PREFACE.

THE plan of this book is similar to that of the New First Reader, and, like it, combines the advantages of the word, the phonic, and the alphabetic methods.

The lessons are in the easy, "conversational" style, which, from its familiarity, is most attractive for children. While they serve to teach reading, they are pervaded throughout by sound Catholic sentiments.

As in the New First Reader, each word when first used appears at the head of the lesson, and bears its proper phonic marks. But plurals regularly formed, possessives, compounds, and simple derivatives of words which have already appeared, are not included in the new words.

Language Lessons follow nearly every reading lesson. These comprise exercises in answering questions, supplying ellipses, and describing pictures, and afford abundant material for first attempts at composition. The Language Lessons, however, are merely suggestive, and may be modified, amplified, or omitted, as occasion requires.

To teach the written form of words as well as the printed form, some examples of script, at once simple, accurate, and beautiful, have been engraved expressly for this Reader.

The illustrations are, simply, the best that the publishers can procure; no expense has been spared on them, and they are excellent in design and engraving.

Saving the Blessed Sacrament.

1. During a war in France, a regiment that stopped for the night at a little village decided to sleep in the church, as it was the only place that would hold so many.

2. The priest had gone on a sick call, and, as he could not be home
