do it, even if I should write. | El no lo haría, aun cuando yo escribiese.
 N. 10. FUTURE INDEFINITE.
 Should I write, I will inform you. | Si yo escribiere, lo informaré á V.

COMPOUND TENSES.

N. 6, p. PRETERIT.
 I doubt whether he has written. | Yo dudo que él haya escrito.
 N. 7, p. PLUPERFECT, First Termination.
 I should know it, if he had written. | Yo lo sabría, si él hubiera escrito.
 N. 8, p. PLUPERFECT, Second Termination.
 He would have written, had he known it. | El habría escrito, si lo hubiera sabido.
 N. 9, p. PLUPERFECT, Third Termination.
 Even if he had written, he would not have prevented it. | Él no lo habría estorbado, aun cuando hubiese escrito.
 N. 10, p. FUTURE.
 Inform him of it, should he not have written. | Infórmele V. de ello, por si no hubiere escrito.

OF THE CONJUGATION.

The Conjugation of a verb, is the regular combination and arrangement of its several numbers, persons, moods, and tenses.

These combinations are made and formed in the Spanish language, out of the present of the infinitive mood of any verb, which invariably terminates in either ar, er, or ir, which syllables are called its TERMINATION; and the letters that remain of the said present of the infinitive, after separating one of the said terminations, whatever they may be, are called its ROOT, and the letters of such root are called its RADICAL LETTERS; as, to esteem, estim-ar; to offend, ofend-er; to permit, permit-ir; in which verbs ar, er, ir are the TERMINATIONS; and estim, ofend, permit, the RADICAL LETTERS of each respectively, to which the other combinations must be added to form the various persons and tenses of a verb.

All the Spanish verbs are, therefore, classed into three conjugations. Verbs ending in ar belong to the first; those in er to the second; and those in ir to the third.

Obs. E. It is not necessary to express the pronouns subject or nominative, in the colloquial style, (usted and ustedes excepted;) but they must be used whenever elegance or clearness requires it.

Obs. F. The numbers before the terminations point out the different persons. N. 2, before usted and ustedes, denotes that they are of the second person, but that the verb agrees with them in the third, (by Enallage.)

TERMINATIONS OF ALL THE REGULAR VERBS.

Obs. G. The grave accent (`) upon a vowel in the following terminations, points out the syllable on which the stress of the voice is laid, but over which the mark of it must not be set. The acute accent (´) marks the syllable on which the stress of the voice lays, and over which the accent is to be written. When there is no mark of an accent in the termination, the syllable that precedes it is long.

¹ The Gerundio (gerund) never changes its termination for gender or number.

² The participle past coming immediately after any of the tenses of the verb haber, (to have,) does not admit of any change of gender or number. After other verbs, it changes its termination to agree with that of the person or thing it refers to.

2. You armed, VV. — aban.	2. You united, VV. — ían.

¹ V. in the singular, must be read Used; VV. means Usedes, and must be pronounced so.

² When the English imperfect tense, for instance, he united, may be expressed by, he was uniting, or he used or was accustomed to unite, preserving the same sense, then it is to be translated by the imperfect tense in Spanish; thus—él unía. When that cannot be done, but it may be changed into usó, then the pretorit must be used—él unió. (See Lesson XL., page 157.) The same must be understood of all the verbs in the imperfect tense.

² The terminations of the second person singular and plural, when the verb is used negatively, are es, eis, as, ais; thus—offend thou not, no ofendas; unite ye not, no unatis.

REMARK.—Could, would, or should express as well as might any of the above tenses, numbers 7, 8, and 9; but the translation of the verb preceded by them in English, depends entirely on the meaning of the Spanish verb or conjunction, that governs, or requires it in the subjunctive mood, as it is explained in Lesson LXXIX, p. 356, which the learner must study with attention.

The future of the subjunctive, N. 10, might be translated in English, when I shall, and the verb in the usual way.

COMPOUND TENSES.

Obs. These tenses being formed by placing after the verb haber, (to have,) the participle past of the principal verb, or the verb that is conjugated, only one participle for each conjugation is here given, in all the tenses.

INDICATIVE MOOD.

N. 1, p. PERFECT, OR PRETERIT DEFINITE.

It is compounded of the present of the indicative of the verb haber, (to have,) and the perfect, or participle past of the verb which is conjugated. For brevity's sake, the English is prefixed only to the first person of all these tenses.

PASSIVE VERBS. (175.)

Passive verbs are formed from active-transitive verbs by adding their participle past, or passive, to the auxiliary verb ser, (to be,) through all its changes, as in English; thus, from the active verb amar, (to love,) is formed the passive verb ser amado, (to be loved.)

Obs. A. The participle must agree in gender and number with the nominative it refers to; consequently it changes the o into a when the subject is feminine, and adds s for the plural; thus,

He is loved.	Él es amado.
She is loved.	Ella es amada.
You are loved	V. es amado, (amada.)

PLURAL.

They are loved.	Ellos son amados.
They are loved.	Ellas son amadas.
You are loved.	VV. son amados, (amadas.)

Obs. B. In the compound tenses the participle of the principal verb is the only one that admits the change; the participle of the auxiliary verb to be (been, sido) is unchangeable; as,

He has been rewarded.	El ha sido premiado.
They have been rewarded.	Ellos han sido premiados.
She had been admired.	Ella habia sido admirada.
They had been admired.	Ellas habian sido admiradas.
You could have been employed.	V. habria sido empleado, (empleada.)
You could have been assisted.	VV. habrian sido asistidos, (asistidas.)

Obs. C. Passive impersonal verbs, and those referring to inanimate objects or things, are translated by placing the verb which is in the participle past in English, in the same person and number in which the verb to be is in the English sentence, placing the pronoun se before it; thus, This ship was built in less than three months—Esta fragata se construyó en ménos de tres meses, instead of fué construida. It is said—Se dice, instead of Es dicho.

PRONOMINAL, OR REFLECTIVE VERBS.

A pronominal, or reflective verb, is that which has the same person or thing as subject and object; as,

He arms himself. El se arma á sí mismo.

These verbs terminate their present of the infinitive mood by the pronoun se, which must be suppressed in order to find out the conjugation; thus—

To approach.	Acercarse.
To be sorry.	Dolerse.
To repent.	Arrepentirse.

Taking off the se we here have, acercar, 1st conjugation; doler, 2d conjugation; and arrepentir, 3d conjugation. (80.)

These verbs are conjugated by placing the pronouns me, te, se, se, nos, os, se, se, according to the number and person of the nominative they refer to, immediately before the verb, if the subject be expressed before it; and either before or after the verb, if the subject be not expressed or placed after it. When they are placed after the verb they must be written so as to form one word with it.

In the imperative mood they are always placed after the verb, which suppresses the s in the first person plural, and the d in the second person of the same number. When the second person singular or plural is used with the adverb no, the pronouns are placed before the verb. Examples:—

1. I congratulate myself.	Yo me congratulo.
2. Thou congratulatest thyself.	Tú te congratulas.
3. He congratulates himself.	El se congratula.
2. You congratulate yourself.	V. se congratula.
1. We congratulate ourselves.	Nosotros nos congratulamos
2. You congratulate yourselves.	Vosotros os congratulais.
3. They congratulate themselves.	Ellos se congratulan.
2. You congratulate yourselves.	VV. se congratulan.
1. I had congratulated myself.	Me habia congratulado.
2. I have armed myself.	Yo me he armado.
3. They had flattered themselves.	Ellos se habian lisonjeado

IMPERATIVE MOOD.

Behave (thou) well.	Pórtate bien.
Behave (you) well.	Portaos bien, (the d is suppressed.)
Behave not ill.	No te portes mal.
Behave (you) not ill.	No os portéis mal.
Let us prepare ourselves.	Preparémonos. (The s is suppressed.)

GERUND.—Gerundio.

The Gerund is that part of the verb that terminates in ando in the verbs of the first conjugation, and in iendo in those of the second and third; as, publicando, (publishing,) from publicar; prometiendo, (promising,) from prometer; asistiendo, (assisting,) from asistir. It does not admit any change of gender or number.

It is translated by the English present participle, and conjugated with the verb estar, (to be;) as,
Anastasia is reading, and Maria Ann is playing on the piano. Anastasia está leyendo, y Maria Ana está tocando el piano.

It is used also absolutely; as,
By practising virtue thou wilt be happy. Practicando la virtud, serás feliz.

In such cases it may be expressed by the corresponding tense of its verb, and even by the noun derived from it; as,

Columbus discovered the new world in the reign of Isabella, the Catholic, and under her auspices. Reinando Isabel, la Católica, y bajo sus auspicios, Colon descubrió el Nuevo Mundo, (or cuando reinaba Isabel, or en el reinado de Isabel.)

PARTICIPLE.

The passive or past participle terminates in ado in the first conjugation, and in ido in the second and third. It changes its termination according to the number and gender of the person it refers to; except when it follows immediately after the verb haber, or any other auxiliary, in which case it does not admit of any change.

All passive participles that do not terminate in ado or ido are called irregular; such are the following, from the verbs—

To open,	abrir,	abierto.
To cover,	cubrir,	cubierto.
To say,	decir,	dicho.
To write,	escribir,	escrito.
To fry,	freir,	frito.
To do,	hacer,	hecho.
To print,	imprimir,	impreso.
To die,	morir,	muerto.
To solve,	solcer,	suelto.
To see,	ver,	visto.
To put,	poner,	puesto.
To turn,	volver,	vuelto.

Their compounds have the same irregularity.

Obs. The participles past of haber, ser, estar, and tener, do not admit any variation. The first and the last had it formerly.

VERBS THAT HAVE TWO PARTICIPLES.

There are some verbs that have two passive participles, the one regular and the other irregular. They are contained in the following list, in which, for brevity's sake, the irregular participle only is expressed.

To surfeit,	ahitar,	ahito.
To bless,	bendecir,	 bendito.
To compel,	compeler,	compulso.
To conclude,	concluir,	concluso.
To confuse,	confundir,	confuso.
To convince,	convencer,	convicto.
To convert,	convertir,	converso.
To awake,	despertar,	despierto.
To elect,	elegir,	electo.
To wipe,	enjugar,	enjuto.
To exclude,	excluir,	excluso.
To expel,	expeler,	expulso.
To express,	expresar,	expreso.
To extinguish,	extinguir,	extinto.
To fix,	fijar,	fijo.
To satiate,	hartar,	harto.
To include,	incluir,	incluso.
To incur,	incurrir,	incurso.
To insert,	insertar,	inserto.
To invert,	invertir,	inverso.
To ingraft,	ingerir,	ingerto.
To join,	juntar,	junto.
To curse,	maldecir,	maldito.

To manifest,	manifestar,	manifesto.
To fade,	marchitar,	marchito.
To omit,	omitir,	omiso.
To oppress,	oprimir,	opreso.
To perfect,	perfeccionar,	perfecto.
To arrest,	prender,	preso.
To prescribe,	prescribir,	prescrito.
To provide,	proveer,	provisto.
To shut up,	recluir,	recluso.
To break,	romper,	roto.
To loosen,	soltar,	suelto.
To suppress,	suprimir,	supreso.
To suspend,	suspender,	suspensio.

The regular participles of these verbs are used to form the compound tenses with haber; as,

He has awaked early. | El ha despertado temprano.

The irregular participles are used as verbal adjectives, and with the verbs ser, &c., and do not form compound tenses with haber; excepting preso, prescrito, provisto, roto, and a few others; as,

He is early awaked. | El está despierto temprano.
They have provided. | Ellos han provisto, (proveido.)

ADVERBS.

Adverbs are formed from adjectives of one termination by adding to them mente; as, dulce, dulcemente: and from those of two terminations by adding mente to the feminine; as, gracioso, graciosamente. They admit the superlative; as, graciosísimamente.

When two or more adverbs ending in ly occur in the same sentence, the termination mente is added to the last only; as,

He speaks elegantly and correctly. | El habla correcta y elegantemente.

A FEW OF THE ADVERBS.

Here,	acá, aquí.	Well,	bien.
There,	allá, allí, ahí.	Ill,	mal.
Near,	cerca.	More,	mas.
Far,	léjos.	Less,	ménos.

PREPOSITIONS.

The most frequent are—

At, to, for,	A.	Towards,	hácia.
Before,	antes, ante.	Until,	hasta.
With,	con.	For, to,	para.
Against,	contra.	By, for, through,	por.
Of, from,	de.	According,	segun.
From,	desde.	Without,	sin.
In, on, at,	en.	On, upon,	sobre.
Between, among,	entre.	Behind,	tras, detras.

The following prepositions require de after them, when they are followed by a noun or pronoun; as—

That man comes after. | Ese hombre viene despues.
Sir, he will go after you. | Señor, él irá despues de V.

About,	á cerca,	al rededor,	en torno.
Before,	á cerca de,	al rededor de,	en torno de.
Above, up,	encima.	Within, in,	dentro.
Below,	abajo.	After,	despues.
Under,	bajo.	Behind,	detrás, tras.
Out of,	fuera.	Beneath,	debajo.
Near,	cerca.	Opposite,	enfrente.
		On, upon,	encima.

CONJUNCTIONS.

They are classed as follows:—

That,	que.	COPULATIVE.	Moreover,	ademas.
Also,	tambien.		And,	y or i, é.¹
			Neither, nor,	ni.²

¹ E is used instead of y when the following word begins with i or hi; as, Wise men and ignorant. | Sabios é ignorantes.

Mother and daughter. | Madre é hija.

² Neither he nor she went out, ni él ni ella salieron,

Do you fill that bottle with water? ¿Llena V. de agua esta botella?
 I fill my purse with money. Yo lleno de dinero mi bolsa.
 He fills his belly with meat. Él se llena de carne la barriga. (A very low expression.)

The pocket. { La bolsa, (fem.) El bolsillo, (mas.)
 { La faltriquera, (fem.)
 Have you come quite alone? ¿Ha venido V. absolutamente solo?
 No, I have brought all my men along with me. No, yo he traído toda mi gente (todos mis hombres) conmigo.

To bring. Traer *.
 He has brought all his men along with him. Él ha traído toda su gente consigo.
 Have you brought your brother along with you? ¿Ha traído V. consigo á su hermano?
 I have brought him along with me. Yo le he traído conmigo.

 { Pedir *. Rogar *.

Will you desire your brother to come down? ¿Quiere V. suplicar á su hermano que baje?

Obs. B. Verbs signifying to beg, to request, to command, &c., require the verb governed by them to be in the subjunctive mood. (See Appendix.)

The beard. La barba.
 The river. El río.
 The stream, torrent. La corriente. El torrente.
 To go, or come up the river. Subir el río.

EXERCISES.

179.

Will your parents go into the country to-morrow?—They will not go, for it is too dusty.—Shall we take a walk to-day?—We will not take a walk, for it is too muddy out of doors, (en la calle.)—Do you see the castle of my relation behind yonder mountain, (aquella montaña?)—I see it.—Shall we go in?—We will go in if you like.—Will you go into that room?—I shall not go into it, for it is smoky.—I wish you a good morning, Madam.—Will you not come in?—Will you not sit down?—I will sit down upon that large chair.—Will you tell me what has become of your brother?—I will tell you.—Where is your sister?—Do you not see her? She sits upon the bench.—Is your father seated upon the bench?—No, he sits upon the chair.—Hast thou spent all thy money?—I have not spent all.—How much hast thou left?—I have not much left. I have but five shillings left.—How much money have thy sisters left?—They have but three dollars left.—Have you money enough left to pay your tailor?—I have enough left to pay him; but if I pay him I shall have but little left.—How much money will your brothers have left?—They will have a hundred dollars left.—When will you go to Italy?—I shall go as soon as (luego que) I have (haya) learned Italian.—When will your brothers go to France?—They will go thither as soon as they know (sepan) French.—When will they learn it?—They will learn it when they have (hayan) found a good master.—How much money shall we have left when we have (hayamos) paid for our horses?—When we have (hayamos) paid for them we shall have only a hundred dollars left.

number, case, or person. Government is that power which one part of speech has over another in directing its mood, tense, or case. The following rules contain the most important of both.

OF THE ARTICLE.

RULE 1. The article must agree in number, gender, and case, with the noun to which it refers; as,

Quiet solitude, pleasant fields, serene weather, purling streams, and tranquillity of mind contribute very much to the fecundity even of the most barren genius.

El sosiego, el lugar apacible, la amenidad de los campos, la serenidad de los cielos, el murmurar de las fuentes, la quietud del espíritu son grande parte para que las musas mas estériles se muestren fecundas.

DON QUIJOTE, prol., pt. i.

Obs. 1. The nouns agua, (water,) águila, (eagle,) acta, (act, record,) áncla, (anchor,) ála, (wing,) alma, (soul,) ave, (bird,) ama, (the mistress of a house, a housekeeper,) and a few others, though feminine, require the masculine article, but only in the singular number, and when they are immediately preceded by it. (285.)

They quenched their thirst in the water of the rivulet. Ellos bebieron del agua del arroyo.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xviii. pt. i.

Some other nouns feminine beginning with a, or ha, having the first syllable long, are frequently used in the singular with the masculine article. This use, however, is not generally sanctioned; and the greatest number of the classic writers follow the rule laid down by the Spanish Academy, that excepts only the above nouns.

RULE 2. The English indefinite article before national nouns, as well as before those that signify the dignity, profession, trade, condition, &c., of persons, in the titles of books and other performances, and in exclamations, is not translated into Spanish; as,

The Monserrate of Cristobal de Virues, a Valencian poet.

El Monserrate de Cristobal de Virues, poeta Valenciano.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. vi. pt. i.

It was certainly known that Don Juan de Austria was appointed a general of the league.

Se supo por cierto que venia por General desta liga Don Juan de Austria. Ditto, cap. xxxix.

And ending in Zoilus or Zeuxis, though one was a backbiter, and the other a painter.

Y acabando en Zoilo, ó Zeuxis, aunque fué maldiciente el uno, y pintor el otro. Ditto, Pref.

What a pity!

¡Que lástima!

Obs. 2. If the indefinite article be immediately followed by an adjective emphatically used, it must be translated; as,

There I obtained an ensign's commission in the company of a famous captain.

Alcancé á ser alférez de un famoso capitán.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxix.

Obs. 3. Should a proper noun follow that of the dignity, &c., the definite article must be affixed to it; as,

Whom continually in our Castilian language we call king Artus.

Que continuamente en nuestro romance Castellano llamamos el rey Artus. Ditto, cap. xiii.

RULE 3. The definite article (el, &c.) is prefixed in Spanish to all common substantives, when they are used to express the whole extent of their signification; which, for the same reason, do not require it in English; as,

Vice is hateful.

El vicio es aborrecible.

Men are mortal.

Los hombres son mortales.

Virtue is amiable.

La virtud es amable.

Riches shall not profit in the day of revenge.

Las riquezas no aprovecharán en el día de la venganza.

The nouns vice, men, virtue, riches, are used as collective nouns, and taken in a general sense; that is to say, they mean that all vices are hateful, all virtues are amiable, that all men are mortal, and that no riches can prevent the vengeance of God.

Obs. 4. The article is retained in the phrase before the adjective, when a common noun, taken in the whole extent of its meaning, is omitted by ellipsis; as,

Red wine is not so dear as white.

El vino tinto no es tan caro como el (vino) blanco.

RULE 4. Common nouns, used in an indeterminate sense, are used with or without the article, as in English; as,

He asks three dollars for the hat.

El pide tres pesos por el sombrero.

He asks for the three dollars, value of the hat.

El pide los tres pesos, valor del sombrero.

RULE 5. When the names of the days of the week are used to mention the day with a reference to a certain day, they require the article; as,

Thursday before the Friday on which she was to remove to her father's garden, she gave us a thousand crowns.

El jueves ántes del viernes, que ella se habia de ir al jardín de su padre, nos dió mil escudos.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xl.

Casa, meaning home, and being preceded by a preposition, does not admit the article; when it signifies house, it may be used with or without it; as,

Wife, I will show you them at home.

En casa os las mostraré, mujer.

Ditto, cap. lii.

Calle (street) requires the article before it, and before its name if it should be a common noun; as,

He lives in Pearl street, (in the street of the Pearl.)

El vive en la calle de la Perla.

As he entered St. James street in Madrid.

Al entrar la calle de Santiago en Madrid.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xlviii. pt. ii.

RULE 6. The English indefinite article, before nouns of measure, weight, or number, is translated by the definite article, according to the name it refers to. The prepositions á or por are sometimes added, which may as well be omitted; as,

This broadcloth is worth ten dollars a yard.

Este paño vale diez pesos vara, (or á diez pesos la vara, or diez pesos por vara.)

Butter sells at two shillings a pound.

La manteca (mantequilla) se vende á dos reales libra, (la libra, or por libra.)

RULE 7. The English definite article before ordinal numbers, when they are immediately preceded by a substantive, in quotations, divisions of books, names of dignity, &c., is omitted in Spanish; as,

Book the first, chapter the second, section the fifth, &c.

Libro primero, capítulo segundo, párrafo quinto.

The invincible Charles the Fifth.

El invictísimo Carlos quinto.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxix.

Obs. 5. When the English definite article precedes an adjective used as an epithet before the nouns above stated, it must be translated; as,

Augustus Cæsar would have been in the wrong had he consented to the execution of what the divine Mantuan ordered on his death-bed.

No hubiera acertado Augusto Cæsar si consintiera que se pusiera en ejecucion lo que el divino Mantuano dejó en su testamento ordenado.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xiii.

RULE 8. The article a, and the adjective one, are not translated before hundred, thousand, million, half, &c.; as,

In the year one thousand, one hundred and one.

En el año de mil, ciento, y uno.

He asks, or wants one yard and a half.

El necesita, or quiere vara y media-half.

RULE 9. Proper names of persons and of countries do not admit the article; the former, however, in a colloquial and very familiar use, take it; as,

She was called Tolosa.

Se llamaba la Tolosa.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. iii.

Obs. 6. The nouns muerte, (death,) cielo, (heaven,) and the like names, take the article, except in exclamations or direct speeches; as,

If the power of death be your subject, apply "Pallida mors," &c.

Si tratáredes del poder de la muerte, acudid luego con "Pallida mors," &c.

D. QUIJOTE, Prólogo.

REMARK. "It is the rule of our language, (the Castilian,) that proper nouns are not accompanied by articles; excepting LA MANCHA, LA CORUNA, LA HABANA."—(Grammar of the Castilian Language, by the Royal Spanish Academy, part ii., ch. vi.) The preceding rule has been given in conformity with this decision of the Academy, which may be used as follows:—

The names of the countries that are not qualified by the adjectives old or new, upper or lower, &c., expressed or understood, are generally used without the article; as,

Mexico. Méjico. Malta. Malta.

The names of the countries that are qualified by the said, or other adjectives, when these are not expressed, may be used with or without the article; as, América, or la América, (norte or sud.) Andalucía, or la Andalucía, (alta or baja.) When the adjective is expressed they require the article.

The following are exceptions, and must always be used with the article.

Brazil.	El Brasil.
Canada.	El Canadá.
Paraguay.	El Paraguay.
Peru.	El Perú.
A province of New Castile.	La Alcarria.
Barbadoes.	La Barbada.
Florida.	La Florida.
Ferrol.	El Ferrol.
Corunna.	La Coruña.
Havana, &c.	La Habana, &c.

The article is omitted in the dates of letters written in the places above excepted.

Obs. 7. Proper names of mountains and rivers take the definite masculine article, without regard to their termination; as,

Those who feed their flocks upon the spacious meads of the meandering Guadiana; those who shiver with the chill blasts of the whistling Pyrenees.	Los que su ganado apacientan en las extendidas dehesas del tortuoso Guadiana; los que tiemblan con el frio del silboso Pirineo.
---	--

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xviii.

RULE 10. When several nouns come together in English, with an article before the first of them only, the article is repeated before every one, especially when they are of different genders, and a particular emphasis is placed on them. When they are used in English without any article, the same is done in Spanish, (372.)

They mention the father, mother, country, relations, age, and exploits performed by said knight.	Nos cuentan el padre, la madre, la patria, los parientes, la edad, y las hazañas que el tal caballero hizo.
--	--

D. QUIJOTE, cap. i.

RULE 11. The article is omitted before nouns used in apposition; as,
O Envy, the root of all evils, and the destroyer of so many virtues!

O Envidia, raíz de infinitos males y carcoma de las virtudes!
DON QUIJOTE, cap. viii. pt. ii.

RULE 12. The definite masculine article, singular or plural, is used before the adjectives taken substantively; as,

The wise man feareth and declineth from evil.

El sabio teme y se desvia del mal.

The expectation of the wicked shall perish.

La esperanza de los impios perecerá.

Obs. 8. When a noun, qualified by an adjective, is suppressed by ellipsis, the article that precedes the adjective must agree in number and gender with the noun that has been omitted; as,

Black and white are two opposite colors.

El negro y el blanco son dos colores opuestos.

That is, el color negro y el color blanco.

RULE 13. The English definite article before adjectives used in an absolute sense, that is to say, comprehending in their meaning a generality of objects or things that may be masculine or feminine, singular or plural, is translated by the indefinite pronoun lo; (344.) as,

Let no man judge the white black, and the black white.

Ninguno se ponga á juzgar lo blanco por negro, y lo negro por blanco.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. iv. p. ii.

RULE 14. When the adjective todo (all, or whole) is placed before the substantive, it requires the article after it, whether it be expressed or not in English; as,

All men, or all the men.

Todos los hombres.

The whole assembly.

Toda la asamblea.

REMARK. The meaning of many phrases depends on the use or omission of the article. A few examples may elucidate this remark.

To set up a store.

Abrir tienda.

To open the store.

Abrir la tienda.

To encourage, to support.

Dar alma.

To die.

Dar el alma.

To miss one's aim.

Dar en blanco.

To be successful.

Dar en el blanco.

To have an evil tongue.

Tener mala lengua.

To have the tongue sore.

Tener mala la lengua.

OF THE NOUN AND THE ADJECTIVE.

RULE 15.—The adjective must agree with the substantive in gender and number; as,

The valiant boy.

El muchacho valiente.

The handsome girls.

Las muchachas hermosas.

Obs. 9. An adjective qualifying two or more nouns or pronouns of different genders, in the singular, agrees with them in the masculine termination in the plural; as,

The father and the son are rich.

El padre y el hijo son ricos.

The mother and the daughter are handsome.

La madre y la hija son hermosas.

He and she are generous.

El y ella son generosos.

The house and the garden are magnificent.

La casa y el jardín son magníficos.

Obs. 10. Two or more adjectives qualifying a plural noun, which signifies them as separately considered, agree with it in the singular; as,

She is unexcelled by Helen, unrivalled by Lucretia, or any other heroine of ages past, whether Grecian, Roman, or Barbarian.

A ella no la llega Elena, ni la alcanza Lucrecia, ni otra alguna de las famosas mujeres, que vivieron en las edades pretéritas, griega, latina, ó bárbara.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxv.

Obs. 11. An adjective qualifying two or more nouns of inanimate objects or things, having different gender and number, generally agrees with the nearest; as,

A union which the equality of our family and riches seemed to point out.

Union que casi la concertaba la igualdad de nuestro linaje, y riquezas

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxiv

Obs. 12. A noun of the feminine gender in the plural, being in the same phrase with a noun masculine in the singular, having but one adjective, the adjective agrees in the plural, and in the masculine termination, if the verb agrees with the plural noun; as,

His promises and his oath have been false.

Sus promesas y su juramento han sido falsos.

In such cases it is better to place the plural noun next the adjective, and make the agreement with it; thus—Su juramento y sus promesas han sido falsas.

RULE 16.—An adjective qualifying two or more plural nouns or pronouns, of different genders, agrees with them in the masculine termination in the plural; as,

Both the brothers and sisters are charitable.

Tanto los hermanos, como las hermanas son caritativos.

Obs. 13. This rule is strictly observed when the nouns or pronouns signify animate objects; but when the nouns signify inanimate objects or things, classic authors, both ancient and modern, generally make the adjective agree with the nearest substantive; as,

His fears and hopes were vain. { Sus temores y esperanzas fueron vanas
Sus esperanzas y temores fueron vanos.
Vanas fueron sus esperanzas y temores.
Vanos fueron sus temores y esperanzas.

Happy were my hours, my days, and my years. | Dichosas eran mis horas, mis dias, y mis años.
 DON QUIJOTE, cap. liii. pt. ii.

RULE 17.—An adjective referring to Usted, (you,) Usia, (your lordship or ladyship,) &c., must agree in gender with that of the person spoken of or to, without any regard to the termination of these nouns; as,

If your lordship would be pleased to bestow on me, &c. | Si vuestra Señoría fuese servido de darme, &c.
 DON QUIJOTE, cap. xlii. pt. ii.

Your worship must be out of your senses, said Sancho. | Vuestra merced debe de ser men- guado, dijo Sancho.
 Ditto, ditto.

RULE 18.—The English possessive case with the 's, is translated by omitting the 's, setting the preposition de (of) before the word to which the 's was annexed, and placing the noun which is the last in the English sentence the first in the Spanish translation, with the corresponding article; and reversing in the same manner the order of the other nouns; as,

He has read Pope's works. | El ha leído las obras de Pope.
 He has read the works of Pope.

If there be more than two substantives, the last in English must be the first in Spanish; as,

His brother's partner's house. | La casa del compañero de su her- mano.

Obs. 14. In English the sign 's is frequently used instead of the noun of a place, house, office, store, &c., where a thing has happened or been done, which being omitted by ellipsis, it is perfectly understood by the whole of the sentence; but the noun thus omitted must always be expressed in Spanish; as,

Sancho figured to himself that he would find at her's, (the duchess's house,) what he had found at Don Diego's and Basil's. | A Sancho se le figuraba que habia de hallar en ella, (la casa de la duquesa,) lo que habia hallado en la casa de Don Diego, y en la de Basilio.
 DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxi. pt. ii.

RULE 19.—Common nouns of the masculine gender, in the plural number, are frequently used to express both genders; as,

The duke and duchess, extremely satisfied with the chase, returned to their castle. | Satisfechos los duques de la caza, volviéron á su castillo.
 DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxv.

RULE 20.—Adjectives signifying dimension, such as deep, high, low, long, wide, thick, &c., require the preposition de between them and the number, and also after the substantive they refer to; and the verb to be is translated by tener, (290;) as,

They have a room twenty-four feet long, twelve wide, and fifteen high. | Ellos tienen un aposento (cuarto) de veinticuatro pies de largo, doce de ancho y quince de alto.

The adjectives in such cases are used only in the singular number, and in the masculine gender.

Obs. 15. When the nouns, length, width, height, &c., are made use of, they must be preceded by the preposition de; and they may be translated as substantives or adjectives; as,

The Giralda of Seville is 300 feet in height. | La Giralda de Sevilla tiene 300 de pies alto, (or de altura.)

RULE 21.—The adjective is to be always placed after the noun or nouns it qualifies; as,

Take notice, doctor, that from henceforth you need not to take the trouble to provide dainty and delicate dishes for me. | Mirad, doctor, de aqui adelante no os curéis de darme á comer cosas regaladas, ni manjares exquisitos.
 D. QUIJOTE, cap. xlix. pt. ii.

Obs. 16. When a particular emphasis is laid on the adjective, it is generally placed before the substantive; as,

The limpid fountains and murmuring rills afforded them their savory and transparent waters in magnificent abundance. | Las claras fuentes, y corrientes rios en magnífica abundancia sabrosas y transparentes aguas les ofrecian.
 D. QUIJOTE, cap. xi. pt. i.

When one of two or more adjectives qualifying a substantive is more emphatically used than the other, or others, it is generally placed before the noun, and the other adjective after it; as,

My good young lady, have pity on a poor fugitive slave. | Caritativa Señorita mia, compade- céos de una pobre esclava fugi- tiva.
 DE ALÉA.

RULE 22.—The adjectives uno, (one,) alguno, (some,) ninguno, (none,) are always placed before their substantives; and when they are immediately followed by a masculine noun, or adjective in the singular, they drop the o. The same de bueno, malo, (12,) primero, and tercero, (46.) Grande, (97, 261,) ciento, (139,) and santo suppress the last syllable; as,

As I was one day in Mercers' street, in Toledo. | Estando yo un dia en el Alcaza de Toledo.
 D. QUIJOTE, cap. ix.
 Although me costed some trouble. | Aunque me costó algun trabajo componerla.
 Ditto, Preface.

Obs. 17. Uno drops the o also before substantives in the plural; as,
 They could not find one in twenty-one days. | Ellos no pudieron hallar uno en veintian dias.

OF THE PRONOUN.

RULE 23.—The personal pronouns subject, or in the nominative case, are frequently omitted, (14,) especially in colloquial style, unless a particular emphasis is laid on them, or it is necessary to express them in order to avoid ambiguity, which may happen by their omission in the first and third person singular of the imperfect tense of the indicative, and of the imperfect tense of the subjunctive mood of all the verbs; as, Pensaba comprar la casa, which phrase may signify, "I thought, or he thought to buy the house," for the want of the pronouns yo or él.

We know that thou wast at Algiers. Sabíamos que estabas en Argel.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xli.

I watch while thou art sleeping, I weep while thou art singing. Yo velo cuando tú duermes, yo lloro cuando tú cantas.

Ditto, cap. xl. pt. ii.

RULE 24.—Me, thee, him, &c., must be translated me, te, le, &c., when they are the immediate object of the verb; as,

As soon as she saw me, she told me, Asi como ella me vió me dijo: no be not uneasy, my friend. te turbes, amigo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxvii.

He that is humble, God will exalt. A quien se humilla, Dios le ensalza.

Ditto, cap. xi.

Obs. 18. Him, her, them, you, (when referring to usted,) being the direct object of a pronominal or reflective verb, must be translated se; as,

And a great friend of his dressed himself also as a shepherd. Y juntamente se vistió con él de pastor otro su grande amigo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xiv.

Obs. 19. Me, him, her, you, &c., being the indirect objective, or complement of a verb governed or preceded by a preposition expressed or understood, are translated mi, él, ella, &c., after the preposition, (see Table of Pronouns, p. 70.) Except should the preposition be á, for then they are generally translated me, le, &c., without the preposition, and frequently repeated with it before mi and él, to give more energy to the phrase; as,

He was informed of the departure, though not by me. El supo la partida, y no de mí.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xliii.

For her I forsook my father's house. Por ella dejé la casa de mi padre.

Ditto, ditto.

He keeps him here enchanted, as well as myself. Tiènele aquí encantado, como me tiene á mí.

Ditto, cap. xxiii. pt. ii.

RULE 25.—As him, her, it, them, you, (usted,) may be in English the object or the complement of a verb, particular care must be taken to distinguish these cases. When they are the object of the verb they are translated le, la, los, or las, according to the gender and number of the noun or pronoun they stand for. When they are the complement, or indirect objective case, they must be expressed by le in the singular, and les in the plural, for both genders; as,

He prostrated him on the ground. El le derribó en el suelo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. iii.

The companions who saw them so. Los compañeros que tales los vieron.

Ditto, ditto.

And we who know her. Y los que la conocemos.

Ditto, cap. xii.

Don Quixote called Sancho to give him his helmet. Don Quijote llamó á Sancho que viniese á darle la celada.

Ditto, ditto.

The hostess recounted to them what had happened in her house between him and the muleteer. La huéspeda les contó lo que con él y con el arriero les habia acontecido. Ditto, cap. xxxii. pt. i.

Don Quixote asked her what was her name. Don Quijote le preguntó como se llamaba. Ditto, cap. iii.

But the deeds which they (the maids) had seen kept their mirth under the rein. Pero las proezas que ya habian visto (las doncellas) les tenían la risa á raya. Ditto, ditto.

In order to prevent the ambiguity that in some phrases may result, the pronouns él ella, &c., are repeated; as,

He delivered the letter to him, (to her.) El le entregó la carta á él, (á ella.)

RULE 26.—Mismo (self) is sometimes added to the nouns or pronouns to give them particular energy. It changes its termination, like any other adjective, according to the number and gender of the noun or pronoun it refers to, and is placed near it; as,

Without money, Alexander himself must have seemed frugal. Sin hacienda Alejandro mismo pareciera estrecho.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxix.

RULE 27.—The neuter pronoun it, is used in English to represent objects or things that by nature are neither male nor female; and even animals, when their gender is not known. In Spanish all common nouns are either masculine or feminine, as has been explained in treating of gender; consequently the pronoun it, and its plural them, must be translated él, ellos, ella, ellas, with the respective variation of the cases of said persons. The scholar, therefore, must be careful to ascertain the gender and case of the noun to which it refers in English before translating said pronoun; as,

He read the project, and approved it. El leyó el proyecto, y le aprobó.

She received the letter, and answered it. Ella recibió la carta, y la contestó.

Obs. 20.—When the pronoun it is redundant in a phrase, it must not be translated. It is redundant when it is used instead of the words that come after the verb, and which constitute its subject or object; as,

It is a matter of constant experience, that bodily exercise is conducive to health.

In which phrase the natural order is: that bodily exercise is conducive to health, is a matter of constant experience.

It, referring to the verbs, or to phrases and sentences to which no gender can be applied, is translated by the pronoun lo; and when it is to be placed after a preposition in Spanish, by ello; as,

The gallant shepherd begged him to accompany them to their tents; Don Quixote was fain to comply with it, and accordingly did it so.

Whoever spends his time ill, sooner or later will repent of it.

It, in the impersonal verbs (as has been already explained) is not translated; as,

It rains, llueve.

In the phrases it is said, they say, it is rumored, &c., the pronouns it and they are not translated: the verb is placed in the third person singular, prefixing the pronoun se to it, or in the third person plural without any pronoun; as,

As they say, let the dead go to the bier, and the living to good cheer.

RULE 28.—When two or more objective cases of the pronouns occur in the same phrase, they must be arranged in the following order: se is to be placed before all others; then me, te, nos, or os; in the third place, le, los, la, las, les; and él, ella, &c., with a preposition, the last of all; as,

He gave it (a book) to them. | El se le (un libro) dió á ellos.

RULE 29. Who, coming immediately after its antecedent, is translated que; when it stands by itself, or is governed by a preposition, it is rendered by quien; as,

Sancho came out to receive the commands of Don Quixote, who had sat down upon a bench.

A student to whom you imparted your intentions, was he who disclosed it.

Which, that, or any other two relative pronouns, being in the same sentence, the second may be translated cual, with the corresponding article,

Es materia de constante experiencia, que el ejercicio corporal es conducente á la salud.

El gallardo pastor le pidió que se viniese con él á sus tiendas; hábolo de conceder Don Quijote, y así lo hizo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xviii. pt. ii.

Quienquiera que emplea mal el tiempo, tarde ó temprano se arrepentirá de ello.

It is cold, hace frío, &c.

Y como dicen, váyase el muerto á la sepultura, y el vivo á la hogaza. DON QUIJOTE, cap. xix.

Sancho salió á ver lo que le mandaba Don Quijote, que estaba sentado sobre un pozo.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. lix. pt. ii.

Un estudiante á quien disteis cuenta de vuestros pensamientos fué el que lo descubrió.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xlv. pt. ii.

to avoid the repetition of the same pronoun, unless a particular emphasis is placed on it; as,

The first person (whom) I met, was his father, who said to me.

La primera persona con quien contré fué su padre, el cual me dijo. DON QUIJOTE, cap. xli.

Obs. 21. When these pronouns are governed by a preposition, whom is usually translated quien or cual, with reference to persons; and que, and sometimes cual, with the corresponding article, speaking of animals or things; as,

Indeed, Signior Don Luis, it suits well to whom you are the dress you wear, and the bed in which you now lie.

Por cierto, Señor Don Luis, que corresponde bien á quien vos sois el hábito que teneis, y la cama en que os hallo.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xlv.

RULE 30.—He who, she who, they who, those who, are translated el que, la que, los que, las que, and sometimes, for the sake of energy, aquel que, &c.; as,

Both she, and he who accompanied her.

Don Fernando, and those who came with him.

Así ella como el que la acompañaba. DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvii.
Don Fernando y los que con él venian. Ditto, cap. xxxvi.

Obs. 22. What, when it is the same as that which, is translated lo que; as,

He could see it, for through what might be termed the roof, entered a stream of light.

Púdolo ver, porque por lo que se podía llamar techo, entraba un rayo de sol.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. lv. pt. ii.

RULE 31.—Relative pronouns are called interrogative when they are employed to make a question. They are translated in the same manner as the relative pronouns. Which, referring to more than one object, is translated cual or cuales; as,

Who was the ignorant wretch who signed such a warrant?

What knight-errant ever paid tax or custom?

Which of them will come?

Which of the two will you have?

Who knocks at the door?

¿ Quien fué el ignorante que firmó tal mandamiento?

¿ Que caballero andante pagó pecho, ó alcabala?

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xlv.

¿ Quien (or cual) de ellos (or ellas) vendrá?

¿ Cual de los (or las) dos quiere V.?

¿ Quiea llama á la puerta?

¿ Quien llama?

¿ Quien está ahí? ¿ Quien es?

Obs. 23. When the interrogation begins by a preposition, the answer must begin by the same preposition; as,

Where are you going?
To the Exchange.
Where do you come from?
From my counting-room.
What way did you come?
Through Broad street.
With whom did you come?
With my partner.
Where can I see you this afternoon?
At home.
What day of the month is this?
The thirtieth of January, 1848.

REMARK.—The pronouns who, whom, (quien, que,) which, that, (que,) and the conjunction that, (que,) although they are frequently omitted in English, must always be expressed in Spanish. The attention of the learner is particularly requested on this subject. Examples:—

He thinks you are in the right.
The man you were speaking to.
The letter she wrote.
They thought he would do it.
Do you believe he will consent?

RULE 32. The possessive pronouns conjunctive, referring to the parts or limbs of the body, or other things of common use in or about it, are generally expressed by the definite article; as,

She saw him move his hand, and lay it upon his sword.

She threw her arms about his neck.

¿ Adonde va V.?
A la Lonja.
¿ De donde viene V.?
De mi escritorio.
¿ Por donde vino V.?
Por la calle Ancha.
¿ Con quien vino V.?
Con mi socio, (compañero.)
¿ En donde prodré ver á V. esta tarde? En casa.
¿ A cuantos estamos hoy?
A treinta de Enero de 1848.

El cree que V. tiene razon.
El hombre á quien V. hablaba.
La carta que ella escribió.
Ellos pensaron que él lo haría.
¿ Cree V. que él consienta?

Ella le vió encaminar la mano á ponerla en la espada.

Don QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvi.

Ella le echó los brazos al cuello.

Ditto, ditto.

Her, as an objective case of the personal pronoun, must be translated la or le, according to its relation to the verb; and when it is preceded by a preposition, by ella. As a possessive pronoun it must be expressed by su, sus, suya, &c., (de V.) de ella; as,

They invited her, and with that object they wrote her a letter.

The book was for her.

She lost her gloves.

He looked for her handkerchief.

Ellos la convidaron, y con este objeto le escribiéron una carta.

El libro era para ella.

Ella perdió sus guantes.

El busca el pañuelo de ella.

In the last example her is not translated su in order to avoid the ambiguity, because su might mean in Spanish either his or her.

As the pronouns his, hers, yours, theirs, when they stand alone are all translated suyo, which pronoun agrees in gender and number with the person or thing possessed, and not with the possessor, as in English; whenever an ambiguity may arise from the use of that pronoun alone, the pronoun that represents the person of the possessor, preceded by de, is to be repeated after it, or used in its stead; as, Send me his (book, m. s.)—Envieme V. el suyo de él; or better, el de él alone.

Possessive pronouns must be repeated before every substantive in a sentence, though not expressed in English; as,

He bought his hat and gloves in John street.

Suffer me to avail myself of the prop from which you could not disengage me with all your importunities, threats, promises, nor presents.

El compró su sombrero y sus guantes en la calle de Juan.

Dejadme llegar al arrimo de quien no me han podido apartar vuestras importunaciones, vuestras amenazas, vuestras promesas, ni vuestras dádivas.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvi. pt. ii.

OF THE VERB.

RULE 33.—A verb having several pronouns of different persons for its subject, (nominative,) must agree in the plural with the first of them in order; as,

You, he, and I will do it.
Thou and she wrote well.

V. él y yo lo haremos.
Tú y ella escribisteis bien.

In the first example the verb is placed in the first person plural, because the pronoun I, together with the other two, is the same as we; and in the second, because the two pronouns may be expressed by you.

They left Zoraida and me by ourselves, and we are going to see whether my father is still alive.

Solos quedamos Zoraida y yo, y vamos con intencion de ver si mi padre es vivo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xl.

The person speaking, out of civility always names himself the last.

When Usted and a pronoun of the third person singular form the subject of a verb, the verb is in the third person plural; as,

You and he saw them.

Usted y él los vieron.

Obs. 24. A verb having for a subject a noun in the singular, that comprehends in itself the sense of the other subjects of the same verb preceding it, should it be the last, or the nearest to the verb, must agree with it in the singular; as,

So that the solitude of the place, the darkness of the night, the noise of the water and rustling of the leaves, all together, caused horror and dismay.

De manera que la soledad, el sitio, la oscuridad, el ruido del agua con el susurro de las hojas, todo causaba horror y espanto.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xx. pt. i.

Obs. 25. When the subject is a common noun plural, in which the speaker is included, the verb is placed in the first person plural; as,

The Spaniards, whenever they have a choice, incline to that which is most difficult.

Los Españoles siempre que tenemos elección, nos inclinamos á lo mas dificultoso.

SOLIS, lib. iii. cap. viii.

Obs. 26. Two or more subjects of different number, connected by an adversative conjunction, require that the verb shall agree with the last of them; as,

Not only the mother and the daughters, but the father also was then dead.

No solamente la madre y las hijas, sino tambien el padre habia muerto entonces. M'HENRY.

RULE 34.—Collective nouns definite, or such as denote a determinate number of persons or things, require the verb in the singular; as,

Seest thou that cloud of dust? The whole of it is raised by a vast army of various and innumerable nations that are marching that way.

¿Ves aquella polvareda? Toda es cuajada de un copiosísimo ejército de diversas é innumerables gentes, que por allí viene marchando.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xviii.

Collective nouns indefinite must have the verbs in the plural; as,

Be that as it may, these people are carried, but not voluntarily, they are driven by force.

Como quiera que ello sea, esta gente, aunque los llevan, van de por fuerza. D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxii.

Particular care, however, must be paid to the logical sense of the phrase, for it may sometimes require the singular; as,

The greatest number of the people of the castle, who did not know the truth of the case, were surprised and astonished.

La mayor parte de la gente del castillo que no sabia la verdad del caso estaba suspensa y admirada.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xvi. pt. ii.

RULE 35.—An active transitive verb requires the noun that is the object of its action, in the objective case; and the preposition á must besides be prefixed to it, when the said object signifies a person or thing personified, or is a proper noun; as,

Don Fernando, Cardenio, Lucinda, and Dorothea were struck dumb with astonishment, gazing in silence to one another.

Callaban todos, y mirábanse todos, Dorotea á Don Fernando, Don Fernando á Cardenio, Cardenio á Lucinda, y Lucinda á Cardenio. D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvi.

We must conquer gluttony and sloth by temperance and watchfulness.

Hemos de conquistar á la gula y al sueño en el poco comer, y en el mucho velar. Ditto, cap. viii.

Next year he attacked the Goleta.

El año siguiente acometió á la Goleta. Ditto, cap. xxxix.

Obs. 27. The preposition á is not used before the pronouns me, te, se, nos, os, le, los, la, las, les, lo; but it is required before the other cases of said pronouns; as,

My beauty compels you to love me.

A que me ameis es muere mi hermosura. D. QUIJOTE, cap. xiv.

Who would give thee islands to govern?

¿Quien te habia de dar á tí islas que gobernar?

Ditto, cap. liv. pt. ii.

Obs. 28. Active-transitive, and even intransitive verbs, and those signifying to adhere, to accede to, &c., require the preposition á, even before other objects, to prevent ambiguity; as,

The old man found a little kid that its mother had lost.

El viejo halló un cabrito que habia perdido á su madre.

Obs. 29. An active-transitive verb, having both as object and complement two nouns or pronouns, signifying rational beings, both cases requiring the preposition á, suppresses it before the object direct, and retains it before the object indirect or complement; as,

My dear father, I recommend to you the innocent Laura.

Querido padre, yo os recomiendo la inocente Laura.

I am not your daughter, you have taken away from me my husband.

Yo no soy vuestra hija, vos me habeis quitado mi esposo.

JOVELLANOS, El Delincuente, [act v. sc. 3, 5.]

RULE 36. The present of the infinitive mood in English, used substantively as a subject or object of another verb, does not admit any preposition before it in Spanish, and frequently takes the article el; as,

I have always heard it said, that to confer benefits on base-minded people is like throwing water into the sea.

Siempre he oido decir que el hacer bien á villanos, es echar agua en el mar.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxiii.

I swear to go with you.

Yo juro ir con vos.

Ditto, cap. xxx.

Obs. 30. The verbs, will, shall may, could, &c., when they are not auxiliary, but expressed by querer, deber, or poder, govern the verb that follows immediately after them in the present infinitive without a preposition; as,

I could do no less than answer him.

No pude dejar de responderle.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xxxii.

He would not pass these things in silence.

El no quiso pasar estas cosas en silencio. Ditto, cap. xvi.

RULE 37.—Verbs implying, to move, to begin, to compel, to teach, to learn, to exhort, to invite, to assist, to oppose, to accustom, &c., govern the verb that depends on them in the present of the infinitive mood, and generally require the preposition á; as,

The innkeeper returned to see what his guest commanded.

El ventero volvió á ver lo que su huésped mandaba.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. ii.

The companions of the wounded began to discharge a shower of stone upon Don Quixote.

Los compañeros de los heridos comenzaron á llover piedras sobre Don Quijote. D. QUIJOTE, cap. iii.

Obs. 31. Verbs implying motion, govern the noun or verb, denoting from whence the motion proceeds, with de; the noun or verb which points out its direction, with á; and the noun expressing the space through which it passes, with por; as,

I come from the city of Baeza, in company with eleven other priests, and we are going to the city of Segovia.

Vengo de la ciudad de Baeza con otros once sacerdotes, y vamos á la ciudad de Segovia.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xix.

As he entered the street of St. Jago, in Madrid, a judge was coming through it.

Al entrar en la calle de Santiago en Madrid, venía á salir por ella un Alcalde. Ditto, cap. xviii.

RULE 38.—The present or active participle in English, being alone in the phrase, must be literally translated; as,

So saying, she entered into the thickest part of a wood.

Y en diciendo esto, se entró en lo mas cerrado de un bosque.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xiv.

Obs. 32. The English present participle, referring to a noun that is an object of the former verb, may be translated in the gerund, in the infinitive, or in the indicative mood, according to the sense of the phrase; as,

I saw the boys playing, (that is, whilst they were playing.)

Yo vi á los muchachos jugando, (or jugar, or que jugaban.)

Obs. 33. Words ending in ing, prefixed to a common noun, are used as verbal adjectives; and they are most frequently translated by the Spanish participles terminating in ante or iente; as,

A loving father,

Un padre amante,

An obedient son,

Un hijo obediente,

The constituting assembly,

La asamblea constituyente, from the verbs amar, obedecer, constituir. But as not all the Spanish verbs have active participles, and as verbal adjectives in ante or iente cannot be formed of all of them, the learner, before translating the English words terminating in ing, must consult the dictionary in order to find out the proper word to be used in the translation; as,

An affecting scene.

Una escena sensible, (not afectante.)

Meddling people.

Gente entremetida, (not entremetiente.)

Presuming ideas.

Ideas presuntuosas, (not presumientes.)

Obs. 34. A substantive, compounded of a present participle and a common noun, is generally translated by a particular name; as,

A speaking-trumpet.

Una vocina.

It is also expressed by the infinitive mood of the verb, and even by a substantive derived from it, preceded in either case by the preposition de; as,

A repeating-watch.

Un reloj de repeticion.

A fishing-rod.

Una caña de pescar.

RULE 39.—The English present or active participle, being preceded by a preposition, is translated by the present of the infinitive mood after the same preposition; as,

Wilt thou still persist, Sancho, in saying, thinking, believing, and affirming, that Dulcinea was employed in such a mean object?

¿Que todavía das, Sancho, en decir, en pensar, en creer, y en afirmar que Dulcinea estaba ocupada en tan vil oficio?

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xviii.

Obs. 35. When the preposition is by, the English participle is frequently translated by the Spanish gerund, suppressing the preposition; as,

And by doing it you will oblige him to sign the deed.

Y haciéndolo, V. le obligará á firmar la escritura.

He lost his place by speaking too freely.

El perdió su plaza por hablar con demasiada libertad.

Obs. 36. The English present participle used substantively with an article, is translated either as a substantive or in the present of the infinitive mood with the article; as,

The commencing of a thing is as good as half completing it.

El comenzar las cosas es tenerlas medio acabadas.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xli.

Obs. 37. When the present participle of the verb to be, (being,) followed by a past participle, points out the action expressed by the latter as present and continuing, it is translated by the verb estar in the corresponding tense, preceded by the pronoun se, and the past participle is rendered by the Spanish gerund; as,

To let, one of the two houses now being finished in Pearl street.

Se alquila una de las dos casas, que se estan acabando en la calle de la Perla.

REMARK.

The following rules are devoted to the explanation of the tenses that claim particular notice: no mention, therefore, is made of those of which the literal translation is sufficient.

RULE 40.—As the tense called in English the Imperfect of the Indicative, may be translated into Spanish by the Imperfect Tense, N. 2, or by the Preterit Indefinite, N. 3, as it has been explained in Lesson XL, pages 157–8, to the directions therein given the following explanations are added, the better to elucidate this subject.

1. When the imperfect tense in English expresses an action or a state of things that was going on at some time past, but was still unfinished or incomplete, it must be translated in the imperfect tense in Spanish; as,

In a town of La Mancha there lived a gentleman.....He maintained a female housekeeper turned of forty, and a niece who was not quite twenty.

2. This tense denotes a former progressive state of existence; as,

I told him I thought about the preface.

That is to say, I was thinking.

3. It expresses a time present, with respect to another past, or that something was being done at a time in which another circumstance happened; as,

He died on the road to Constantinople, whither they were carrying him.

4. It denotes the recurrence or repetition of an action, at a time which is past; as,

This said gentleman, the hours that he was at leisure, (which were the greatest part of the year,) he ad-dicted himself to the reading of the books of chivalry.

5. The customs, habits, characters, professions, or occupations of individuals, when they are no longer in existence, or have undergone some change or alteration, are expressed by the imperfect; as,

He was of a rough constitution..... and was called Quijana.

The curate of his village was a learned man.

But Master Nicholas, who was the barber of the same village, affirmed that none of them equalled the Knight of the Sun.

6. The verbs that imply continuance, or that express a state of things that was continued for some time or period, without any reference to the commencement, duration, or end of the action which they express, must be translated by the imperfect tense; as,

He was a native of Calabria, and treated his slaves with great humanity.

Don Antonio Moreno was called Don Quixote's entertainer, and he tried to find means, &c.

En un lugar de la Mancha vivia un hidalgo.....Tenia en su casa una ama, que pasaba de los cuarenta, y una sobrina que no llegaba á los veinte. D. QUIJOTE, cap. i.

Yo le dije que pensaba en el prólogo. D. QUIOTE, Preface.

El murió en el camino de Constantinopla, adonde le llevaban cautivo. D. QUIOTE, cap. xxxix.

Este dicho hidalgo los ratos que estaba ocioso, (que eran los mas del año,) se daba á leer libros de Caballerias.

D. QUIOTE, cap. i.

El era de complexion recia.....y se llamaba Quijana.

D. QUIOTE, cap. i.

El cura de su lugar era hombre sabio. Ditto, ditto.

Pero Maese Nicolas, que era el barbero del mismo pueblo, decia que ninguno igualaba al caballero del Febo. Ditto, ditto.

Era Calabres de nacion, y trataba con mucha humanidad á sus cautivos. D. QUIOTE, cap. xlv.

Don Antonio Moreno se llamaba el huésped de Don Quijote, y andaba buscando medios, &c.

Ditto, cap. lxii.

REMARK.—It may, therefore, be considered as a rule, that whenever the English imperfect tense may be expressed by the verb to be and the present participle of the same verb, or by the verbs used to, in the habit of, accustomed to, &c., preserving the sense of the phrase, it must be translated in Spanish by the imperfect tense.

But as the imperfect tense is frequently expressed in English by the auxiliary verb did, the scholar, before translating the principal verb, must ascertain whether did means at that time or then, expressing the action as entirely finished and completed, without requiring any other verb; or whether the verb following did may be rendered by to be and the present participle, as explained in the preceding paragraph. If the verb to which did is prefixed may be translated by the verb to be and the present participle, the verb must be translated by the imperfect tense in Spanish. But if the verb connected with did expresses an action entirely past, and that cannot be translated by to be and the present participle, without changing the meaning of the phrase, then it must be rendered by the preterit, N. 3, in Spanish; as,

Don Quixote did thank him for his good will, took a little sustenance, Sancho ate voraciously, and then both laid themselves down to sleep. Agradecióselo Don Quijote, comió algo, y Sancho mucho, y echáronse á dormir entrámbos. D. QUIOTE, cap. lix. pt. ii.

In the preceding example, the verbs took, ate, laid down, might be expressed by did take, did eat, did lay down; but not by was taking, eating, or laying down; the verb consequently must be translated in the preterit, N. 3, (as in the example,) and not in the imperfect tense.

RULE 41.—The imperfect tense of the subjunctive mood has three terminations, the first ending in ara or iera, N. 7; the second in aria, eria, or iria, N. 8; the third in ase or iese, N. 9.

1. The terminations ara or iera, ase or iese, ought to be used when the verb is governed by a conditional conjunction; and the verb that completes the sense of the sentence, (whether it be placed before or after the governing verb,) must be placed in the termination aria, eria, or iria, according to its conjugation; as,

If chance and fortune had not favored me, the world would have been deprived of this pleasure. Si el acaso y la fortuna no me ayudaran, el mundo quedaria falta de este gusto. D. QUIOTE, cap. ix.

2. When there is in English an inversion in the phrase, the sentence must be set first in the regular form, prefixing the corresponding conjunction to the verb; as,

Were it not, (if it were not,) because I do certainly know that all these inconveniences are annexed to the exercise of arms, I would lie still where I am, and die with pure vexation. Si no fuera, porque sé muy cierto que todas estas incomodidades estan anejas al ejercicio de las armas, aquí me dejaria morir de puro enojo. D. QUIOTE, cap. xv.

3. When the sentence begins without a conditional conjunction, the terminations ra, 7, or ria, 8, may be used; and the verb necessary to complete the sense, (should there be any,) must be placed in the termination ase or iese, according to its conjugation; as,

I would not like that princes and kings run themselves into such dangers. No querría (quisera) yo que los príncipes, y los reyes, se pusiesen en semejantes peligros.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxiv. pt. ii.

The termination ara or iera, is generally used in ejaculation; as,

Who could describe now the throbbings of my heart, while I remained there! ¡Quién pudiera decir ahora los sobresaltos que me dió el corazón, mientras allí estuve!

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxvii.

4. Two or more verbs in the imperfect tense of the subjunctive, governed by the same conjunction, or completing the sense of the same phrase, must be placed in the termination chosen for the first of them, whether ra, se, or ria; as,

The archbishop ordered one of his chaplains to go to the rector and inquire into the truth, and even to talk with the madman himself, and that if he should think that he was recovered, he might bring him away, and set him at liberty. El arzobispo mandó á un capellán suyo que se informase (informara) del rector si era verdad, y que así mismo hablase con el loco, y que si le pareciese que tenía juicio, le sacase y pusiese en libertad.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. i. pt. ii.

5. When the imperfect tense of the subjunctive mood is governed by a verb in any of the past tenses of the indicative, and the governing verb signifies to speak, to think, to believe, or any other of the like meaning, any of the three terminations may be used with the conjunction que; provided the verb to be placed in the subjunctive mood has, as its subject or nominative, any other person but the one speaking; as,

I said that he would come.	Yo decía que él	} viniera.
I did say that he would come.	Yo dije que él		} vendría.
I have said that he would come.	Yo he dicho que él		} viniese.
I had said that he would come.	Yo había dicho que él

But when the verb governed or subordinate, has the same subject or nominative as the leading or governing verb, only the termination ria is used; as,

It is not that, said Sancho, but because I would not have any secret rot in my keeping. No es eso, dijo Sancho, sino que yo no querría que se me pudriesen de guardadas.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xvii.

It must be observed, that although any of the terminations may be used with the above mentioned verbs, the termination ra generally indicates duty or obligation on the part of its subject, and the termination ria merely implies futurity or possibility; as,

The master told his servant to do it immediately. El amo dijo á su criado que lo hiciera inmediatamente.

The mistress promised that her servant would do it. El ama prometió que su criada lo haría.

REMARK.

The use of the Subjunctive Mood is fully explained in Lessons LXXVIII, (351.) LXXIX, (356.) LXXX, (362.) and LXXXI, (368.) which the scholar is advised frequently and attentively to study, in order to make himself perfectly well acquainted with the rules therein set forth.

RULE 42.—Will and would, shall and should, can and could, may and might, used as auxiliaries, point out the tense of the verb that follows them, which is the only one that must be translated. But when they are used as principal verbs, they are translated querer, deber, poder.

1. When the emphasis of the phrase lies on the verb that follows them, will and shall point out the future of the indicative, and shall and should sometimes the future of the subjunctive; as,

She will come to-morrow.	Ella vendrá mañana.
He shall do it to-day.	El lo hará hoy.
Should they write, please to let me know it.	Si ellos escribieren, sírcase V. avisármelo.

Obs. 38. Will means the free determination, or ready disposition to do a thing. Shall, in the first person, simply indicates and declares, in English, what will take place; in the second and third persons, it implies a promise, command, and determination; and in the interrogative sentences, permission or direction. In translating these two verbs, attention must be paid to these remarks.

Therefore, he will not do it may mean he is not willing to do it, or he will not be willing to do it, or he certainly shall not do it, according to the sense of the preceding sentences. This phrase in the first example must be translated by the present of the indicative of the verb querer—él no quiere hacerlo; in the second, will is to be placed in the future of the same verb—él no querrá hacerlo; and in the third, the auxiliary will is not translated, and the verb to do (hacer) is translated in the future—él no lo hará.

The same rule is to be observed with may and can, which may be translated by the present of the indicative or subjunctive of the verb *poder, or in the present of the subjunctive of the principal verb.

2. When will and would are not joined to any verb, they must be translated by querer, (to wish, to be willing, to desire, to like;) as,

Why do you not write to-day?	¿Porqué no escribe V. hoy?
Because I will not, (I wont.)	Porque no quiero, (no me da la gana.)
He begged his uncle to sign, but he would not.	El suplicó á su tío que firmara, pero él no quiso.

3. Will and would, though followed by a verb, are translated by querer, when they are used emphatically to express an absolute wish; as,

He will be obeyed without any excuse. El quiere ser obedecido sin excusa alguna.

They would have him go, and he was obliged to do it. Ellos quisieron que él fuera, y estuvo obligado á hacerlo.

4. Would denotes sometimes the repetition of an act, or a custom, or the habit of doing a thing, and then it is frequently rendered by soler, usar, acostumbrar, or by the verb that follows it, in all cases in the imperfect of the indicative; as,

In the summer the old man would sit at his cottage door, and draw letters in the sand for his darling. En el verano el viejo solía (acostumbraba) sentarse á la puerta de su choza y dibujaba letras en la arena para su querido; or, El viejo se sentaba á la puerta, &c.

5. Should, used for ought to, denoting duty or necessity of acting, is translated by deber, in the tense of the other verb in the English sentence, or in the imperfect tense of the subjunctive; as,

You should not do that, since you know it is wrong. V. no debe (debiera or debería) hacer eso, pues sabe que es malo.

If he wishes to do it, he should ask permission before. Si él desea hacer eso, él debe ántes (debiera or debería) pedir permiso.

6. Can and could, may and might, signifying possibility, are translated by poder, (to be able;) as,

You can speak to him whenever you please; but they may not take that liberty. V. puede hablarle siempre que quiera; pero ellos no pueden tomarse esa libertad.

If I could, I would write. Si yo pudiera, escribiría.

He might do it, if he pleased. El podría hacerlo, si quisiera.

7. The auxiliaries would, could, should, might, being followed by have and a past participle, must be translated by poder, querer, deber, in the imperfect tense of the indicative, or in the termination, ra, N. 7, or ria, N. 8, of the imperfect of the subjunctive, according to the sense of the phrase, when the emphasis is on any of the said auxiliaries, leaving the verb have in the present of the infinitive; but when the emphasis is not on them, but in to have, this is translated by haber in the corresponding tense, followed by the participle querido, podido, or debido; as,

He should have spoken to them in time; but he would not, and consequently he lost the best opportunity. El les debía (debiera or debería) haber hablado en tiempo; pero no quiso, y por consiguiente perdió la mejor oportunidad.

I could have seen them, but I did not know that they were in town. Yo hubiera podido verlos, pero no supe que estaban en la ciudad.

You could have written it.

V. podía haberle escrito.
V. pudiera (podría) haberle escrito.
V. había podido escribirle.
V. hubiera (habría) podido escribirle.

They should have paid it.

Ellos debían haberle pagado.
Ellos debieran (deberían) haberle pagado.
Ellos le habían debido pagar.
Ellos le hubieran (habrían) debido pagar.

REMARK.

The scholar is reminded carefully to examine and ascertain the meaning of the phrases containing will, would, could, &c., before translating them; for, as it has been explained, these verbs may or may not be translated, and placed in the indicative or in the subjunctive mood.

OF THE PARTICIPLE.

The Spanish past or passive participle, coming immediately after the verb haber, does not admit any change, (118;) as,

Let the stripes and bleeding stand for the stripes you have given him without cause; for if he wore out the leather of the shoes you paid for, you have torn the skin from his body.

Quédense los zapatos y las sangrias por los azotes, que sin culpa, le habeis dado, que si él rompió el cuero de los zapatos que vos pagasteis, vos le habeis rompido el de su cuerpo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. iv.

The passive participle, after the verbs ser and estar, changes its termination, like an adjective, according to the number and gender of the noun or pronoun it refers to. It does the same after tener, when it is used as an active verb; as,

I am Pasamonte, whose life is written by these fingers.

Yo soy Pasamonte, cuya vida esta escrita por estos pulgares.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxii.

I have written a letter to my wife.

Yo tengo escrita una carta á mi mujer. Ditto, cap. xxxvi. pt. ii.

The passive participle is often elegantly used at the beginning of a sentence, like the ablative absolute in Latin; as,

Don Quixote starting up, and trembling from head to foot, said.

Levantado en pié Don Quijote, y temblando de los piés á la cabeza, dijo.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxii. pt. ii.

Obs. 39. Words ending in ado or ido are participles, when they have the same meaning and government as the verbs from which they may be formed, having also a reference to time; otherwise they are adjectives and have a different signification; as,

The captain being informed of the danger, could avoid it. Advertido el capitán del peligro, pudo evitarle.

The cautious captain avoided the danger. El advertido capitán evitó el peligro.

Advertido, in the first example, is a past participle; in the second, an adjective.

There are some words in ado and ido, that have both an active and a passive signification, and may be used as verbal adjectives; as,

Tired, tiresome.	Cansado.
Measured, unassuming, prudent.	Medido.
Caused, provoking.	Ocasionado.

OF THE ADVERB.

The following quotations from Cervantes, corroborate the rules already laid down for the Adverb.

When an adverb modifies a verb, it is generally placed after the verb; when it modifies an adjective or another adverb, it is generally placed before, (106.) Except the adverbs of negation, as well as any other word expressing a negative, and when the adverbs are emphatically used, for then they are placed before the verb; as,

I confess that I was wrong, and did not speak correctly. Yo confieso que anduve mal, y no dije bien.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxiii. pt. ii.

As Horace did with so much elegance. Como tan elegantemente lo hizo Horacio.

Ditto, cap. xvi. pt. ii.

Nada, (nothing,) nadie or ninguno, (nobody,) nunca and jamás, (never,) when placed after the verb, require no or ni before it; as,

Camacho the rich, in order to show how little he resented or thought of the trick, desired that the entertainments might proceed. El rico Camacho por mostrar que no sentía la burla, ni la estimaba en nada, quiso que las fiestas pasasen adelante.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxi. pt. ii.

Two negatives make the phrase more elegant in Spanish; thus, No quiero nada, (I want nothing,) is more energetic than, nada quiero.

I say nothing, answered Sancho. No digo nada, respondió Sancho.

We are not at all in one another's debt. No nos debemos nada.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxii. pt. ii.

The conjunction but, preceded by a negative in the same sentence, must generally be translated sino, and sometimes mas que or mas de; as,

Sir, melancholy was not made for beasts but for men; and yet if men encourage melancholy too much, they become no better than beasts.

Señor, las tristezas no se hicieron para las bestias sino para los hombres; pero si los hombres las sienten demasiado, se vuelven bestias.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xi. pt. ii.

As if their profession (the military) was the office of a common porter, for which nothing else is wanting but good strength

Como si fuese su ejercicio (el de las armas) oficio de ganapanes para el cual no es menester mas de buenas fuerzas.

Ditto, cap. xxvii.

When two or more adverbs ending in mente, follow in succession in the same sentence, that termination is added to the last of them only, changing the others in the feminine termination, if they admit of it; as,

Cardenio heard these words very plainly and distinctly. Oyó estas razones Cardenio bien clara (claro) y distintamente.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xxxvi.

Nunca and jamás signify never, and are used separately or together; in the latter case, nunca must be placed before jamás, and thus they give greater energy to the phrase; as,

I shall never, never see them again. | Yo nunca jamás los volveré á ver.

Jamás is often used after siempre, (ever;) as, por siempre jamás, which means, for ever and ever.

No is sometimes used redundantly, to give more force to the sentence; as,

The mighty Homer did not write in Latin, because he was a Greek; nor Virgil in Greek, because he was a Roman. El grande Homero no escribió en latin, porque era Griego; ni Virgilio no escribió en griego, porque era Latino.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xvi. pt. ii.

OF THE PREPOSITION.

The government of the verbs through the prepositions is so varied, as to render it very difficult to explain and comprise it in a few rules adapted to the capacity of the younger classes of learners. The student, therefore, is requested to consult the "List of the Prepositions required by certain Verbs," &c., placed at the end of this part; and also a good dictionary, in which he will find the several meanings of the verbs in consequence of the prepositions that accompany them.

As the English prepositions for and by, may be translated into Spanish by para and por, the following rules and examples are laid down to assist the learner in the use of them.

PARA.

When for is used to denote the end or motive, the use of things, the relation or respect of one thing to another, it is generally translated para; as,
 The honor of the invention will be for him | El honor de la invención será para él.
 It has been a great loss for them. | Ha sido una gran pérdida para ellos.
 The letter was for my friend. | La carta era para mi amigo.

For, with verbs of motion, is translated para, and also when it refers to time; as,

Mr. I. G. sailed for Europe last week. | El señor I. G. salió para Europa la semana pasada.

We will leave it for to-morrow. | Lo dejaremos para mañana.

To, when denoting the end or motive of acting, and signifying for the purpose of, in order to, the use of, is translated para; as,

He went to settle his accounts with them, and to buy a new assortment for his store. | El fué para ajustar sus cuentas con ellos, y para comprar un nuevo surtido para su almacén.

I read to instruct myself. | Yo leo para instruirme.

Para is used to express capacity or incapacity, fitness or unfitness, inclination or disinclination, disposition or propensity; as,

He is not a man to undertake it. | No es hombre para emprenderlo.

He is fit for every thing. | Es hombre para todo.

That is fit for nothing. | Eso no es bueno para nada.

He is always inclined to play. | El siempre está para jugar.

In order that, considering, &c., may also be expressed by para; as,

She knows a great deal for her age. | Ella sabe mucho para su edad.

POR.

For, meaning by, through, for the sake of, by means of, in favor of or half of, in exchange of, &c., is translated por; as,

She obtained it through her brother. | Ella lo consiguió por su hermano.

Pardon your enemies for God's sake. | Perdonad á vuestros enemigos por amor de Dios.

He did it for his friend, (él lo hizo por su amigo). This phrase means, he did it for the sake, or instead of his friend. Should para be substituted for por, it would signify, he did it for the use, benefit, or advantage of, or merely to please his friend.

For, with reference to time, or price, is translated por; as,

He is gone into the country for a week. | El se ha ido al campo por una semana.

I paid five dollars for the hat. | Pagué cinco pesos por el sombrero.

Por, before the infinitive of a verb, indicates sometimes the same as without; at other times in order to, so as to, or to; and also a future action; as,

The letters are yet to be written. | Las cartas están por escribir.
 He did it not to be thought insensible. | Lo hizo para no pasar por insensible.
 The answer is about to come. | La respuesta está por venir.
 The house is not yet finished. | La casa está por acabar.

Por, between two nouns, or two verbs in the present of the infinitive, denotes the choice between two things, as,

If I am to choose between an emperor and other emperor, between a monarch and other monarch, I have the great Count of Lemos, at Naples. | Emperador por Emperador, y Monarca por Monarca, en Nápoles tengo al gran Conde de Lemos.
 D. QUIJOTE, Dedication, pt. ii.

Por is often prefixed to an adverb, and becomes an adverbial expression; as,
 On the top, por encima. | Underneath, por debajo.

Prepositions require the noun or pronoun governed by them to be in the objective case. Personal pronouns, governed by a preposition expressed, must be placed in the indirect objective case or complement: except the pronouns me and te, which, in conformity with the modern use, are placed in the nominative when they are governed by the preposition entre, (between;) as,

Judge whether it will be reasonable to lay his sufferings to me. | Ved si será razonable que de su pena se me dé á mí la culpa.

DON QUIJOTE, cap. xiv.

For your desire to know what is between us,—O'ermaster it as you may. | Reprimid cuanto os fuere posible el deseo de saber lo que ha pasado entre él y yo. HAMLET, act i,
 [translated by MORATIN

REMARK.

When an English verb is accompanied by, or ends in a preposition, as, She asks for the letter, he asked after you, they could not bring it about, the scholar must first ascertain whether the preposition constitutes a part of the verb, so as to make one single meaning with it, or whether it gives the verb a different signification or not: if the preposition with the verb have one single meaning, the preposition is not translated; if it gives the verb a different signification, it must be translated as directed in the dictionary. In the first of the above examples for makes a part of the verb pedir, and it is not translated, ella pide la carta. In the second it gives a different meaning to the verb to ask, and is translated, él pregunta por V. In the third it is not translated, because it is also a part of the verb, which in that case signifies conseguir; thus, ellos no pudieron conseguirlo.

They made a secret of it, but he at last found it out. | Hicieron secreto de ello; pero él al fin le descubrió.

As the grammatical order of the prepositions is frequently inverted in English, and in the colloquial style, the object of them is for shortness sake sometimes omitted; the scholar must take care to put such phrases in their proper order, and to supply the word or words wanting, as the translation of a sentence would be otherwise very incorrect. Examples:—

Be careful in selecting the persons you accompany yourself with. Invert the construction thus, Be careful in selecting the persons with whom you accompany yourself.—Tenga V. buen cuidado en la eleccion de las personas con quienes se acompañe Where do you come from? (from whence do you come?)—¿De donde viene V.? Where are you going to? (to what part are you going?)—¿Adonde va V.? Eyes were made to see with, (to see with them.)—Los ojos se hicieron para ver, or para ver con ellos.

OF THE CONJUNCTION.

The conjunction é is used instead of y, when the word coming after it begins with i or hi; as,

The authors of other nations conclude that we are barbarous and ignorant. Los autores extranjeros nos tienen por bárbaros é ignorantes.

Both mother and son were struck with the uncouth figure of Don Quixote. Madre é hijo quedaron suspensos de ver la extraña figura de Don Quijote. Ditto, cap. xviii. pt. ii.

U is employed instead of ó when the following word begins with o or ho; as,

This does not differ at all from any speech in the play of "The most prodigious Black Man," or other such. Esto no se distingue de una relacion de "El Negro mas prodigioso," ú otra semejante.

But they could not say whether it was a woman or a man who called them. CADALSO, Los Eruditos. Pero no podian decir, si era mujer ú hombre quien los llamaba.

ISLA, cartas.

Ni requires the verb in the plural; as, Neither I nor my master ever set eyes on her. Ni yo, ni mi amo la hemos visto jamas. D. QUIJOTE, cap. x. pt. ii.

OF THE INTERJECTION.

Alas! how much more agreeable will be the company of these rocks! ¡Ay desdichada! ¡y cuan mas agradable compañía harán estos riscos. Ditto, cap. xxviii.

Ah, Lucinda! Lucinda! take care what you do!.....Ha! treacherous Don Fernando, robber of my glory! ¡Ah, Lucinda! Lucinda! mira lo que haces!.....; Ah, traidor, Don Fernando, robador de mi gloria! Ditto, cap. xxvii.

O fatal star of my destiny! ¡O fatal estrella mia! Ditto, cap. xxvii.

Ah, ha! cried the curate, have we got giants too in the dance? ¡Ta, ta! dijo el cura, ¿jayanes hay en lo danza? Do. cap. xxi.

THE IRREGULAR VERBS.

A verb is called irregular when, in some of its persons, it either takes letters that are not in its radicals, or suppresses or changes them, or the termination of its respective conjugation; as tener, to have; tengo, I have; tuve, I had; tendré, I shall have: instead of teno, tené, teneré. Dar, to give; doy, I give; di, I gave: instead of do, de.

VERBS THAT, ON ACCOUNT OF THEIR PRONUNCIATION, REQUIRE A CHANGE IN THEIR RADICAL LETTERS.

1.	Verbs ending in	CAR	change the	C	into	QU	} When the first letter of the termination is E
2.	"	"	"	C	"	Z
3.	"	"	"	C	"	Z	} " " " O OR A
4.	"	"	"	G	"	J
5.	"	"	"	G	"	J	} " " " E
6.	"	"	"	QU	"	C
7.	"	"	"	QUIR	drop	U	} " " " E
8.	"	"	"	GAR	add	U
9.	"	"	"	ZAR	change	Z	C

Obs. 1 and 2. Verbs ending in ger and gir, are written at present by many learned persons with j instead of g, in all the tenses; thus, escojer, escojé, &c.

Obs. 3. Verbs ending in uir drop the u, when it is liquid, in the infinitive mood, as in seguir; but they retain it when it is fully sounded, as in arguir.

Obs. 4. In the following examples, explanatory of the preceding rules, only the first person of an irregular tense is laid down, as it is easy to form the rest. When only one person is irregular, it is followed by the regular one, after which the rest may be formed. Examples:—

MARCAR, marqué, marcaste, &c. Marque, &c.—VENGER, venzo, vences, &c. Venza, &c.—RESARCHIR, resarzo, resarces, &c. Resarzá, &c.—ESCOGER, escojo, escoges, &c. Escoja, &c.—ELEGIR, elijo, eliges, &c. Elija, &c.—DELINQUIR, delinco, delinques, &c. Delinca, &c.—SEGUIR, sigo, sigues, &c. Siga, &c.—PAGAR, pagué, pagaste, &c. Pague, &c.—ALCANZAR, alcancé, alcanzaste, &c. Alcance, &c.

Obs. 5. The verbs of the third conjugation ending in llir or ñir, suppress the i of the termination when it is immediately followed by o or e; as, engullir, to swallow; engulleron, they swallowed; reñir, to fight.

While our masters are fighting, we must fight also.

Mientras nuestros dueños riñeren, nosotros hemos de reñir también.

D. QUIJOTE, cap. xiv. pt. ii.

VERBS THAT ARE IRREGULAR IN THEIR RADICAL LETTERS.

The number of the Irregular Verbs in the Spanish language is upwards of five hundred and fifty; forty of which confine their irregularities to themselves, their compounds, and a few other verbs; the rest are arranged into several classes.

REMARK.—In the following collection of verbs, only the irregular tenses and persons are laid down, and printed in italics: the regular ones are in Roman characters. The tenses and persons omitted are formed in the regular way.

GENERAL RULES.

1. Verbs of the second and third conjugations that have a, e, or u for the last of their radical letters, change the i, by which the termination begins, into y, when said i is immediately followed by e or o; as

VERBS.	GERUND.	PRET. INDEF.	N. 3.
			Termination 3 p. sing. term.	3 p. pl. term.
Rad. letters.	IENDO.	IO.	IERON.
Caer , to fall,	ca	cayendo	cayó	cayeron
Leer , to read,	le	leyendo	leyó	leyeron
Atribuir , to attribute,	atribu	atribuyendo	atribuyó	atribuyeron

Obs. 6. The same change of i into y takes place in all the persons of the first, N. 7, and third, N. 9, terminations of the imperfect tense of the subjunctive, and in the future of the same mood; thus, Cayera, cayese, cayere.—Leyera, leyese, leyere.—Atribuyera, atribuyese, atribuyere.

Obs. 7. In the verbs in uir this change is made when the u is sounded, as in atribuir; but not when it is liquid, as in seguir.

2. Verbs ending in uir, when the u is sounded as in contribuir, (to contribute,) besides changing the i into y in the terminations beginning with io, ie, as explained in the preceding rule, add v immediately after the u in all the terminations beginning with o, e, or a; as,

INSTRUIR, to instruct.

A verb of the third conjugation. } Radical letters, instru
 } Termination, ir. (R)

GERUND, Instruyendo.—INDICATIVE PRESENT. 1 Instruyo, 2 instruyes, 3 instruye, 2 V. instruye. 1 Instruimos, 2 instruís, 3 instruyen, 2 VV. instruyen.—PRETERIT INDEFINITE. 1 Instruí, 2 instruiste, 3 instruyó, 2 V instruyó. 1 Instruimos, 2 instruisteis, 3 instruyeron, 2 VV. instruyeron.—IMPERATIVE. 1 Instruya yo, 2 instruye tú, 3 instruya él, 2 instruya V, 2 No instruyas tú. 1 Instruyamos nosotros, 2 instruid vosotros, 3 instruyan ellos, 2 instruyan VV, 2 No instruyáis.—SUBJUNCTIVE PRESENT. 1 Instruya, &c. IMPERFECT. 1st term., 1 Instruyera, &c. 2d term., 1 Instruiria, &c. 3d term., 1 Instruyese, &c. FUTURE. 1 Instruyere, &c.

3. Verbs ending in ACER, ECER, OCER, UCIR, take a z before the radical c, when the first letter of the termination is o or a; as,

CONOCER, to know.

A verb of the second conjugation. { Radical letters, conoc
Termination, er.

INDICATIVE PRESENT. 1 Conozco, 2 conoces, &c. SUBJUNCTIVE PRESENT. 1 Conozca, 2 conozcas, &c. IMPERATIVE. 1 Conozca yo, 2 conoce tú, 3 conozca él, 2 conozca V., 2 No conozcas, 1 conozcamos, 2 conoced, 3 conozcan, 2 conozcan VV., 2 No conozcais.

Except Hacer, Cocer, Torcer, and a few others, together with their compounds.

Obs. 8. Verbs ending in acer, &c., were formerly conjugated by changing the radical c into g, in the persons in which it was preceded by the z. Old people still do the same in some of the towns of Spain. Example: Y se reduzga á unidad, instead of reduzca—And it may be reduced to unity.—FR. LUIS DE LEON.

ANALOGY BETWEEN SOME OF THE TENSES.

1. When the first and second person singular of the indicative mood have the same irregularity, the third person singular and plural of it are likewise irregular; and the same irregularity takes place in the three persons singular and third plural of the present of the indicative mood, and of the imperative. See the verbs Pensar, Entender, Sentir.—Except Haber, Ser, Estar, Dar, Saber, Ir, and their compounds.

2. When only the first person of the indicative mood is irregular, the same irregularity is to be observed in all the persons of the subjunctive and of the imperative mood; excepting the second person singular and plural of the latter, and also the six verbs, Haber, Ser, &c.

3. When the gerund has any irregularity, then the third person singular and the third person plural of the preterit indefinite (N. 3) have the same irregularity; which is also found in the first termination, (N. 7,) third termination, (N. 8,) and in the future of the same mood. If these verbs drop the i of the termination in the third person plural of the preterit definite, they do the same also in the first and second terminations of the imperfect tense of the subjunctive, and in the future of the same mood. See the verbs Pedir, Sentir, &c.

4. The same analogy is found between the future of the indicative mood and the termination ria (N. 8) of the imperfect of the subjunctive mood.—Consult verbs Tener, Poder, &c.

Obs. 1. The compound verbs are not comprehended, when they have the same irregularity as the simple ones from which they are derived: as, componer, contraponer, deponer, disponer, imponer, oponer, proponer, &c., all of which are conjugated like poner.

Obs. 2. The verbs that admit some change for the sake of the sound, are marked with a 2, as negar, 2 niegue.

Obs. 3. The most general irregularities of the Spanish verbs, as it has been already stated, consist in their taking i, j, y, or ue, or i, instead of o, or e. To find, therefore, the infinitive mood, and the person and tense of such verbs, the scholar must first separate the regular termination, and then the letter or letters that do not belong to the radicals of such verbs: as in comienzo, muestras, sintió, condujeron, trajéran, construyesen, the terminations are o, as, ió, eron, éran, esen. The remaining letters are, comienz, muestr, sint, conduj, traj, construy. Add to these the regular terminations of the infinitive mood, and they will read comienzar, muestrar, sentir, conducir, traer, construir. Take off the i, j, and y, change the ue into o, and the i into e; add a c before the termination to those in ij, or uj; and they will be comenzar, mostrar, sentir, conducir, traer, construir. It must be observed that verbs that have a y before their termination, may be of the second or third conjugation; in consequence of which the terminations of both may be tried in order to find them out in the dictionary. Example: creyó, huyen; take off o, yen, and add the terminations, thus, creír, huir; the scholar will not find them, but he will find creer, huir.

Obs. 4. Verbs that have two participles are marked thus: Bendecir—2 Bendito, and the regular one is omitted.

Obs. 5. The irregular participles are set in italics after their verbs.

¶ The verbs of the first column are conjugated like those of the second, which must be consulted in their respective places.

MODELOS

CARTAS MERCANTILES Y FAMILIARES.

POR M. V. C.

INTRODUCCION.

Es muy necesario saber escribir bien una carta, porque ocurre casi diariamente, tanto para los asuntos de importancia, como para los de pura cortesía, ó mera diversion: y siendo las cartas una conversacion entre ausentes, deben tener fluidez, claridad, sencillez, y naturalidad á fin de decir á aquellas personas á quienes se las envian lo mismo que se les diria, si estuviesen presentes. Su estilo, por consiguiente, debe variar segun el objeto á que se contraen, la persona á quien se dirijen, y la que las escribe. Es preciso, pues, estudiar con atencion las reglas del estilo en las cartas; mas no siendo posible explicarlas en los estrechos límites de este Apéndice, se aconseja á los jóvenes estudiosos las aprendan en su respectiva lengua, (por ser las mismas en todas,) y por lo respectivo á la Castellana, hallarán excelentes modelos en las Cartas Familiares del P. Isla, en las Cartas Marruecas de Cadalso, en la Collecion de Cartas de varios autores Españoles, recogidas por Don Gregorio Mayáns; en las de Antonio Perez, y por lo respectivo á las antiguas, en el Centon Epistolario del Br. Fernan Gomez de Ciudad Real, &c., pues como dice el erudito ó ilustre autor español, Feijoo, "Los preceptos para escribir cartas pueden suplirse con la copia de buenos ejemplares." (Teatro Crítico, tomo 7, discurso 10.)

La curiosidad en cerrar las cartas, y la propiedad del sobrescrito, deben tambien cuidarse; pues una palabra mas, ó ménos, en la cubierta de un papel, da ó quita satisfaccion al que le recibe, y suele influir mucho en la suerte de lo que se solicita.

CARTAS MERCANTILES.

PROPUESTA PARA UNA CORRESPONDENCIA.

Señor Don A. B., }
N^o — } Nueva York á 8 de Febrero de 1848.

Muy Señor mio: deseando establecer en esa ciudad una correspondencia segura con un sujeto de probidad para las varias comisiones y encargos, que puedan ocurrirme en los asuntos de mi comercio; informado de las circunstancias y calidades, que concurren en V. me tomo la libertad de suplicarle se sirva aceptar el encargo de corresponsal mio, y de informarme de su resolución para mi gobierno.

El buen nombre, que la persona y casa de V. tienen en esta, me inducen igualmente á ofrecerle mis servicios para cuanto fuere de su agrado; y ora acepta V. mi proposición, ó no, apreciaré mucho se sirva honrarme con sus preceptos.

Dios guarde la vida de V. los muchos años que le desea su muy atento servidor.

CONTESTACION.

Sr. Dn. C. D., }
N^o — } N^o —, á — de — de 1848.

Muy Señor mio: el honor de ser corresponsal de una persona del crédito de V. no puede dejar de aceptarse con la mayor satisfacción. Yo desde luego le admito, dándole las mas sinceras gracias por esta prueba con que su confianza me distingue, y ofreciendo servirle con la puntualidad y honradez que me son propias.

Espero manifestar á V. la sinceridad de mis sentimientos luego que se sirva emplearme, segun propone: y me aprovecharé igualmente de sus ofertas, á que estoy muy reconocido.

Dios guarde á V. muchos años como le pide S. S. S.

CARTAS FAMILIARES.

Carta de Don Gregorio Mayáns al Dr. Don Assensio Sales sobre, el MODO DE RESPONDER.

Muy Señor mio, y mi Amigo: En el trato familiar solemos hablar con libertad, y con aquella confianza que merecen los amigos: pero por escrito suele ser peligroso explicarse con la misma claridad; porque permanece la memoria de lo que se escribe; y aunque el amigo sea fiel, tal vez no lo es el que hereda sus cartas, y con el tiempo paran estas en donde ménos se piensa. Por eso es muy prudente la duda de V. sobre el Modo con que uno debe portarse por escrito.

Hemos de distinguir el que pregunta del que responde. Aquel tiene mayor libertad; porque puede callar sin nota; ó hacer la pregunta con arte, del modo ménos ofensivo, y mas cauteloso. Si lo que se ha de preguntar tiene conexión con la ofensa, y leído no puede dejar de causarla; hemos de distinguir las preguntas á que no nos obliga la necesidad de las voluntarias. Las primeras son inexcusables, y así deben hacerse del modo mas cauto; esto es ménos circunstanciado, respecto de la inteligencia de otros, con quien no se trata. Las segundas deben evitarse cuanto sea posible. Hecha la pregunta, se ha de considerar, si conviene responder, ó no? Si es necesario, ó, si conviene responder, se puede hacer con palabras alusivas á la pregunta, callando la persona, ó el negocio de que se trata, y respondiendo en suposición del hecho; si bien este á veces es tal, que él mismo señala la persona, y el hecho, por mucho que se quiera ocultar: como se ve en las cartas de Ciceron á Atico. Si es peligroso responder absolutamente, debe callarse: y en casos de traición, entregarse la pregunta á quien convenga por no hacerse complice, ni aun disimulador en el delito de lesa Majestad.

Quando Don Joseph Antonio de Quiros salió de la prisión de la Inquisición, y me escribió, pedia la Caridad que yo le respondiese, y lo hice de modo, que habiéndole aprisionado de nuevo, se alabaron mucho mis respuestas, pues dije á aquel insigne Varon lo que le convenia, pensando lo que le podía suceder. Callar era contra la amistad, que siempre le habia yo profesado, y le debia; hablar pedia mucha prudencia.

Estoy leyendo, y apuntando los tres últimos libros de Dion Casio, que publicó en Roma en el año 1724 Nicolas Carminio Falcon, habiéndolos sacado de la Libreria Vaticana.

Usted me mande: y nuestro Señor guarde á Usted muchos años como deseo. Olivia á 6 de Junio de 1750.

B. L. M. de Usted,

Su mas seguro servidor, y amigo,
DON GREGORIO MAYÁNS, Y SICAR.

Al Dr. Don Assensio Sales.

Carta de Don Antonio Solís á Don Antonio Carnero, sobre asuntos familiares.

Señor y amigo mio: vamos al negocio, que es muy tarde para no decir lo que se viene á la pluma. La carta que vino en mi pliego se dió con la advertencia que V. previno, en cuanto á su seguridad.

Las vitelas han hecho ruido. Solo me han dicho que el San Vicente viene gordo, y será menester enflaquecerle de manera que parezca algo mas penitente; y que tenga los brazos levantados en accion de predicar el juicio final. V. vaya teniendo cuidado con que ya se piden gollerias, como si fueran vitelas; y se han de pagar como las miniaturas: ponga V. uno y otro en el libro de las partidas que se deben, por lo que pudiere suceder.

Espero, en respuesta del correo que viene, la censura de V. y del señor marques sobre lo que ha parecido mi libro en esas regiones del norte, que por acá continúan sus aplausos; aunque se habran vendido unos ciento y cincuenta tomos, pues en todo influye la falta de dinero y en Madrid hay pocos hombres que tengan dos reales de á ocho juntos.

He pagado enteramente á D. N., porque me tenia con cuidado el maestro de obras. A V. se debe la de la Nueva España y tengo por evidente que no se habria impreso si no fuera por el socorro de V.; porque la ayuda de costa todavia se está en el aire. Y así puede V. llamar suya la historia y las demas razones. A esta accion que ha hecho tanto ruido, de haber acompañado al Divinísimo nuestro rey, escribí estos dos sonetos, porque su Majestad se acordó de mi antigua vena. V. verá en ellos el trabajo que me han costado, por el que le costará el leerlos. A D. Martin tenemos ya con título de su Majestad, en que le nombra Corregidor general de los libros de estos reinos; y está en ánimo de ser tan conocido como Murcia de la Liana. Tiene cincuenta doblones de salario, y lo que produjeren las erratas. Pone desde luego á las órdenes de V. esta dignidad, habiendo conseguido el ser persona de muchos envidiosos.

Sírvase V. ponerme A. L. P. de mi señora Doña N., y quédese lo demas para otra ocasion. Guarde Dios á V. muchos años. Madrid, &c.

DON ANTONIO DE SOLÍS.

Carta del P. Jose Francisco de Isla á su hermana Doña Francisca de Isla y Lozada.

Vilagarcía, á 24 de Julio de 1758.

Mujer de tu marido: has dado en la manía, de algunas semanas á esta parte, de que te pierdo el respeto, sin que yo acierte á concebir como se puede perder lo que jamas se ha tenido. Pero tú eres una pequeña diablesa, y sabes mas que Merlin, por lo que te estimaré me comuniques este secreto, que puede importar para mas de dos ocasiones. Hallar una cosa ántes de perderse es habilidad que á cada paso la usan los ladrones; pero perderse lo que jamas se poseyó, no lo habia tenido por posible, hasta que tú me aseguras que es cosa evidente. Al fin, si te he perdido el respeto, fijaré cedulones en las esquinas de los corréos, (porque has de saber que los corréos tienen esquinas,) para que qualquiera persona que haya hallado un respeto que se perdió, acuda á tí, á quien pertenece, que se le pagará el hallazgo, y por lo que toca á mí, doy palabra de guardar tan bien el primero que te tenga, que no solo no se pueda perder, pero que ninguno me le pueda encontrar. No sabia que estoviese por prior de ese convento de S. Agustín el Mro. Ocampo. Es de los hombres sabios, religiosos, honrados y atentos que he conocido. Dice bien: tratéle mucho en Pamplona, y siempre le he profesado singular estimacion. La he hecho muy grande de la memoria con que me honra, y de la amistad que me conserva. Te estimaré mucho, así á tí, como á Nicolas, que le correspondais en vuestro nombre y en el mio con el mas fino aprecio, tratándole con toda confianza, y sirviéndole en quanto se le ofrezca. Si ántes de ahora hubiera sabido su destino, ántes de ahora os habria hecho esta recomendacion; porque tengo singular complacencia en que los hombres particulares sean particularmente distinguidos. Si todos fueran como el Rmo. Ocampo, no habria quejas, porque no habria Gerundios. Díle cuanto quisieres de mi parto, en la inteligencia de que en nada te excederás. Ahora vete á pasear, que yo voy á escribir otras cartas.

Señora, B. T. P. (con un cardo) el mas atento capellan de Tí.

Ella.

YO.

Carta de Lusinda á Cardenio.

Señor: La palabra que Don Fernando os dió de hablar á vuestro padre para que hablase al mio, la ha cumplido mucho mas en su gusto que en vuestro provecho. Sabed, señor, que él me ha pedido por esposa, y mi padre, llevado de la ventaja que el piensa que Don Fernando os hace, ha venido en lo que quiere con tantas veras, que de aquí á dos dias se ha de hacer el desposorio, tan secreto y tan á solas que solo han de ser testigos los Cielos y alguna gente de casa. Cual yo quedo, imaginadlo: si os cumple venir, vedlo, y si os quiero bien ó no el suceso deste negocio os lo dará á entender. A Dios plega que esta llegue á vuestras manos ántes que la mia se vea en condicion de juntarse con la de quien tan mal sabe guardar la fe que promete.

LUSINDA.

(Don Quijote, ch. XXVII, p. ii.)

Carta de Don Carlos á Doña Francisca.

Bien mio: si no consigo hablar con Usted, haré lo posible para que llegue á sus manos esta carta. Apenas me separé de Usted, encontré en la posada al que yo llamaba mi enemigo; y al verle, no sé como no espiré de dolor. Me mandó que saliera inmediatamente de la ciudad, y fué preciso obedecerle. Yo me llamo Don Carlos, no Don Felix.—Don Diego es mi tio. Viva Usted dichosa, y olvide para siempre á su infeliz amigo.

CARLOS DE URBINA.

(Moratin—El Si de las Niñas, Act. III, sc. xii.)

Carta de Don Quijote de la Mancha á Sancho Panza, gobernador de la insula Barataria.

“ Cuando esperaba oír nuevas de tus descuidos é impertinencias, Sancho amigo, las oí de tus discreciones, de que dí por ello gracias particulares al Cielo, el cual del estércoel sabe levantar los pobres, y de los tontos hacer discretos. Dícenme que gobiernas como si fueses hombre, y que eres hombre como si fueses bestia, según es la humildad con que te tratas: y quiero que adviertas, Sancho, que muchas veces conviene y es necesario por la autoridad del oficio, ir contra la humildad del corazón, porque el buen adorno de la persona que está puesta en graves cargos, ha de ser conforme á lo que ellos piden, y no á la medida de lo que su humilde condicion la inclina. Vístete bien, que un palo compuesto no parece palo; no digo que traigas dijés, ni galas, ni que siendo Juez te vistas como soldado, sino que te adornes con el hábito que tu oficio requiere, con tal que sea limpio y bien compuesto. Para ganar la voluntad del pueblo que gobiernas, entre otras has de hacer dos cosas: la una ser bien criado con todos, aunque esto ya otra vez te lo he dicho, y la otra procurar la abundancia de los mantenimientos, que no hay cosa que mas fatigue el corazón de los pobres que la hambre y la carestía.

“ No hagas muchas pragmáticas, y si las hicieres procura que sean buenas, y sobre todo que se guarden y cumplan, que las pragmáticas que no se guardan, lo mismo es que si no lo fuesen, ántes dan á entender que el Príncipe que tuvo discrecion y autoridad para hacerlas, no tuvo valor para hacer que se guardasen: y las leyes que atemorizan y no se ejecutan, vienen á ser como la viga, rey de las ranas, que al principio las espantó, y con el tiempo la menospreciaron y se subieron sobre ella. Se padre de las virtudes, y padrastro de los vicios. No seas siempre riguroso, ni siempre blando, y escoge el medio entre estos dos extremos, que en esto está el punto de la discrecion. Visita las cárceles, las carnicerías y las plazas, que la presencia del Gobernador en lugares tales es de mucha importancia. Consuela á los presos que esperan la brevedad de su despacho. Se coco á los carniceros, que por entónces igualan los pesos, y se espantajo á las plaseras por la misma razon. No te muestres (aunque por ventura los seas, lo cual yo no creo) codicioso, mujeriego, ni gloton, porque en sabiendo el pueblo y los que te tratan tu inclinacion determinada, por allí te darán batería hasta derribarte en el profundo de la perdicion. Mira y remira, pasa y repasa los consejos y documentos que te dí por escrito ántes que de aquí partieses á tu gobierno, y verás como hallas en ellos, si los guardas, una ayuda de costa que te sobreleve los trabajos y dificultades que á cada paso á los Gobernadores se les ofrecen. Escribe á tus señores, y muéstrales agradecido, que la ingratitude es hija de la soberbia y uno de los mayores pecados que se sabe, y la persona que es agradecida á los que bien le han hecho, da indicio que tambien lo será á Dios, que tantos bienes le hizo y de continuo le hace.

“ La Señora Duquesa despachó un propio con tu vestido y otro presente á tu mujer Teresa Panza: por momentos esperamos respuesta. Yo he estado un poco mal dispuesto de un cierto gateamiento, que me sucedió no muy á cuento de mis narices; pero no fué nada, que si hay encantadores que me maltraten, tambien los hay que me defiendan. Avisame si el mayordomo que está contigo tuvo que ver en las acciones de la Trifaldi, como tú sospechaste, y de todo lo que te sucediere me irás dando aviso, pues es tan corto el camino, cuanto mas que yo pienso dejar presto esta vida ociosa en que estoy, pues no nací para ella. Un negocio se me ha ofrecido, que creo que me ha de poner en desgracia de estos señores; pero aunque se me da mucho, no se me da nada, pues en fin, en fin, tengo de cumplir ántes con mi profesion que con su gusto, conforme á lo que suele decirse; amicus Plato; sed magis amica veritas. Dígoteste este latin, porque me doy á entender que despues que eres Gobernador le habrás aprendido. Y á Dios, el cual te guarde de que ninguno te tenga lástima.

Tu amigo,
DON QUIJOTE DE LA MANCHA.”
(Ch. li., p. ii.)

ESQUELAS.

M. V.— (el Sr., la Sra., or la Srta. A) agradecerá mucho que el Señor N. (la Señora or Señorita B.) le (la) favorezca, (honre,) con su compañía el lunes 8 del corriente despues de las 7 de la tarde.

CEREMONIAL DE LAS CARTAS.

Por ceremonial se entiende el título de cortesía que se da á alguno, como Usted, Señoría, &c., y también el uso de ciertas formulas á que está reducida la civilidad. La manera mas usual de poner los sobrescritos es la siguiente:

A Don A. B. — del comercio de — N.

A Don C. D. — en — F.

A mi Sra. Da. M. V. en — M.

Don es el título distintivo de la nobleza de sangre en España, bien que en estos últimos tiempos se ha prodigado á toda gente decente; por lo mismo las nuevas Repúblicas le han excluido enteramente, y usan solo los nombres Señor y Señora.

Al Señor Francisco P. Santander, Presidente de la República de Colombia, &c.

Con todo, la costumbre hace que la mayor parte de las personas continuen usando del Don. Por esto, y para evitar faltas, que podrian considerarse de respeto, será mejor usarle cuando se empiece una correspondencia, ó imitar el ceremonial que se observe en la contestacion, y conforme á él usar, ó no, del Don.

Lo mismo hay que advertir acerca de la frase B. L. M. que muchos omiten en el dia, acabando sus cartas simplemente con S. S. S. ó Su amigo y servidor, &c.

CRITICAL OPINIONS ON
M. OLLENDORFF'S METHOD OF LEARNING
THE FRENCH, GERMAN, AND ITALIAN LANGUAGES.

In an article in the "Methodist Quarterly Review," entitled Modes of Teaching Languages, after describing the various modes of teaching, it goes on to state:—

"Some ten years ago, it seems, Captain Basil Hall, of famous memory, first found out how to learn German. He had tried it again and again, but always found it impracticable until he stumbled on Herr OLLENDORFF, who was teaching German at the time in Paris, and who led him along not by the nose, but by the mouth, most gently and delectably, into a sufficient knowledge of that noblest of modern tongues. As the captain has always been distinguished for his gratitude, he repaid the skilful teacher a hundredfold, by a puff in 'Schloss Hainfeld,' that made him at once a man of notoriety and fortune.

"After six months of close application, I can venture to pronounce, that by Mr. Ollendorff's method alone, so far as I have been able to understand the subject, can this very difficult, but very charming language be taught without confusion. By it the scholar advances step by step, understands clearly and thoroughly everything he reads, and as he goes on, he becomes sensible that all he learns he retains, and all that he retains is useful and practically applicable. At the same time, he scarcely knows how he got hold of it, so slightly marked are the shades of daily progression; and so gentle is the rise, that he feels no unpleasant fatigue on the journey. Of course, the student is called upon to exert no small degree of patient application, and he must consent to devote a considerable portion of his time to this pursuit; but he will have the encouraging conviction, that every particle of effort is well bestowed."

"Everybody in Paris began to learn German a la mode d'Ollendorff, and in all German towns you might find Englishmen and Frenchmen thumbing the 'New Method,' and repeating its thousand phrases with commendable perseverance. In 1838 the system was introduced into England by the publication of the 'New Method of learning to read, write, and speak a Language in Six Months, for the Use of Schools and Private Teachers;' and although the complete work extended to three octavo volumes, and was sold at an enormous price,* it soon acquired a great circulation. We have before us the fourth edition. Nor was the reputation of the work confined to Europe: many copies were imported into this country, and of late the demand has been so great, that an American edition has been brought out in excellent style by the Messrs Appleton's, with the addition of a clear 'Systematic Outline of German Grammar,' prepared by Mr. Adler, of the University of New-York. Nor has this success been by any means undeserved; the book certainly goes further in smoothing the rugged road to German than any other book extant, and that too, not by attempting to dispense with the industry of the pupil, but by making all his industry profitable.

"It takes all that is good in the Hamiltonian method, by giving the words to be used at once to the student, and not sending him to the dictionary to hunt them out; and it involves Jacotot's best principle of fixing the forms of the language by constant repetition, and supplying grammatical principles only as they are required. These are its chief excellences, and they are essential to any good system. The book especially with Mr. Adler's appendix, is infinitely better adapted for use as an introduction to the German language than any other that we know of, and we hope it will obtain a wide circulation."

* Teaching is generally worse paid than any other kind of labour: but it seems that when any particular teacher becomes the rage, he takes revenge on the public, and 'puts money in his purse.' We see from an advertisement at the end of Herr Ollendorff's second volume, that he teaches German in London at the pleasant price of £12 19s. sterling per quarter!"

New-Orleans Commercial Times.

"Mr. OLLENDORFF's new method of teaching languages—a method founded upon an analytical system, which simplifies and connects information, and proceeds by gradations from the easy to the difficult—has found more favour among teachers than any previous system. It has been applied with the utmost success, and has elicited the approbation of the best minds in the country. The system is one which it requires the patient study of a German to elaborate, but when once framed, its results are practical, complete, and speedy of attainment. We have no doubt that an intelligent person will master the intricacies of the French tongue, by the assistance of this work in half the time it would require to wade through the interminable exercises of Wanostrocht and Levisan."

CRITICAL OPINIONS ON OLLENDORFF'S METHOD OF LEARNING FRENCH, &c. continued

New-York Commercial Advertiser.

"NEW METHOD OF LEARNING THE FRENCH LANGUAGE.—This grammar it is thought, must supersede all others now used for instruction in the French language. Its conception and arrangement are admirable,—the work evidently of a mind familiar with the deficiencies of the systems, the place of which it is designed to supply. In all the works of the kind that have fallen under our notice, there has been so much left unexplained or obscure, and so many things have been omitted—trifles, perhaps, in the estimation of the author, but the cause of great embarrassment to the learner—that they have been comparatively valueless as self-instructors. The student, deceived by their specious pretensions, has not proceeded far before he has felt himself in a condition similar to that of a mariner who should put out to sea without a compass to direct him. He has encountered difficulty after difficulty, to which his grammar afforded no clue; when, disappointed and discouraged, he has either abandoned the study in disgust, or if his means permitted, has resorted to a teacher to accomplish what it was not in his power to effect by the aid of his 'self-instructor.'

"Ollendorff has passed his roller over the whole field of French instruction, and the rugged inequalities formerly to be encountered no longer discourage the learner. What were the difficulties of the language, are here mastered in succession; and the only surprise of the student, as he passes from lesson to lesson, is, that he meets none of these 'lions in the way.'

"The value of the work has been greatly enhanced by a careful revision, and the addition of an appendix containing matter essential to its completeness either as a book for the use of teachers or for self-instruction.

Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

"By Ollendorff's method, and its general use, applied to both the dead and living languages, we hope this reproach upon our country's character for elegant scholarship will be wiped away when by reasonable application, a person of but ordinary attainments, and quickness of perception, can easily acquire another tongue, it is a shame not to do so, and nothing will more essentially aid him, whether he turn his attention to the German, French, or Italian, than Ollendorff's system."

From Whig Review.

"Ollendorff's works on the German, French, and Italian, have met with marked approbation from those who are critical judges, and his system is pronounced 'the best, the only one of the kind for all who desire a practical knowledge of the language.'

Catholic Magazine.

"The elementary works of Ollendorff, have met with the most ample encouragement and success in England and so far as they have been tested, in America also; and in both countries the use of them has become daily more extensive.

"The distinguished feature in Ollendorff's method of imparting a knowledge of the language is, that it follows that of nature herself."

Extract from M. Ollendorff's Preface.

"My system of acquiring a living language is founded on the principle, that each question nearly contains the answer which one ought or which one wishes to make to it. The slight difference between the question and the answer is always explained before the question: so that the learner does not find it in the least difficult, either to answer it, or to make similar questions for himself. Again, the question containing the same words as the answer, as soon as the master pronounces it, it strikes the pupil's ear, and is therefore easily reproduced by his speaking organs. This principle is so evident, that it is impossible to open the book without being struck by it.

"Neither the professor nor the pupils lose an instant of time. When the professor reads the lesson, the pupil answers; when he examines the lesson written by the pupil he speaks again, and the pupil answers; also when he examines the exercise which the pupil has translated, he speaks and the pupil answers: thus both are, as it were, continually kept in exercise.

"The phrases are so arranged that, from the beginning to the end of the method, the pupil's curiosity is excited by the want of a word or an expression: this word or expression is always given in the following lesson, but in such a manner as to create a desire for others that render the phrase still more complete. Hence, from one end of the book to the other, the pupil's attention is continually kept alive, till at last he has acquired a thorough knowledge of the language which he studies.

THE WHOLE PRECEDED BY A PRACTICAL AND COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM OF FRENCH PRONUNCIATION.

BY GABRIEL SURENNE, F. A. S. E.
French Teacher in Edinburgh; Corresponding Member of the French Grammatical Society of Paris; Lecturer on Military History in the Scottish Naval and Military Academy; and author of several works on Education.

Reprinted from a duplicate cast of the stereotype plates of the last Edinburgh edition. One stout volume, 12mo., of nearly 900 pages. Price $1 50.

This new Pronouncing French Dictionary will be found to be the most complete that has yet appeared. It is admirably adapted for the purposes of education, as well as reference for the French scholar. Although convenient sized, and sold at a low price, it contains every word in use in the language.

The Preface of the Author (here inserted) explains more fully the nature of the compilation.
AUTHOR'S PREFACE.

"No French Pronouncing Dictionary having as yet appeared in the English field of French Education, the public are now presented with one, the nature and compass of which will give an idea of the numerous and laborious investigations made by the Author, to render the present work useful and acceptable.

"It is now upwards of six years since this work was undertaken, and the resolution of bringing it to light, arose from a diversity of opinion in Pronunciation, which he discovered long ago in the various Dictionaries and Grammars made use of by him in preparing his former course of Lectures on French and English Comparative Philology.

"In the course of his labors, had the Author found but little difference among French writers, probably no criticism would have appeared in the present work; but as he went along, his attention was arrested by so many opposite views in the mode of sounding letters and words, that nothing short of a full investigation could satisfy him. The result of his investigations is embodied in the Dictionary, and hence the origin of the critical remarks with which it abounds: the nature and extent of which, of themselves, would form a volume conveying much solid instruction, as well as offering a sad picture of the uncertainties of French Pronunciation, of which nine-tenths perhaps of the Author's countrymen are not aware. Even upon the mere sounds of o, there are many conflicting opinions, and the vacillating pen of Lalande, the last writer upon Parisian pronunciation, by whom o is represented sometimes by oa, and sometimes by o, has increased the perplexity in no small degree.

"The method employed by the Author for representing the sounds of words, is intended to meet the English eye; and he has been careful to make use of none but genuine French letters, that the reader may not be deceived, nor induced to follow a vicious system of articulation.

"As to the pronunciation of Foreign Historical and Geographical names, it is laid down in the same manner as if a Frenchman at Paris were reading aloud; in this case nothing would be left to him but to Frenchify every proper name, with the exception of a few living Authors.

"In ending this part of the Preface, it is of importance to observe that no syllable in this work is invested with the syllabical accent, because, as yet, excepting two or three Grammarians along with the Author, no writer in France, nor even the Academy itself, has thought proper to enforce this part of delivery, how unfortunately neglected.

"The Phraseology, forming the second essential part of this Dictionary, is based on that of the Academy, the sole and legitimate authority in France; and every effort of the Author has been so directed, as to render it both copious and practical. With this view, an improved method of elucidating new meanings, by employing parentheses, has been introduced, and it is hoped that the utility and benefits resulting from this improvement will not fail to be duly appreciated.

"Another novelty to which the Author may lay claim, is the placing of Historical and Geographical names below each page; and, by this arrangement, the facility of being acquainted with their definition and pronunciation at a single glance, will be found of no small advantage. As to the English or second part of this Dictionary, the reader will find it to consist of a copious vocabulary of terms, with their pronunciation, according to the system of Walker. The various meanings of the words are translated into French; and when the expressions happen to be substantives, the French gender is pointed out by means of proper signs.

"Lastly, that competent judges may be aware of the authorities on which the pronunciation and critical remarks pervading this Dictionary are founded, the titles and dates of the works which have been consulted, with brief reflections on their professed object, will be found in the Introduction following the Preface.

NEW MODERN FRENCH READER.

MORCEAUX CHOISIES DES AUTEURS MODERNES,

A LA USAGE DE LA JEUNESSE ;

With a Vocabulary of the New and Difficult Words and Idiomatic Phrases adopted in Modern French Literature.

By F. ROWAN.

Edited by J. L. JEWETT, editor of Ollendorff's French System.

1 vol. 12mo.

The chief object of the present volume is to offer the means of making the youth acquainted with the French Language, as it is spoken in the present day, and as it is presented in the works of the modern authors of France, without the risk of sullyng the mind of the young reader, by an introduction to such scenes and principles, as but too often disgrace the pages of writers who would be an honor to humanity, were their moral qualities but equal to their genius.

The second is to facilitate the task of the teacher, by endeavoring to render the work attractive in the eyes of the pupil; and such selections have therefore been made, as will, it is hoped, be interesting and entertaining to the young reader, while at the same time, they will prove worthy specimens of the peculiar style of their respective authors, and sufficiently demonstrate the great idiomatic revolution which has taken place in the French Language, within the last quarter of a century.

The American edition of the work is rendered still more valuable and interesting by the addition of extracts from the writings of Sismondi and Mignet, modern historians of distinguished merit. The vocabulary of new and difficult words and idiomatic phrases is also more conveniently arranged for reference, and considerably enlarged; while the whole has undergone thorough revision, with a view to accuracy in every particular; and the orthography has been made to conform to that of the Dictionary of the Academy and the usage of modern writers.

List of Authors.—Alex. Dumas, Alex. de Tocqueville, Alfred de Vigny, Alph. Karr, Aug. Thierry, Bignon, Capetigne, De Balzac, De Lamartine, E. Souvestre, Eugène Sue, F. Soulié, Guizot, Gust. de Beaumont, Jules Janin, Leon Goslan, D'Aubigné, Mérimée, Michelet, Salvandy, Lavallée, Thiers, Victor Hugo, Villemain, Sismondi, Mignet.

"We have examined this book with great interest, and can confidently recommend it to students and teachers of the French language, as better adapted to the purposes of an elementary reading-book than any other with which we are acquainted. It is made up of fourteen complete dramas, taken from the works of the best and purest writers, among which are the great names of Corneille, Racine, Molière, and Piron. The pieces are systematically arranged in progressive order, and the idiomatic difficulties of the language are fully and clearly explained in the notes. To those who are desirous of speaking French this book is invaluable, as the conversational and idiomatic phrases, so indispensable to this accomplishment, are met with on every page; and to those who wish to cultivate their taste, and to obtain a knowledge not only of the French language, but of the writings of its most eminent dramatists, this volume will supply the place of voluminous collections not easy to be obtained. Its typographical accuracy and appearance has seldom been equalled in any French book that has heretofore issued from the press of this country."—Cour. & Enquirer.

"This book is made up of pieces of progressive difficulty, as exercises in the study of French. We have first a Proverb or two in the simplest style, with foot-notes explanatory of idiomatic phrases; then a couple of Berquin's pieces, intended for learners; then some half dozen of Scribe's popular dramas, full of action, and exhibiting many peculiarities of French manners and language; Molière's Misanthrope; Voltaire's Mérope; Racine's Athalie; and, lastly, the Comédie of Corneille—all entire; which is, certainly, an improvement on all other French reading-books, the fragmentary style of which has often vexed us. The whole appears to us admirably adapted for its purpose."—Christian Examiner.

ACCOMPANIMENT TO OLLENDORFF'S GERMAN GRAMMAR.

D. Appleton & Co. Publish

A PROGRESSIVE GERMAN READER

PREPARED WITH REFERENCE TO

OLLENDORFF'S GERMAN GRAMMAR,

WITH COPIOUS NOTES AND A VOCABULARY.

BY G. J. ADLER,

Professor of the German Language and Literature in the University of the City of N. Y.

One neat Volume, 12mo. $1.

The favourable reception which Ollendorff's German Grammar has received from the American public, has induced the Publishers and the Editor to comply with the very general demand for a German Reader.

Complaints, more or less loud, have been made both by teacher and learner, against most of the Readers heretofore offered to the public in this country, as well as in England and Germany. Books of this kind now in the market, may be reduced to two classes: 1st. Selections from the German Classics, or Elegant Extracts, corresponding somewhat to our English Readers. Of these, two deserve special notice, viz. GEORGE MUEHL'S PROSE ANTHOLOGY, (Carlsruhe and London, 1839,) and in this country, FOLLEN'S GERMAN READER. The objections to the former are, that it contains no poems, and hence lacks an essential element of an introduction to German Literature, and presents too little variety to the learner; it has, moreover, no vocabulary, and the most difficult passages are often left unnoticed in the annotations. The latter is, as it regards the variety and the good taste exhibited in its matter, far superior to any other similar work, and has for many years been almost the only Reader in use among us. To learners not classically educated, however, (and to many that are,) the pieces near the beginning are by far too difficult, and the assistance too scanty. The arrangement is not progressive, so that pieces near the end of the book are much easier than many in the beginning or middle.

2d. The second class of Readers are such as profess to facilitate the business of reading. They are generally based on the Hamiltonian method, i. e., the pieces are accompanied with translations, either interlinear and literal, or free and opposite. The difficulty with the books of this class is, that they leave the learner where they found him, unable by himself to account for the grammatical construction of a sentence; and when he lays aside the book to take up another, he finds that it is one thing to read by the aid of a translation and quite another to read understandingly. The principal books of this class are Zimmer's German Teacher, (Heidelberg and London, 1839,) Gund's Literary Companion, (Frankfort, 1841,) better in its selections than the first, and Bokum's German Reader, (Philadelphia.)

The plan of this German Reader is as follows, viz.:

1. The pieces are both prose and poetry, selected from the best authors, and are so arranged as to present sufficient variety to keep alive the interest of the scholar.
2. It is progressive in its nature, the pieces being at first very short and easy, and increasing in difficulty and length as the learner advances.
3. At the bottom of the page constant references to the Grammar are made, the difficult passages are explained and rendered. To encourage the first attempt of the learner as much as possible, the twenty-one pieces of the first section are analyzed, and all the necessary words given at the bottom of the page. The notes, which at first are very abundant, diminish as the learner advances.
4. It contains five sections. The first contains easy pieces, chiefly in prose, with all the words necessary for translating them; the second, short pieces in prose and poetry alternately, with copious notes and renderings; the third, short popular tales of GRIMM and others; the fourth, select ballads and other poems from BUERGER, GOETHE, SCHILLER, UHLAND, SCHWAB, CHAMISSO &c.; the fifth, prose extracts from the first classics.
5. At the end is added a VOCABULARY of all the words occurring in the book.

CRESTOMAZIA ITALIANA:

A COLLECTION OF

SELECTED PIECES IN ITALIAN PROSE.

DESIGNED AS A

CLASS READING-BOOK FOR BEGINNERS

IN THE STUDY OF

THE ITALIAN LANGUAGE.

By E. FELIX FORESTI, LL. D.,

PROFESSOR OF THE ITALIAN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE IN COLUMBIA COLLEGE AND IN THE UNIVERSITY OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

One neat Volume, 12mo. Price $1.

PREFACE.—This volume is intended as a reading-book for those who are commencing the study of the Italian language; and the Grecism of its title—CRESTOMAZIA ITALIANA—sufficiently indicates that it contains a selection of pleasing and useful pieces of Italian prose, taken from the best writers.

In its compilation, the aim has been more particularly to engage the mind and enlist the feelings of the student; for to read without sympathy, is to acquire a distaste for learning—to march without making progress. For this reason, principally, preference has been given to modern authors, most of whom are still living. It is not meant, by so doing, to dispute the universally acknowledged merit of the ancient Italian writers registered in the classic catalogue approved by the despotic dictatorship of the Academy of the Crusca. They are unquestionably masters in purity of language and style; but the subjects upon which they wrote are not the best calculated to inspire with sympathy and interest the young—especially the young American—mind. On the contrary, modern authors, influenced by the existing principles relative to social improvement, and by a philosophical criticism far superior to that of the ancients, wrote in Italy, as elsewhere, with more depth of thought, freshness and vigour of style, and in a tone and spirit more in accordance with the opinions and taste of the present time; and it is quite probable their writings will be more relished by the readers of to-day.

The selections contained in this volume have been made from the works of eminent men, whose fame rests upon an authority of far more weight and power than that of the Crusca—the united public voice of their native country.

The Italian, owing to the freedom of its construction, is not so grammatically simple as the French; it is, besides, exceedingly rich in idioms: to facilitate, therefore, the progress of the student, in the rendering of the most difficult idiomatic forms or phrases, a glossary has been subjoined to each particular selection.

ARNOLD'S GREEK AND LATIN SERIES.—The publication of this valuable collection of classical school books may be regarded as the presage of better things in respect to the mode of teaching and acquiring languages. Heretofore boys have been condemned to the drudgery of going over Latin and Greek Grammar without the remotest conception of the value of what they were learning, and every day becoming more and more disgusted with the dry and unmeaning task; but now, by Mr. Arnold's admirable method—substantially the same with that of Ollendorff—the moment they take up the study of Latin or Greek, they begin to learn sentences, to acquire ideas, to see how the Romans and Greeks expressed themselves, how their mode of expression differed from ours, and by degrees they lay up a stock of knowledge which is utterly astonishing to those who have dragged on month after month in the old-fashioned, dry, and tedious way of learning languages.

Mr. Arnold, in fact, has had the good sense to adopt the system of nature. A child learns his own language by imitating what he hears, and constantly repeating it till it is fastened in the memory; in the same way Mr. A. puts the pupil immediately to work at Exercises in Latin and Greek, involving the elementary principles of the language—words are supplied—the mode of putting them together is told the pupil—he is shown how the ancients expressed their ideas; and then, by repeating these things again and again—iterum iterumque—the docile pupil has them indelibly impressed upon his memory and rooted in his understanding.

The American editor is a thorough classical scholar, and has been a practical teacher for years in this city. He has devoted the utmost care to a complete revision of Mr. Arnold's works, has corrected several errors of inadvertence or otherwise, has rearranged and improved various matters in the early volumes of the series, and has attended most diligently to the accurate printing and mechanical execution of the whole. We anticipate most confidently the speedy adoption of these works in our schools and colleges.—Cour. & Eng.

Arnold's Series of Classical Works has attained a circulation almost unparalleled in England being introduced into nearly all the great Public Schools and leading Educational Institutions. They are also very highly recommended by some of the best American Scholars, for introduction into the Classical Schools of the United States. They are already used in the University of the City of New-York, Rutgers' Female Institute, N. Y.; Union College, Schenectady; Mt. St. Mary's College, Md.; Yale College, New-Haven; and numerous large schools throughout the States.

ARNOLD'S CLASSICAL SERIES.

OPINIONS OF SCHOLARS.

PRINCETON, December 3, 1846.

GENTLEMEN.—In reply to your letter, I have to say that I can, from the most satisfactory experience, bear testimony to the excellence of your series of Text Books for Schools. I am in the daily use of Arnold's Latin and Greek Exercises, and consider them decidedly superior to any other Elementary Works in those Languages.
LYMAN COLEMAN, D. D.,
Prof. of the German, Greek, and Latin Languages.

DEAR SIR.—I am much pleased with Arnold's Latin Books. A class of my older boys have just finished the first and second books. They had studied Latin for a long time before but never understood it, they say, as they do now.
CHAS. M. BLAKE,
Classical Teacher in Brown's Prince-street Academy, Philadelphia.

ARNOLD'S LESSONS in Latin I find unsurpassed; and, if the Greek Lessons by the same author shall prove as useful, they will form the commencement of a new era in the study of the classics in this country. I wish you abundant success in so noble an enterprise as furnishing our schools and scholars with such valuable books.
SETH DAVIS,
Rector of Zion's Church, Rome.

ARNOLD'S LATIN AND GREEK COMPOSITION. In the skill with which he sets forth the idiomatic peculiarities, as well as in the directness and simplicity with which he states the facts of the Ancient Languages, Mr. Arnold has no superior. I know of no books so admirably adapted to awaken an interest in the study of language, or so well fitted to lay the foundation of a correct scholarship and refined taste.
N. WHEELER,
Principal Worcester County High School.

MESSRS. APPLETON:

PENN. COLLEGE, GETTYSBURG, Oct. 29, 1846.

Dear Sir,—The friends of education are under great obligations to you for the valuable service you have rendered by the recent publication of Arnold's Cornelius Nepos. I have examined the edition with much interest, and it gives me pleasure to say that I highly approve of it. A text-book prepared by a man so distinguished for scholarship, experience, and success in teaching, as Dr. Arnold, cannot fail to secure universal favor. The mechanical execution, and the great accuracy which prevails throughout, are highly creditable to the American editor and the publisher.

I have determined to introduce the edition at once into the Academical Department of Pennsylvania College, and have accordingly directed our book merchants to procure copies.

Respectfully, yours,

M. L. STOERER, A. M.

Prof. of History in Pennsylvania College, and Principal of the Academical Department.

MESSRS. APPLETON & Co.:

OAKLAND HIGH SCHOOL, April 28, 1846.

Gentlemen,—I acknowledge with many thanks the receipt of T. K. Arnold's First and Second Latin Book, and his Introduction to Latin Prose Composition. The style in which the books are got up is not their only recommendation. With thorough instruction, on the part of the teacher using these books as text-books, I am confident a much more ample return for the time and labor bestowed by our youth upon Latin must be secured. The time certainly has come when an advance must be made upon the old methods of instruction. I am glad to have a work that promises so many advantages as Arnold's First and Second Latin Book to begin I have little doubt of the result of the experiment.
Very respectfully,
A. B. RUSSELL.

Extract from a Report of an Examination of the Male Department of the Parochial School of St. Paul's Church, Rome, N. Y., on Friday, March 26, 1847.

* "But were we to single out any part of the examination as worthy of special notice, it would be that upon 'Arnold's First Book in Latin.' Many an Academician, who has studied Latin in the ordinary way for two years, could not sustain an examination as did the lads of this class, who have studied Arnold's First Lessons only about six months. Arnold's method is admirable for making thorough scholars and accurate grammarians; but then it needs a thorough and industrious teacher to use it to advantage. Such, evidently, is Mr. Platt. He has not been content to put his pupils upon writing out the exercises, but they have been required to commit thoroughly to memory the vocabulary of words in each lesson, beginning with nouns and verbs; and as soon as they have learned the words they begin to make sentences. Then they learn occasionally a declension, and immediately are made to put it to use by constructing sentences that require the cases of that declension. A similar method was pursued in the English Grammar and in the French."

LIVY,

TOGETHER WITH A

GEOGRAPHICAL AND HISTORICAL INDEX.

BY J. L. LINCOLN,

Professor of Latin in Brown University.

One Volume, 12mo. Price $1.

The publishers believe that, in the edition of Livy herewith announced, a want is supplied which has been universally felt; there being previous to this no American edition furnished with the requisite apparatus for the successful prosecution of the study of this Latin author.

The extracts selected for this edition will secure the material for an amount of reading in Livy equal to that which is accomplished in any of our colleges, and comprise the finest as well as the most useful and interesting passages in the writings of the great Latin historian. They are taken chiefly from the first five books (the first nearly entire), the twenty-first, twenty-second, and the subsequent books on the Second Punic War, with such other portions as could be introduced without increasing the volume beyond the size suited to its intended purpose.

The text is based upon that of Drakenborch, with some changes from subsequent editors, and especially, in the earlier books, from the recent valuable work of Dr. Alschefski, of Berlin, of which the first volume was published in 1841, the second in 1843, and the third has just appeared.

The notes consist of selections from the best commentators, as Drakenborch, Crevier, &c., and smaller school editions; and, to a considerable extent, of original matter, embodying the results of the editor's own labors and experience in reading Livy with his classes in college. They are partly grammatical, aiming at the solution of difficulties, and the illustration of the language, with constant references to the grammars and other helps most in use in this country, as Andrews and Stoddard's Grammar, Zumpt's Grammar by Schmidt, T. K. Arnold's Latin Prose Composition, Krebs' Guide for Writing Latin, &c.; and partly explanatory, giving the necessary information on all obscure matters, and especially in regard to the early history of Rome, furnishing, so far as practicable and useful, the results of the researches of Niebuhr, Arnold, and other modern writers, together with references to Smith's Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities.

The notes are fullest on the first two books and the beginning of the third; on the fifth and sixth, and on the twenty-first and twenty-second books.

The edition is furnished with a sufficiently copious Geographical and Historical Index, and accompanied by a Plan of the City of Rome, (from the recent German work of Becker on Roman Antiquities,) together with some other useful illustrations.

A MANUAL OF ANCIENT AND MODERN HISTORY.

COMPRISING

I. ANCIENT HISTORY, containing the Political History, Geographical Position, and Social State of the Principal Nations of Antiquity, carefully digested from the Ancient Writers, and illustrated by the discoveries of Modern Scholars and Travellers.

II. MODERN HISTORY, containing the Rise and Progress of the Principal European Nations, their Political History, and the Changes in their Social Condition; with a History of the Colonies Founded by Europeans. By W. Cooke Taylor, LL. D., of Trinity College, Dublin. Revised, with Additions on American History, by C. S. Henry, D. D., Professor of History in the University of N. Y., and Questions adapted for the Use of Schools and Colleges. One handsome vol., 8vo., of 800 pages, $2.25; Ancient History in 1 vol., $1.25, Modern History in 1 vol., $1.50.

The ANCIENT HISTORY division comprises Eighteen Chapters, which include the general outlines of the history of Egypt—the Ethiopians—Babylonia and Assyria—Western Asia—Palestine—the Empire of the Medes and Persians—Phœnician Colonies in Northern Africa—Foundation and History of the Grecian States—Greece—the Macedonian Kingdom and Empire—the States that arose from the Dismemberment of the Macedonian Empire—Ancient Italy—Sicily—the Roman Republic—Geographical and Political Condition of the Roman Empire—History of the Roman Empire—and India—with an Appendix of important illustrative articles.

This portion is one of the best Compendis of Ancient History that ever yet has appeared. It contains a complete text for the collegiate lecturer; and is an essential hand-book for the student who is desirous to become acquainted with all that is memorable in general secular archæology.

The MODERN HISTORY portion is divided into Fourteen Chapters, on the following general subjects:—Consequences of the Fall of the Western Empire—Rise and Establishment of the Saracenic Power—Restoration of the Western Empire—Growth of the Papal Power—Revival of Literature—Progress of Civilization and Invention—Reformation, and Commencement of the States System in Europe—Augustan Ages of England and France—Mercantile and Colonial System—Age of Revolutions—French Empire—History of the Peace—Colonization—China—the Jews—with Chronological and Historical Tables and other Indexes. Dr. Henry has appended a new chapter on the History of the United States.

This Manual of Modern History, by Mr. Taylor, is the most valuable and instructive work concerning the general subjects which it comprehends, that can be found in the whole department of historical literature. Mr. Taylor's work is fast superseding all other compendis, and is already adopted as a text-book in Harvard, Columbia, Yale, New York, Pennsylvania, and Brown Universities, and several leading Academies.

GESENIUS' HEBREW GRAMMAR.

FOURTEENTH EDITION, AS REVISED BY DR. E. RÖDIGER.

Translated by T. J. CONANT, Professor of Hebrew in Madison University, N. Y.
With the Modifications of the Editions subsequent to the Eleventh,
By Dr. DAVIES, of Stepney College, London.

To which are added, A COURSE OF EXERCISES IN HEBREW GRAMMAR, and a HEBREW CHRESTOMATHY, prepared by the Translator. One handsomely printed volume, 8vo. Price $2.

Extract from the Translator's Preface.

"The fourteenth edition of the Hebrew Grammar of Gesenius is now offered to the public by the translator of the eleventh edition, by whom this work was first made accessible to students in the English language. The conviction expressed in his preface to that edition, that its publication in this country would subserve the interests of Hebrew literature, has been fully sustained by the result. After a full trial of the merits of this work, both in America and in England, its republication is now demanded in its latest and most improved form.

"Of the general character of this grammar it is unnecessary to speak. It passed through thirteen editions with continual improvements from the author's own hand. The fourteenth edition was prepared, after the death of Gesenius, by his friend and former pupil, Prof. Rödiger, one of the most accurate oriental scholars of the age, who for some time lectured on Hebrew Grammar in the University at Halle, with the work of Gesenius for his text-book. Traces of his accurate scholarship are found, in the form of corrections and additions, in every part of the work; and some portions have been re-written, but on the same general philological principles, and in the same spirit as the preceding editions.

"The exercises, which follow the translation, are designed to facilitate the study of the grammar. They were prepared after several years' observation, as a teacher, of the difficulties which embarrass the student in his first attempt to learn an oriental language. They have been used with great advantage by a teacher under my direction during the last seven years, and by teachers in other Institutes.

"The notes to the Chrestomathy have been prepared on the plan which every teacher of experience will appreciate, of re-printing nothing which is contained in the grammar; and what is equally important, of repeating nothing which has once been stated and learned. On a different plan, the same amount of information might easily have been extended over a hundred pages, and with no other effect than to retard the real proficiency of the learner. The Exercises and Chrestomathy have been carefully revised, and the numerous references, in which it is believed not an error remains, have been adapted to this edition of the grammar.

Author of 'English, or the Art of Composition,' &c.

WITH AN INTRODUCTION AND ILLUSTRATIVE AUTHORITIES

CONTENTS.—SECTION I. (Generic and Specific Synonymes.) II. (Active and Passive Synonymes.) III. (Synonymes of Intensity.) IV. (Positive and Negative Synonymes.) V. (Miscellaneous Synonymes.) Index to Synonymes. General Index.

Extract from American Introduction.

"This treatise is republished and edited with the hope that it will be found useful as a text-book in the study of our own language. As a subject of instruction, the study of the English tongue does not receive that amount of systematic attention which is due to it, whether it be combined or no with the study of the Greek and Latin. In the usual courses of education, it has no larger scope than the study of some rhetorical principles and practice and of grammatical rules, which, for the most part, are not adequate to the composite character and varied idiom of English speech. This is far from being enough to give the needful knowledge of what is the living language, both of our English literature and of the multiform intercourse—oral and written—of our daily lives. The language deserves better care and more sedulous culture; it needs much more to preserve its purity and to guide the progress of its life. The young, instead of having only such familiarity with their native speech as practice without method or theory gives, should be so taught and trained as to acquire a habit of using words—whether with the voice or the pen—fitly and truly, intelligently and conscientiously.

"For such training this book, it is believed, will prove serviceable. The 'Practical Exercises,' attached to the explanations of the words, are conveniently prepared for the routine of instruction. The value of a course of this kind, regularly and carefully completed, will be more than the amount of information gained respecting the words that are explained. It will tend to produce a thoughtful and accurate use of language, and thus may be acquired, almost unconsciously, that which is not only a critical but a moral habit of mind—the habit of giving utterance to truth in simple, clear and precise terms—of telling one's thoughts and feelings in words that express nothing more and nothing less. It is thus that we may learn how to escape the evils of vagueness, obscurity and perplexity—the manifold mischiefs of words used thoughtlessly and at random, or words used in ignorance and confusion.

"In preparing this edition, it seemed to me that the value and literary interest of the book might be increased by the introduction of a series of illustrative authorities. It is in the addition of these authorities, contained within brackets under each title, and also of a general index to facilitate reference, that this edition differs from the original edition, which in other respects is exactly reprinted. I have confined my choice of authorities to poetical quotations, chiefly because it is in poetry that language is found in its highest purity and perfection. The selections have been made from three of the English poets—each a great authority, and each belonging to a different period, so that in this way some historical illustration of the language is given at the same time. The quotations from Shakspeare (born A. D. 1564, died 1616) may be considered as illustrating the use of the words at the close of the 16th and beginning of the 17th century; those from Milton (born 1608, died 1674) the succeeding half century, or middle of the 17th century; and those from Wordsworth (born 1770) the contemporary use in the 19th century.

PROF. MANDEVILLE'S NEW ENGLISH READER.

A COURSE OF READING FOR COMMON SCHOOLS AND ACADEMIES,

ON THE PLAN OF THE AUTHOR'S 'ELEMENTS OF READING AND ORATORY.'

BY H. MANDEVILLE,

Professor of Moral Science and Belles Lettres in Hamilton College, N. Y.

One neat Volume, 12mo. Price 75 cents.

This work is divided into three parts. The first relates to Grammar; it contains a description of the different letters of the alphabet and their various sounds, of syllables, and also of words as parts of speech. The second part contains a classification and description of all the sentences or formulas of thought in every degree of expansion, to be found in the English language. Part the third contains a series of exercises on paragraphs: the sentences not detached and classified as in part second, but appearing in the connections and relations of ordinary discourses.

All who acknowledge any degree of interest in having the young acquire the largest amount of information in the shortest possible time, and at the least possible expense, will be led to examine the method this work proposes to substitute for the prevailing one. To further illustrate the plan of the Author, the following Extract from the Preface is given:

"1. It will impart a kind of knowledge which can be acquired in no other way, and which indeed no one has hitherto attempted to teach; a knowledge of sentential structure; of the anatomy, the bones, nerves, and muscles of the language; of the various forms of expression which thought assumes in obtaining utterance in conversation or books.

"2. It lays a foundation in the nature of things, in the very structure of language, for a correct, intelligent, and graceful delivery, in reading and speaking.

"3. It will prepare the pupil for the study of grammar. There are few teachers, I presume, who have not felt the want of an intermediate stage of instruction between that study and reading; of something to bridge the chasm between the two, and render the transition from the one to the other less abrupt and difficult. To pass at once, with a mere capacity to put the words of a sentence together and make sense out of them, to the study of grammar, is equivalent to a leap from arithmetic numeration to the abstractions of algebra. Perceiving this, not a few teachers of eminence have recommended the study of the Latin language, as a preparation for that of English grammar; and in the present state of things the recommendation is, in my opinion, a judicious one. I distinctly remember, that I myself obtained more knowledge of the principles of English grammar from a few weeks' study of the Latin, than I obtained during a year of previous application to the English alone. But the study of Latin is not pursued in our common schools; and if it were, an immense majority of the youth taught in them have neither the means, time, nor inclination to pursue it. If possible, therefore, a substitute should be provided. In the following work I have attempted this; and it cannot be read, I think, more than once, certainly not more than twice through, if read with any degree of care, without fixing in the mind of the pupil some very important grammatical ideas; and this while yet ignorant, perhaps, of what the word 'grammatical' means."

Preamble and Resolutions passed by the Oneida County Normal Institute, at the close of its Session at Rome, October 16, 1846.

Whereas, in our opinion, reading is the most important branch of education taught in our schools, demanding the best qualifications in teachers, as well as an improved method of instruction; and whereas it has been hitherto, to a lamentable extent, underrated and neglected, or if cultivated with due diligence, cultivated on principles which afford but little hope of improvement; and whereas Professor Mandeville, of Hamilton College, has made it clear to us that a better method than the prevailing one may and ought to be substituted—a method which, if adopted, must produce striking improvement, and feeling grateful to him for the information he has imparted to us; therefore

Resolved, That the thanks of the superintendents, instructors and pupils* of this Institute are tendered to Prof. Mandeville, for his original and valuable course of instruction on reading.

Resolved, As the settled conviction of the Board of Instruction, and of the members of this Institute, that the system taught by Professor Mandeville is the system of nature; at once scientific and practical, sound in its theory and principles, simple in its statements, and pertinent and ample in its illustrations; and that his work, in which this system is most beautifully developed, should be carefully studied and mastered by every practical teacher.

At a Meeting of the Special Committee appointed to examine and recommend books for the use of the Common Schools of Oneida County, this work was examined and adopted as a Text Book.

Extract from a letter of A. Bruyn Hasbrouck, LL.D., President of Rutgers College.

"I have read the work, 'Elements of Reading and Oratory,' with much profit, and with the exception of a few immaterial rules and observations, with approbation. The subject is an important one, and but too much neglected in our colleges, and in our entire system of education. This arises perhaps mainly from the merely artificial rules we have had for our guidance in most former works on this subject. Your system follows nature, and makes the sound depend upon the sense, and thus employs the student intellectually while he is learning the lesson of utterance. I cannot but believe that your work will be favourably received as its merits become known.

With much regard, I remain yours, &c.,

A. BRUYN HASBROUCK, Rutgers College.

PROF. MANDEVILLE'S COURSE OF READING.

OPINIONS OF ITS MERITS.

[Letter from the Rev. J. R. Boyd, Author of the "Elements of Rhetoric and Literary Criticism," and "Eclectic Moral Philosophy."]

WATERTOWN, Dec. 28, 1846.

Having examined, with some care, the recent work of Prof. Mandeville, entitled a "Course of Reading," I am free to express the opinion that it possesses transcendent claims to public acceptance and use. It is not a mere collection of pieces in Prose and Verse, like the reading books in common use, but a work on the art of reading, constructed upon a plan that seems peculiarly well adapted to accomplish more by far than other reading books. It embraces a philosophical analysis of the English language, in its letters, elementary sounds, and various forms of sentences. The nature and uses of the various parts of speech are very properly and minutely explained as a preliminary to the classification and description of all the sentences or formulas of thought to be found in the English language. Numerous examples of each kind of sentence are given separately, and instructions for the manner of reading them are furnished. By this process the acquisition of the art of reading must be greatly facilitated. The next process carries the student forward to the reading of paragraphs, as found in the connections and relations of ordinary discourse, and these are to be analyzed into their component parts according to instructions previously given and acted upon in the reading of separate and classified sentences.

I agree with the author in the belief that his work is peculiarly well adapted to impart a knowledge of the structure of the English language; that it lays a broad and just foundation for an intelligent and correct delivery; that it prepares the pupil for the study of English Grammar and indeed introduces him to a practical and useful acquaintance with not a small part of what properly belongs to the science of Grammar, but not less so to the art of Reading; and further, that it furnishes a very happy introduction to the art of Rhetoric, or of English Composition.

The peculiarities of the work are briefly set forth by the author in the following words—"Every sentence in the language is described; and every sentence has its own delivery. The structure learned therefore by one, two, or at most three reviews, it is learned forever. Henceforward as soon as a sentence falls under the observation of the pupil, he knows how it should be read; and while he can read it, he can give a solid reason for its being read in that particular manner."

Such being the general features of the work under consideration, I shall consider it a pleasing duty to make an experiment of its value with classes under my care, and to recommend the same experiment to other instructors.

J. R. BOYD,

Principal Jefferson County Institute.

November 27, 1846.

DEAR SIR,—Having examined with considerable care "Mandeville's Course of Reading," I consider it of far more practical value, as a means of making correct readers, than any other that has come under my observation; and although sensible of the inconvenience arising from a frequent change of books, I cannot avoid the conviction that the introduction of the work under consideration, would greatly facilitate the progress of the pupil in this elegant and useful accomplishment. The author has not attempted a servile imitation of what others have done, but has originated an entirely new plan—a plan as scientific as it is original, and as useful as it is beautiful. I cannot but deem it a valuable accession to the means of instruction employed in our common schools and academies. I shall introduce it into my own school.

Very respectfully,

J. H. PURKITT.

BY ALEXANDER REID, A. M.,

Rector of the Circus School, Edinburgh.

WITH A CRITICAL PREFACE,

BY HENRY REED,

Professor of English Literature in the University of Pennsylvania.

Two Volumes. 12mo. of near 600 pages, neatly bound in leather. Price $1

Among the wants of our time was a good Dictionary of our own language, especially adapted for academies and schools. The books which have long been in use were of little value to the junior students, being too concise in the definitions, and immethodical in the arrangement. Reid's English Dictionary was compiled expressly to develop the precise analogies and various properties of the authorized words in general use, by the standard authors and orators who use our vernacular tongue.

Exclusive of the large numbers of proper names which are appended, this Dictionary includes four especial improvements—and when their essential value to the student is considered, the sterling character of the work as a hand-book of our language instantly will be perceived.

The primitive word is distinguished by a larger type; and where there are any derivatives from it, they follow in alphabetical order, and the part of speech is appended, thus furnishing a complete classification of all the connected analogous words of the same species.

With this facility to comprehend accurately the determinate meaning of the English word, is conjoined a rich illustration for the linguist. The derivation of all the primitive words is distinctly given, and the phrases of the languages whence they are derived, whether composite or simple; so that the student of foreign languages, both ancient and modern, by a reference to any word, can ascertain the source whence it has been adopted into our own form of speech. This is a great acquisition to the person who is anxious to use words in their utmost clearness of meaning.

To these advantages is subjoined a Vocabulary of the Roots of English Words, which is of peculiar value to the collegian. The fifty pages which it includes, furnish the linguist with a wide-spread field of research, equally amusing and instructive. There is also added an Accented List, to the number of fifteen thousand of Greek, Latin, and Scripture Proper Names.

With such novel attractions, and with such decisive merits, the recommendations which are prefixed to the work by Professors Frost, Henry, Parks, and Reed, Messrs Baker and Greene, principals of the two chief grammar schools at Boston, and by Dr. Eeese, Superintendent of Common Schools for the city and county of New York, are justly due to the labors of the author. They fully corroborate the opinion expressed by several other competent authorities, that "Reid's English Dictionary is peculiarly adapted for the use of schools and families, and is far superior to any other existing similar compilation."

REID'S ENGLISH DICTIONARY.

OPINIONS OF ITS MERITS.

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 13, 1846,

Messrs D. APPLETON & Co.:

Gentlemen,—I have recently received, through one of your agents, a copy of "Reid's English Dictionary," and I am happy to say that I consider it a work of great excellence, and, in many respects, superior to any thing of the kind which has preceded it. The definitions are given with unusual accuracy and precision; and the introduction of the roots from which our words are derived is a feature in the work which every scholar must commend. I have introduced this Dictionary into my school in place of Worcester's, and find, as I anticipated, that my scholars are very much interested in it.

I am, gentlemen, with great respect,
Your very obedient servant,

ELIAS NASON, Principal Lat. High School, Newburyport.

REID'S Dictionary of the English Language is an admirable book for the use of schools. Its plan combines a greater number of desirable conditions for such a work, than any with which I am acquainted; and it seems to me to be executed in general with great judgment, fidelity, and accuracy.

C. S. HENRY,
Prof. of Philosophy, History, and Belles Lettres, in the University of the City of New-York

I have examined Reid's English Dictionary, and am much pleased with the plan and execution of the work. Much matter is condensed into a small compass. All words in good use are selected and clearly defined. Each word is so marked as to indicate its pronunciation, and the value of the work is much enhanced by containing the derivation of every word. I hope it will meet with that share of patronage which it richly deserves.

SAMUEL S. GREENE, Master of the Phillips School.

I fully concur in the opinions expressed by Mr. Greene, and should be much pleased by the introduction of the Dictionary into our public schools.

T. BAKER,
Principal of the Boylston School, Boston.

After such an examination of "Reid's English Dictionary," as I have been able to make, I may safely say that I consider it superior to any of the School Dictionaries with which I am acquainted. Its accurate and concise definitions, and a vocabulary of the roots of English words, drawn from an author of such authority as Bosworth, are not among the least of its excellent features.

M. P. PARKS,
Chaplain, and Professor of Ethics, U. S. Military Academy, West Point.

I have examined Reid's English Dictionary with great care, and am greatly pleased with it. The plan is excellent, and the author has evidently bestowed great attention to minute accuracy in the details of execution. I hope to see the book extensively used.

JOHN FROST,
Professor of Belles Lettres, Philadelphia High School.

REID'S ENGLISH DICTIONARY.—After a careful examination, I am convinced that the work has strong claims upon the attention of teachers generally. It is of convenient size, beautifully executed, and seems well adapted to the use of scholars, from the common school to the university.

Principal of Preparatory School, Middletown, Conn.

PRIMARY LESSONS:

BEING A SPELLER AND READER, ON AN ORIGINAL PLAN, in which one letter is taught at a lesson, with its power; an application being immediately made, in words, of each letter thus learned, and those words being directly arranged into reading lessons.

BY ALBERT D. WRIGHT,

Author of "Analytical Orthography," "Phonological Chart," &c.

One neat volume, 18mo. containing 144 pages, and 28 engravings. Price 12c. bd.

In this new work on an original plan, for teaching the rudiments of reading, the following are some of its peculiar features:

1. One letter or combination is presented at a lesson, and at the same time its elementary sound is taught.

2. As fast as the letters are learned, an application is immediately made, by using them synthetically in familiar words.

3. No word is given, in which a letter occurs, that has not been previously learned, in the above synthetic method.

4. The capital letters are taught one at a time, and by review in reading lessons.

5. The plan of putting the letters, with their elementary sounds, together into words, by this original system of synthesis, it is believed will greatly facilitate the acquisition of words, and on letters and their powers.

6. The words are systematically presented in the synthesis, being classified by their vowel sounds and terminating consonants; and generally, at the end of each class, they are arranged into little spelling lessons.

7. The learner is immediately initiated into reading lessons, composed of words of two or three letters, and is then led, progressively, into more difficult words.

8. The reading lessons are composed entirely of the words previously presented in the synthesis, or the spelling lessons.

9. The cuts are intended to illustrate the reading lessons, to attract the attention of the young, and to suggest thoughts for oral instruction, and for conversation to children.

10. The book constitutes a Primary Spelling-book and Reader,—thus combining two books in one of 144 pages, adapted to families and schools.

The advantages of a system of application, by which the child is permitted to use the letters as fast as they are learned, by forming little words with them, and then by arranging these words into easy sentences, must be obvious to every parent and teacher.

At a Meeting of the County and Town Superintendants of the County of Greene, Oct. 27, 1846,

It was unanimously Resolved, that we are favourably impressed with the method of teaching the Alphabet, and an early course of reading, as exhibited in the plan and arrangement of Wright's Primary Lessons—and believing that instruction in this branch of education will be much facilitated by the use of that work, we recommend it to the teachers, and to those who have children to be instructed; and add it to the list of Text Books recommended in this County

A DICTIONARY OF ALL THE WORDS, TRANSLATED INTO ENGLISH

By M. DE FIVAS,
Member of several Literary Societies.

One neat Volume, 16mo. Price 50 cents

This work has passed through five editions in England, and rapidly found its way as a class book into the most eminent public and private seminaries.

The pieces contained in this volume comprehend a great variety of subjects, and are generally of a lively and familiar style, the phrases will serve as elements of conversation, and enable the student to read with facility other French books.

In the Dictionary at the end, is given the meaning of every word contained in the book. The explanatory words are placed at the end of the book, instead of at the foot of the page; by this method learners will derive considerable benefit.

Though this work is designedly for the use of schools, the author has borne in mind, that many of the learners of French are adults, therefore while it is adapted for youthful students, an endeavour has also been made to make it acceptable to those of more advanced age.

IMPORTATION OF EUROPEAN BOOKS.

D. APPLETON & CO.

Respectfully inform Literary and Professional Gentlemen, that they still continue the branch of their house in London, No. 16 Little Britain, as established in 1830, and they invite the attention of the friends of Literature to the variety of Publications abroad, comparatively few are for sale in this country. A great inconvenience is therefore avoided by this arrangement, as any person may leave his order for any particular work, and, by the rapid communication of steamers, the Book is at hand in a few weeks.

Professors and Students of Theology, Law, and Medicine—Architects, Mechanics, and all who are unable to procure Foreign Books in our own country, may, for the small commission of ten per cent. on the cost, procure any work published in any part of Europe.

Books for incorporated Institutions are Imported free of duty.

D. A. & Co. have, in addition to their branch in London, an Agent in Leipsic for the supply of all orders for Books published throughout Germany—also in Brussels, Paris, Florence and Madrid; so that they are prepared to execute with great fidelity and promptness, all orders intrusted to their care from any portion of the Continental Book Market.

The advantages which such facilities offer to Literary Institutions, Professional Gentlemen, and the Literary Public for a speedy supply of Books from the great Book Markets of Europe, all will acknowledge.

Handwritten notes and signatures in cursive script, including the name 'JANU' and a large 'R' in a circle.
