Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1860, by

D. APPLETON & CO.,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York.

PREFACE.

“LEARN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE AS YOU LEARNED YOUR MOTHER-TONGUE”—this is, in a few words, the method which Professor Ahn has so successfully adopted in his Continental Grammars.

It is the way that nature herself follows,—it is the same which the mother points out in speaking to her child, repeating to it a hundred times the same words, combining them imperceptibly, and succeeding in this way to make it speak the same language she speaks. To learn in this manner is no longer a study—it is an amusement.

The editor of this Grammar has followed the rational system which has already procured for Professor Ahn a European reputation, and he has adopted it for the study of the Spanish Language. He is greatly indebted to the excellent Grammars of Lespada and Martinez, which he has used for the groundwork of this Grammar, and it is hoped that its simplicity and utility will procure for it that favor which the German, French, and Italian Grammars of Professor Ahn have already found in the colleges and schools of England.

THE EDITOR.
