LESSON CXLV. Dictation Exercise.

Let the pupils supply the missing words.

I want to hear the choir sing. The whole — of cattle ran away. The natives of the isle killed the missionary. There is a crowd on the quay. I was standing here when I heard a call, and looking up saw the boy fall into the hole. Our pew at church is in the middle —. I know I had a new — made for the lock, but I cannot find it. There are no titles in this country. The little maid knew her lesson well. There is a gnu in Central Park. Warm water will often lessen the pain of a bruise.

LESSON CXLVI. Dictation Exercise.

A cabinet maker makes tables, chairs, bureaus, bedsteads, washstands, and bookcases.

A table has a frame, top, legs, and castors.

A chair has a seat, back, legs, rounds, and sometimes rockers. There are arm-chairs, rocking-chairs, camp-chairs, cane-chairs, and other kinds.

A bureau has a frame, drawers, and often a mirror.

A washstand has a drawer and a cup-board.

A bookcase has shelves and drawers.

LESSON CLXIII. Dictation Exercise.

Tow burns almost as quickly as gunpowder. If we should weigh the vane of the hall tower we would find its weight to be at least a hundred pounds. I cut a vein in my arm over a week ago, and still have to keep it tied up. It were vain for the slaves to rebel, as they are too weak to cast off their yoke. A wood fire looks cheerful. My brother's horse ran away, and threw him out of his carriage. The egg has a double yolk. Time and tide wait for no man. Where there is a will there is a way. I hurt my toe in walking through the dark room.
